Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merits, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shrink from publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it my duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For one or more years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I could live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, at at least arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

BOSTON, Nov. 17, 1879.

With journalists, with Jews, and with your correspondent, Saturday is very generally supposed to be a day of rest; and last Saturday in particular, I determined should be such in truth as well as in name. But, arrayed in comfortable house-gown and slippers, seated at a late breakfast-table, and ready to look through my morning's mail, the first newspaper which I opened chanced to be the Woman's Journal, and the first item upon which my eyes fell was a letter signed by a number of ladies whose names represent much of wealth, station, blueblood and philanthropy, calling upon the women voters of Boston to assemble themselves at a certain little chapel off Beacon street, at 11 o'clock of that very morning, for conference upon various questions connected with their new duty. Now I must confess to a groan of indecision, but it was only momentary, for not only have I felt considerable personal interest and curiosity on this subject for weeks past, but—a far stronger reason— had I not promised my legion of newspaper friends that I would keep them posted as to the doings that should accompany this first experiment in Boston in the way of Woman's Suffrage?

So my breakfast was swallowed in haste—as usual—my boots and street-dress replaced those home-garments which, at present prospects, will never get worn out, and at eleven o'clock exactly I was in the little chapel, having utilized the preceding half-hour in a manner which, as I propose to give you an actual account of my whole Saturday, I will also mention in passing.

Every Saturday morning, the young to-be-limbs of the law who are studying that interesting science at the Law School of the Boston University, hold a session of Moot Court, wherein knotty points of law are argued by certain of the students, while certain others act as judges and officers of the court, and the rest of the school in a body, with occasionally a visitor or two, are instructed and edified by the successes and—sometimes, alas!—failures of the counsel in the case. The court-room was well filled, for the school is large this year, there being, I understand, a greater number of new students this fall than ever entered at any year before since the school opened, and a most interesting case was before the court, involving a very common, but very troublesome point of law, viz: whether, in sale of goods, the vender is bound to wholly fulfill his contract of delivery to the letter before the purchaser becomes bound to pay, or whether he may collect for a partial delivery, refusing to complete his share of the contract. I had just time to hear a portion of the rather able arguments on both sides, when eleven o'clock called me away.

The modest little chapel was well chosen for the meeting of the women who are to vote for school committee this fall, for they who attended it had not far to go, the majority of the number being resident in this same aristocratic neighborhood, while without exception, every lady of the 200 or more present was well educated and refined, if faces and appearance go for anything. And it is said that the 500 odd who have registered, all belong to the so-called better classes. What becomes of the argument that this class of women would shrink from the polls, and that the wretched and debased would be the only women who would avail themselves of such an opportunity? With a few exceptions, these ladies were handsomely and tastefully attired, too; the most exquisite bonnet that I have seen this season was in the next pew to me. The exceptions were those eccentrics who are to be met with, and to be mourned, in all classes; for of one gospel truth the world is, or should be perfectly assured, viz: that it is no woman's duty to make herself ugly, under any circumstances whatever. A reformer especially, will certainly prejudice many people against her cause as well as herself, by so doing. Undoubtedly this should not be so, but just as undoubtedly, it is.

There were eight or nine men present, of whom two or three were quite youthful newspaper reporters, and five or six quite elderly philanthropists, who made short addresses. Col. T. W. Higginson presided, and besides the gentlemen who spoke, four or five ladies were called upon, who delivered themselves with directness and modesty of what they had to say. They were, Miss Lucretia Crocker, who is one of the five School Supervisors at whose salaries of $4000,—or perhaps it is $3500, now—some tax-payers grumble; Miss Abby May, formerly of the school committee, but who was defeated in last year's election, much to the dissatisfaction of some people; Mrs. Ednah

Cheney, who was once an unsuccessful candidate in Jamaica Plain; and Miss Peabody, who was one of the half-dozen women first elected on the committee, amid great tribulation, six years ago, and who has retained the position ever since, being for the past year the only woman in that body. She is one of the most charming ladies—in appearance, that is; I never exchanged a word with her,— of about forty years, with pleasant face, dark handsome eyes, and very becomingly and tastefully dressed. She spoke in a full, clear voice, with easy manners, and she talked sense—every word of it!

There was some very lively kid-glove applause when good points were made by the speakers. One of the best received was a gentleman, who said that our municipal elections are generally so close that 500 or 600 solid votes would probably carry it as regards the school committee, so that, though few, the women cannot, even now, be despised, but may demand good candidates and may elect them. The one great principal enlarged upon was that the best men or women be voted for, without regard to party or sex.

The only business done was to elect a dozen ladies who should act as a woman's ward and city committee.

The city election takes place on Dec. 9th; registration cannot be made after Nov. 25th; and those who pay no property tax were obliged to make request that they be assessed a poll tax previous to Sept. 15th, a date so early that probably many were prevented who might otherwise have availed themselves of the opportunity.

Dinner in a hurry, as usual. Then to Music hall building, wherein the first public reading for the season by pupils of Prof. Kelley's school of elocution. Whatever is done at this institution is of special interest now, because since the death of Prof. Monroe, and the consequent close of the Boston University school of oratory, it is unquestionably the leading school of the kind in the city. In common with the rest of the audience, I was disappointed that the Professor himself did not appear as had been announced, but it seems that business made it impossible, and certainly the three or four pupils who represented him made us almost forget our disappointment. Some very dainty and unique entertainments given by certain of the Professor's pupils have attracted much attention, being realistic readings of standard poems, with costumes, music, and stereopticon views in lieu of scenery. "Miles Standish" was thus given before a crowded but a select audience in our high-toned suberb of Brookline the other evening, in which the daughter of a prominent political and military gentleman of this city made her debut, since which a complimentary, but incorrect newspaper paragraph has gone the rounds to the effect that she contemplates a dramatic career. Not every one who reads successfully must have the accompaniments of the drama.

Before going home to supper that Saturday afternoon, I took in an act of "La Fille du Madame Angot" by the Grand French opera company which is meeting with immense success at the Boston theatre; and just the last bit of the "Crushed Tragedian" at the Park, where Sothern is still delighting big audiences of our best people. This week he gives "David Garrick" and next week "Brother Sam." There is no one like Sothern' the world over. ROBIN.

Portsmouth Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1879.

"What Shall the Harvest Be?"

Senator Blaine passed through Portsmouth on Saturday, on his way home. As he emerged from the telegraph station he was accosted by a prominent Maine republican and enquired of as to the Presidential outlook. "Oh," said Mr. Blaine, "it looks pretty much like Gen. Grant now." "Yes," said his friend, "but it is some time yet to the convention."

True, there is some time yet before the decision of the question of candidature, but pending this, the usual turmoil as to who shall be the coming man, must disturb and agitate the country. Whether General Grant, Senator Blaine, Secretary Sherman, or the great unknown coming into the convention upon a dark horse, shall be the standard bearer, there are a few facts which should be considered.

The republican party was founded upon a great reformatory plan, to stop the extension of slavery. It not only accomplished this, but put an end to slavery itself; and just as it was claimed by its opponents, and acquiesced in by some of its camp-followers, that its mission was ended, it was called upon by reason of the follies of its opponents to expend renewed energies in protecting the business prosperity of the country by promulgating and perpetuating sound views upon the currency question. It is the party to which the industries, the stability and the welfare of the country confidently look for protection, and to-day has the means of electing the next president and controlling the legislative branches of the government, if its managers will be unselfish and judicious.

We have said that the party was formed upon a reformatory plan. True; but its accretions have brought within its ranks politicians of all sorts of former proclivities, some of whom attached themselves to it for a purpose concerning which there can be no mistake.

Incident to its success at the polls, is the machinery of politics, and it is wonderful that having been burthened with the patronage of the country for nearly two decades, it has not succumbed under the unfortunate weight. This is accounted for in the fact that just as often as the party leaders in any State go wide of the true line, a sufficient number of honest voters in the party either abstain from voting or temporarily vote with the opposition so that a proper rebuke shall be felt, and then return to the ranks when the party returns to its professions.

The patronage of a party is a source of weakness, though estimated by many as a means of strength. Now, the next candidate for President will have this difficulty to encounter, and an early proposition will be how to reconcile the "ins" and "outs." It is preposterous to suppose that the rank and file of the republican party does not contain very many men who regard themselves to be as competent and as much entitled to fill the soft places within the gift of the next administration as are those who by successions of republican administration and the peculiar theories of civil service "reform" have managed to remain in good places far beyond the terms of office of any of their predecessors.

Gen. Grant, or any candidate of the party, may as well understand first as last that the people expect a new deal in this matter of offices. One of the cogent reasons for this is seen in the fact that where the federal offices abound, there officials control, to an almost unlimited extent, not only the patronage in detail upon the public works, but the primary meetings of the party. They make no war upon the common foe; their energies are expended in controlling the caucus, so that they may assure the anxious congressman who seeks a re-election, that he can have so many delegates in convention, or representatives in the legislature. In this respect the republican party in this vicinity, for example, is entirely under control of a body of office-holders, and no man can be nominated to the legislature, nay, even for mayor or alderman, or go to the most insignificant convention, unless by the permission of this body politic, which parcels out all these positions to suit itself. We have a case in point: An old subscriber, a true republican, came into our office some time since, and told us he could not afford to renew his subscription to our paper; we enquired the reason, and also asked if he was not employed at the navy yard. "Navy yard!" said he; "I have not been there this long while." Upon expressing our surprise, as he was a most competent mechanic and capable man, he told us (after no little urging) that on one occasion he had "voted in a caucus for the wrong man." Word had been sent to the yard that the powers that be wanted votes for Mr. A.; our friend had not heard the "general order;" he knew Mr. B., regarded him as the best man, and had innocently voted for him. He never worked on the yard after that. Upon our volunteering to lay his case before the secretary of the navy, he replied that would do no good; "some day, said he, "there may be a new head to the employment bureau, and I may get on; but it is of no use to fight against the inevitable."

So in York county; men come to our office almost every week, and say that the Maine senators and the representative in Congress from the first district place the patronage of the navy yard in the hands of one man on the other side of the Piscataqua. No matter workman, nor even head of a department, can hire or discharge a man save by his assent; and although it may be healthy for the few to take the prescription which gives a passport to work, it is the lot of the many to stand by the corners, and idly in the stores deplore this state of things, and berate Blaine and Hamlin for their folly.

But what we intended as the mere recital of a local incident has grown to a long story. The lesson we mean to teach is that there is in the republican party a large—a very large—number of men who are displeased with the present management in this region, and who will cry aloud and spare not. They do not object that year by year men are kept in the custom house on comfortable salaries while they are taxed to support them, but they do object that to perpetuate themselves in these pleasant positions the whole party should be prostituted. Men want to vote in caucus, in convention and in the legislature for those candidates whom their judgment most clearly convinces them should be elected. Nor do they see in the mutual associations between the federal office-holders and the senators in Congress who keep them in their places, any likelihood of the healthful system of rotation without which no party, however pure may be its principles, and however honest may be its incumbents in office, can long maintain its prestige.

Naval Affairs.

The frigate Powhatan is at the Brooklyn navy yard. Her crew are being transferred to the frigate Tennessee this week, when the Powhatan will have a new keel and be re-coppered preparatory to a voyage on an important mission to Australia.

Political.

Hon. F. C. Beaman, recently appointed United States senator from Michigan to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Chandler, has declined on account of ill-health. Gov. Croswell on Monday appointed Ex-Gov. Henry P. Baldwin of Michigan to fill the vacancy.

It is reported that Eliza Pinkston was arrested at Canton, Miss., on Saturday, charged with murdering her husband, who died on the 15th inst. As her husband was probably a colored republican, she should have hired a white democrat to murder him if she wanted to get rid of him; then the murderer would have been elected to office instead of being arrested.

News and Notes.

Over twenty-five deer were killed on Mt. Desert island, Me., the day following the first snow.

Ida Chase, employed in Farwell's mill at Lisbon, Me., was found dead in the steam near by Monday morning. Supposed suicide.

Alice Guy, an insane woman, aged fifty-six, who wandered from her home in Ludlow, Vt., on the 1st inst., was found drowned in a brook on Sunday. She evidently committed suicide.

On Sunday afternoon a son of C. W. Chappell of East Richford, Vt., loaded an old gun with powder and went to play. The gun burst and a fragment hit him in the left eye.—It was extricated by a physician, and measured three-fourths of an inch long by one-fourth wide. Passing a little to one side of the eye it caused the eye to run ont.

A valuable horse belonging to O. F. Davis of Athol, Mass., supposed to have been stolen, has been found in a pond, drowned.

The final splice in the new ocean telegraph cable between Cape Cod and Brest, France, was made on Monday, and the first through message over it sent by D. H. Bates, president of the American Union telegraph company, to the president of the French company.

The American Union telegraph company has entered suit in the New Jersey courts against the Western Union and other telegraph companies, claiming $104,000 damages for the unlawful acts of the denfendants in procuring the destruction of the complainant's poles, wires, etc.

A New York lottery dealer on Monday began a suit against Postmaster James, for illegal detention of his letters, for which he claims $2,500 damages. He proposes to test the legality of the recent action of the post-office department against the lottery men.

A special from Columbus, O., states that Albert Woodward, wife and two daughters, in attempting to cross Clify river ford, two miles from Columbus, in a wagon, were swept away by the current, and the three latter drowned.

To those who are so unfortunate as to become prematurely gray, or whose hair exhibits a tendency to fall off, we recommend a trial of Hall's Hair Renewer. We do so with the utmost confidence because it is everywhere received with marked favor, and has built upon its own merits such a sure foundation that it is known and used in all civilized countries.—Addison (N. Y.) Advertiser.

An Arizona judge has just shown his appreciation of modern improvements in firearms by shooting an editor. The editor's partner immediately shot the magistrate and was himself waylaid and extinguished the same night by some parties unknown. The total bag, for the day's sport, was one judge and two editors. Altogether it was a great day for Arizona.

Speer's Sambucl Wine for Ladies.

Mr. Speer, an enthusiastic grape grower from New Jersey, has a very excellent wine from the Sambucus. The best judges pronounce it superb. It has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally as a very superior wine; and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. We touch it to our lips somewhat unwillingly, but are agreeably disappointed in finding one of the most delicious wines we have ever tasted. Our leading physicians have tested the vitues of this wine, and recommended it as a superior wine for invalids, debilitated persons and especially for females.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.

I strongly recommend the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the lungs, bronchial tubes or general debility.

In Portsmouth.

To the Citizens of Portsmouth and Vicinity:

THE Undersigned hereby give notice that a MUSICAL CONVENTION will be held in this city, at a date to be hereafter mentioned, provided a sufficient guarantee can be obtained to warrant the undertaking. And it is deemed necessary that at least two hundred season tickets should be disposed of at two dollars (2) each, which shall admit the holder to a reserved seat to all the sessions of the Convention, including all the Concerts, Matinees and Rehearsals. A paper for subscriptions can be found at Preston's Drug Store; also at Montgomery's Music Store, for the names of those who will purchase tickets, and it is hoped that all will feel an interest in this matter, and that out of this first attempt, will come a permanent organization, that will hold a Convention annually in this city.

AROUND HOME.

A society for the prevention of cruelty to animals is to be established at Dover.

The fishermen generally brought in good fares on Tuesday, about 40,000 lbs. being landed.

Rev. Father Drummond of Dover, who was prostrated by a paralytic shock last week, is convalescent.

Hon. Frank Jones has subscribed five hundred dollars towards the expense of frescoing of the new Odd Fellow's hall.

Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., of this city, will lecture in the Pleasant street Baptist course, in Concord, Dec. 8th; subject, "Scenes in social life in Egypt."

Piscataqua Lodge of Odd Fellows appointed a committee on Monday evening to report upon the advisability of going into the new hall. All the other organizations of Odd Fellows in the city have voted to do so.

The school committee of Newington have secured as teacher of the Centre school for the winter term, Mr. Strout, who has been teaching to good acceptance for some time past in Eliot, and whose school-house there was destroyed by fire last week.

Mr. G. A. Gilmore, station-agent at Raymond, died Tuesday morning. He belonged to relief associations in Manchester, Concord and this city, and had his life insured in a stock company, from all of which his family (consisting of a wife and two children,) will receive about $5000.

Schooners Balloon, Eaton, and Exeter, Jackson, which arrived at this port on Tuesday from Bangor, brought cargoes of lumber for the new Amory mill at Manchester. The schooner Charles Carroll arrived the same day from Rockland with lime for Samuel Adams & Co.; the Vesta, from Bangor with lumber, to T. E. Call & Son; and the Cocheco from New York with coal for E. F. Sise & Co.

A lady of this city, seventy years old, who until a few days ago never went to a theatre in her life, and thought it extremely wicked to do so, while visiting in Boston last week was persuaded to witness the "Crushed Tragedian" at the Park theatre, and from friends who accompanied her we learn that so enthusiastic did she become over Sothern's splendid personations that it was with difficulty that her manifestations of delight were resonably restrained, or in fact that the old lady was herself kept off the stage! Who is responsible for this monstrous sin?

We were in error in saying, in the CHRONICLE of Tuesday, that the late Hon. B. W. Jenness was a delegate to the democratic national convention which nominated Franklin Pierce for president. We allowed that much of the despatch sent from Cincinnati to the New York and Boston papers, to be correct, and published it. The delegates from New Hampshire to the Baltimore convention were, Charles G. Atherton, John R. Reding, Edmund Burke, Samuel Tilton, S. H. Ayer, and George W. Kittridge; the last named gentleman, being speaker of the House of Representatives, could not leave his duties in Washington, and was not present in the convention. Of the above gentlemen but two are living, viz: Messrs. Reding and Burke.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

TUESDAY, Nov. 18th.

Ruland vs. town of South Newmarket: action for injuries sustained by reason of a defect in the highway. The jury returned from viewing the premises Monday evening; and on Tuesday morning the plaintiff's case was opened by Calvin Page, Esq. The evidence offered by the plff. occupied the time until five o'clock in the afternoon, and tended to establish the facts that the plff. with his wife was driving carefully over a railroad bridge in South Newmarket, in August, 1877, on the way to the Hedding camp-meeting; that just as his horse got upon the bridge a train went under it, and the black smoke from the locomotive filled the roadway and frightened the horse, which started and struck the fence on the right-hand side of the road, which was insecure and rotten, and gave way, precipitating the plff. and his wife over the embankment and greatly injuring the plff.'s leg, shoulder and hip. Medical testimony was given by Dr. Parsons of this city and Dr. Junkins of Greenland, relative to the amount of injuries that the plff. sustained. Also a number of witnesses testified as to the horse being one of good disposition, not easily frightened, etc., and several testified that they saw the fence in question either immediately before or after the accident, and noticed that it was rotten and insecure—which is the insufficiency and defect in the highway complained of, and according to the plaintiff's view caused the accident. The case for the defence was opened by Gen. Marston late in the afternoon.

It is understood that the defence will occupy all of the forenoon Wednesday with their evidence.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Nov. 18; Batchelder, J.

James Hurley, for drunkenness, was assessed $9.90, fine and costs.

James Hurley, for an assault on Michael R. Perkins, was fined $2, costs $6.90.

SUDDEN CONVERSION.

The Times, in its report of the reform club meeting last Sunday evening, when the liquor-spotter Webster made a statement concerning an alleged "agreement which was entered into between himself and these fanatics"—that is, certain active prohibitionists—says "Webster related such an honest story," etc., that there was a very lively season right away. Now we do not believe our neighbor was at that temperance meeting at all; and even if he was, he could not possibly have known whether Webster's story was an "honest" one or not. The Times has an "honest" one or not. The Times has never wearied in denouncing Webster (with every other liquor-spotter) as a sneak and liar when he has been acting as a spy and informer on the liquor dealers, which makes its sudden conversion to an abiding faith in his "honesty," the instant he assails avowed prohibitionists, extremely amusing, not to say suspicious. So long as Webster was engaged in assailing the liquor traffic and traffickers, he was the most utterly contemptible, dishonest and untrustworthy being on the face of the earth; the moment he commences an attack upon the prohibitionists his story becomes "honest,"—though it is flatly contradicted by such men as James Janvrin, James Sanborn and Jos. R. Pettigrew, all reputable citizens. Our brother of the Times is unquestionably a jewel, but his name isn't consistency all the same.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Deputy Sheriff Towne seized twenty gallons of ale from the Eastern railroad freight house at Kennebunk depot on Saturday, consigned to a Mr. Newman. The same officer also seized a barrel filled with bottled lager.

Rev. L. H. Witham, a gentleman well known throughout York county as an earnest, consistent and successful clergyman of the Freewill Baptist denomination, and for several years clerk of the Freewill Baptist yearly meeting of western Maine, is confined to his bed at his home in Biddeford, and small hopes are entertained of his recovery. His disease appears to be a general prostration, probably superinduced by exposure and overwork while connected with the army in the late war, and has thus far baffled the skill of physicians.

Sanford's Jamaica Ginger, for the traveller or for the household, is not equalled as a delicious, safe, and reliable remedy by any other known to druggists.

New Lungs cannot be made by medicines, or the skill of physicians, but the old ones can be strengthened and preserved by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, a sure cure for coughs, colds, asthma, and all diseases of the lungs. Price, 35 and 75 cts.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

—The man who has a supply of cider in the cellar may not be ashamed of it, but he doesn't want it to get out.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, nearly opposite Grand Central Depot. 350 elegant rooms reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European Plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse Cars, Stages and Elevated Railroad to all depots. Be careful and see that "Grand Union Hotel" is on the sign where you enter office in the centre of the block. d&wtaug16'80

Figuring Life Lengths.

The following is one of the well-authenticated tables in use among London assurance companies showing the average length of life at various ages. In the first column we have the present ages of persons of average health, and in the second column we are enabled to peep, as it were, behind the scenes of an assurance office and gather from from their tables the number of years they will give us to live. The table has been the result of careful calculation, and seldom proves misleading. Of course, sudden and premature deaths, as well as lives unusually extended, occasionally occur; but this is a table of the average expectancy of an ordinary man or woman:—

Age.	More years. to live.

Our readers will easily gather from the above tabulated statement the number of years to which their lives, according to the law of averages, may reasonably be expected to extend.

Mr. John D. Gibson, proprietor of the Gibson house, Cincinnati, is in trouble, the lady in the case being Mrs. Charlotte Bruce, the chief dressmaker of that city. Her story is that she was engaged to be married to him fourteen years; that her income ranged from $2,500 to $15,000 a year; that she gave her savings to him to keep till they amounted to $50,000, and that she took his note for that amount, and that he then refused to comply with the fourteen-year-old bond for a deed, She now sues for $50,000 damages for breach of promise, also for the amount due on the notes.

—The weigh of the transgressor is short.

—A writer in the United Presbyterian says that while in San Francisco, General Grant, at a banquet where the finest of California's far-famed wines were on the table, refused to even taste, stating at the same time that on leaving Philadelphia, two years and more ago, for his protracted tour, he had formed a purpose not to taste wine or strong drink, and to that purpose he had adhered.

A Lucky Trio of Firemen.

Three of the members of Engine Company No. 13, of New York City, are rejoicing in a surplus of wealth acquired honestly, but very rapidly. They sent the old woman who acts as the janitress of the Engine house with a dollar to buy a half ticket in the October drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery. She went to some purpose, for they drew on their investment Five Thousand Dollars in gold, and they feel refreshed. To know what the odds are, address M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or same person at No. 319 Broadway, New York City, N. Y., before December 16th, when the extraordinary distribution under the sole management of Generals G. T. New Publications.

"The Reader's Hand-book of the American Revolution, 1761—1783;" by Justin Winsor, librarian of Harvard university, president of the American Library association, and formerly superintendent of the Boston public library. This work, published by Houghton, Osgood & Co., of Boston, at $1.25, and for sale by W. G. Myers, will be found of use to those who seek to be sure of facts in regard to our Revolutionary history. The author of the work claims for it that it is like a continuous foot-note to all the histories of the Revolutionary war. The references will enable the reader, with the numerous public and other libraries in the country, to more thoroughly attain the facts of which he may be in search. The author began his work at the time when the centennial celebration attracted so many toward reading the history of the struggles of the fathers. His familiarity with books, and his long acquaintance alike with the tastes and deficiencies of readers in general, induced him to prepare this guide to information. Should this work be appreciated, it is the purpose of the author to have this, his initial volume, succeeded by others covering themes of history, biography, travel, philosophy, science, literature and art. With such helps no reader can go very widely astray in the path of knowledge. The present work is concisely written, but to prepare it must have cost its author no small degrees of labor.

Bayard Taylor's Poems. The poems of Mr. Taylor have been collected and published in a single volume by Messrs. Houghton, Osgood & Co., of Boston, and appeared last week in uniform style with the household edition of the poems of Whittier, Longfellow, and others. In this edition is omitted the drama of the prophet, the translation of Goethe's Faust, and the dramatic poems "Masque of the Gods" and "Prince Deukalion." Taylor is well known to American readers as a traveller. By means of this volume the world becomes acquainted with another trait—the poetical. Produced in a collection which will be found side by side with our best poets, the works of Taylor will become more familiarly appreciated in our household circles, and with so much to admire in the man and his works, there will doubtless ever be a demand for his poetic writings among cultivated people. The present volume is sold at two dollars, and may be found at W. G. Myers' book store.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have speedily and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

HUMORS ON A CHILD

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the chin, ear, and side of the head. It must have itched and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface all the time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully,

JOHN H. SURRY,
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be rendered soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS,

More Curse of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "I am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 23: "It works to a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried almost everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

PRICKLY HEAT.

Incidental to the Texan Climate.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, especially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am nolising it about. Yours truly,

THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.

MASON, TEXAS, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruff and keeps the scalp clean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is ably assisted in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is particularly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is Toilet as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any yet prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of sm'l, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 35 cents per cake; by mail, 50 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy of a second attention. It is not a dead-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN
251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday, Monday and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and imposters to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. DOSS SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties. The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that is in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily extol its superiority over any so-called cure known to the regular medical profession, but alas the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS, Of Wells, Fargo & Co.

What One Ably-Conducted Paper Did.

The Kingston, N. Y., Freeman, owned and conducted by Charles Marseilles, Esq., formerly of the Exeter News-Letter, in a recent issue makes the following statement, which might be called self-glorification did not the facts fully bear out every assertion made:

The Freeman under its present management has now served the republican party of Ulster county in three local campaigns. When it began its work on the 3d day of Sept., 1878, the county was virtually in the hands of the democratic party. For years the majorities of that party had been so large that its candidates were in the habit of paying largely for their nominations, success at the conventions being considered equivalent to an election. To such an extent was this practice carried that there was always a scramble for a choice as delegate in the county convention, as the place in which to make a small fortune. With the exception of two, every official in the county was a democrat, and the same party held the board of supervisors by a two-thirds majority, with a certain prospect of increasing it at the spring election. The party had indeed experienced reverses in past years, but by the free use of the people's money it had at last apparently risen above them, and looked forward to a long period of easy and undisputed control.

This was the condition of affairs when the Freeman came under its present proprietorship fourteen months ago. Only five weeks of the fall campaign remained. Not being informed upon local affairs, the only chance of making an impression upon the public mind was by a full and candid discussion of the two great parties as exhibited in their dealings with national and State questions. We succeeded in obtaining a respectful and intelligent hearing, greatly to our surprise and gratification. The result last fall is well known. The republican party elected the county treasurer, two members of assembly and two school commissioners, while the democrats secured only one member of assembly and a coroner.

When the spring campaign opened for the election of supervisors and other town officers the Freeman was better informed on local matters, for it had watched the board of supervisors and was not long in discovering traces of ring operations and rascalities such as were then being uncovered in New Jersey. We went to work to lay these rascalities bare. We did not rely upon partisan tirade or argument, but gave the inexorable facts and figures. The exposure aroused a storm of popular indignation that overwhelmed the ring at the polls, and elected a two-thirds majority of republicans and honest democrats to the board of supervisors.

The canvass just closed has been one of hard and earnest work by the Freeman. We undertook the laborious task of showing the tax-payers, by comparison with other counties, the enormity of the burdens that were being laid upon them. Fortunately we were able to avail ourselves of the official figures of more than half the counties of the State. We were able to show that in none of these were the ordinary county and town expenses equal to one-half of those borne by the people of Ulster. The splendid republican victory just achieved we claim to be the result largely of this work. It was convincing, unanswerable. The verdict of the people is their answer to this exhibit. By it they express confidence in the republican party, which is able to show a clean and unquestionable record in every county in which it has held control for twenty years.

What has been accomplished is the Freeman's work. Its efforts have indeed been seconded by many earnest republicans, and it has also received valuable assistance from honest democrats in every part of the county, who saw that the only way of relief was by the overthrow of the ring. To-day the ring is shattered and overwhelmed. With the exception of surrogate, the democracy do not hold a single county office. In ten towns of the nineteen they have failed to give a majority on the State ticket. To all intents and purposes Ulster is a republican county, and its affairs are wholly in the hands of that party.

Speer's Sambucl Wine for Ladies.

Mr. Speer, an enthusiastic grape grower from New Jersey, has a very excellent wine from the Sambucus. The best judges pronounce it superb. It has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally as a very superior wine; and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. We touch it to our lips somewhat unwillingly, but are agreeably disappointed in finding one of the most delicious wines we have ever tasted. Our leading physicians have tested the virtues of this wine, and recommended it as a superior wine for invalids, debilitated persons and especially for females.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

New Lungs cannot be made by medicines, or the skill of physicians, but the old ones can be strengthened and preserved by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, a sure cure for coughs, colds, asthma, and all diseases of the lungs. Price, 35 and 75 cts.

I strongly recommend the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the lungs, bronchial tubes or general debility.

The Election in Maine.

From all accounts it now appears very probable that Gov. Garcelon and council, of Maine, propose to take the advice of the Maine Standard, Portland Argus and Boston Globe, and do what the voters of the State did not do, viz: elect a majority of demo-greenback fusionists to the State Senate and House of Representatives, and thereby secure to Garcelon another year in office. The magnitude of the job proposed is shown by the fact that the voters elected a republican majority of thirty-one in the House of Representatives and seven in the Senate; so Gov. Garcelon and his council must un-elect at least thirty-nine fairly chosen republican members, before things will be all right for the fusionists. We have been slow to believe that they would attempt a piece of such reckless villainy, but the indications now are that in defiance of honesty, law and decency, Garcelon will proceed to "count himself in."

No republican, looking at the question in a mere partisan light, could object to this performance; the moral effect throughout the north of the great republican victory in Maine cannot be destroyed by any hocuspocus trickery and dishonesty of the democratic officials; on the contrary, such a bare-faced overriding of the legally-expressed will of the majority would emphasize it, and add many thousands to the republican majorities in other northern States (as well as in Maine) next year, making the solid north more solid than ever in its opposition to the democratic "solid south," and to the introduction of the Mississippi and South Carolina "plans" of carrying elections into New England. It would add fresh evidence to that already before the people, of the desperate determination of the democrats to rule or to ruin, and of their entire readiness to Mexicanize the States and the nation by the total overthrow of popular government, if thereby the democratic party can only secure control of the offices and the treasury.

Under the constitution and laws of Maine the governor and council are empowered and required to certify the election of senators and representatives. According to the original constitution of Maine, the selectmen and assessors certified to the election of representatives, forwarding duplicate returns to the secretary of State; while the governor and council issued their summonses to those appearing from the returns to be elected senators. There was also a provision in the constitution that the legislature might alter the manner of certifying to the election of representatives, and a few years ago this duty was also placed in the hands of the governor and council. But this duty is simply clerical, and neither in the terms nor in the spirit of the constitution is there any shadow of warrant for the governor and council arbitrarily throwing out the vote of certain towns as is now threatened, for such a reason as the delay of one day of the prescribed time in posting the election warrant, nor indeed for any reason. But if Garcelon and his council see fit to prove themselves a set of the most unscrupulous political scoundrels ever banded together for the purpose of overriding law and precedent, we do not see how they can be prevented from doing it; if they will not regard their official oaths, we do not see how they can be made to; we believe they can—for a single year—overthrow popular government in Maine; but if they do they will find themselves crushed under a load of infamy and the contempt of all honest men, and their party at the next election will be buried beneath a larger majority than ever before.

News and Notes.

A statute of Gen. George H. Thomas was unveiled at Washington on the 19th inst., Hon. Stanley Matthews making an oration.

Fishing schooner Greyhound, of Newburyport, an old but good vessel, was totally wrecked at the mouth of the Merrimac river on the 18th inst.

Two sons of Mrs. H. P. Beard of Andover, Mass., aged ten and twelve years, were burned to death by a fire in their room, on the 17th inst.

Mr. Henry Dodge of Lubec, Me., has found gold in a nearly pure state on the bottom of a brook which runs through his land. The discovery has created considerable excitement.

Mark Jewett, of Rowley, Mass., seventy-five years old, was crossing the river at Newburyport, on the 17th inst., in a boat, and having an ill turn as is supposed, fell into the river and was drowned. He leaves his fifth wife; one son, Mark Jewett, a well-known democratic politician; and a daughter.

By an explosion of gas in a railroad tunnel nearly at the top of Santa Cruz mountain, Cal., on the 17th inst., thirty or more Chinamen were killed and two white men badly hurt. The gas was from coal oil, with which the mountain is saturated, and several lives had previously been lost from similar though smaller explosions.

A tow consisting of three dredges, two derricks and seven scows was wrecked on lake Ontario by a storm on the 18th inst., and eighteen persons, including a woman and a girl, were drowned.

New Hampshire Items.

Joshua Brooks and Miss Nellie Hall, of Lisbon, were returning from a temperance meeting on Sunday night, the 16th inst., when their horse took fright and ran away, plunging down a steep bank into the river, and swimming to the opposite side, where the bank was too steep for him to climb. The young people stuck to the wagon, having to stand on the seat in the deepest part of the river; and after the horse stopped they managed to reach the bank by walking along the shafts, and were kindly cared for at a house near by. The horse was rescued by cutting him loose from the wagon and swimming him to another part of the river. The night was intensely dark, and had the horse's course across the river been a few rods either up or down, Mr. Brooks and his companion would almost certainly have been drowned.

The Passumpsic cattle train over the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad ran into the rear of a way freight at Canterbury on the night of the 17th inst., damaging the engine and smashing five or six cars.

A farmers' meeting was held at Keene on the 18th inst., under the auspices of the State board of agriculture, together with the county society. Addresses were made by Prof. Stockbridge, Hiram Parker, James O. Adams and others. The raising of the sugar beet was generally favored, and other interesting topics were discussed.

The United States pension agency at Concord disbursed in the six months ending October 31st, $2,657,003.

Naval Affairs.

Lieut. Arthur A. Boyd is detached from the Marion, and granted leave of absence.

The Kearsarge touched at Charleston, S. C., on the 19th inst., and proceeded to Tybee.

Capt. Percival C. Pope, U. S. M. C., is detached from the Boston navy yard and ordered to the Trenton as fleet marine officer of the European squadron.

The Trenton was at Villefranche Nov. 3d; the Enterprise arrived at Naples Oct. 20th, after a rough passage in which she lost one of her boats; the Quinnebaug arrived at Leghorn Oct. 21st; the Wyoming sailed from Villefranche Nov. 3d, for a cruise on the north coast of Africa, and would be at Gibralter Nov. 20th.

Rich Speculations.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $40 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3 7-8 per cent., equal to $387.50 per one hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75 in addition to the $50 he invested. A conductor made $1,276.24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $16,310.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculations consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty day. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $25 to $10,000 can thus be invested with vast advantage. The new explanatory circular, with "onerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

—The subject of conversation was the peculiar intelligence of animals, particularly of dogs. Says Smith—"There are dogs that have more sense than their masters." "Just so," responds young Fitznoodle; "I've got that very kind of a dog myself."

—An Irishman was accused of stealing a handkerchief of a fellow traveller, but the owner, on finding it, apologized to Pat, and said that it was a mistake. "Arrah, my jewel," retorted Pat, "it was a two-sided mistake—you took me for a thaif, and I took you for a gentleman."

—A Hartford man's excuse for stealing a pair of chickens was that while at work he hung his coat near the coop, and on going for it he found the chickens roosting on the same. He hadn't the heart to wake them up, he said, so he wound his coat around them without waking them and carried them off. His defence was ingenious, but he was sent up for three months all the same.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.

AROUND HOME.

The Manchester Union says it is rumored that a Grant club is to be organized in Portsmouth. First we have heard of it.

The Mechanic's Association will have a public installation of officers and a banquet in their hall on Wednesday evening, Dec. 3d.

A tile floor, similar to that in the vestibule of the post-office, was laid in the entry to the new Odd Fellows'hall on the 19th inst.

Mr. Charles S. Dodge of this city, agent of Miller's Weekly, lectured before the reform club, at "the corner" in Epping, Monday evening of this week.

Robert Harris, Esq., general manager of the Erie railway, was on the 17th inst. chosen president of the Manhattan elevated railway company, of New York city.

Mr. Eugene Foote, formerly employed as flagman at the Eastern railroad station in this city, and recently displaced, has accepted a position at the Charlestown, Mass., station.

Mr. Edward P. Philbrook of this city has received the appointment of apothecary on board the U. S. S. Kearsarge, and left on the 19th inst. for Savannah, Ga., to meet the vessel.

James T. Fields, Esq., is lecturing in Baltimore to audiences of two thousand persons, twice each week, in the large hall of Peabody Institute. This is his third course in that city.

Rev. James Pike, presiding elder of the Dover district, and formerly paster of the Methodist church in this city, was in town Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, on church business.

A Dover point farmer a few days ago with a pitchfork killed an eagle measuring three feet four inches across the expanded wings. The bird was engaged in stealing chickens at the time.

The Misses Foster, of Richards avenue, who have made an extended tour of Europe the past season, arrived at New York in the Anchor line steamer Ethiopia on the 17th inst., from Glasgow.

One axle of Mr. Theodore Keen's Kittery point stage gave out when at the upper end of Market street, Wednesday forenoon of this week, compelling Mr. Keen to return for another vehicle. No harm was done.

Chas. Stevens, an engineer on the Dover & Winnepesaukee railroad, died very suddenly on the evening of the 18th inst., of hemorrhage of the lungs. He had just entered his room at the Kimball house in Dover, when a blood vessel broke, causing immediate death.

Early in the morning on the 19th inst., Stephen Scammon of Stratham went to his barn to feed his stock, and returning to the house found one room on fire, the furniture in it being destroyed. But for the help of the neighbors all his buildings would have been burnod. Incendiarism is suspected.

A prominent dramatic organ, criticising the performance of the Dan'l Druce combination, which recently visited our city, speaks of Mr. Bangs' very natural assumption of the Cornish dialect, and satirically wonders how his daughter, and those in his own walks in life, speak English so fluently.

Schooner Charles H. Trickey, Capt. Kelly, of Dover, arrived at this port on Wednesday afternoon, the 18th inst., on her way from Hoboken to Dover with a cargo of coal. She was towed in from off Odiorne's point by tug Clara Batemen, Capt. Albert Rand, having lost an anchor; the sea was running high at the time, and no wind blowing.

Did the three temperence men who went on the bail-bond of Webster, the liquor-spotter, do so in pursuance of an agreement entered into with him, that he was to come to this city and "spot" if they would bail him out? He says they did; and the editor of the Times says he "knows" Webster speaks the truth in the matter. On the other side are three men who signed the bail-bond, all reputable citizens, (for we consider that a man may never get drunk—may even be a prohibitionist, and still be a reputable citizen,) who positively deny that they entered into any such agreement. Webster the liquor-spotter, and the editor of the Times, vs. Jos. R. Pettigrew, James Janvrin and James Sanborn; the public will officiate as jury.

George Vandenhoff, the actor and elocutionists and formerly a resident of this city, is giving a course of readings from Dickens at Chickering hall, New York city.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 19th.

Ruland vs. South Newmarket. The evidence for the defense was concluded in the morning, and the case was argued by General Marston for the town and J. S. H. Frink, Esq., for the pltf. Judge Bingham charged the jury on the assembling of the court for the afternoon session; the charge occupied about three-quarters of an hour, and the case was submitted to the jury at half-past three o'clock in the afternoon; in the evening a sealed verdict was returned.

Batchelder vs. town of Epping. Action to recover for injuries received by reason of an insufficient highway. After impannelling the jury, two were challenged and one was excused on account of having previous knowledge of the case; this, it was found, exhausted the number of jurors in attendance, and Charles F. Vaughan of this city was drawn as a talesman.

The defendants then notified the court that they would desire a view of the premises, and it was arranged that the jury should leave on the 7:55 A. M. train, Thursday, and return in the forenoon train from Concord. The pltf.'s case was then opened by Mr. Hatch, and was briefly as follows:

Dr. Batchelder, a resident of Epping and a physician of large practice in this county, started out to drive on the 31st of November, 1878, with a steady horse, a strong wagon that had been repaired a short time before, and suitable harness, and came along on the road which runs north and south through the town of Epping. There was a road running at right angles across the road on which the doctor was travelling, and there was a gutter of some considerable depth and size, running directly across the road, which constituted the insufficiency complained of. The doctor approached this gutter and drove into it, the wagon stopped suddenly, broke the transom bolt and threw the doctor out and greatly injured him, so that he has been unable to attend to his professional duties since. The ground was frozen at the time, and the shock received by the pltf. was very severe. The transom bolt, which had been recently made of Norway iron, was broken in a fresh place, and not through a defect in the iron.

Several witnesses are to be called who experienced difficulty in crossing the same gutter.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 19; Batchelder, J.

Charles McLaughlin, alias John McCloskey, drunk, fine $5, costs 6.90. Jail.

John Rand, drunk, $9.90, fine and costs; jail.

Charles Mallen, James Moore and John Myers, were shown to be vagrants, and all were sent to Brentwood, Mallen and Moore for sixty days each, and Myers for thirty days.

John Burns, drunk, was let off on his promise to leave town in six hours.

A LOCAL WANT.

The increase of the number of first class stores in our city suggests to the practical observer the enquiry, "What can we do to increase our trade?" Our neighboring city of Dover proposes to build a road and a bridge, to bring within her business grasp some of the trade of York county, that to-day is accommodated at Portsmouth; and our business men must in some degree begin to protect themselves by devising some new source of business. This can be done if a proper co-operation of sagacious business men is brought about. A large portion of our trade during the war found an increased stimulus from the great force of men employed at the navy yard. This source of employment has so materially diminished that it is now quite inconsiderable; and it is always of a fluctuating and somewhat unreliable character. What we need is a local industry, which shall succeed the various mechanical pursuits formerly in vogue here. We have had to give up ship-building, rope-making, oil-works, foundries, carriage-building, hosiery manufactories, shoe-factories, and many other kinds of mechanical industries that once gave employment to a large number of men. What then shall be done to keep in our city a goodly number of mechanics, who shall thrive by industry and in turn afford a business prosperity to Portsmouth? While other towns and cities have entered largely into the manufacture of shoes, that kind of manufacture seems to be given up by our residents. At one time a large shoe business was done at Newcastle, giving employment to many persons of both sexes; but some of the manufacturers, and their help, removed to Farmington and other places, and now the town is almost without the evidence of any labor of this kind. We do not propose to discuss how much better it would be for any place to depend upon mechanical labor of this kind, fairly remunerated, that to wait for the intermittent and variable employment of her citizens upon the public works. The question is, what can we do to increase our population, to secure a wholesome kind of labor, and in turn enlarge our trade, keep up the value of our real estate, and place us upon the road to permanent prosperity?

We have a beautiful region round about Portsmouth. As a place for summer visitors it is unrivalled, but the patronage derived from these attractions last for a brief season only; the fact come home, to every owner of real estate, every merchant and store-keeper, rich or poor, large or small, that an effort to better ourselves is needed, and the remedy should be applied at once. Now, let us move. We must not wait for boards of trade to discuss the proposition, nor hold back hoping that the obvious necessity for action will stimulate our neighbors, while we sit quietly by and derive the benefit of his efforts exerted for the common weal; but we must all put shoulder to the wheel, lift our conservative city out of the rut, and start the hum of business in our community. We have in and around Portsmouth many who have been accustomed to work at the shoe business; others would come here were there a call for their labor; can we not afford to commence the business here, and have a permanent, substantial demand for the labor of from three to five hundred people? It only needs a hearty and general movement to ensure a great result. Other places are constantly making efforts to increase their population by means of this nature; we should not be behind our neighbors. We have capital and unused labor; combined and put at work, these elements can be made of inestimable consequence to us; and without some new departure of this sort, we shall in the future make a poor showing, and our citizens will have the mortification of seeing other places with far less means than are at our command, excelling us in all that goes towards making a thriving and prosperous community.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Schooner Stephen Waterman, of Kennebunk, was wrecked on the 12th inst. on rocks in Boston harbor, as she was leaving that port for Kennebunk. She registered about sixty-three tons.

A tramp who called at the house of Mr. Jackson Pettigrew, of Kittery, Monday night of this week, demanding shelter, and who on being refused assaulted Mr. Pettigrew, was on Tuesday fined $2 and costs, and in default of payment went to jail at Alfred.

Several weeks since we published an item concerning an unusual mortality among the turkeys in York and Kittery from a new disease, the prominent symptoms being the falling off of the birds' head-feathers and toe-nails; and it was stated that a lady of Kittery had lost a hundred turkeys, and Mr. Gunnison of Spruce creek one hundred and twenty-five, all by the new disease. Singularly enough, the Times on the evening of the same day published a very similar item, from "a correspondent." On Wednesday afternoon of this week we were called upon by Mr. Gunnison, who assured us that he had not lost one hundred and twenty-five turkeys, nor any other number, by the "new disease;" that he never heard of any such disease until the accounts were published in the papers; and that he does not believe any such disease exists.

Bilious Persons

should avoid the use of coffee, and nervous persons the use of tea. An agreeably and healthful substitute is found in cococa. Walter Baker & Co's chocolate and cocoa preparations are highly recommended by the best medical faculty, and are sold by all grocers.

—"Come, hurry up," said Johnny to his mother, "I've made a mile and three laps, and Jim Jones, my trainer, says I need rubbing down and putting to bed for twenty minutes; I'll go on the track quite fresh then and reduce Cross-eyed Bob's lead, and—" He was immediately rubbed down with a slipper energetically applied, and it was the hardest lap he had made in all his record. Cross-eyed Bob maintained his lead.

—A certain Mr. Gilman has prepared a volume called "Shakspeare's Morals," in which he aims to show that Shakspeare stole his wisdom from the Bible.

—"You are all alone here?" asked a man of the clerk in a Cincinnati cigar store. Receiving an affirmative answer, he continued: "What would you do if a thief should grab the box and run away?" The clerk replied that he would let the rascal escape rather than abandon the money drawer to a possible raid. "Then I'll be going," the man finally remarked, as he tucked the box under his coat and hastily departed.

—Moscow society is just now exercised by the suicide of one of its brightest ornaments, the young and lovely Countess Vera Koschelloff, who disappeared two days after her betrothal to Count Hormann, and wrote that "she was going to bathe in the river on her Crimea estate, and would never return." Her body was found there, sewn up in a large straw sack, with the seams in the interior, showing that she had sewn herself deliberately in it, as a letter near her said, "from her extreme fear of crawfish and water beetles."

—Gambetta is exceedingly fond of the game of ninepins, and was recently attracted by a game in a miserable little, cafe, where a postman and two or three vine-dressers were playing. "Will you let me play with you?" suddenly asked M. Gambetta. "Certainly," said the postman, who had recognized him. So the master of the house was brought out to make the game square, and a battle royal was begun. After half an hour's play M. Gambetta's side was beaten, but not ignominiously. Beer was brought, and the president paid the score.

Sanford's Jamaica Ginger, for the traveller or for the household, is not equalled as a delicious, safe, and reliable remedy by any other known to druggists.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nanda News.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read for large extent in localities wherein is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work, published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, for which he was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive steel engravings, three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, rather one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The top is double, and very large, with extension shelf and towel rack attached at either end. The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his Portland and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it is in imminent jeopardy of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Preference is given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his unsuccessful practice and popularity therefrom, throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturdays, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Will this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain conscienceless men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

THE BEST REMEDY
FOR
Diseases of the Throat and Lungs,
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.
Diseases of the pulmonary organs are so prevalent and fatal, that a safe and reliable remedy for them is invaluable to every community. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy, and no other so eminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, to insure the greatest possible efficacy and uniformity of results, which enables physicians as well as invalids to use it with confidence. It is the most reliable remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs that science has produced. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt and certain relief, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it without difficulty. In the treatment of ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household, for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.
The marvellous cures which AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has effected all over the world are a sufficient guaranty that it will continue to produce the best results. An impartial trial will convince the most sceptical of its wonderful curative powers, as well as of its superiority over all other preparations for pulmonary complaints.
Eminent physicians in all parts of the country, knowing its composition, recommend AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL to invalids, and prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proved its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

CATARRH
THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.
SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many material failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends of friends in this favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over all other preparations, not only in regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.
INVALUABLE.
MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranal system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried it, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me inestimable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.
If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.
Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1878. Of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Daily Chronicle.

History, as Improved by a Newspaper-Man.

The Philadelphia Record publishes a very interesting article upon the career in the south during the rebellion of the torpedo man who was recently blown to atoms in Boston harbor, from which we make a few extracts as follows:

The death of J. R. McClintock in Boston harbor, while experimenting with torpedoes, furnishes a finale to a history closely interwovoven with the rebellion. McClintock was a native of New Orleans and during the war his name was a terror to the men of the United States navy who were located in southern waters. It was he who introduced the torpedo mode of warfare, which before had not been recognized as a legitimate arm of the service. He was the inventor of the submarine vessel which has become famous in the history of the late war as the destroyer of the United States gunboats Milwaukee, Tecumseh and the Housatonic at Savannah. The latter-named boat had been lying for days with seven hundred pounds of gunpowder under her, and every means known to the rebels had been exhausted for exploding it, but without avail. McClintock was sent for with his submarine torpedo vessel, and within an hour after launching the formidable though contracted vessel the Housatonic and her four hundred men were blown to atoms. McClintock's vessel was forty feet long, built cigar-shape, and was five feet between decks. It was so constructed that it would float at any depth under the water or on the water. The manner of operating it was to sink it to a depth sufficient to pass under the keel of the vessel to be destroyed. * * * The boat was propelled by a windlass attached to a screw, and was worked by hand, and could be raised to the surface or lowered to any depth at will with all possible ease, and guided in any direction, so that he could as effectually defy the enemy in locationg his position as a porpoise does who leaps out of the water, plunges out of sight again, and afterward appears in the direction least expected. This vessel, however, after destroying the Housatonic, was itself lost. There were on it at the time of doing its last deadly work ten Englishmen, and it was supposed by McClintock that after destroying the Housatonic the vessel was driven out to sea in a storm, and that it finally went down. * * * On the 16th of October he was to exhibit to a company of Boston capitalists, (who were to pay $100,000 for the idea,) how effective an explosion he could make with a newly-invented torpedo. The torpedo was about ten inches square; it contained the bursting power of four hundred and eighty pounds of gunpowder, and could be set off by a blow of forty pounds. After having destroyed hundreds of Yankee lives and millions of dollars in Yankee gunboats in southern waters, he exclaimed, when cautioned to be careful in using the torpedo which caused his death: "Careful? Pshaw! I have laid torpedoes under the fire of Yankee guns. I guess I can lay one in Yankee waters when none of their guns are around." His death was his answer.

That is a quite interesting little story, but evidently needs correction in one or two immaterial points. For instance, the gunboat Milwaukee was not destroyed by McClintock's torpedo boat, nor any other man's; nor in fact by any torpedo at all; she was an iron-clad, and outlived the war. The Tecumseh, also an iron-clad and not a gunboat, was not sunk off Savannah by McClintock's torpedo boat; she was blown up off Fort Morgan, at the entrance to Mobile bay by a stationary submerged torpedo, at the time Farragut's fleet dashed past the forts there and engaged the rebel gunboats and iron-clad Tenuessee in the bay; and "the Housatonic and her 400 men" were not "blown to atoms" at Savannah, the ship being simply sunk at her anchors, in Charleston harbor, with the loss of a considerable portion of her crew. The Record historian evidently draws largely on his imagination for his facts.

Speer's Sambuci Wine for Ladies.

Mr. Speer, an enthusiastic grape grower from New Jersey, has a very excellent wine from the Sambucus. The best judges pronounce it superb. It has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally as a very superior wine; and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. We touch it to our lips somewhat unwillingly, but are agreeably disappointed in finding one of the most delicious wines we have ever tasted. Our leading physicians have tested the vitues of this wine, and recommended it as a superior wine for invalids, debilitated persons and especially for females.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

New Lungs cannot be made by medicines, or the skill of physicians, but the old ones can be strengthened and preserved by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, a sure cure for coughs, colds, asthma, and all diseases of the lungs. Price, 35 and 75 cts.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

A Female Coroner's Jury.

Mr. Editor: The following article appeared in the Boston Journal of Nov. 19th:

Woman suffrage in Wyoming Territory is surely a success. The other day Mrs. Theresa Gueck died in Cheyenne, under circumstances that rendered necessary the impaneling of a coroner's jury. So Mary C. Graham, Essie H. Conroy, Lizzie A. Abney, Isabella Wilford, Augusta Heischmidt and Sarah Casper were summoned and sworn, listened to the testimony and rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts. This is the first instance in history of a coroner's jury composed exclusively of women.

If the editor of the Boston Journal will read Coffin's History of Newbury, Mass., on page 159, under date of July 5th, 1693, he will read "This year, a jury of twelve women held an inquest on the body of Elizabeth Hunt, of Newbury. The following is an accurate copy of their verdict, which was doubtless perfectly conclusive and satisfactory. 'We judge according to our best light and contients, that the death of said Elizabeth was not by any violens or wrong don to her by any parson or thing, but by some soden stoping of her breath.'" REVILO.

Important Legal Decision.

The supreme court of Massachusetts has decided case Sarah F. Walker, administratrix, vs. Boston & Maine railroad; Mary L. Miller, administratrix, vs. the same. The two actions were tried together, each being an action of tort for negligence of the defendant, and the plaintiffs being each the adminixtratrix of the parts injured. It appeared at the trial that a freight train consisting of forty-seven loaded cars, drawn by two engines, started from the defendant's station in Boston, in the direction of Andover. Charles C. Walker as the engineer, and Carl Miller as fireman, were in charge of the second engine. On arriving at Ballardville the train, in consequence of the displacement of a switch, was suddenly turned off upon a side-track, upon which two other cars were standing. The result was that the cars were piled together, that great damage was done to the train and the road-bed, and in consequence of the accident Walker and Miller were so badly injured that they died within a short time. Upon the evidence offered at the trial the court ruled that no action could be maintained, and directed a verdict for the defendant in each case. The cases were thereupon reported to the full court. The court has now ordered judgment on the verdict, for the reason that "the cause of action is the misplacement of a switch through the negligence of a fellow-servant of the plaintiff's intestate." From this it appears that a railroad corporation is not answerable to one of its servants for the negligence of another.

War Cloud in Europe.

Despatches received in New York on the 19th inst., to the effect that war was expected to be declared at any moment between Russia and England, caused great excitement. Private despatches received at Montreal say that war with Russia is imminent, and nothing can now avert it.

News and Notes.

In consequence of recent developments the directors of the North German Lloyd's steamship company have decided to refuse transportation on their vessels to a class of heavy French silks which are so weighted with chemicals and oils as to cause danger of spontaneous combustion.

Great excitement and indignation was caused in Ireland on the 19th inst., by the arrest of Michael Davitt and Jas. Bryce Killen, in Dublin, charged with having used language in public speeches calculated to incite a breach of the peace, and of James Daly, editor of the Connaught Telegraph in Castlebar, for similar cause. The skeleton of a woman was unearthed on the bank of the Ammonoosac river, in Bath, a few days ago, and is believed to be that of a young girl who mysteriously disappeared about thirty-four years ago.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

On the 17th inst., at Biddeford, Judge Luques ordered the return to a druggist of that city of sixty-five gallons of whiskey and gin, seized several weeks ago by deputy sheriffs at the Eastern railroad depot. The decision was based on the fact that it was not proved that the liquors were intended for illegal sale. The counsel for the druggist also argued that the liquors could not be held on a warrant made out before the liquor arrived.

A number of stores in Saco have been robbed recently in a manner indicating that the same person or persons have been engaged in each theft. The plan of the thieves is to break the corner of a pane of glass in the show-window, making a hole so small as not to be easily noticed, and through the orifice pull out such small articles as are within reach, a hook probably being used, as the holes made are not large enough to admit the hand.

A blacksmith of Saco, who is quite a politician in his way, is accused of a piece of absent-mindedness that beats about anything in that line. About a year ago he embraced greenbackism, and since then has been loud in expressing his belief in that doctrine. The other day he had occasion to mail a letter to a post office in Iowa, and stepping into the Saco post office he pulled out his pocket-book, paid for a stamp, closed the book again, dropped it in the letter box, put the letter in his pocket and walked off! One man avers he put the stamp on the pocket-book! Later in the day he wanted to use some money, when on searching for his pocket-book it was not to be found. How his eyes rolled as he searched for that pocket-book, beneath wagons, in stores, and elsewhere. It was hard to make him believe some one was not playing a joke on him, until in the evening a post-office clerk brought him the pocket book.—Biddeford Times.

—It has been ascertained in Scotland that marriage is productive of longevity. Out of 100,000 married persons, 626 die in the course of each year; while out of a similar number of unmarried persons between the same ages no less than 1231 die in each year. It is believed that this will hold good throughout the world. It is an awful warning to old bachelors.

Rich Speculations.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $50 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3 7-8 per cent., equal to $387.50 per one hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75 in addition to the $50 he invested. A conductor made $1,276.24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $16,310.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculations consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty day. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $25 to $10,000 can thus be invested with vast advantage. AROUND HOME.

Milkmen are late these mornings. It is no wonder; the roads are horrible.

Mr. John Albee, of Newcastle, read a paper before the Equal Rights Association of Concord on the 20th inst.

Ship Grandee, Jacobs master, now at Yokohama, has been chartered to load sugar at Manila for New York, at $8.50 a ton.

The Manchester Union says "Rev. James DeNormandie, of Portsmouth, has entered the lecture field." This was suspected many years ago.

Capt. Gould, of the schooner Martin W. Bates, of Camden, in the lower harbor weather-bound, on Thursday informed us that he did not lose his mainsail, as reported in one of the Boston papers of the previous day.

Thomas J. Whidden, Esq., formerly of this city, is a candidate for aldermanic honors from wards eight, eleven and seventeen in Boston, on the republican ticket. Mr. Whidden has served the Hub in that capacity several times already.

A son of Mr. William H. Noyes of this city, who went to work in the Swampscott Machine Works at South Newmarket as an apprentice a month or so ago, had his right hand caught in the gearing of a crane, on the 17th inst., and the bone of the fore-finger broken.

The walls and ceiling of the Mechanics' reading room have recently been beautifully tinted, and on Thursday the wood work of the room was painted in, particolored tints, giving this cosy retreat for ex-congressmen, ex-mayors, retired seacaptains, and mechanics, a rich and elegant appearance.

Mr. Charles Stevens, the locomotive engineer who died suddenly in Dover on the 18th inst., was a member of the Concord lodges of Freemasons, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias. He leaves a wife, but no children, and his wife will receive from the Pythians $2,270, and from the Odd Fellows $1,300.

The remains of the late George S. Holman arrived in Concord on Tuesday, the 18th inst., from Texas. The funeral services were held on Wednesday, after which the remains were buried in the new cemetery beside those of his mother, which had lately been removed to Concord from this city. The deceased spent his boyhood days here, and was well and favorably known.

"Ned," the seal which attracted so much attention at Major Urch's aquarium during the summer and autumn months, is no more. For several weeks past he has been domiciled in the major's barn, and seemed happy and contented with his new home. On Tuesday evening of this week, at eight o'clock, the major gave him his usual supper of fresh herring, of which he ate heartily and with great zest; and then, as he was patted and his fur stroked, he licked the major's hand, evincing the greatest pleasure at the attentions of his keeper. He then crawled into his bed of dried eel-grass, with his nose as usual towards the door, in which position and place he was found dead the next morning. To say that the major mourns the loss of his pet but half expresses it. The seal received a decent burial.

The installation of Rev. William A. McGinley, late of Greenfield, Mass., as pastor of the Congregational church in this city, took place Wednesday evening, the 19th inst., in the presence of a large congregation. The order of exercises was as follows: Reading of the minutes of council, Rev. S. W. Webb of Great Falls; invocation, Rev. D. B. Sewell of York, Me.; reading of Scriptures, Rev. William A. Rand of South Seabrook; sermon, from Psalms xix, 17, Rev. Dr. Duryea of Boston; installation prayer, Rev. Edward Robie, D. D., of Greenland; charge to the pastor, Rev. George B. Spalding, D. D., of Dover; right hand of fellowship, Rev. George E. Street of Exeter; address to the people, Rev. George M. Adams of Holliston, Mass., formerly pastor of this church; concluding prayer, Rev. George B. Spalding, D. D.; benediction, Rev. Mr. McGinley. Fine music was rendered by a choir of twenty-five male voices, under direction of Mr. Lafayette S. Butler of this city. Rev. Dr. Spalding was moderator of the examining council.

The Cocheco Manufacturing Co. of Dover will pay a dividend of four per cent, Dec. 1st.

Miss Chandler, a sister to Miss Lillian Chandler, the child violinist, both formerly of this city, is creating a furor in Lynn by her wonderful singing and personation of "Josephine" in Pinafore.

A four-years-old son of Richard Collins, of Dover, on the 19th inst. fell from a second-story window to the ground, a distance of twenty-four feet, striking on a stone bank-wall and sustaining a bad fracture of the skull. The child's injuries were feared to be fatal.

The clothes-line of Mr. Andrew J. Ayers, who lives at No. 15 Washington street, was relieved by some unknown thief of a lot of clothes which were left out over night on Wednesday, the 19th inst. Dover people have been complaining for some time past of clothes-line thieves, but this is the first case of the kind reported to us recently as having occurred in this city.

Eli Grant and Wells Waldron, of Dover, recently retired from the employ of the Cocheco Manufacturing Co., after faithful service of over fifty years. On Tuesday of this week each of the two gentlemen named was presented by Col. Bracewell, on behalf of the corporation, with a check for $500, as a token of the company's appreciation of their faithfulness and worth. It seems possible that corporations may have souls, after all.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

THURSDAY, Nov. 20th.

In Ruland vs. town of South Newmarket, a verdict in favor of Mr. Ruland for $1400 was rendered on Thursday morning. Frink and Page for pliff.; Marston and Eastman for deft.

At half-past ten o'clock, the jury having returned from a brief visit to Epping corner, the trial of case Bachelder vs. town of Epping was resumed. Inside the bar was the venerable Dr. Perry of Exeter, and many of the leading M. D.s of the town. Among the gentlemen present from Epping was Ex-Gov. Prescott, who was summoned as a witness on behalf of the town. There was a large number of persons from the town, called here by one side or the other. The plaintiff finished all his evidence, except one witness, late in the afternoon, and the defendants opened their case to the jury.

Defendants claim that there was no defect in the highway where the injury occurred, and that the highway was then in better condition that it is now. The depression in the middle of road was ten feet wide, and the entire depth two and one-half inches; sloped gradually; and the greatest depression that could be found was six inches, and that was out of the travelled path, toward Dr. Burnham's house. Also, that the wagon was defective in several points, which contributed to the accident.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

Rufus K. Oxford asked for relay of sidewalk in front of his house on Middle street. Referred to committee on streets.

William and H. J. Mathes, asked for repair of sidewalk, and street light placed in front of their residence on South street. Referred to committee on streets and street lights.

The hearing on the pooposed new highway from head of Vaughan street through Short street, thence through Raynes shipyard to Elm street, was begun, Mr. Hatch, Hon. Frank Jones and Henry Peyser speaking in favor, and William H. Rollins and Nathaniel K. Raynes against it. Mr. Raynes asked a continuance of the hearing, as he and the family wish to be heard through counsel. The hearing was adjourned to meet Monday afternoon, Dec. 1st at three o'clock, on the premises.

Voted that the mayor be added to the committee on streets, to ascertain the probable cost of building the road, and in the meantime confer with the officers of the Eastern railroad.

Adjourned for two weeks.

THE PYTHIANS' EXCURSION.

The Lowell (Mass.) Morning Mail of the 19th inst. publishes a long and interesting account of the celebration of the 8th anniversary of Samuel H. Hines lodge, No. 56, the youngest of the three lodges of Knights of Pythias of that city. The Mail says:

It was arranged that at this anniversary meeting, the work should be the amplified (third) degree—as lodges elect. This work was done, by invitation, by the following visiting brothers from Portsmouth, N. H.:

Messrs. A. J. Sides, W. O. Sides, A. T. Pickering, William Kennedy, Herman Manson, John J. Laskey, G. H. Tripp, E. C. Badger, Thornton Betton, John S. Tilton, O. A. Bryant, H. C. Locke, J. K. Simpson, Benj. Plummer, Gustave Peyser and Charles Blood, of Damon lodge, No. 9. For our convenience the lodge titles of the visitors we have committed. It requires the number mentioned (sixteen) to work the amplified degree. The Messrs. Sides have each occupied the position of Past Grand Chancellor of New Hampshire.

The Portsmouth gentlemen did not reach the city until the arrival of the last train, about eight o'clock. They were met by a committee from Samuel H. Hines lodge, who escorted them to Nichols & Hutchins', where they were served with a lunch, and afterward proceeded to Pythian hall, and about nine o'clock began work. The degree was conferred on three candidates. The hall was crowded, the work was watched with much interest, and there seemed to be general satisfaction with its character as well as with the manner in which it exemplified. We think it propable that the new work will eventually be adopted by the Lowell lodges.

About eleven o'clock the brethren holding tickets to the banquet, with their visitors, repaired to Nichols & Hutchins' hall, where the tables were spread and waiting their presence.

After full justice had been done the bill of fare, Bro. Gray, who presided, introduced Ch. C. Edwin Demack, who complimented the members of Damon lodge for the manner in which they had done the work at the lodge. The presiding officer then called upon

Bro. J. A. G. Richardson, who said we have heard something about bravery, but we are all cowards at times. In his own case he was a coward when called upon to speak before those intellectually his superiors. He couldn't, however, fail to comply with the request to say something in reponse to the invitation. He complimented the New Hampshire brethren on their work in the lodge room; was glad they had shown interest enough in the order to visit the city, and hoped they would come again when they could make a longer stay, and look about the city. One of the visiting brethren had informed him that he had not been in Lowell for twenty years, and he should be proud to show the progress the city had made in that time.

P. G. Ch. W. O. Sides of Damon lodge thanked his entertainers for the reception tendered, and hoped to have an opportunity to reciprocate.

Bros. Kennedy, Tilton, A. J. Sides, Pickering and Betton of Damon lodge, and Hayes of S. H. Hines lodge, followed with remarks, the whole being seasoned by racy stories and illustrations.

It was half-past one o'clock when the assembly adjourned.

The brethren of Damon lodge are profuse in their expressions of gratification over their reception by the Lowell Pythians, and all echo the sentiment of P. G. Ch. Sides, and "hope to have an opportunity to reciprocate." They found their brethren of the Spindle city to be composed of the very best element in Lowell. Bro. J. A. G. Richardson, whose remarks we publish, is the present mayor of that city. Bro. John W. Gray, who presided over the elegant banquet, was a former resident of this city, and one of our best young men, and we are glad to know that he maintains the same relation in the city of his adoption. The Lowell Pythians number 600 members, and have one of the finest halls of the order in the country.

—The dress circle—the belt.

—A saloon-keeper, having started business in a place where trunks had been made, asked a friend what he had better do with the old sign, "Trunk Factory." "Oh," said the friend, "just change the 'T' to a 'D,' and it will suit you exactly."

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, nearly opposite Grand Central Depot. 350 elegant rooms reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European Plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse Cars, Stages and Elevated Railroad to all depots. Be careful and see that "Grand Union Hotel" is on the sign where you enter office in the centre of the block. d&wtaug16'80

Political.

Gov. Garcelon and council have refused the request of republican senators and representatives-elect to see the returns in which they are specially interested—a right never before denied in that State. It has been repeatedly stated, and never denied so far as we are aware, that all the returns were for several days in the custody of Eben F. Pillsbury, the noted Bourbon democratic editor; and that any and all of the democratic candidates have had free access to them.

The Philadelphia Times, which is a democratic sheet, in noticing the rumors of counting out and usurpation in Maine, says that "It seems hard to believe that even Maine democrats will be guilty of such stark madness, but it is hard to measure the democratic capacity in that direction."

The democrats of Boston have nominated Frederick O. Prince, and the republicans have nominated Solomon B. Stebbins, for mayor of that city.

Attorney General McLellan of Maine, when told that the infamous counting-out scheme of Garcelon and his pals, if persisted in, would kill his party, replied "You can't kill a corpse!" The attorney general is too wise a man to be a democrat; but then, as he is one of the chief movers in the scheme to steal the State government, it is evident he is too big a trickster to be a republican.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.

I strongly recommend the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the lungs, bronchial tubes or general debility.

RUPTURE
DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.
No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it could have saved himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.
Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.
HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE
gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his wonderful success and popularity therefrom, sent free throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 25 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.
It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is
Dr. J. A. SHERMAN
251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York; and 43 Milk Street, Boston.
In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturdays, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.
The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Diseases of the pulmonary organs are so prevalent and fatal, that a safe and reliable remedy for them is invaluable to every community. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy; and no other so eminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically unified, to insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results, which enables physicians as well as invalids to use it with confidence. It is the most reliable remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs that science has produced. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt and certain relief, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it without difficulty. In the treatment of ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household, for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

The marvellous cures which AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has effected all over the world are a sufficient guaranty that it will continue to produce the best results. An impartial trial will convince the most sceptical of its wonderful curative powers, as well as of its superiority over all other preparations for pulmonary complaints.

Eminent physicians in all parts of the country, knowing its composition, recommend AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL to invalids, and prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proved its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. DOCS SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for the Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent relief. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely restored, and at least arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring place their risks in the above companies, some of which have been represented in this vicinity for nearly fifty years.

All losses will be promptly adjusted and paid by the undersigned.

New Hampshire Items.

The Manchester Union is now issued as a morning paper.

Fernando Gale of Rochester is missing. He left home Thursday night, the 14th inst., and has not been seen since. It is reported that his team was found next day near Blackwater brook, and it is feared by some that there has been foul play. Mr. Gale was considerably in debt, and his absence is attributed to this fact by many of his acquaintances.

On the 19th inst., a sentence of three years in the State prison was given a Frenchman by the name of Bragdon for horse stealing, and the same to Charles A. Nute for felonious assault, by Judge Smith in the supreme judicial court at Ossipee.

Two barns belonging to Wallace Woodsum, in East Columbia, with all their contents, consisting of hay, grain, mowing machine, horse rake, etc., were entirely consumed by fire at eleven o'clock on the night of the 19th inst., the fire being caused by an ox kicking over a lantern. Insurance, $350.

On Wednesday, the 19th inst., Levi Stone of Cornish was found in his barn in an unconscious condition, with a severe gash on the back of his head, the profuse bleeding of which had rendered life almost extinct. Strong suspicions of foul play are entertained. The authorities are investigating the matter, and will take all necessary steps towards bringing the would-be murderer to justice.

Messrs. James L. Campbell and George A. Hanscom, recently owners with A. A. Hanscom of the Manchester Union, have purchased the daily and weekly Times, of Lowell, Mass., and will take possession about the middle of December. The firm's name will be Campbell & Hanscom.

Political.

The Manchester Union says that "Through Mr. Hayes, the principle of republican government, through majority rule has been assailed and imperilled." It has not a word to say, however, in denunciation of the democratic scheme to "count out" thirty or forty republican members-elect of the Maine legislature, in order that Garcelon, who received but a small percentage of the popular vote in Maine, may be made governor, and Eben F. Pillsbury the State printer. By the way, it is said the counting-out plan is of Pillsbury's invention; and he being chairman of the democratic State committee, is able to whip in a good many democrats who would prefer to be decent—Garcelon and his council being willing tools in the infamy. Maine had better let out the State printing to the lowest bidder.

Col. Barksdale, chairman of the democratic county committee of Yazoo county, Miss., and cold-blooded assassin of Dixon, independent democratic candidate, was triumphantly elected sheriff of Yazoo county by the "straight" shot-gun and bowie-knife democracy.

—It is said that two parts tallow and one of rosin melted together and applied to the soles of new boots or shoes—as much as the leather will absorb—will double their wear.

—The San Jose, Cal., Herald becomes alarmed at the bad state of morals in that town, and in the untrammeled manner of western journalism thus lifts up its voice: "We are of the opinion that this community needs regeneration, and that a wide-awake, pulpit-thumping, howling old revivalist could find a year's steady job in snatching brands from the burning and scooping in the sinners right here in San Jose."

New Lungs cannot be made by medicines, or the skill of physicians, but the old ones can be strengthened and preserved by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, a sure cure for coughs, colds, asthma, and all diseases of the lungs. Price, 35 and 75 cts.

Wealth Easily Obtained.

Jay Gould, combining vast amounts of money with several great capitalists, has frequently made colossal profits in stock speculations, paying millions to each shareholder. The new combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., confers similar benefits on the shareholders who invest small and large amounts, from $25 to $10,000. The money of thousands of customers thus massed in one mighty sum, and operated with the ripest experience and best skill, has secured the most brilliant successes. A hotel keeper in Ohio invested $100 in a combination, which netted $478. Three reinvestments resulted in a total profit of $13,801.18. A Boston gentleman invested $500 in a combination, which yielded a profit of $2,817.04; two reinvestments netted him $8,644.31. A Chicago merchant made $48,510.41 in four months of combination investments. New explanatory circular with "rules for unerring success." Apply to Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

A Deserved Rebuke.

The Exeter News-Letter, in mentioning the fact that Mr. Stillson Hutchings (well known as the editor of the Washington Post, the central organ of the shot-gun democracy of the south,) has come to New Hampshire to instruct the democrats of this State as to what their old southern masters expect of them at the present time, speaks as follows:

Mr. Hutchings begins his work by a display of the propensities of the ghoul. Over the new-made grave of Zachariah Chandler he parades the infamous and brutal slander that the Michigan senator was in a state of beastly intoxication when from his seat he denounced Jeff Davis as a traitor last spring. Fortunately there are men in New Hampshire who heard that speech, and can give the lie to one of the most infamous libels that was ever printed. Mr. Hutchins meekly asks for the kindly consideration of brother editors of the republican faith. Let him retract this vile slander upon an honored son of New Hampshire, whom the republican party has acknowledged as one of its brave and illustrious leaders, before he presumes to expect the respect he courts.

Notice to Pension Claimants.

The following circular "to pension claimants and attorneys" was issued from the pension office at Washington on the 20th inst:

To enable this office to despatch with better facility the rapidly increasing current business, a change in the system of arranging records and files has been made, which will render it necessary that all inquiries for the condition of pension claims on account of service rendered after March 4th, 1861, should contain the name of the soldier who performed military service, with his State, company, and regiment, as well as the number of the claim or pension certificate, as the case may be. Inquiries which do not contain the above information will not be answered except in special cases, where the failure to furnish it is explained.

J. A. BENTLEY,
Commissioner of Pensions.

News and Notes.

During October over 35,000,000 postal cards were sent from the Holyoke factory—the largest month's business ever done.

Nunez, a leading Cuban insurgent chief, has been killed by the Spanish troops.

Charles G. Bease, book-keeper of the Wisconsin Fire & Marine Ins. Co. bank, of Milwaukee, is under arrest for stealing $100,000 of the bank's funds.

It is reported from the west that the Hessian fly has attacked the wheat plants in southern Indiana and Kentucky.

The body of an unknown Spaniard, well dressed, was found floating in New York harbor, off the Battery, Thursday, with a gag in the mouth and hands tied behind the back, evidently a murder and robbery case.

Eight tons of old gold coin and bullion were sent from the sub-treasury in New York to the mint at Philadelphia, Thursday. It is valued at $4,000,000.

At Leadville, Col., at about one o'clock Thursday morning, a mob numbering several hundred attacked the jail, and in spite of all obstacles forcibly took out two prisoners—a footpad named Stewart, and a jumper of claims, named Frodscham, whom they took to an adjoining shed and hanged until they were dead. Frodscham had been recently concerned in several mining affrays growing out of jot-jumping, and had been notified to leave town. Stewart was one of two footpads, who shot dead one man on the road, and wounded another.

Information has recently been received of a fatal affray near Jamestown, Tenn. Landon Downs and Giles Anderson went to the house of Miss Josephine Williams with rifles, and threatened to shoot a man named Steiscipher if he did not leave; and they also insulted Miss Williams. One of them put down a gun, which Steiscipher snatched up and shot Downs dead. Clubbing the gun, he then beat Anderson nearly to death. Steiscipher was arrested, but nobody appearing against him, he was released.

The New York Telegram of Thursday stated that Mrs. German Munoz, of Brooklyn, has been arrested at Santiago de Cuba by the Spanish authorities, and thrown into jail without any form of trial; also her brother-in-law, Mr. Cyprian Munoz, cigar manufacturer of Brooklyn. Both captives are American citizens, and provided duly with passports. They left New York on the steamship Santiago on the 3d inst. Mr. German Munoz telegraphed to Secretary Evarts for instant interference, and started for Washington.

The supreme court at Jefferson City, Mo., has granted a habeas corpus in the case of E. H. Brown, the manager of the Western Union telegraph office in St. Louis, who is, constructively, in jail for contempt of court for refusing to produce certain telegrams before the grand jury.

The conductors and collectors on the Long Island Rapid Transit railroad have just been ordered, on pain of suspension, not to flirt with ladies during working hours, as their duties require all their attention to look after their trains and passengers. Similar orders have already been issued by several other lines.

In Albany, Me., on the 17th inst., Thomas Barrows, seventy-two years old, went into the woods in the morning to cut wood, and not coming to dinner as usual, search was made, and he was found dead. A tree had fallen upon him and broke in the entire top of his head so that his brains protruded.

Wm. Irwin of Solon, Me., is missing. He was last seen Saturday morning, November 1st, crossing the Kennebec river just above Caratunk falls, about a mile from Solon village. Pieces of the boat used by him have been found scattered along the shores below the falls, together with his fish line and part of his fish pole. He was about thirty-five years old, and unmarried.

A young man named Neil Claffin, about eighteen years old, had his foot blown off at Hopkinton, Mass., on the 16th ins., while hunting, by the accidental discharge of his gun.

Andrew C. Smith, a married man of Newport, R. I., is under arrest for feloniously assulting Adelaide Davis, a girl fifteen years old.

A laborer who applied for town assistance at West Hartford, Conn., alleging that he was sick and destitute, was found at the hospital to have $500 concealed in his clothes.

The Hebrews of Hartford, Conn., have been notified that they must close their stores either Saturday or Sunday, as so many regard neither their own nor the Christian Sabbath.

—A practical joke played by one angler on his companion at Clichy, France, terminated in a tragical manner. They were fishing near each other on the bank of the Seine, when one laid down his rod, threw two big stones into the river and then hid himself behind a tree. The other, hearing the splash, turned round, and, not seeing his friend, thought he had fallen into the water and sunk; he jumped in to save him, but was carried away and drowned.

—Hon. Joshua Nye, who recently visited the Maine State prison, relates the following: "The warden told of a young woman who served out a sentence of five years, and while there found means of education, and becoming thoroughly reformed and a Christian, left the prison in appearance a lady. She was employed by a dry goods firm in Portland as a saleswoman, and gave the most perfect satisfaction to her employers for some time, till one day a wealthy lady of the place entered the store and recognized her. Calling the proprietor aside, she asked him if he knew who he had in his store, telling him that such a girl was a graduate of the State prison. He replied that he knew it, but that they were well satisfied with her. 'Well,' said the lady, 'if you keep her in your store, I will neither trade with you myself nor suffer any of my friends to, if I can help it.' So the proprietor, rather than lose his customer, called in the poor girl and discharged her. He had heard from her since that she still maintained a course of conduct above reproach, being employed in one of the mills in Lowell, Mass."

AROUND HOME.

Gen. Thom, U. S. A., was in town Friday on matters appertaining to the Newcastle breakwater.

The wind played havoc with some of the signs about town Thursday night. The fine swinging sign of Joseph F. Berry, Mechanics' block, was wrenched from its fastenings and shattered into kindling wood.

The stone work for the new buildings at Wellesley college, the contract for which has been awarded to Mr. Oliver L. Giddings of Exeter, is being quarried from a ledge on the farm of Nathaniel Swasey of that town.

The treasurer of the Rockingham Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company has just made the 21st assessment, to cover the losses of the company for the last two years. The assessment is smaller than either of the two previous ones.

The total mail of first-class matter alone from the Portsmouth post-office, according to the count on the first seven days of November, was rising sixteen thousand pieces. Concord had about 12,415 pieces; Exeter 2620; Keene 9414.

The corrected time-table of the steamer James Sampson (winter arrangement) will be found on the first page of this paper, under the heading of "Transportation." An additional afternoon trip is made, and there are several changes in the starting time on other trips.

Mr. Morris C. Foye advertises silk fringe, fringes and gimps, silk ties, underwear and hosiery for men, women and children, felt and flannel skirts, and a full assortment of other goods in that line, at No. 23 Market street. See advertisement, for the prices of a few of his goods.

The county commissioners meet on the first Wednesday of every month at the county farm in Brentwood, and on the third Tuesday at the court house in Exeter, with selectmen and others, to transact all business. During the first week of each term of the supreme court they are in session for the purpose of settling the pauper accounts with the several towns.

The Exeter News-Letter says that the schooner Sallie M. Evans, which recently came down the river in tow of the steamtug Ana, after discharging at Exeter the largest cargo of coal ever landed there, "only ran ashore once between Exeter and Portsmouth, where she finally arrived in safety. The Sallie is too large a young lady for our river until the improvements are made."

Large numbers of little auks are reported at the beaches. The little auk is an arctic bird, never seen in this latitude excepting in cold weather, and until a few years since was very rarely seen here even in mid-winter. A year or two ago a large number of them appeared, but their arrival this year is earlier than ever before, and is by some people supposed to indicate extremely cold weather in the north.

The will of Rev. Dr. Thompson, who recently died in Berlin, bequeaths an ebony cane, formerly Henry Clay's and presented to Dr. Thompson by Abraham Lincoln, to the New York Historical society; to Miss Charlotte W. Stilson of Sandwich, Mass., $3000, and after bequeathing several pictures, books, etc., to his children, he gives the remainder to his wife; also to his wife $15,000 in her own right, and $6500 each to his two sons and two daughters. The income of the remainder of his property goes to his wife.

The Newmarket Advertiser, in its mention of Rev. James DeNormandie's lecture in that town on the evening of the 19th inst., says: "His subject was 'Thomas Jefferson,' and while most of the facts related of this famous statesman were familiar to the larger portion of the audience, the genius of the speaker enabled him to present them in a most pleasing manner. The speaker paid a brief though glowing compliment to Jefferson's liberal views in the matter of religion, thereby infusing into his discourse a little of his own religious views. At the close of the lecture the committee waited upon Rev. Mr. DeNormandie to pay him the stipulated sum for his lecture, when he very generously donated the entire amount to the course fund, asking only that his car fare be paid him. This was very magnanimous on the part of the lecturer, and was totally unexpected by the committee, and he will no doubt receive the hearty thanks of the entire society for his generosity."

Mr. C. C. Tappan, brother of Attorney-General Tappan, has been appointed to fill the vacancy of postal clerk on the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, between Manchester and this city, occasioned by the death of Charles M. Stevens. Mr. Fitts, who supplied Mr. Stevens' place during his illness, has been given a permanent appointment by the government on the route lying between Newport, Vt., and Springfield, Mass.

THE PROPOSED NEW STREET.

Mr. Editor: There were but few persons in attendance at the hearing on the proposed extension of Vaughan street, before the board of aldermen, on Thursday evening; in fact, only those who are particularly and personally interested. This is usually the case in such instances. The petition asking for the construction of this new street bears the names of very many of our heaviest tax-payers, and we venture the opinion that very few of them understood at the time what they were asking for, or have thought of the matter since. Now we have no argument, either in favor of or against the proposed improvement. That the surroundings of the Eastern depot are more or less dangerous and inconvenient, everybody who has business in that locality will be willing to admit; but before we enter into an expensive job that will cost some thousands of dollars, our tax-payers ought to consider the magnitude of the proposition, and not allow—unbeknown to themselves—a large expenditure of money and consequent increase of taxes without being acquainted with the facts. And again, if, as alleged by some, the project is being pushed by the Eastern railroad in the interest of that road, then is there all the more need of our citizens looking into the matter fully before any decisive action is taken.

MORE LIGHT.

Mr. Editor: The question of a new road (to take the place of one of the most dangerous thoroughfares of our city) being now before the public, allow me to say a few words on the subject.

That the railroad crossing at the foot of Vaughan street, and that part of Elm street running parallel with the railroad track, are dangerous, no one acquainted with the locality can deny. The business of the Eastern railroad is increasing every year, and greater facilities for freight and passengers will be needed as that business increases; and the time will come when the road will need additional tracks, which will so encroach on Elm street as to almost close it for any other travel. With this in view the proposed road through the Raynes shipyard, crossing the tracks at nearly right angles, appears to be the only alternative for the city.

As the above seems to be written in favor of the Eastern railroad, I will now take the side of our city.

The railroad owns the right of flowage of the north mill-pond, and also the mill; if I am rightly informed neither one is a source of much revenue to the road. It seems to me as if the petition for the street extension was made in the interest of the Eastern railroad; if so, why should the road not bear part of the expense?

The north pond has for a long time been a nuisance, and the railroad company now will have a good chance to abate it, by doing away with the mill and dam, so that the water can freely ebb and flow in the pond; the road can then be built so as to pass to the rear of the Raynes house, and with slight filling enter the road in front of the mill at an easy curve. The estimate of the Boston engineer, whose advice was asked, and paid for, but not followed, to properly drain this pond, was (I think) about eight thousand dollars; if the new road be built and the pond thrown open to tide-water, as above suggested, this amount should be placed to the road's credit.

FRIDAY, Nov. 21; Batchelder, J.

Mr. Risley, an eloquent speaker from New York, will lecture on temperance in the Methodist church at seven o'clock in the evening.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

It is said that Mr. Hartley W. Mason, of this city, is to build two fine houses on his land at York beach next spring.

The schooner yacht Una dragged her anchors during the gale Thursday night and went ashore at Spruce creek, Kittery.

A civil engineer is expected in Saco next week to make a survey for the Old Orchard & Ferry Beach railroad. He will probably survey two routes, one running along the sea wall and the other a little back of it.—Biddeford Times, 20th.

From a York correspondent we learn that Portsmouth parties are contemplating building a hotel on the point near the new light-house on the Nubble in that town. Also that Mrs. D. S. Simpson has sold her fine residence near the Marshall house, at the entrance to York river, to Dr. W. M. Hawkes of that place, who contemplates turning it into a quiet retreat for invalids.

The fusionists in Maine propose to count out Kittery, with its overwhelming republican majority, in order to enable Garcelon to secure the governorship; but even with Kittery thrown out the conspirators will lack 130 votes of electing a senator from York county. Garcelon, Pillsbury, Moody et als. must disfranchise more towns than Kittery, or they might as well not attempt any scoundrelism at all so far as York county is concerned.

A girl between eight and nine years of age, daughter of Patrick Manahan of Biddeford, while starting a fire on the afternoon of the 19th inst., preparatory to getting supper, had her clothing take fire. The terrified child ran out of doors, screaming for help; and two boys, named Cado and Gallivan, caught her and threw her into the snow, and tore off the burning clothing. The girl was severely burned about the neck, breast and back, but next day hopes were entertained of her recovery.

Two missionaries from this city visited the region of the basket-makers, at the base of Mt. Agamenticus, York, on the 16th inst., extending aid and comfort to the inhabitants. Our missionaries dined on the summit of the mountain, and are enthusiastic in their description of the gorgeous panorama spread out before them. Some uncharitable persons affect to believe that the view from the top of Agamenticus did more to draw the missionaries York-ward than the condition of any of the inhabitants.

ELDER SHORT'S SERMON.

Mr. Editor: Allow us to correct, through the columns of your paper, a mistake made in an article published in one of the city papers. It reads as follows:

On Sunday last Rev. Mr. Merrill of this place [Ogunquit] exchanged with Elder Short of York. Mr. Short selected as his text a part of the sixth verse of the ninth chapter of Isaiah: "And the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Councillor, the mighty God, the everlasting Father, Prince of Peace." We should like to give a brief synopsis of his sermon if space would permit, but suffice it to say instead of the gospel of peace and good will to men which was heralded by the angels at the birth of our Savior, we were compelled to listen to the opposite kind. The rebellion, he said, has lifted its monster head and has got to be crushed, the south taught a lesson of submission, etc., etc. As a general thing those clergymen who preach war the loudest and try to inflame the passions of their hearers the most, never heard the snap of a cap or the whistle of a bullet, but keep as far from the smell of gunpowder as possible.

Now, as it happened, we heard that sermon, and the text was taken from the 7th v. of the 9th chapt. of Is., instead of the 6th: "Of the increase of his government and peace, there shall be no end." The speaker dwelt in the first place, on the nature of the kingdom or government of Christ. In the second place, the distinguishing feature of Christ's government, is its progressiveness. He spoke of the overthrow of the Moslem power in Europe, the crippling of the Papal power, and the downfall of American slavery, as the result of the progressive influence of Christianity. He did say that he saw symptoms of the rebellious snake lifting its head, but the American eagle from its eyrie would swoop down and fasten its talons in its head, and give it its death wound, so that it would harm no more. For before the advancement of Christ's government, all rebellion against righteousness and true liberty must be destroyed. He did not say the south must be taught a lesson of submission; but he quoted the following scripture: "Gideon took the elders of the city, and thorns of the wilderness, and briers, and with them he taught the men of Succoth." He did not preach war, only in the sense that Christ's government was at war with every kind of wrong, and everywhere it prevailed it produced peace and good will to men; acknowledging the right of all men to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. We hope next time the gentleman will remember the text, and get it right, and not get alarmed when scripture is quoted. Perhaps he thinks that Elder Short ought to be watched, and not be allowed to disturb the minds of the people in Ogunquit. We would recommend Col. Barksdale of Mississippi, with his shot-gun, as a good one to put on guard. Let us say right here that Elder Short has fought many battles for the right; and that he hates snakes, whether hatched in whiskey jugs, or cider jugs; or in rebel nests, either south or north. He is valiant for the truth, both in and out of the pulpit.

Lawrence Barrett's New Advertising Dodge.

There are ways to advertise and ways to—advertise. Besides these, Mr. Lawrence Barrett has hit upon a new way. It is to send cabinet photographs of himself to ladies residing in the cities he is about to visit.

The other day a Clifton man received a package addressed to his wife, and for some reason (probably because he was a Clifton man) he opened it. It was a photograph, cabinet size, inscribed with the name and compliments of Lawrence Barrett. The shock was so great that the Clifton man failed to recognize the name and features of the great actor. He glared at the picture, and his rage could only see the counterfeit presentment of a villain, a masher, a son of a gun, between his wife and whom there was evidently guilty alliance. Had the Clifton man's wife suddenly come upon some of the photographs which he himself carried about his clothes, he would not have been more cast down in spirits. With this evidence of his wife's unfaithfulness, as he supposed, he rode sorrowfully home. His wife met him at the door.

"Back, woman!" he exclaimed, flashing the photograph before her face, and recoiling from her. "What means this picture? Whose is it? How long has this thing been going on? Speak if you can-a!"

To tell the truth, the poor woman could barely speak. She was about paralyzed with astonishment. The wrathful husband attributed this to guilt, and turning on his heel, he informed her that she could take seven of the children and he would take the other seven, and henceforth their paths would diverge. A happy household would undoubtedly have been broken up had not the husband confided his terrible sorrow to a friend, who recognized the picture and the advertising dodge at the same time. After all, perhaps, the safest and best way to advertise is through the newspapers at so much a square.

A Benevolent Judge.

There is a venerable and benevolent judge in one of the Paris tribunals who at the moment of passing sentence on a prisoner consults his assessors on each side of him as to the penalty proper to be inflicted.

"What ought we to give this rascal, brother?" he says, bending over to the assessor on the right.

"I should say three years."

"What is your opinion, brother?" to the assessor on the left.

"I should give him about four years."

The judge (with benevolence)—"Prisoner, not desiring to give you a long and severe term of imprisonment, as I should have done were I left to myself, I have consulted my learned brothers and shall take their advice. Seven years."

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have speedily and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

HUMORS ON A CHILD

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the chin, ear, and side of the head. It must have itched and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface at the time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully,

JOHN L. SURRY,
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be rendered soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS.

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "I am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works to a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

PRICKLY HEAT.

Incidental to the Texas Climate.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, especially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am noising it about. Yours truly,

THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.
MASON, TEXAS, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp disease, removes dandruff and keeps the scalp clean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is ably assisted in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is particularly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is Toilet as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any yet prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a dangerous disease, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his wonderful practice and popularity throughout all parts of this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and imposters to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases, caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive organs and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Sunbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that has in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable it is, for it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends of health in favor of Peace of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country have found in superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outpoking endorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 30 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and also arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Yours truly, HENRY WELLS.

Warming Apartments.

The season has now arrived when the cold of winter has to be combatted in our houses by artificial heat, and a few remarks on this subject may be of interest. One of two methods is generally adopted. The first, that of the open fireplace in which coal or wood is burned, is by far the pleasantest and most wholesome, especially where the chimneys draw well, but it has the inconvenience of being more expensive than the other. The latter is the mode principally used on the continent of warming by a stove. It is true that those in use differ much in their construction, for chemists have found in the air heated by some of them appreciable traces of oxide of carbon, a deadly poison. Consequently most hygienists consider the use of stoves, whether in cast or wrought iron, as dangerous, unless they are lined with fire-brick or clay, so as to prevent them from attaining a red heat.

An almost universal practice is to place on the stove a pan of water, with a view to purify the air by absorbing the carbonic acid contained in it. Dr. Polli, of Milan, who has long been engaged in the investigations on this subject, is wholly opposed to this system. According to him the water does not absorb carbonic acid, but, on the contrary, adds to it by the decomposition of the carbonate of lime contained in all drinkable water in greater or less proportions. The white incrustations found on the sides of the vessels are, in fact, formed by the deposit of sub-carbonates and sulphates of lime produced by the evaporation of the water, the principal part of carbonic acid acid having been given off to the surrounding atmosphere. M. Polli proposes instead to place on the stove pans containing quick-lime, which, after a few days, augments in volume and is transformed into carbonic acid in the air. By this means the atmosphere is constantly purified, but at the same time is rendered very dry. To obviate this inconvenience, vessels containing water may be placed about the room in positions where they are not subject to the immediate action of the fire, and they will give off by their evaporation sufficient humidity to render the air agreeable without adding to the quantity of carbonic acid already present.

Curious Phenomena at Pike's Peak.

Some curious natural phenomena are witnessed from the summit of Pike's Peak. Electric storms are so remarkable there that those who have witnessed them are eloquent as to their splendor. Little thunder accompanies them; but the whole mountain seems to be on fire, and the top one sheet of flame. Electricity comes out of every rock, and darts here and there with indiscribable radiance. An observer says that it played around him continuously; shot down his back; glanced out of his feet, and so completely filled him that he became charged like a Leyden jar. He could not retrain his foothold; he bounded and rebounded from the rocks after the manner of an india-rubber ball; he felt as though a powerful battery were throbbing and thrilling through his frame, and, fearing consequences, he hurried into the signal station. The signal officers stationed at the peak see some wonderful sights, and if they had as much imaginationation and rhetoric as they have patience and power of observation, they could furnish some very vivid descriptions of what they witness. Several men of science, who have watched electric storms from the top of the mountain, think the phenomena the grandest and that they can hardly be surpassed anywhere. The peak commands a view of a hundred miles radius, a wild mountainous region, containing many lakes, and the sources of four great rivers—the Platte, Arkansas, Rio Grande and Colorado of California. Imagine that broad, picturesque extent kindled and glowing with electricity, and you have an ideal picture of sublimity which no poet has begun to paint.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nundn News.

I strongly recommend the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the lungs, bronchial tubes or general debility.

—It is currently belived that woman is a hard thing to see through. And so is her hat at the opera.

—"Which side of the street do you live on, Mrs. Kipple?" asked a counsel cross-examining a witness. "On either side. If you go one way it's on the right side; if you go the other way, it's on the left."

—The feminine high hat is not an invention, but one of those natural adaptations to environment which Darwin tells us about. By wearing it in the theatre every woman compels the man behind her to think of her throughout the evening, when otherwise he would absent-mindedly attend only to the people on the stage.—Post.

Wool Manufacturing in the United States.

The National Convention of Wool Manufacturers was held in Philadelphia recently; and the statistics of the wool trade, as presented at that convention, will be unexpected and startling to the majority of people. The importation of carpets in 1872 was valued at $6,000,000; in 1878 it was reduced to $398,389. In dress goods the decrease in importation amounted to $8,000,000 in six years, in spite of the increase in our population and the growth of luxurious tastes among our wealthier classes. The cause is to be found in the marked improvement in American woolen goods. The most devout worshiper of fashion or stickler for durability, no longer hesitates to cover his floors with American Axminster and Wilton carpets. The point to be noted is, that equally commensurate with the advance of these carpet manufacturers in the thoroughness and taste shown in their work has been the expansion of their trade. One firm alone, which has aimed to keep its work up to the highest standard, has steadily increased its production until it is reported as consuming 7,000,000 pounds of wool per annum. The city of Philadelphia alone produces 6,500,000 yards of carpeting more per annum than does the whole of Great Britain, while the carpet manufacture of the United States more than doubles that of the United Kingdom; and this, too, represents the higher grades of carpet as well as the lower. American dress goods of a certain kind, though not the best grades, already compare favorably with those of foreign manufacture.

News and Notes.

Mr. George Walker of New York, who went to Europe as a representative of the State department for the purpose of interviewing foreign governments on the subject of bimetallism, did not receive any intimation that a new monetary conference will be held. It is stated that Bismarck was sadly misrepresented by Judge Kelley of Pennsylvania, in the latter's report of an interview on this subject.

The horses on the Erie canal are to have a long rest. The Belgian cable system will probably be adopted. A tug picks up a wire rope at the bottom and carries it over a wheel, thus pulling itself along. The damage to the canal walls by the displacement of water from side-wheels or propellers is thus avoided, and the speed is nearly doubled.

Miss Bertha Van Hillern, the persevering little female "tramp" who first brought female pedestrian matches into prominence, but who gave up that business as soon as it became common, blossoms into an artist, and an exhibition of her performances with brush and crayon will soon take place in Boston. She has not "walked" in public for some two years and a half.

The schooner Gustie Wilson, seen off Cohasset rocks Nov. 18th, and reported as probably lost with all hands, arrived at Cohassett all right. The captain is thoroughly acquainted there, and took his vessel into the port that night on the top of high tide.

Harrison F. Smith, boss carriage painter, was found dead on the side of the road about three miles from Westfield, Mass., last Thursday night. Smith started in the afternoon alone in a team to go hunting. About six o'clock the team came home, and search was at once made for Smith on all the country roads. His body was found at last on a lonely road. His dog was guarding the body. Valuables, including a watch and $50 in money, were found safe. It is supposed that he stopped his horse and tried to draw his gun from the wagon, when it went off, sending the entire charge into his body, and frightened his horse, which ran home. Smith was about forty years old, well to do, and leaves a wife and child. An inquest will be held.

There is great excitement among owners and dealers in mining stocks in California over the revelations of a prominent operator at a public meeting, who claimed that J. C. Flood and his confederates have duped their friends and the public by giving false information regarding the condition and prospects of the mines under their control, thus ruining thousands. He denounced Denis Kearney as the tool of Flood, and Kearney was arrested for creating a disturbance at the meeting.

Owing to the prevalence of scarlet fever in Springfield, Ill., the local board of health has ordered the public schools closed until after January 1st, and adopted a resolution recommending that no public funerals be held in churches or private residences. There are said to be five hundred cases of scarlet fever in the city.

The Denver & Rio Grande railroad company have made a contract with a Pittsburgh firm for 15,000 tons steel rails, to be delivered 2,000 tons per month; also for 1,000 freight cars, which are now going forward at the rate of ten per day; and they are receiving bids for forty locomotives, delivery to commence in January, at the rate of two per week.

The colored people's industrial exposition at Raleigh, N. C., closed Friday. The affair was the first of the kind in the history of the country, under the entire control of colored people. The exhibition was quite successful. R. B. Elliott of South Carolina delivered an address Wednesday.

The Secretary of the Treasury has transmitted a gold life-saving medal to Capt. Thomas F. Sandsbury, who organized an expedition in the waters around Nantucket, Mass., during the storm of March 31st and April 1st, 1879, which resulted in the rescue, after thirty-two hours of continuous service, of a number of persons from the wrecks of schooners John W. Hall, Emma, and Emma G. Edwards. Silver medals have also been transmitted to several members of the crew accompanying him, namely: John B. Dunham, Edwin R. Smith, George E. Coffin, Henry E. Coffin, Andrew Brooks, Marcus Dunham and James C. Sandsbury. A gold life-saving medal has also been forwarded to Capt. Isaac F. Mayo of Provincetown, Mass., who headed a volunteer crew for the rescue by boat of several persons from the wreck of the Sarah J. Fort, upon Cape Cod, April 4th, 1879.

The condition of Ireland excites great and real uneasiness in Europe. Many Irish landlords are leaving the country under threats of assassination. The government is determined to put strong measures in force at once to maintain public order. Charles Stuart Parnell personally does not think his arrest probable; reports have been circulated that Irish and English legal advisers of the government differ as to the advisability of such a step. Two companies of soldiers have arrived at Boyle, en route to Balla, to be in readiness in the event of a disturbance. The agitators declare that the government wishes to provoke a collision.

During the night between the 16th and 17th inst., an exceedingly violent storm burst over Odessa, causing enormous damage. Several ships were sunk in the harbor, and the quays and naval establishments suffered heavily.

S. Page Lake, for many years station agent of the Boston & Maine railroad at Newburyport, fell dead from heart disease Saturday morning while on his way home from the station. He was about fifty-four years old, and leaves a widow and two daughters. He was highly respected.

The Nautical Gazette says the Farragut association formed last week is for concerted action to obtain the last payment of $143,543 decreed by the United States district court of the District of Columbia. All who served under Farragut can be enrolled by sending their names to Wm. Simmons, secretary, Philadelphia; or to B. S. Osbon, president, New York city.

Gunner W. A. Ferrier is ordered to the Marion.

The Marion sailed from Portsmouth, Va., for New York, on Thursday.

The Saratoga arrived at the Washington navy yard on Thursday.

The Alliance arrived at Funchal, Madeira, October 26th, and was to leave the same or the next day for Boston, without stopping at any port.

The mercury stood at ten degrees below zero at Bath on Saturday morning.

Joshua Kent, about sixty years of age, employed at the hotel of Messrs. Crossing, at Salem in this State, was found frozen to death early last Thursday morning on the road leading from Methuen, Mass., to Salem. Deceased was of intemperate habits, and had frequently been arrested for that offense. It is said that he was intoxicated Wednesday evening.

Mr. Horace M. Rowell of Concord, formerly superintendent of the Eastern railroad telegraph, but displaced some months ago owing to a change in the management of the road, on Friday last resumed the position, with headquarters in Boston.

The stove and tin shop of A. R. Cheney in Sutton was burned Friday night; also the dwelling house of A. Cressey adjoining, with two horses. Cheney's loss was $3000; partially insured. Cressey's loss was $1000, with no insurance.

The Great Falls Free Press is now issued as an eight-page paper. It has discarded the "patent inside," and is a readable and enterprising local paper.

Political.

The Manchester Union, which under its late proprietors was the best specimen of the Bourbon democratic paper in New Hampshire, is now quite suitable for the latitude of Yazoo county, Miss. In a recent issue it speaks of "the swindling electoral commission," and says "that this commission was denied [desired?] by the democrats" is "not true." Whether the democrats "desired" the electoral commission or not, it was instituted by the votes of twenty-two democratic United States senators, including Thurman, Bayard, Coffee-Pot Wallace and Ransom, and one hundred and fifty-eight democratic representatives, including Speaker Randall, S. N. Bell of Manchester, S. S. Cox and Abram S. Hewitt of New York, and Frank Jones. That the democrats were unable to secure the "packed" tribunal they expected to get when they voted for the commission, so as to have their great cipher-reform candidate counted in, does not alter the fact that the commission was created by democratic votes.

The official returns of the election in Massachusetts show that secretary of State Henry Henry B. Peirce received the most votes—129,024. Attorney-General Marston came next with 127,112 votes. On the opposition ticket Mr. Skillings had the highest number, 115,510.

AROUND HOME.

A new landing-stage is being constructed at the Concord railroad wharf, to take the place of the old one, which has given out.

The republicans of Dover on Saturday evening renominated Mayor Guppy. The democrats nominated as their candidate Mr. Elvin C. Kinnear, formerly of Newcastle.

Schooner Charles H. Trickey arrived at Dover last Thursday with 353 tons of coal,—the largest cargo ever landed there; and she reached the wharf without lightening, which she never did before. The captain says the loss of one of his anchors, before reported, was due to a weak link in the chain.

Hon. John M. Brodhead of Washington, D. C., has offered to give the town of South Newmarket a library worth $5000, and an additional fund of $5000 from which to draw for new books and other expenses, on condition that the town takes its old name of Newfield. A meeting will be called soon to vote on the matter.

Messrs. James & Geary, two enterprising young men of this city, have taken contract work from parties in Lynn to do shoe-stiching for six months. They will employ about thirty girls to do the work, and will commence business December 1st, in the building back of Critchley & Whalley's machine shop on Hanover street. We wish them abundant success.

The Dover Democrat says "The burglary business is getting rather brisk around here just now," being moved to talk in that way by a couple of robberies in that city last week. B. Frank Nealley's store was entered one night from a cellar, by the boring-out of a door-fastening, and a small sum of money stolen; and a night or two later a saloon was entered through a window, the thief having broken a pane of glass so as to get at the fastening. At the latter place about $4 in money and a few boxes of cigars were taken.

C. C. Jackson, Esq., and Chief Eng. D. B. McComb, U. S. N., have been appointed trustees of the Marsh bequest for the erection of an Episcopal church at the west end of this city, with Bishop Niles, Rev. Chas. A. Holbrook and Hon. Albert R. Hatch, the appointment of the first-named two gentlemen being to fill vacancies in the board of trustees occasioned by the declination to serve of two relatives of Mr. Marsh who were named in the will. The estate left by Mr. Marsh, which depreciated largely between the time the will was made and the testator's death, has since the latter occurence greatly increased in value; and it is asserted that the erection of the contemplated new church will be commenced early next season.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

Inspecting officer D. K. Peirce will make an official visit to Storer Encampment, Post No. 1, G. A. R., of this city, on Friday evening, for the purpose of inspecting the condition of the same.

The post has forwarded a list of forty deceased soldiers' and sailors' names to the war department, for the purpose of having headstones properly inscribed to be placed at their graves. The list has been acknowledged by the department, and the post notified that the stones will be forwarded in due course.

The post earnestly requests information as to the date, and the company and regiment (or ship) in which the following-named deceased veterans of the late war served:

James S. Ayers, H. M. Clark, B. Cunningham, George Clark, John Downing, Richard Fretson (or Fredson,) Pierpont Hammond, T. H. Howard, Otis W. Hewins, John McDuffee, Charles Moulton, William H. Nutter, Charles Ross, Henry Tucker and William Wingate.

The information specified is wanted to complete the data required by the war department for inscriptions upon the headstones to be furnished, and may be left with City Clerk D. J. Vaughan.

P. & D. R. R.

Mr. Editor: As the time is near at hand when the city will be called upon to pay a second instalment of interest upon the loan made to build the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, the taxpayers of Portsmouth and Dover desire to know what progress has been made in determining the question of the liability of the Eastern railroad. When the project was advanced a few years since to subscribe for more stock to pay an indebtedness above the first capital stock of the Portsmouth & Dover road, we were assured by the lawyer of the company, who was then a director, and who is now an officer and a counsel for the Eastern railroad also, that we had the security of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire and the guaranty of the Eastern railroad in Massachusetts, and nothing could be safer. Conservative men, denominated at the time "old fogy persons," did not have faith in this, and protested against it; but the popular vote was in favor of renewed subscription and additional debt. Now in what condition are we at present? The president of the road has employed all the local legal talent his party boasts of, and with the courts of the State always open, why is it that the foreign corporation can operate the Dover road and still not pay its rental?

It is stated that there was raised, as the investigation showed, more money than was needed to pay the debts; and this is to be expended in litigation, and the question will not be decided in any haste. If the directors, from their relation to the Eastern railroad, do not wish to push the controversy, I would suggest that they resign,—and that in the political circle of the party that controls the unfortunate corporation, other able men can be found. If the republican majorities in the two cities think it essential to keep the corporation in democratic hands, even if our local directors resign we can find men just as capable and honest to succeed them. Hon. John R. Reding, who has thoroughly investigated the affair, would (if Mr. Jones is too much engaged in his private business) make an excellent president; while an accountant like G. H. Rundlett, Esq., or a merchant like Thos. H. Odion, would make full as able directors as those annually re-elected. But the directors seem to have no power in the control of the corporation. They are probably content with their free passes over the Eastern, and leave the management to abler hands. It is time the two cities looked into the question, and determined just what result the present repudiation on the part of the Eastern railroad will produce, and be prepared for action.

TAX-PAYER.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Nov. 22; Batchelder, J.

William Jarvis was fined $2 for destoying a woman's hat, costs being taxed at $6.90. A charge of malicious mischief against Jarvis was placed on file.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

SATURDAY, Nov. 22d.

In the case of Bachelder vs. town of Epping, the jury on Saturday morning returned a verdict for Dr. Bachelder, assessing damages at $1575. On this verdict the plaintiff moved for judgment.

Cases upon the new docket marked for jury, were called, and disposed of; the jurors were discharged from further attendance.

On the State docket, cases from No. 21 to No. 92, liquor indictments found upon the testimony of Drake, were entered nolle prosequi by the solicitor, and the remainder of the docket was disposed of.

In the case of Ingalls of Candia, it was stated that he was surrendered for the reason that some person had threatened one of his sureties to foreclose a mortgage on his (the bondsman's) farm if he remained a surety, and that new bail would be at once furnished. The recognizances to be taken before the clerk in vacation.

In suit Town of Newcastle vs. Smith, which has been on the equity docket since 1873, a report has been made in favor of certain parties named in the report, and a judgment on the report was ordered; money to be paid to clerk, to be paid to the respective parties to whom it is awarded. Moses Yeaton and Benjamin Cheever (by Mr. Goodall) claimed the funds in the hands of the court.

In case of adm. of John G. Berry and others vs. the estate of Jos. W. Whidden, the court intimated that the finding would be in favor of the plff. for the land and a sum above the value of the land. The defendant excepted, and the questions of law in the case are transferred to the law term.

Libel for divorce Jennie A. Philbrick vs. George P. Philbrick, was dismissed without prejudice.

In Stevens vs. Stevens, a divorce is to be ordered, when evidence of a perfected service is filed.

Ira E. Randall vs. Annie Randall, libel for divorce, was dismissed.

Sally H. Bartlett vs. town of Lee, petition dismissed; case reserved.

Since the last term a very large number of cases have been referred, and on the final call of the docket judgment upon the reports of the referees was ordered in nearly every instance. The docket has been much relieved by this mode of trial.

The three most important civil cases tried were suits against towns for defective highways, the verdicts in these cases aggregating $3470.

The court was engaged throughout the remainder of the day in calling the dockets of continued actions, etc., and adjourned at half-past four o'clock P. M. until Monday morning at ten o'clock, when divorce case Ella S. Towle vs. Simon P. Towle will be in order for hearing.

The final adjournment will probably take place some time on Monday, as no cases requiring any considerable length of time in hearing will be taken up by the court.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

York Manufacturing Co.'s stock sold at auction in Boston on Saturday at $1200 per share.

It is reported that a 1200-ton barque is to be built at Neal's shipyard in Kittery the coming year, for Mr. John Neal, Capt. Oscar Ross and other parties.

One of the boarding-house blocks of the Laconia Manufacturing Co., at Biddeford, took fire at about nine o'clock Saturday forenoon, and was damaged to the amount of $900; insured.

Schooner E. V. Nichols went on the marine railway at Kittery on Thursday of last week, to be calked and painted and receive a new shoe. Mr. Warren Keen superintends the job.

As the passenger train on the northern division of the Old Colony railroad was leaving South Sudbury station (Mass.) on Thursday evening last, a large piece of coal was hurled through a window of one of the cars by some ruffian, which struck Mrs. G. F. Moore of Kennebunk, Maine, on the side of her head, inflicting a painful though not dangerous wound.

We copy the following from the "Pastoral Leaflet," published by Rev. W. W. Baldwin of the Methodist church; "In 1806 there were twenty grog shops in the town of Kittery, now there are none; then there were about seventy church members, now there are about 500; the population then was about 1500, now it is over 3000. On the basis of 1806, we should have forty grog shops, and only 140 church members."

A Pleasant Remedy for Toothache.

Dr. T. C. Osborn, in the Medical Brief, states that his cook came to him with a swollen cheek, asking for something to relieve the toothache with which she had been suffering all night. He was on the point of sending her to a dentist, when it occurred to him that there was in the house a vial of compound tincture of benzoin. "After cleansing the decayed tooth," he says, "I saturated a pledget of cotton lint with the tincture, and packed it well into the cavity, hoping this would suffice for the time, and told her to come back in two or three hours if she was not relieved. I was turning away, when she said it might not be necessary, perhaps, as the pain was already gone. Supposing her faith had a large share in the relief, I would not allow myself to think that the medicine had anything to do with the cure any more than so much hot water would have had. But when I arrived at my office two other patients were awaiting me with the same affliction, and I determined, by way of experiment, to use the same remedy. To my agreeable surprise, both patients declared themselves immediately relieved, and begged a vial of the tincture for future use. During the winter a number of similar cases applied, and were instantly relieved by the same treatment, all expressing much satisfaction with the remedy. In December I told my druggist of the discovery, and recommended him to sell it to any person applying for 'toothache drops.' This, he reports, he has done, and that every one seems delighted with the medicine."

Tennessee a "Doubtful" State.

Unless our leaders pause, our State is gone. A division now, and we need have no hope of carrying anything. Everything will be lost. Why cannot we agree to disagree for a little while? The recklessness of a few will entail misery on thousands. Republicans unite with any one to pay the debt. The same policy that elects Maynard will win for them again. They are already laying their plans, and whenever our stalwarts, on either side, speak boldly they have no chance. But, remember, we have only about 30,000 majority. A division could not fail to elect republican State officials, and a strong chance for defeat throughout. A small concession by either party, a very little giving way by either, and we are safe. Better, far better, let the State debt rest for another election than put Grant or Blaine or Sherman in the presidential seat.—Nashville Banner, (dem.)

—"I was at church to-day," said Jones, "and enjoyed it greatly." "Ah," said his pious landlady, "I am glad of that. I didn't see you, though; on which side did you sit?" "Ah em—yes—ahem," stammered the disconcerted Jones, "I sat on the—outside."

The Revision of the Bible.

The revision of the Bible, now nearly completed, has been a far more expensive work than most persons imagine. There are fifty-two members of the committee, and these meet for five days in every three weeks. No salary is paid to any one of them, but they are allowed their travelling and inn expenses. These, with other items, will bring the cost of the first edition of the revised Bible, as estimated by the University Press Company, which is responsible for it, to about $200,000, and, consequently, it has been determined to sell the first few copies at a high price. The new Bible will receive no "authorization" either from Parliament or Convocation. It has been discovered incidentally during the sittings of the committee that the so-called authorized version never was, in fact, authorized either ecclesiastically or politically. It made its way by its own merits, and the revised Bible is expected to do the same.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.

Speer's Sambuci Wine for Ladies.

Mr. Speer, an enthusiastic grape grower from New Jersey, has a very excellent wine from the Sambucus. The best judges pronounce it superb. It has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally as a very superior wine; and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. We touch it to our lips somewhat unwillingly, but are agreeably disappointed in finding one of the most delicious wines we have ever tasted. Our leading physicians have tested the vitues of this wine, and recommended it as a superior wine for invalids, debilitated persons and especially for females.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

New Lungs cannot be made by medicines, or the skill of physicians, but the old ones can be strengthened and preserved by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, a sure cure for coughs, colds, asthma, and all diseases of the lungs. Price, 38 and 75 cts.

—As sins proceed they ever multiply; like figures in arithmetic, the last stands for more than all that went before it.—Sir Thomas Browne.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his success in practice and popularity therefrom, throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain conscienceless men and imposters to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases, caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. DOES SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy, as that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country fully admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an unsolicited endorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass. Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very hurried from about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring the remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1878. of Wells, Fargo & Co

New Publications.

"The Folio," one of the best musical publications for its price we know of, commences a new volume in January. Those who subscribe now will receive the December number, which contains a portrait of "Little Corinne," the "Buttercup" of the Boston Museum Children's Pinafore troupe, free. Published by White, Smith & Co., 516 Washington street, Boston. Price $1.60 per annum.

"Brentano's Monthly," the sporting magazine of America, has for the frontispiece of the November number a representation of a "tally-ho" coach which might have been copied from the one at the Farragut house at Rye beach. Though the sporting season would seem to be pretty well over, this number is filled with interesting records of yachting, bicycling, archery meetings, cricket and base-ball notes, etc.; and with its readable sketches of sporting and sea life, is as interesting as the previous numbers. It is the best—and the best-conducted—sporting magazine in the world. Brentano's Literary Emporium, 39 Union square, New York city; $3.00 per annum.

Naval Affairs.

The Marion arrived at New York on Saturday, from Norfolk. She is to be thoroughly overhauled and repaired for a three years' cruise in the Pacific, and most of her officers, who have served a part of their three years' cruise, will be detached and placed on waiting orders.

The U. S. S. Pensacola arrived at Callao on the 3d inst., all well. The Alaska sailed southward from Callao on the 4th. The Onward remained in the bay at the latter date.

We are sorry that the governor and council of Maine do not behave as if they were going to act honestly with the election returns. To establish a limit of twenty days for correction and revision, and then to continue to refuse a sight of the returns to candidates who suppose themselves elected, but who are troubled by rumors that they are going to be counted out, is not warranted by any principle of law or justice with which we are familiar. It is in itself an arbitrary and despotic act and foreshadows something worse. It is reported that some members of the counsel are getting frightened at the course affairs are taking, and well they may be. Although processes of law are apt to be slow, it would seem that some legal measures might be found practical in this emergency. Politically, it is a mountainous mistake on the part of Governor Garcelon and Mr. Pillsbury. --Worcester Gazette.

Money Rapidly Made.

Small and large investments (from $25 to $10,000), in the combinations of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., pay large profits. This new and successful system unites thousands of orders from customers into one immense capital, and is managed with the best skill and experience in the stock market. Profits are shared pro rata by customers every month. Shareholders thus obtain all the advantages of large capitalists. Thousands are rapidly making money, and many have acquired handsome fortunes by this safe and legitimate method, which has been among the most successful of the movements of the Stock Exchange. $25 will make $125, or 5 per cent., $100 will return $500, $500 will net $3,000, etc., according to the state of the market. New explanatory circular with "unerring rules for success," mailed to all applicants by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York city.

Speer's Sambuci Wine for Ladies.

Mr. Speer, an enthusiastic grape grower from New Jersey, has a very excellent wine from the Sambucus. The best judges pronounce it superb. It has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally as a very superior wine; and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. We touch it to our lips somewhat unwillingly, but are agreeably disappointed in finding one of the most delicious wines we have ever tasted. Our leading physicians have tested the vitues of this wine, and recommended it as a superior wine for invalids, debilitated persons and especially for females.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

New Lungs cannot be made by medicines, or the skill of physicians, but the old ones can be strengthened and preserved by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, a sure cure for coughs, colds, asthma, and all diseases of the lungs. Price, 25 and 75 cts.

—A Walnut street clerk was discharged, and asked the reason. "You are so awful slow about everything," said his employer. "You do me an injustice," responded the clerk; "there is one thing I am not slow about." "I should be delighted to hear you name it," sneered the proprietor. "Well," said the clerk, slowly, "nobody can get tired as quick as I can." A motion for a reconsideration of his case has been referred to the proper committee.—Des Moines Register.

The Maine Steal.

Garcelon and his pals have announced that they will be in session from the 1st to the 13th of December, "for the purpose of examining official returns; and candidates claiming irregularites or other causes presumed to vitiate their election will have a reasonable opportunity to be heard personally or by duly authorized counsel."

This seem a little bit ambiguous, for no candidates will claim that "irregularities or other causes" are "presumed to vitiate their election;" the only fear is that the men who are sworn to do certain official duties will perjure themselves "in the interests of the party," and defraud republican candidates of elections that are not "vitiated" at all.

Unless report belies them greatly, Garcelon and Pillsbury and their followers have already done a good deal of "examining" of the returns, preparatory, as the republicans aver and believe, to "cooking" the same so as to give the legislature to the defeated fusionists. The republican members-elect have an undoubted legal right to see the returns which concern themselves individually, and the concession of Garcelon et als. that they may see them on the 1st of December, shows that the conspirators fully believe that the supreme court, which was to have met on the 2d to consider the question, would have issued a mandamus as asked for by the republicans whom the democratic tricksters apparently propose to defraud of their election if possible.

But on the 1st of December eighs days of the twenty allowed by law for correcting the returns will have expired; and evil-minded people will hint that this latest move of the democratic tricksters shows them to be not only dishonest rascals, but sneaks as well.

"Drink."

This week Messrs. Tompkins & Hill, proprietors of the Boston theatre, present for the first time in this country Charles Reade's great moral play entitled "Drink." This play has been before the London public for a long time, having had a successful run of two hundred nights at the Princess theatre in that city; and it will doubtless attract large numbers to witness its representation at the Boston, where elaborate preparations have for some time been going on to give the benefit of the scenic effects for which this great theatre is so celebrated. Concerning Mr. Thomas W. Keene, the new leading man at this theatre, we are informed by a cotemporary that he is a native of New York, and that after finishing a collegiate course he essayed mercantile business; but developing a taste for theatricals, made his debut in his native city in a minor Shakespearean part one night only. His success did not at once induce him to enter the profession, and it was not until 1863 that he finally concluded to forsake business and go upon the stage. His professional career was begun at Albany, N. Y., in the company supporting the late J. H. (Falstaff) Hackett in "Henry IV." After playing with stock companies for several years in the chief cities of the Union, Mr. Keene made a trial trip to England, making his first appearance at the Royal Alfred (Marylebone) theatre, London, as Joe Ferris, in "Across the Continent," supported by the comedian William Bolton Cahill, as Knucklebone Johnny, on the 6th of July, 1871. Mr. Keene was favorably criticised by the leading journals, and his performances of Hamlet, a few weeks after, was fully endorsed by the Times. After starring through the provinces with much success, he returned to New York in the spring of 1873 and accepted an engagement at Wood's Museum, where he remained some time. He went to San Francisco in 1874, and made his initial bow in the California theatre, July 20th. He became popular, and was re-engaged for several seasons following. The season of 1877–'78, he came east to join John T. Ford's Baltimore company as leading man; and last spring, after completing his engagement, he returned once more to California, where he has since remained. He makes his first appearance at the Boston theatre as Coupeau, in "Drink."

News and Notes.

A passenger train and freight train on the New London Northern railroad came in collision near Palmer, Mass., Monday, and seventeen persons were more or less injured. No person was killed.

Early Saturday morning an attempt was made to blow open the safe of the National bank of Pennsburg, Pa. The explosion aroused the whole village, and the burglars fled without securing any plunder.

The secretary of war's report, published Monday, joins in the recommendation of Gen. Sherman that the army be raised to 25,000 men. He also takes the ground that the government should insist in its demand for the surrender and punishment of the Indians who were guilty of murder in the Thornburgh affair and Meeker massacre. He refers to the fact that he has cut down the estimates for river and harbor appropriations about $15,000,000, and the estimates on public works about $8,000,000.

Several line repairers employed by the Continental telegraph company were arrested in New Jersey on Saturday, on a charge of malicious mischief in cutting the poles of the American Union company. Others arrested on the same charge were bailed in $1,000 each.

Peter Goelet, a wealthy and eccentric resident of New York, died on Saturday at the age of nearly eighty years.

The British steamer Baltimore sailed on the 18th inst., from Baltimore for London with 396 beef cattle, but returned on the 23d, having lost ninety cattle and had her captain killed in a gale.

Shocking statements are made by Ex-Surgeon General William A. Hammond of New York as to the manner in which the inmates of the insane asylums in that State are treated. He charges the superintendents with cruelty, immorality and dishonesty.

The Chilian naval forces on the 2d inst. captured, Pisagua, Peru. Iquique is blockaded by a Chilian fleet, and a battle is imminent between the land forces. A later despatch says their has been a battle near Iquique, in which the Chilians defeated the allies. The Chilians have also captured the Peruvian corvette Pilcomayo.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Maine railroad occurs at Lawrence on Wednesday, Dec. 10th.

The widow of Charles Dickens died in London on Saturday.

A letter to New York from Sherman, Texas, says: "The reported suicide here of W. P. Greenlaw, on account of the alleged infidelity of his wife with Rev. Conrad Haney, proved to be incorrect. There has been no illegal intimacy with Mrs. Greenlaw and Haney. It appears that Greenlaw has been passing counterfeit $100 bills on the bank of Pittsfield, Mass., that he became aware of detection, and took morphine and died."

It having been asserted that Gen. Hancock treated Mrs. Surratt before her execution with severity, and refused to allow a clergyman of her church to see her in order to grant her absolution, the priest who attended her, Rev. J. A. Walter, of St. Patrick's church, Washington, has made the following statement: "Truth and justice compel me to deny the statement with reference to Gen. Hancock's participation in the execution of Mrs. Surratt. I attended Mrs. Surratt on that occasion, and met with no interference on the part of Gen. Hancock. Gen. Hancock had great sympathy for this unfortunate lady, and waited until the last moment, hoping for a reprieve. I consider it an act of justice to Gen. Hancock that this statement should be made."

Mrs. Wadleigh, wife of Ex-Senator Bainbridge Wadleigh, died in Boston on Monday of diphtheria.

AROUND HOME.

Hon. Dexter Richards is about to build an elegant stable near his summer residence at Straw's point, Rye beach.

A very nice lot of turkeys and chickens from Vermont can be found at Conn's store, corner of Pleasant and State streets.

Boys or men who want new skates, or who have old skates that need sharpening, are referred to Fred P. Wilson's advertisement.

The winter term of the school in the west district of Rye commenced on Monday, with Mr. Nathan R. Goss of that town as the teacher.

Mr. T. Holden, the witty Irish orator, will lecture in Mechanics' hall this evening. He is one of the most popular temperance lecturers in New England.

Rockingham Lodge, No. 37, I. O. G. T., will hold its regular session on Wednesday evening of this week instead of Thursday, Thanksgiving evening.

Elder Waite will resume his meetings in Newburyport about the first of January, and it is expected he will hold a series of meetings in this city before the winter is over.

Assistant Engineer Andrew J. Roberts, of the Dover fire department, and a member of the firm of Folsom & Roberts, fell from the roof of his house on Sunday and broke both his legs.

The casket containing the remains of the late Hon. B. W. Jenness arrived in Dover on Thursday of last week. A hearse was in waiting at the depot, and conveyed the body to Strafford, where it was interred on Friday.

Frank E. Blaisdell of Dover, twenty-two years old and a young man of exemplary habits, spent Saturday evening with a young lady friend, and at a late hour started for home. Not having been seen since his friends fear some serious accident has befallen him.

The Concord Monitor, in speaking of Mr. Albee's paper which he read before the Equal Rights Association of that city, says: "It was analytical and epigrammatic, and contained many truths seldom touched upon by those whose mission it is to make the world better. The closing part was Emersonian in its grasp of thought and incisiveness of statement."

Beer was invented by Osiris two centuries before the Christian era, and was the popular beverage of the ancient Egyptians.

And yet, there are men in the back towns who insist that Frank Jones invented this quiet substitute for fiery whiskey, and that he ought to be chosen governor as a token of gratitude for his efforts in this respect.

The steamer Williamsport came up the river Sunday afternoon when the tide was setting down, and was taken by an eddy upon Fernald's ledge, and was delayed for some time in reaching her berth at the wharf. No damage occurred to the steamer, and no one was to blame for the accident, which was not due to any lack of care or seamanship on the part of the pilot in charge.

The United States life-saving station at Straw's point, Rye beach, is in charge of Capt. Rufus W. Philbrick as keeper, and the crew are Jacob Moulton, John W. Leach, Albert Remick, S. Brewster Caswell, Clarence Mathes and George O. Remick. Capt. Philbrick has been keeper of this station since it was first established. The crew are all young men, are all Rye boys, and have all seen some sea service; two of the crew are married, the rest are single. This station ranks as one of the most efficient life-saving stations on the coast.

It seems that the democracy, in the extremes of effort to gain some strength somewhere, will attack the national banks in Congress this winter. We shall have to send A. W. Sulloway of Franklin to Washington as a representative man of the democracy of New Hampshire. Al has just organized a national bank, and he could take Capt. Marcy, Frank McKean, Gov. Weston, and a few other solid democrats with him, who would soon signify to the congressional hotheads of their party how much the democracy of this section approve of any warfare upon the present banking system.

On account of sickness, Hon. Samuel S. Cox will be unable to deliver his lecture in the Rockingham course on Wednesday evening, as announced. Due notice will be given by the manager of the time the next entertainment will take place.

An adjourned meeting of the grantees of the State Unitarian Educational Society was held in Concord last week; fifteen trustees were elected, among whom are Rev. James DeNormandie of this city, Hon. Benj. F. Prescott of Fpping, and Hon. Warren Brown of Hampton Falls.

Major Davis, one of the little tots of the Lilliputian opera troupe that visited our city last season, while travelling through Canada with the company dropped between the cars and was not missed until the next station was reached. An exploring party found the little fellow safe in a bed of mud.

One day last week two car-loads of live fowls went through this city on the way to Boston, via the Eastern railroad, the cars coming from the Grand Trunk line. The cars used for this purpose are fitted with two temporary floorings, dividing the space into three sections, the lower and middle ones of which are just high enough to allow the turkeys to stand upright. The upper section, not being quite high enough for turkeys, is filled with chickens.

The committee of arrangements have changed the time of celebrating the 77th anniversary of the "Associated Mechanics and Manufacturers of the State of New Hampshire" to Tuesday evening, Dec. 2d. The celebration will be held in the hall of the association, and will consist of a public installation of officers, social festival, and appropriate literary exercises. It is expected that the officers of the Boston and Portland associations will be present.

Mr. J. E. Risley, of New York, gave a temperance address at the Methodist church, Sunday evening, to a large and attentive audience. Total abstinence was the theme, and the speaker urged upon his hearers the necessity of actual work in this cause; a general interest, while we are at a distance from the work, is not sufficient. We may be willing to let the evil alone, but it will not let us alone, but will be felt by us in its influence upon society, and especially in the matter of taxation. Rev. Mr. Pitblado followed with a few remarks, in which he explained his connection with the Drake and Webster affair, and in refering to the Times' comments, characterized that paper as possessed of "more ignorance than brains."

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Nov. 24; Batchelder, J.

George Moore, Henry Robinson, Robert Keyes and John Matthews, tramps, were held in $300 each for trial at the supreme court in April.

George Brown and George Raymond, vagrants; Brown thirty days in Brentwood, Raymond twenty days at the same place; costs $6.90 each.

James Murphy, drunk, Brentwood four months, costs $6.90.

Michael McCarthy and Thomas Murphy, drunk, each $9.90, fine and costs. Brentwood.

Thomas Dunn and John Leonard were let off on their promise to leave the city at once.

MONDAY, Nov. 24th.

In town of Newcastle and others vs. Smith, Wood, Moore, Odlin and Bell, the court decided that the parties claiming the money be allowed to take it on giving bonds; and one of the defendants, through Mr. Hatch, moved for costs as against the town. The question as to costs was recommitted to Hon. J. F. Wiggin as referee. Frink for town of Newcastle; Goodall for Moses Yeaton and Benjamin Cheever, plaintiffs; Bell for Smith; Marston and Eastman for Moore; Hatch for estate of Alvah Wood.

The call of the un-disposed-of cases on the new docket occupied the forenoon.

In the case of the Rockingham Ten Cents savings bank a decree was ordered in favor of the Portsmouth savings bank; also in favor of Fernald and Davis, in accordance with the order of the full bench. Rollins for Portsmouth savings bank; Hatch for Davis and Fernald.

In Kimball, assignee of bank, vs. Mary S. Norton, wherein the bill was dismissed and exceptions reserved, the exceptions having been overruled a decree is made accordingly for the defendant. Page for Kimball; Hatch for Norton.

No. 58. Ella S. Towle vs. Simon P. Towle, libel for divorce, was referred and continued nisi. Marston and Eastman for libellant; Hatch for libellee.

No. 62. Horace Berry vs. town of Windham, petition for abatement, also referred and continued. Question as to whether taxes on savings bank deposits in other States can be taxed in this State.

In several suits of former police officers brought against the city to recover witness fees before the police court, referred to Wm. H. Rollins, Esq., as auditor: Israel Marden recovers from the city $2.71, and interest from date of writ; in the cases of Edmund J. Clark, John Hayes, Elbridge Curtis Marden, Samuel Hurley and John J. Smart, there was ordered judgment in favor of the city; in case of Ozro J. Hobbs, judgment was ordered in his favor for $1.54 and interest; Thomas Watkins, judgment for $1.54 and interest. Frink for the several plaintiffs; Foster, city solicitor, for the city.

No. 86, Deborah L. Jewett vs. John Ayers, of Stratham. Action of trespass. Judgment on report for plff. Case renewed and continued.

In Chas. W. Martin vs. Levi G. Towle, the defendant moved a stay of execution, and proposes to review. This case was tried at the January term, 1869, and a verdict of $50 rendered. The supreme court overruled the exceptions, and judgment was ordered. The plff. lives in Massachusetts, and deft. has ten days in which to file affidavit; case continued nisi.

In Adams vs. Adams a divorce was decreed.

Curtis C. Edgerly was brought into court, upon an application to have a revision of sentence. Some petitions have been filed in his behalf. The court questioned the prisoner as to his whereabouts when he and Haley conceived the project of robbery of Haley's store at Newmarket; he said that he walked part of the way from Boston, viz., from Lynn to Exeter, taking two or three days, and stated what was his intention in coming to Newmarket. That he was in Newmarket two hours, breaking into the store, and went back to Boston. A certificate from Mr. Andrew J. Allen, a provision dealer in Boston, was shown the court. The court enquired if some of the purloined clothing did not go into Allen's hands, or was worn by one of the boys around Allen's premises. Edgerly said the pantaloons were sold to the boy, who was seventeen years old. Prisoner is thirty-five years of age, and Haley of about the same age; both are natives of Newmarket, and were associates in Boston. Edgerly was a little intoxicated at the time of the robbery; this was occasioned by one drink taken en route! The prisoner's account of himself was not very much in his favor. He told where the goods had been secreted (which was before known.) Mr. B. F. Haley of Newmarket was called upon, and stated that Edgerly was a thief, and he thought he should be punished as such. From $150 to $175 worth of goods were stolen; all returned, save about fifty dollars worth not yet received. This he understood was carried to Boston. Mr. Haley has paid out considerable sums to ascertain who had robbed him. Mr. Towle addressed the court on behalf of Edgerly, and said that young Haley was a scoundrel, but Edgerly was considered by many as below par, mentally. The court put a question to Mr. Towle, stating the case as it appeared from Edgerly's statement. Mr. Towle said that the Newmarket people did not want Edgerly set at liberty, nor did they want him sent to State prison. The court thought that when a man of thirty-five years takes so much pains trying to rob a store and conceal goods, if there is any law to be observed a sentence of two and a half years is a proper one, and here is now no occasion to revise the sentence; and the motion to revise was denied. The prisoner was remanded, and taken to Concord; and the delay has given him an additional month's incarceration, namely, his sojourn with Col. Kent since his trial.

Upon a large number of referred cases judgments on reports were ordered.

In Batchelder vs. Newmarket, the deft. moved for a stay of execution.

The previous proclamation was ordered, and with a few matters left over to be heard by the judge in chambers, the last of the October term was reached at half-past six o'clock P. M.

P. & D. R. R.

Ed. Chronicle: "Tax-Payer," in your issue of Monday morning, recommends a change of counsel in the Portsmouth & Dover railroad case. What is he thinking of? Don't he know that one of these counsel was an original director, and the other clerk of the road? that they know all its weak points, and which it is for the reputation and the interest of the original (virtually the present) directors should be kept covered up?

They know that, provided the laws of the State were enforced in accordance with what appears to be their plain intent and meaning, that their act of incorporation never had any validity! That several provisions of the law, requiring that certain things shall be done before their charter could be endowed with the breath of life never were done! That the very first step taken in the building of this road was in utter defiance and contempt of the laws, and an unparalleled outrage upon private rights; it follows therefore, or appears to, to a looker-on, that the counsel in this case (being officers at the time) are hampered — heavily handicapped,—their own interests, the directors' interests, and thirdly and lastly Portsmouth's and Dover's interests, having to be looked after; much, it is to be feared, in the order in which they are named.

Is it not, then, the duty of this city's authorities—this city being the largest stockholder in this corporation—or partnership—to examine fully into every point connected therewith—not forgetting the disposition of its bonds—and let its citizens know just how they stand? The directors plead for, — "court investigation;" let them have it; it is their right; the road never would have been built except for their persistent efforts, and it is due to them to give them a chance to show that in assuming the duties, they fulfilled legally and fully all which their position as agents required. Disaster to the stockholders has followed the acceptance of their advice; their acts have shown open disregard of laws and private rights; they acknowledge responsibility; no one but themselves has benefited in the least by the road, and of course "they court investigation" as the only means of purging themselves of what every one else believes to be a very serious responsibility. Unless these things are brought before a competent tribunal we shall never know the "true inwardness" of the case, and this city may shoulder a great loss, which it may be shown does not attach to it. W.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

A York county man who lately experienced religion, called at the store of a Portsmouth grocer last week and handed him a ten-dollar note, saying that five years ago one of the store clerks had given him that amount through a mistake in making change.

Mr. Joseph W. Smith, of Andover, Mass., takes great interest in Good Templar work, and his efforts in behalf of the order are not confined to his own State. He has recently given to the Good Templars of Atlanta lodge at Biddeford pool, $50 to help pay for their library. This action has revived the lodge, which was becoming discouraged.

Chronicle Correspondence.

RYE, Nov. 23.

G. H. Jenness, Esq., of Rye, the popular and efficient assistant engrossing clerk of the national House of Representatives, left for Washington on Tuesday, to assume the duties of office again at the coming second session of the 46th Congress.

In Rye on Thursday last a painful accident happened to Mr. Fred Locke, a young man employed at the Sea View house. While engaged with Amory Lougee, a son of George G. Lougee, Esq., of the Sea View, in pitching seaweed on to their team at the beach, young Lougee accidentally stuck one of the tines of his fork through the nose of Locke, making a severe flesh wound, which was attended to by Dr. Keith, who is stopping at the Sea View. We are glad to hear that the young man is doing well.

The Congregational society of Rye have engaged Rev. Mr. Kingsbury of Montague, Mass., to become their pastor for one year at a salary of $800 and parsonage. Mr. Kingsbury has moved his family here and occupies the parsonage, and has begun his labors.

Elder J. P. Brown, of South Elliot, Me., supplied the pulpit of the Advent chapel at Rye on Sunday last. Elder Brown denounced capital punishment for crime in our day as being disgraceful and barbarous, and thought it did not check crime.

The Congregational society of Rye are to hold a festival in the town hall in December next. SCRIBE.

YORK CORNER, ME., Nov. 24th.

Mr. Ebenezer Plaisted of this place, who for about a year has been failing from some unknown cause, died on Friday evening, aged forty-five years. About a week ago he requested that a post-mortem examination be holden on his remains, which was accordingly done yesterday afternoon, by Drs. Hazen of York and Johnson of Kittery. They found the liver somewhat enlarged, though the great cause of his early and sudden decline from a well and hearty man of 200 lbs. to a mere skeleton; was a very large celluloid cancer of the most obnoxious character, weighing over twelve pounds. It was adhered to the spine, and of such size that the physicians wonder how any passage through the intestines had been performed so long. Mr. Plaisted has been a great sufferer, and his emaciated form was really pitable to look upon by us who had so long known him as a noble-hearted, genial fellow. He was a kind and obliging neighbor, a respectable citizen, and a kind husband and father. He leaves a wife and two children, and other friends to mourn his loss—but his sufferings are over.

It is reported that the $15,000 libel suit, George Bowden vs. Nath'l G. Marshall, is to be the first trial at the opening of the supreme judicial court at Alfred on the 1st Thursday of January next. The depositions of Wm. H. Manson and wife were taken before Henry V. Moore, Esq., of Berwick, on Saturday last, by request of the plaintiff. What facts were elicited from them, or what was intended to be, your correspondent has no knowledge of. These deponents were witnesses against Bowden before the grand jury at the September term, 1878, when he was indicted for arson. The arson indictment failed from the fact that Bowden had a perfect record title to the building burned, and the attorney general informed the prosecutors that he, Bowden, had a right to burn it, (if he did,) so long as he defrauded no one, or endangered no one. These deponents swore the property, or a part thereof, belonged to them.

Yours truly, F.

—A great novelty which can at present only be obtained at Parisian houses is the cretonne Veronese. This is a most beautiful style, and will likely soon be in general favor.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has become burdensome, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his wonderful practice and popularity throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

Cathartic Pills
Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases, caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.
AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.
As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.
While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is invaluable. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

CATARRH
THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.
SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, proves undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of testimonial testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never was evidence, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that has in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but state the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co's Express, is an outspoken endorsement of which we are justly proud.
INVALUABLE.
Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, at least strive as a respectable old age.
If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.
Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS, AURORA, N. Y., June, 1878. of Wells, Fargo & Co

Shall We Kill Ourselves? Is Alum Poisonous?

Its Use in Baking Powders Condemned by Medical Journals.

Dr. Hall's Journal of Health, in a recent issue, says:

"This question has caused a good deal of discussion. Alum is used by many bakers to whiten their bread, enabling them to use an inferior flour. It is more extensively employed as a cheap substitute for cream of tartar in the manufacture of baking powders. It has not been considered immediately dangerous; although if continued it induces dyspepsia and obstinate constipation. But the fact that many cases of poisoning have occurred from baking powders which contained alum, puts the question in a more serious aspect, and prudent people will exercise caution in the selection of baking powders.

"Under what conditions, then, does this substance—formerly used only for mechanical or medicinal purposes—become poisonous? They are certainly obscure, and at present we can only surmise what they may be. We suspect that the cause exists in the individual poisoned; some peculiarity of the constitution producing a morbid change in the secretions of the stomach, with which the alum combines and forms an active poison; or the secretions may be healthy but in unusual proportions, and that these less or greater proportions, in combination with the alum, constitute a poison. For example, two parts of mercury and two parts of chlorine form calomel, which is not poisonous; but change the proportions to one part of mercury and two parts of chlorine, and we get corrosive sublimate, which is a deadly poison.

"Then again, we know nothing of the causes of constitutional peculiarities. Why is it that one person can eat all kinds of green fruits and vegetables with impunity, while the same course might cost another individual his life? One person can handle poison ivy and sumac without being in the least affected; another is poisoned if he approaches to within ten feet of them. Out of a family residing in a malarial district, some of its members will suffer half the year with fever and ague, while the others will enjoy excellent health during the entire year. Foods that are wholesome to some persons are actually poisonous to others. This is especially true of some kinds of fish. There is no safety in taking alum into the stomach, as it is shown to be always injurious, and often dangerous. Baking powders properly compounded, and containing pure cream of tartar instead of alum, are more convenient than yeast; and bread and pastry made with them are as wholesome, and far more palatable. We are in entire sympathy with the manufacturers of the Royal Baking Powder—who commenced and are vigorously conducting the war against the use of alum in baking powders.

"Before committing ourselves, however, we made tests of a sufficient number of baking powders to satisfy ourselves that the substitution of alum for cream of tartar in their composition has not been over-estimated, while a careful examination of the Royal Baking Powder confirms our belief that Dr. Mott, the Government Chemist, when he singled out and commended this powder for its wholesomeness, did it wholly in the interest of the public.

"We do not hesitate to say that the proprietors of the Royal Baking Powder deserve the gratitude of the community whom they are endeavoring to protect.

"Will not some prominent manufacturer of pure candies follow their example, and expose the secrets of a business that is doing untold mischief to little children?"

New Jersey Premium Wine.

Physicians state that the Port Wine that took the premium at the Centennial, produced and offered for sale by Mr. Alfred Speer, of New Jersey, is a wine that can be safely used for medicinal purposes, being pure and free from medication, and is more reliable than any other Port Wine. It is especially recommended for weekly females and the aged.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.

—"You just take a bottle of my medicine," said a quack doctor to a consumptive, "and you'll never cough again." "Is it so fatal as that?" gasped the consumptive.

—Puck thinks that "Macbeth" was a pretty fair play, considering the times it was written in and the times it was written for, although it is not at all like one of Boucicault's. There are defects in it, of course,—one of which is that a character called Exeunt does too much of the marching and fighting. Still, it does very well—quite well.

—If Courtney and Hanlan do not quiet down, why wouldn't it be a good thing to take them out about six miles from shore and throw them into the water? They would naturally put in their "biggest licks" for dry land, and the public would at last have a race from them, and then after they got ashore they would be too tired to talk for a month, and that would be something to be graceful for.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1879.

The U. S. S. Plymouth.

A writer in the Boston Herald mentions the turning into the treasury, by the secretary of the navy, of $1,500,000, the unexpended balance of the beggarly appropriation made by Congress for naval expenditures during the last official year, and comments very unfavorably upon the policy which fails to judiciously expend appropriations when such expenditure is so greatly needed as it is by our navy at the present time. He says:

If there was no other case to which to point in illustration, that of the "Plymouth," a United States vessel "repaired" in the Charlestown yard during the present year, and not long before the close of the fiscal year of which the secretary has just made his report, would be sufficient. The Plymouth came in from the West India station in a terrible condition, both in regard to seaworthiness and in a sanitary way. She was infected with yellow fever, had just had it on board, and in every way her situation was bad as bad could be. Above the water line she was as rotten throughout as punk. (She is no better now, and only different from the fact that her upper works are like the squares in a chessboard, new timbers and planks lying either side by side or end to end with old ones, so that, it is said, one can almost run his fist through the decayed squares anywhere.) One of her officers said that when the ship rolled at sea he could lay a finger in the opening seams in her hull. In the examination into her condition, planks and beams were, it is said, broken off from the force of a simple blow to test their strength and soundness, and this in not isolated instances, but many planks were like powder, to be crushed in the hand. If this was her condition, with live oak upper works, any man at all familiar with nautical matters will infer something of the state of things below the water line. It is said to be true that a smart blow of a hammer would go through the wood struck in many instances.

Yet this ship was sent to sea, and would now be on a cruise—that is, if she had managed to keep afloat so long—had it not been for the breaking out of the yellow fever among her crew soon after she sailed from Boston last spring.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

AROUND HOME.

Coal has a decided upward tendency.

Congress hall has been gaily decked with bunting for the ball to-night.

Poultry disappeared from the Parade on Tuesday before two o'clock P. M.

Fine opportunity to furnish a drowning accident,—the ponds are covered with thin ice.

Look out for the star-shower from Biela's bursted comet; it is expected to-morrow night, the 27th.

Mechanics' hall was crowded, Tuesday evening, to hear the Irish temperance orator, M. T. Holden. He's good.

Oliver Goldsmith had a distinguished raising Monday night; he is a brother to the late Tubal Cain, the blacksmith.

First Lieutenant W. S. Schenck, U. S. M. C., has been transferred from the barracks at this navy yard to Washington.

The schooner Mary J. Adams is being repaired and calked at Call's lumber wharf, inside the Noble's island bridge.

Rev. Dr. Alden will preach on Thanksgiving day in the Middle street Baptist church. Service to commence at 10:30.

Rev. Mr. McGinley will preach a sermon on national affairs in the North church, on the forenoon of Thanksgiving day.

A gentleman formerly in the gents' furnishing goods business in this city, is now peddling candy in the streets of Boston.

Capt. C. C. Carpenter, U. S. N., of this city, is at present at the Boston navy yard on duty as a member of a court-martial.

D. F. Borthwick will open this morning some splendid bargains in bleached damask, which with other linen goods makes as good an assortment as customers will find in the city.

The Dover merchants insist that they shall secure a large share of the York and Eliot trade if the new bridge is built, because they advertise better than the Portsmouth dealers. Whose fault is that?

Schooner Clara E. Simpson, Talpey master, arrived in the lower harbor on Tuesday in one hundred and one hours from Alexandria. She has on board 585 tons of coal, and receives $2.50 per ton freight.

Robert W. Welch of Dover, recently appointed United States consul at Carrara, Italy, is a graduate of Dartmouth and has had some experience as a newspaper man. He is a son of the late Joseph W. Welch, Esq.

We don't believe that Mr. Pitblado feels very badly our the Times' assertion that "he comes as near a second Lorimer as it is possible for one to get," inasmuch as Dr. Lorimer is one of the most popular pulpit orators of the day, and has the best sentiment of the press and people with him. If you don't believe it, neighbor, just read the Boston papers of the 25th inst.

From the present date to the 1st of April next, the cruising ground of the revenue steamer A. J. Dallas will be from West Quoddy head, Me., to Cape Ann, Mass.; of the Albert Gallatin, from Portsmouth harbor to Vineyard Haven, Mass.; of the Samuel Dexter, from Vineyard Haven through Long island sound to Whitestone point, L. I., going inside and outside of Block island.

A desire is quite generally expressed among the Freemasons of this city to have Hon. Albert R. Hatch publicly address the brotherhood and their friends on the subject of Masonry,—its antiquity, attributes, value to humanity, etc. The preparation of such an address would involve a great deal of labor and thought; but if Mr. Hatch would undertake the task he could perform it as well as—perhaps better than—any other man in the State.

This is not good weather for sidewalk committees, consequently the workmen employed on the Franklin and National blocks are not receiving the friendly advice and criticism from the score or two of old buffers the sunny days were wont to bring out. Better join the group around the stove in the Mechanics' reading room, gentlemen; you can watch the building operations just as well, and be less liable to take cold. It will cost you but four dollars a year.

The schooner Hattie Lewis, Capt. Garland, is on a trip from Dover to Rockland and back, for six hundred casks of lime for Converse & Hobbs of Dover. The Loella, Capt. Amee, is on a trip for the same firm, and sailed from Bangor on the 23d inst. with 150,000 laths, 400,000 shingles and a quantity of spruce planks. The Charles H. Trickey, Capt. Kelly, has made her last trip to Dover with coal for this season; she is to take apples from this city to Baltimore, and on arriving at the latter port will go into the southern trade for the winter.

MASONIC PRESENTATION.

On Monday evening St. Andrew's lodge, No. 56, of this city, was officially visited by Dist. Dep. Grand Master J. F. Clontman of Farmington, the occasion being one of unusual masonic and social interest. Among the two hundred or more members of the order present were Past District Deputies Albert R. Hatch of this city and Charles G. Connor of Exeter, Past Grand Masters John Christie, John R. Holbrook, Thomas E. O. Marvin and Samuel C. Whittier of this city, G. C. Bartlett of Derry, and others, with large delegations of members of the order from Exeter, Newmarket, Dover, Rochester, Epping, Kittery and other places. After the exemplification of the third degree, Worshipful Master John Pender, who has sat in the east for five years but declines to longer hold the office, tendered his thanks to the lodge for the cordial support he has received; and was then surprised by the presentation, by Bro. J. Horace Kent on behalf of the lodge, of a beautiful past-master's jewel. A banquet was afterward served in the upper hall, and the evening was filled out with brief speeches, singing, etc.

A BEWILDERED "SPECIAL."

A late number of the New England Grocer has the following astonishing information from its special correspondent:

Portsmouth—"the city by the sea"—the seaport of the State of New Hampshire, has been one of the most favored cities of New England during the recent depression of business. This city has been almost the very last to feel the "hard times," owing largely to the close proximity of the Kittery navy yard, and the steady distribution of money from that source. The navy yard is considered by the traders and people as an important support of the city, and although located in Maine, New Hampshire derives the greater benefit from it. There are about five hundred men employed in the different departments at present, and about the same number waiting, Macawber-like, for something to turn up, although there is ample employment in other branches for all who desire work.

Frank Jones, the famous brewer, is carrying on an extensive business, and gives employment to five hundred and eighty men. It is considered an even chance whether the navy yard or Mr. Jones puts the largest amount of money in circulation in Portsmouth.

The Eldredge and Portsmouth brewing companies give employment to about one hundred men,—the former eighty, and the latter twenty.

The Kearsarge mills give employment to five hundred people, men, women and children, and are considered by the traders an injury rather than a benefit to the city.

Until we read the above we had always thought that the city's "close proximity to the navy yard" had much to do in increasing the hard times here during the business depression, the almost total cessation of work on the yard throwing many hundreds of men out of employment. Then the statement that Mr. Jones gives employment to as many persons as the Kearsarge mills and Eldredge Brewing Co., both put together, we think an exaggeration; and we never before heard that the Kearsarge mills were "considered an injury to the city." We suspect that special must have indulged in cistern water when he was gathering statistics in this city; aqueduct water could never have affected him in that way.

THE PERILS OF THE ROAD.

A case of considerable interest was decided in the supreme court in this city on Monday. It was an action between Joshua Brooks & Co., flour and grain dealers on Market street, and Uriah Blaisdell, stove dealer on the same street.

This was an action to recover damages under the following circumstances: The plaintiff's horse and wagon were backed up against a building on the north mill-bridge in this city, the horse standing at right angles with the street, but leaving space for a horse and carriage to pass between the head of the horse and the railing of the bridge; and grain was being discharged from the wagon of the plff. into the mill. Mr. Blaisdell's horse was being driven by his servant, and in some way the breeching became unfastened. The wagon coming against the heels of defendant's horse he became unmanageable, and a rein breaking he ran into Brooks & Co.'s team and did the damage claimed. The plff. contended that the fact of the unfastening of the breeching, and the breaking of a rein by which the horse was guided, were evidence of negligence, etc. The referee ruled that the burden of proof was upon the plaintiff to show such negligence; also that the breaking of the rein and unhooking of the breeching did not make a prima facie case of negligence, and declined to allow evidence of Blaisdell's horse's reputation as a runaway. The pliff. also offered to put in the opinion of the police judge of Portsmouth, who had heard the case and given damages to the pliff., assigning his reasons for a decision in favor of the pliff., and from which Blaisdell appealed. This was rejected, and the pliffs. excepted to the referee's rulings, all of which are now sustained by the court. Judgment on referee's report in favor of the defendant. Harriman for pliff.; Page for Blaisdell.

It will be seen from this decision that notwithstanding a person's horse runs away and does damage, he is not held responsible therefor unless there is some negligence on his part; that is, unless something more than the result of an accident occurs; and what the law terms the burthen of proof is upon the party claiming damages, who in order to recover must show some act of negligence on the part of the driver of the runaway team. Perhaps this is the only safe rule. If a horse runs away from having the breeching of the harness accidentally unhooked, (and the law does not presume it other than accidental,) it would be a hardship upon the owner of the team if called upon to pay all the damages which the runaway might occasion. Such a rule would require the establishment of a runaway horse insurance company as a means of indemnity to the owners of spirited animals.

MAKING ECONOMY TREMBLE.

Many years ago we knew a man—a good-natured, harum-scarum old sailor—who though an inveterate smoker and even more improvident than the average of his class, was a great hand to save in the expenditure of matches. He would fill his pipe and then wait for an hour until he saw some other smoker preparing to light up, when he would stand by to get a light himself; and if the two pipes were successfully kindled with the one match he would exultingly remark, "I say, matey, aint this makin' economy tremble!" Then when Saturday night came he would go on a spree, and spend as much money in whiskey and beer as would have kept him in matches for a year.

In another column will be found an extract from an article in the Boston Herald, wherein the writer asserts that the United States ship Plymouth, now at anchor at the quarantine station in this harbor, is but a mass of rotten wood, and sharply criticises the "economy" that leaves a million and a half of dollars unexpended at the end of the year, out of a niggardly and insufficient appropriation, while officers and men are being sent to sea in unseaworthy vessels which the judicious expenditure of the appropriation would have put in good condition. The Herald writer evidently considers that such a course of procedure is "making economy tremble."

An illustration of this plan of economizing is furnished at this navy yard. The Lancaster, one of the finest ships in the navy, a roomy, able craft and an excellent sea-boat, has been out on the ways for a year or more, undergoing repairs. Part of the time she has had a small gang of men at work upon her; part of the time nobody. With funds sufficient, the vessel could easily have been now ready for sea; instead of which one of the finest cruising ships in the navy is still on the ways, and in such a backward condition that months must elapse before she can be floated, while there are no suitable vessels to take the places of those ordered home from foreign stations, or the others which should be ordered home for repairs,—while the secretary of the navy turns into the treasury a large amount of unexpended naval appropriations! To us this seems very much like our old-time acquaintance's idea of "making economy tremble."

THE BOY CORN-RAISERS.

The detailed report of Mr. John Hall, president of the York county agricultural society, concerning the contest for the Allen corn prize, has been published. The returns were made in pounds of ears, and these returns were reduced to bushels of shelled corn by Mr. Hall, who allowed seventy pounds of ears to a bushel (fifty-six pounds) of shelled corn. By this calculation the winner of the first prize raised at the rate of one hundred and sixty bushels of shelled corn to the acre; and of the one hundred and thirty-eight contestants, seventy-two raised one hundred bushels or more to the acre,—the average of the whole number being one hundred bushels and four quarts per acre, each. A year or two ago Hon. Frank W. Miller of this city offered a premium of one hundred dollars in gold—this was before resumption had made gold "a drug in the market"—to any farmer in this State (and we are not sure that the offer did not include all New England) who should raise one hundred bushels of shelled corn to the acre, he asserting that it had not been and could not be done; and though there were quite a number of entries for the prize, in the spring, there was not a single claimant for it at the end of the season. This raising of a hundred and fifty bushels of shelled corn to the acre, by boys, staggers the faith of many of the old farmers, who stoutly maintain that the only way in which that amount can be raised on an acre of ground is to set the land up on its edge and plant both sides of it.

A Queer Bug.

A curious bug was brought to the Chronicle office recently by Henry Hunt, a resident of North B street. Mr. Hunt found the bug in his back yard. It is about the size of a quarter dollar, and its peculiarity is that while it is shaped like a turtle, it walks on but half its legs at a time. It has six legs, three on a side. When it walks it balances itself on its edge and moves along a good pace on three legs. After walking in this way about a minute it flops over and walks on the other three legs. Sometimes it walks on its two fore legs like a man in a circus walking on his hands. Mr. Hunt asserts that the bug can execute a hand-spring either backwards or forwards, but while it was in this office it did not essay a feat so difficult. Its back is a deep blue, spotted with gold, and its belly is striped with red. When the bug walks on its forelegs it reminds one of a circus acrobat in spangles of many colors. While Mr. Hunt was exhibiting his bug Captain Sam, the Piute chief, came in with Charley, of Silver City. Sam remarked, with a smile of superior knowledge: "Circus bug, you bet!" The Piute stretched a string between two tables, and the bug walked the tight rope on edge, and then hung down from it by his hind feet. The Piutes venerate the insect, and say that when it appears in the fall with gold marks on its back it means plenty. Black spots signify death, and white spots famine. Aside from the absurd superstitions, the bug is certainly a wonderful thing and its antics vastly amusing.—Virginia City (Nev.) Chronicle.

—It was a gentlemanly young man who remarked wonderingly how a young lady could make herself ridiculous by yielding to the adsurd vagaries of fashion. Then the wind caught him by the new style of shirt collar on which his hat rested, and he was obliged to close both arms around a telegraph pole in order to keep from being waited over a neighboring roof.

—The wives of men of sentiment are not always the most appreciative of sentiment. Walter Scott read one of his beautiful imaginings to his wife, who listened with eyelids cast down and bated breath. As the closed, the sharer of his joys beamed forth with:—"Don't put on your left stocking to-morrow, dear; I must mend the hole in it!"

—He that pelts every barking dog must pick a great many stones.

However watched by loving care,
Home has its tempers lurking there,
And human power cannot defend
From ills that constantly impend;
But Sanford's Ginger bids pain cease,
And home restores to health and peace.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have speedily and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

HUMORS ON A CHILD

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the chin, ear, and side of the head. It must have itched and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface a little time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully,

JOHN L. SURRY,
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be rendered soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS.

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "I am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works to a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

PRICKLY HEAT.

Incidental to the Torrid Climate.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, especially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am noising it about. Yours truly,

THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.
MASON, TEXAS, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruff and keeps the scalp clean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is ably assisted in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is particularly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is Toilet Soap as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any yet prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

THE New Hampshire Gazette

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

Contains more original matter

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, premature decay by the errors of youth, and too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail postpaid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of curing Rupture without operation or and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment, and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his success in actual practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time from New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday s, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for disease, caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on the point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country fully admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but obtain the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outpoken endorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefits that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent relief. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me inestimable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring which have been represented in this vicinity for nearly fifty years. Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be attained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS, LYNDE, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co

THANKSGIVING—TE DEUCET HYMNUS.

"Thou crownest the year with Thy goodness; and Thy clouds drop fatness."

—By "W. P. D.," in St. John (N. B.) Globe, in commemoration of Thanksgiving Day, 1879.

Lord of the Harvest! From Whose hand,
In bounty royally outpoured,
Plenty hath flowed o'er all the land,
And all our garners full are stored,
To Thee we raise
Our song of praise,
To Thee, in Heaven and earth adored.

Thy care preserved the precious seed,
Nursed tender shoot and bud and blade,
Till on the time by Thee decreed
And Nature's voice
Bade men rejoice
In Thee, who heaven and earth hast made.

The early and the latter rain,
Gladdened green fields and teeming ground;
And mellow fruits and golden grain
Sweet ripeness in Thy sunshine found:
By genial showers,
By glowing hours,
The year is with Thy goodness crowned.

Nor for Earth's kindly fruit alone
In grateful hymns Thy praise we tell,
We, who—kept as Thy very own
From war and strife, from sickness fell,
And pestilence,
By Thy defence—
In freedom, peace, and safety dwell.

Lord of our life! Whose open hand
Good on all living things doth pour,
For all rich blessings on our land,
For all the harvest's happy store
Our hearts shall be Lift up to Thee—
To Thee, whom heaven and earth adore!

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24th.

The second session (first regular) of the 46th Congress will begin in one week from to-day, and the members are rapidly dropping in to be ready for their duties. I have taken some pains to sound them as to the probable course of Congress, and the conclusion in brief is that there will be less legislation of a radical kind than has been known in any session for years; that is, the bulk of the legislation will be conservative and in line with existing politics, and more in the nature of amendment and perfection than change. There seems indeed to be little call for changes now, since the business of the country is rapidly improving. This appears to be the opinion of a majority in both the great parties, as far as I can gather.

It is of interest to enumerate some of the more prominent measures which members mention as likely to be more or less discussed. The greenbackers will urge the currency question, but I think republicans and democrats for the most part will not encourage the agitation of it. Many democrats who last session were in favor of such discussion now say that it will be useless to disturb the country with it, since business is so good. They say, however, that should Secretary Sherman recommend the retirement of the legal tender circulation, they will make a fight that may become more wide in its influence than any party now contemplates. But many republican members who ought to know say that the administration will not urge this subject or any other that is likely to disturb the business of the country.

The tariff question it was thought some time ago would be an important one, but I find many have changed their minds in that also, and are not in favor of pushing it in the face of present industrial prosperity, and, I might add, the Presidential campaign. This reminds me of a rumor that some interested party has insinuated reports throughout Ohio that General Garfield is not "sound" on the tariff question. But business men will not be deceived by this, and therefore refuse to send him to the Senate. General Garfield is a conservative on all business legislation, and it is that qualification in our legislators which has saved our tariff system from those extremes which might have wiped it out entirely long ago, and made such fluctuations as would have ruined all business stability and made prosperity impossible. I make this digression merely to observe that General Garfield seems to represent just now the sentiment prevalent in both parties against any legislation that should suddenly overturn established usages or agitate the material interests of the Nation. I think, however, there is a growing disposition among democrats and republicans to do something to extend trade in foreign markets, such as giving liberal postal contracts to steamship lines from the United States to South American ports.

The calendars of the two houses contain a mass of stuff, but little of which is important, except the remnants of the political legislation bequeathed by the last session; whether these will be brought forward is a matter of doubt, the democratic leaders disagreeing as to its advisability. If they should, the session will be lively and long; if they shouldn't, it ought to be dull and short. KNOX.

Thanksgiving.

We are invited by the governor, to-day, to abstain from all pursuits inconsistent with the spirit of the occasion, and to return thanks for the blessings that have crowned the year. These thanks of late years, in New England, have been more frequently and heartily rendered around the festive board, than in our customary places of worship, a fact which perhaps induced the oldest settled pastor in this city to suggest last Sabbath the propriety of his congregation devoting a portion of the day to religious observance.

There is no doubt a tendency to allow Thanksgiving day, in its observance, to still further drift away from the devout and serious reverence it was the custom of the fathers to observe, toward the idle and festive manner in which in these later times the day is usually passed. Our gratitude shows itself far more in the palate than in the heart; and the danger is that despite well-written proclamations and ample provision for religious observances, the day will degenerate into one of gustatory enjoyment solely. There is much which we as a people ought to be thankful for, publicly as well as privately, at least once a year; and it becomes us all not to lose sight of the proper and healthful spirit which first suggested this time-honored and beautiful festival.

It is the beginning of a season when we are especially reminded of the goodness of God, in his bountiful harvest to man in the western hemisphere, whence come the means of feeding a large share of the inhabitants of the old world, a process by which untold benefits come home to us; while other nations are suffering the dire effects of a poor harvest, our country teems with plenty, and our great source of wealth, our magnificent crops, never can be more appreciated than to-day. This is a cause for national, as well as personal thanksgiving.

Then, too, it is the season when we are reminded of our duties to our neighbors; to practise toward them the charity that is needed, and without the exercise of which no one can be happy. Indeed, as the annual festival recurs we are more and more convinced of the wisdom of the fathers in establishing it, and we trust that few will be so far unmindful of the obligations of a true life as to desire either to dispense with or to suffer to deteriorate or decline, the proper observance of the New England Thanksgiving.

Reports of Various Departments.

From the report of the chief of ordnance it appears that during the last fiscal year there were manufactured at the national armory 20,000 Springfield rifles, and 1000 of the experimental Hotchkiss magazine rifle. The former have been produced at a much less cost than heretofore, owing to the increased number manufactured and the improvement of the plan adopted. There were in store on July 1, 1879, only 22,073 rifles and 5406 carbines at the armory and arsenals, a wretchedly small number considering the wants of the present and the calls that may be made in the future.

The report of the chief signal officer shows that 170 signal stations have been maintained during the year. The regular daily publication of the reports by the press, now continued for nine years without cost to the United States, is considered an evidence of the usefulness of the reports, by the communities for which they are received and the communities for which they are intended. The display of cautionary day and night signals, by flags and lights, upon the lakes and the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, has been made systematically on occasions of supposed especial danger at ninety-four different sea and lake ports and cities. There were added on January 1, 1878, to the display of day and night signals at the ports which had been "cautionary" alone up to that date, the display by day or at night of the "cautionary off-shore signal," indicating that, while winds might be high and there might by danger, the winds to follow were expected to be "off-shore." It is of important utility in the management and for the safety of vessels to be thus pre-advised of coming winds. The adoption of this signal, first made, so far is known, at the ports of the United States, has much increased the usefulness of the service. Of the total number of cautionary signals thus displayed, 80.1 per cent have afterward been reported as justified. In the cases reported as failures of justification following the display, the wind did not attain, at the place of display, a violence held to justify it. No great storms have swept over any considerable number of the ports of the United States without pre-announcement. A total length of 4467 miles of the line, including 543 miles on the coast, was in operation and maintained in the care of officers and enlisted men of the signal corps June 30, 1879.

The chief of the government secret service reports that the disbursements of the department for the year were $89,475. During the year 530 persons were arrested, of whom 111 were convicted, 55 acquitted and 175 await trial. The majority of offences was for dealing in counterfeit money. A large number of counterfeiters' tools was seized. The total amount of counterfeit money captured was $8,365,144. The chief asserts that there never was so small an amount of counterfeit paper money in circulation, but coin counterfeiting never was so extensively engaged in as now, owing to the cheapness of the material and the facility of working it.

News and Notes.

The large pier of the Pacific mail company at Aspinwall has been destroyed by a storm, and several small vessels wrecked.

Mr. G. H. Stone, a native of Ashland, Mass., and one of its oldest citizens, died November 23d. He was well known as a civil engineer, and has held many prominent positions as such. He laid out the city of San Francisco, Cal., in 1849, and was one of the engineers on the levees under Gen. B. F. Butler at New Orleans.

The unveiling of the Hannah Dustin monument at Haverhill, Mass., the gift of Hon. E. J. M. Hale, took place on the 25th inst., in the presence of the city government and a large assemblage of citizens. The monument was unveiled by Mr. C. H. Weeks of Haverhill, the designer. The statue is of bronze, six feet high, and the entire height, with pedestal, is fifteen feet. The bronze reliefs represents the following scenes: First, Mrs. Dustin's capture; second, the escape of her children; third, the slaying of her captors, and her escape; fourth, her return.

Several deputy sheriffs from Colfax county, Kansas, visited Otero, New Mexico, on the 25th inst., to make arrests, but the culprits had fled. They accused Deputy Sheriff Bassett of informing the parties, and in a pistol match that followed, Bassett was killed and Deputy Curtis fatally wounded.

A negro, charged with burglary, and who confessed that he belonged to a gang who have been committing burglaries in various counties, was taken out of jail at Perry, Ga., on the 25th inst., and hanged to a tree.

Julia Huber, daughter of Myer Huber, was arrested at Ephrata, Pa., on the 25th inst., charged with poisoning her stepsister and step-mother. The former is dead; the latter is very sick. The physician, on examining the stomach of the child, found arsenic in sufficient quantity to cause death, and at the inquest held a drug clerk testified that he sold Julia Huber half an ounce of arsenic to kill rats.

The Countess De Montijo, mother of the Ex-Empress Eugenie, is dead.

Citizens of Delaware county, Ohio, are scouring the woods for a tramp who after being fed and housed by farmer Van Sickles, robbed the house, fatally stabbed Van Sickles and his wife, and escaped.

The ship Royal Charter, abandoned by her crew, was fallen in with by the bark Maria and a crew put on board on the 6th instant, which would try to take her to some European port. The hull was in good condition and easily pumped dry. She is owned in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, is 1300 tons, valued at $40,000, and has a cargo of wheat valued at $100,000. Her crew were taken off by a vessel that has arrived at Amsterdam.

A Chicago paper figures up a handsome profit to the city on Gen. Grant's reception. The number of outside visitors is placed by reasonable estimate at 75,000, each one of whom is supposed to have spent $5 per day for three days, making a total of $1,125,000. Four leading hotels alone estimate their increased receipts at $30,000. The cost to the city, chiefly expended in decoration, is estimated at $50,000, which generally went into the pockets of citizens.

The commissioner of internal revenue predicts that the taxes during the present year will amount to $115,000,000. During the year ending June 30, 1879, $113,449,621 of revenue taxes were collected.

The president, cashier and all the directors of the First national bank of Butler, Pa., have been arrested by direction of the treasury department, for false statements, frauds and perjury.

A few days ago James Ellis, aged thirteen years, son of Mr. John Ellis of Mace's bay, Me., was shot and instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a gun which he was lifting over a fence. The charge entered his breast.

The thirty-fifth annual catalogue of the New Hampshire Conference Seminary and Female College at Tilton has just been issued, and shows that long established and popular institution of learning to be in a very flourishing condition. A summary of the students gives a total of 329 in the several departments.

Political.

It is stated by the editor of the Brooklyn Eagle that the debt of Brooklyn, N. Y., contracted the past ten or twelve years, is $42,000,000. Brooklyn's government is of the "democratic reform" variety, and Boss McLaughlin, who runs the Brooklyn ring, is and always has been a sturdy supporter of "Tilden and reform."

The New York Tribune implies that reports are rife of crookedness on the part of the "democratic reform" State treasurer of New York, and asks Gov. Robinson some conundrums in connection therewith. The Tribune also suggests that if the State treasurer was a republican there would be no need of asking for information—the "reform administration" of New York would have had the Nisi-compoop Bureau at work disseminating the useful knowledge long ago.

The municipal election at Providence, R. I., was held on the 25th inst. Thomas A. Doyle, the republican candidate, was elected mayor for the fifteenth time, receiving 2,923 votes to 2,648 for William Spencer, "democratic, citizens' and anti-Doyle" candidate. The result was celebrated with a salute of fifteen guns. The city council is more largely republican than last year. The vote in favor of granting licenses to sell intoxicating liquors was 2,101 to 1,589 against.

Toombs says the northern democrats are sneaks and cowards. This is nothing new. He always said that. When in the Senate he affiliated wholly with the opponents of the democratic party and its policy. If he had ever had a drop of democratic blood in his veins he would have let it out long since, though the confederate democrats say he was very chary of blood letting when any danger was to be met. Toombs is a Bombastes Furioso, and like Foote of Mississippi, now a republican officeholder, rendered himself important only by his swagger and bluster.—Boston Post.

Southern papers say that Gen. Toombs represents only himself, and can influence none but himself. We differ from them. He called the constitutional convention of Georgia to make a constitution to suit himself, and when the convention had consumed all the money voted by the State, Gen. Toombs took from his pocket $25,000, and told the convention to stay at his expense till the constitution was made. He made his constitution, sent it to the people, and it was ratified by 80,000 majority—and now tell us he represents only himself? Mistake. He is daily spoken of by at least half the papers of Georgia as an independent candidate for governor.—Atlanta (Georgia) Blade.

The White League managers have learned more peaceful ways. They have laid aside their shot-guns—loaded and well oiled, it is true, but still laid aside—ceased to be night-riders and road-liners, and taken to the less stirring, though even more effective, operations of counting votes which never were cast, suppressing others, stuffing ballot-boxes, and manipulating returns. All this they can now do at will, absolutely without fear of punishment, and almost without fear of detection. All the election machinery is in the hands of the democrats. They have complete control of every channel through which votes pass. Their will is supreme. From their rulings the republicans, no matter how glaring may be the frauds committed against them and their candidates, have no appeal.—New Orleans letter.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

Quick Fortunes in Stocks.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments, (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skillful experience, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurrent enterprise, and receive their pro rata profits monthly. An Indiana country merchant made $17,892.41 in four operations. A Texas cattle dealer made $32,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $47,876.21 in less than six months, all through the combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which has realized the grandest successes in the history of the Stock market. Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanation how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

AROUND HOME.

Has your carving knife been sharpened?

Family circles will be largely increased to-day.

The invasion of Turkey commences to-day; rally the chicken-hearted.

Drs. Donaldson and Grant are to have offices in the new National block.

Post-office hours to-day: General delivery, from 8 to 11 A. M., and from 6 to 6:30 P. M.; box-office open all day.

If you know of any poor family, look out that they to-day have a good dinner; your own will taste all the better for it.

The West church of Portland, Me., has been presented with an elegant lamp by Mrs. S. W. Creighton of Newmarket.

There is still a family of "summer boarders" stopping at the Sea View house, Rye beach, who came there early in September.

An officer in one of our banking institutions has just received a heavy dividend, and has extra cause for Thanksgiving.

Three hundred and eighty-four teams were counted on Market square and in that immediate vicinity at eleven o'clock in the forenoon on Wednesday.

Mr. Horace Sawyer of Rye has recommenced the manufacture of ladies' and misses' slippers, and will keep from ten to fifteen men busy for the winter.

The Boston English Opera Company, which is to give the third entertainment of Col. Hilton's course, is meeting with much success on the New England circuit.

The Kate Thayer Concert Company have been engaged for a return date by nearly all the managers that have played them, this season. The same company played here to almost empty benches.

The entrances to the stores in National block have been boarded up, to keep out idlers and others who impede the workmen. These stores are being handsomely fitted up, and will have the best show windows in the State.

Work on Franklin block is being vigorously pushed; the last story is reached, and the elevator is in working order up to the third floor. Work will not be suspended to-day (Thanksgiving) as the contractors wish to improve the favorable weather.

A Manchester correspondent has a perfect set of the pamphlet laws of New Hampshire, save those passed in 1800 and 1802,—3, 5, 6, 10, 13, 16, 18, 20, and 27. He has many duplicates, and would exchange for those or purchase them. Any person having such will confer a favor by addressing this office.

The St. Mary's Benevolent Society had a large and merry party in Congress hall, Thanksgiving eve. The hall was beautifully trimmed with bunting, and when the hundred or more couples stepped to the music in the grand march the scene was a gay one. It was in the small hours of the morning when the music ceased and the good-night was said.

On Monday of this week Hon. Frank Jones paid, at the custom house in this city, duties to the amount of $5,700, that being the duty on 28,000 bushels of barley imported from Canada, where Mr. Jones has recently purchased 400,000 bushels. The sum paid on Monday was all in gold, and the confidential agent who transported it to the custom house puffed freely when he got there; had it been in treasury or national bank notes he could have carried it in his vest pocket.

The municipal election at Dover on Tuesday of this week was very quiet, and the vote a small one. Joseph D Guppy, the republican candidate for mayor, received 930 votes; Elvin C. Kinnear, democratic and prohibition candidate, 529. Guppy's majority last year was sixty-seven. In the board of aldermen are four republicans and one democrat elected; in the common council, twelve republicans and three democrats. Eight of the councilmen and two of the aldermen elected were on the prohibition ticket. Many democrats voted for Guppy. Ward five, which is generally almost unanimously democratic, gave Kinnear but fourteen majority.

At the recent Grand Army fair in Dover a gold watch was voted to Miss Beatrice Jenkins, who had 339 votes to 208 for Miss Mamie Ricker.

With the view to secure a parsonage, the North Congregational parish has purchased the fine residence on State street, owned and occupied by Mr. John Sise. The price was, we understand, $6000, and possession will be given immediately on the removal of Mr. Sise into his new house on Court street.—Times.

Frank E. Blaisdell of Dover, the young man who mysteriously disappeared on the 22d inst. after spending the evening very pleasantly with a lady friend, turned up in Portland, Me., on the 25th, to the great relief of his friends, of whom he has many. The young man was evidently out of his head.

The schooner Lebanon, of Bangor, bound from that port to Lynn with a cargo of wood, put into the lower harbor a few days ago to land her commander, Capt. L. Tracey, who was sick with pneumonia. Capt. Tracey died at Kittery point on Monday of this week, and his remains were forwarded to Winter Harbor, Me. The schooner proceeded in charge of the mate.

John Q. Adams, an employe of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, reports that a few days ago he saw eight quail in the pond at Raymond, near the railroad. He says he was so close to them that if he had had a gun he could easily have killed one or more. So surprised was he to see the birds that he threw up his arms, which was mistaken for a signal to start the train, and the long freight came near getting under way.—Times.

It is a great wonder that the freight train didn't start off on its own hook without waiting for any signal at all, on seeing a flock of quail in a pond.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.

There will be services at the South Parish to-day at the usual hour of morning worship. The pastor will preach a sermon upon that question of such threatening promise to republican institutions, "the attitude of the Roman Catholics towards the public school system."

Rev. E. M. Grant will preach in the Universalist church at 10:30 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. Alden will preach in the Middle street church, services commencing at 10:30.

Rev. Mr. McGinley will preach on national affairs, in the North church.

ODIORNE'S POINT MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

The adjourned meeting of the Odiorne's Point New Hampshire Monument Association was held in this city on the 26th inst., there being a large attendance; President John J. Bell of Exeter in the chair. All the officers elected at the previous session signified their acceptance.

The deed of the lot at Odiorne's point, presented by Col. Cyrus L. Eastman of Littleton, was accepted by the association, the owner making a single stipulation therein, viz., that the monument shall be erected within seven years. He also offered a suggestion that each county be asked to raise two hundred dollars toward securing said memorial, guaranteeing that his (Grafton) county shall do her proportional part. The proposal met with unanimous favor.

The committee on by-laws stated that they would be ready to report at the next meeting, which was voted to be held on the last Wednesday in December in this city.

The following named gentlemen were elected members: Ex-Gov. Fred Smythe of Manchester; Hon. Emmons B. Philbrick and Thomas J. Parsons, Esq., of Rye; John Albee, Esq., of Newcastle; Rev. James De Normandie and Hon. Marcellus Bufford of this city.

P. & D. R. R.

Ed Chronicle: I do not propose to waste the time of your readers either in vituperation or in prosing, so don't be alarmed when I say I desire to make a statement concerning the matter of the P. & D. R. R.

I merely wish to correct a slight mistake of "W" and to rebut an unjust inference which might be drawn from the letter of "Taxpayer."

First, the gentleman to whom "W" refers as the original clerk of the road was so indeed when the railroad was incorporated, but if my memory serves me he resigned before the construction of the road.

Next, the controversy (as I understand) is not at all a political war, which is the idea "Taxpayer" seems to convey. Of the directors four are republican, (three in Dover, one here,) three democratic, all here, and the newly-elected clerk is a democrat, which balances the board.

Of the four counsel, two (Mr. Smith, representing Dover, and Mr. Foster, city solicitor,) are republicans; two (Messrs. Frink and Hatch,) are democratic.

Can anything be fairer than this distribution, and can anything be more unfair than "Taxpayer's" implication?

When an individual employs an attorney he usually places some confidence in him, and leaves his suit to his judgment—somewhat at least. I for one am willing to carry this principle into corporate matters, and trust the gentlemen engaged in this case without constantly slurring them, whether such slurs are prompted by supposed individual wrongs or any other motives.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Gov. Garcelon of Maine has nominated J. F. Walker of South Berwick and James E. Chase of Kittery to be justices of the peace.

The schooner Wanderer, of one hundred and fifty-one tons register, recently launched from the yard of Charles H. Thompson at Kennebunkport, has gone from that port to Portland to load with beading for New York. It is reported that she has been purchased by New York parties.

Therere is considerable talk in Kennebunkport over a supposed elopement, a married woman of the town having left under circumstances which look suspicious; but there have been two or three "elopements" down that way within a year or two which turned out to have no foundation, and this one may prove to be similar.

The co-operative stove company of Portland will move to Biddeford about Jan. 1st, the president of the company, John P. Farrow, having leased a piece of land for ten years, with the privilege of renewal, and on this land they will put up buildings. The company employs twenty-three men, of whom twenty have families, all of whom will move to Biddeford.

No paper will be issued from this office to-morrow.

—Easily got wind of—a fan.

—Pleasant quarters—twenty-five-cent pieces.

—It is looked upon as very unfortunate by the legal profession that Senator Chandler left no will—for them to break—and yet nearly two millions in the pot.

Say It.

As a simple measure of self-interest the best elements in the south can now afford to say that every one, despite the lawless, shall vote as he will.—Nashville (Tenn.) American.

Say it, "best element of the south," and it will be the best investment you ever made. Say it, and you will never need to complain of northern stalwartism again. Say it, and you will place your section by the side of the north in the march of civilization and progress. Say it, and you will stop the exodus of your laboring population. Say it, and you will attract capital from the north and from Europe to develop southern resources. Say it, and sectional politics will no longer vex the land. Say it, and the lawless will become law-abiding, the ignorant intelligent, and all classes of your citizens elements of strength in your community.—Biddeford Times.

Baker's Breakfast Cocoa

Is a general favorite. Medical men recommend it as preferable to tea or coffee for nervous or delicate constitutions. Sold by leading grocers everywhere.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.

New Jersey Premium Wine.

Physicians state that the Port Wine that took the premium at the Centennial, produced and offered for sale by Mr. Alfred Speer, of New Jersey, is a wine that can be safely used for medicinal purposes, being pure and free from medication, and is more reliable than any other Port Wine. It is especially recommended for weekly females and the aged.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

Eminent physicians indorse Adamson's Botanic Balsam as the safest and most effectual remedy for Coughs and Colds ever discovered. Sold by Druggists and Dealers at 35 and 75 cents.

By the use of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites the nerves become reinforced in strength, the stomach is made capable of digesting the food, the food changes to blood, the heart becomes strengthed to pump the blood, the lungs distribute and oxidize the blood, healthy blood displaces unhealthy muscle and tuberculous matter, the patient becomes vigorous and then by using his constitution as intended by a beneficent Creator, he may live up to the ripe old age, when like the corn ready for harvest he drops from the husk.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external application.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, cannot regard it as unworthy of his attention. It is not a standstill affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his success in practice and popularity throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and imposters to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases, caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, that it requires prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore proper healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any mineral substance, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are daily offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and redoubtement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any medical or other known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken adorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring his remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AUBURN, N. Y., June, 1878. of Wells, Fargo & Co

New Hampshire Items.

Leavitt's Farmer's Almanac for 1880 has made its appearance, published by E. C. Eastman, of Concord, as usual. It is the favorite almanac in thousands of New Hampshire families, and will be gladly welcomed.

Messrs. Fogg & Vinal of East Rochester have orders for sixty cases of shoes per day for the next six months. Wallace's tannery, in Rochester, has been enlarged by the addition of ninety-four tan-pits; business is unusually good with them. The Norway Plains company of Rochester has been awarded a $10,000 army-blanket contract.

G. A. Jones of Farmington is making an extensive enlargement of his shoe shop, including new machinery, at an expense of about $3,000.

Messrs. Natt & W. F. Head of Hooksett have sold 80,000,000 bricks the present season. Of this number 4,500,000 were sold in Manchester.

The Mascoma Edge Tool company, of Lebanon, has received an order from Sheffield, Eng., for 100 dozen scythes, and also a large order from Australia. The demand for their goods exceeds that of any previous season, and their works are running to their fullest capacity.

Navy Department Reports.

The chief of the bureau of navigation recommends that the department examine reported dangers to navigation in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and that at least one vessel from this service be detailed in the Atlantic and another for the Pacific ocean.

The chief of the bureau of steam engineering recommends an appropriation of $1,165,000 for the completion and erection on board of the machinery of the double-turreted monitors, and $25,000 for the purchase of tools for the Pensacola, Norfolk and Mare island navy yards.

The chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting says: "During the past year seventy-seven vessel have been either wholly or partially equipped at the several navy-yards, at an expenditure for labor of $105,818, and for material of $549,011."

The report of the chief of the bureau of construction and repair says the navy is mostly composed of ships of a bygone day, and it is hoped the necessity will soon be recognized of having a modern navy and that appropriations will be made to at least begin the construction of ships of a modern type.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.

New Jersey Premium Wine.

Physicians state that the Port Wine that took the premium at the Centennial, produced and offered for sale by Mr. Alfred Speer, of New Jersey, is a wine that can be safely used for medicinal purposes, being pure and free from medication, and is more reliable than any other Port Wine. It is especially recommended for weekly females and the aged.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

Eminent physicians indorse Adamson's Botanic Balsam as the safest and most effectual remedy for Coughs and Colds ever discovered. Sold by Druggists and Dealers at 35 and 75 cents.

By the use of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites the nerves become reinforced in strength, the stomach is made capable of digesting the food, the food changes to blood, the heart becomes strengthed to pump the blood, the lungs distribute and oxidize the blood, healthy blood displaces unhealthy muscle and tuberculous matter, the patient becomes vigorous and then by using his constitution as intended by a beneficent Creator, he may live up to the ripe old age, when like the corn ready for harvest he drops from the husk.

Prudent Stock Speculations.

The Stock Exchange never presented such an admirable condition for profitable and rapid stock operations. There never before have been so many fortunes made by quick fluctuations and skillful manipulations. Careful and reasonable people only operate through the combination system of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which enables those with large or small means to invest and realize handsome profits, which are divided pro rata among the shareholders every thirty days. New combinations are constantly forming. From $25 to $10,000 can be safely invested with splendid opportunities for quick profits. An Illinois grain dealer made $13,220.41 in two investments. A Michigan farmer invested $50, which yielded $433.14. He made by three reinvestments over $3000. A Wisconsin country merchant made $4,249.16 in four combinations; and others have done equally as well. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1879.

Annual Report of Comptroller Knox.

From the report of Comptroller of the Currency Knox it appears that the total number of national banks organized from the establishment of the national banking system, Febuary 25, 1873, to November 1 of the present year, is 2438. Of these 307 have gone into voluntary liquidation and 81 have been placed in the hands of receivers, leaving 2050 in operation. Since the last report 38 banks have been organized with an aggregate capital of $3,695,000, to which $2,390,440 in circulating notes have been issued. Thirty-eight banks, with an aggregate capital of $4,450,000, have voluntarily discontinued business within the same period, and eight banks have failed, having a total capital of $1,040,000.

The total number of banks in the country on June 14, was 6360, with a total banking capital of $656,485,895, and total deposits of $1,893,526,474. The capital of the various classes of banks has diminished from $719,400,000 in 1872 to $695,500,000 in 1879, and the aggregate deposits have fallen off from $2,075,300,000 in 1876 to $1,893,500,000 in 1879—a reduction of $62,900,000 in capital and $181,800,000 in deposits in the last four years. The national banking capital has diminished $45,100,000, but the deposits of the national banks are almost precisely the same as they were in 1876.

The sale of bonds, since 1871, under the refunding acts, was more than one thousand three hundred and ninety-five millions of dollars. There have also been sold for resumption purposes, twenty-five millions of fours, and sixty-five millions of four and a half per cents.

The reduction on the interest-bearing debt of the United States, from its highest point, on August 31, 1865, to November 1, 1879, is $583,885,594, of which amount $105,160,000 was accomplished since the refunding operations were commenced on May 1, 1871. At the highest point the annual interest on the debt was $150,977,697, while it is now $83,773,778. There has therefore, been a total reduction in this charge of $67,203,919. The total annual reduction of interest under these refunding operations since March, 1877, has been $14,297,176, while the saving on this account, growing out of the operations of the present year alone, is $8,803,707, and the total annual saving in all the refunding operations of the government since 1871 is $19,907,607. These funding transactions are believed to be without parallel in financial history.

The estimated total amount of currency November 1 was $1,165,553,504, which amount is 380 millions in excess of the highest amount reached between the times of suspension and resumption.

The chief of the bureau of statistics furnishes the following statement: The aggregate excess of the value of exports of merchandise from January to August, 1879, was $140,285,688, as against an excess for the same months of 1878 amounting to $188,605,224. During September and October, however, our exports of merceandise have again increased.

News and Notes.

A sad accident occurred at Millbury, Mass., on Thanksgiving day. Three young girls, Jane Smith, aged twelve years, and Josephine and Adelaide Bieso, aged twelve and fifteen years, respectively, went upon Howard's pond to skate, when they ventured upon some thin ice in the middle of the pond, broke through and were drowned before assistance could be rendered. Their bodies were found soon after, close together.

Mrs. Charles Upton of Ansonia, Conn., has been fatally burned by the explosion of a kerosene lamp, which was upset by her drunken husband.

Patrick Wren, forty-five years old, has been arrested at Providence, R. I., for circulating obscene literature among the school children. Nearly four hundred vile circulars were found concealed in his bed.

The two-year-old child of Charles Houghtaling of Great Barrington, Mass., was burned to death Nov. 22d. The nurse had placed it on a chair by the side of the fire while she went out to milk, and on her return the clothes were all burned off the infant and the baby burned to crisp. It died within two hours.

Negotiations between foreign and domestic bankers and Wm. H. Vanderbilt for the purchase of $25,000,000 New York Central stock have been successfully concluded in New York.

The verdict of the board of United States steam inspectors relative to the collision of steamer Champion and ship Lady Octavia was against the steamer, owing to the absence of a lookout on the Champion, the man assigned to that duty having been called away from his post to assist in setting a topsail by the mate, R. H. Leonard. The latter was lost. The owners of the Lady Octavia will probably bring a suit against the owners of the Champion for damages.

The contagiousness of diphtheria is noted by the St. Albans, Vt., Messenger, which says: "A few weeks ago a family of three children in this town had the diphtheria, but made good recovery. After they had been well and about the streets for two weeks, they went to Fairfield, and visited in four families. At that time there was no diphtheria in Fairfield, but since then it has broken out in each of those four families."

Mrs. Nathaniel Greene of Middletown, R. I., who married the son of Gen. Nathaniel Greene of Revolutionary fame, celebrated her 96th birthday a few days ago, being surrounded by a large number of relatives and friends. The aged and highly respected lady is in the full enjoyment of all her faculties, and entertained her friends in a very delightful manner.

The Other Side.

A good deal of fault having been found with Secretary Thompson of the navy for turning into the treasury a large sum of money, while at the same time sending to sea ships which need repairing, the following statement is made:

"The action of the secretary of the navy in saving $1,500,000, as mentioned in his report, has met with disfavor among contractors. Some of them think he should have bought more lumber for ships, and others that he should have expended more money for labor. The government has on hand over 3,000,000 feet of lumber suitable for building, which is sufficient to construct twenty-five ships. Out of the appropriation for this purpose but $17,000 was saved. Out of the appropriation for labor there remain but a few thousand dollars. Those who criticise Secretary Thompson's manner of expending the public money ignore the fact that Congress appropriates a certain sum for each bureau of the navy, and that it would be illegal for the secretary of the navy to deflect one dollar so appropriated from one bureau to another. The entire trouble of Secretary Robeson was due to the fact that he failed to carry out the acts of Congress in this respects."

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The congregational church at Kittery point has been neatly painted on the outside, and presents a fine appearance.

A secret society of a new order was organized at Odd Fellows' hall, Kittery, on the evening of Nov. 25th. It is designated "York Tent, No. 159, Knights of Maccabees." This order was first instituted in Canada, where most of its societies now are.

A correspondent of the Great Falls Free Press, writing from South Berwick a day or two before Thanksgiving, says: "Owing to the fatal diseases prevailing among the turkeys in this vicinity, prices have ruled unusually high this week." From this we infer that the stories about the great mortality among turkeys in Kittery and York, although partially contradicted, were in the main correct.

The Freewill Baptist society at Kittery point, which has been laboring under a heavy debt since the completion of its church, is now making strenuous efforts to pay it up. The debt, which is about $3,000, is expected to be raised as follows: The mortgagee generously gives $1000; Home Missionary society, $200; Foreign Missionary society, $200; six pews (already sold) at $100 each, $600; Ladies' social circle, $300; and individual members of the society, $700.

It seems that it was in our neighboring town of York that the poet Whittier first saw the original Maud Muller; while driving through the shady roads with his sister, the sedate bachelor stopped to enquire the way from a bare-footed damsel who was raking hay in her father's field by the road-side. If any of our lady readers in York remember to have seen in childhood's happy hour a slim and modest quaker with a prim and quiet feminine in the chaise, who enquired the way to Agamenticus, she can be sure that she is the heroine of Whittier's beautiful poem. It was on a warm July day. John said to her "Wilt thou tell me the way?" and she wilted.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

AROUND HOME.

They are cheaper to-day.

Hope you didn't overload.

Holden is holding forth to large crowds nightly in Mechanics' hall.

Mrs. Caroline Williams of Exeter has just received a pension, with back pay amounting to $1649.60.

Defeat is not always to the vanquished; there was groaning in the camp of the victors, Thursday night.

Over three hundred dollars' worth of poultry was disposed of by raffle in this city on the evening before Thanksgiving day.

A fleet of about fifty coasters was at anchor on Friday afternoon in the lower harbor, put in on account of the bad weather.

Parties gathering evergreen in the neighboring woods on Friday last found bunches of May flowers, with blossoms fully open.

Mr. David Welsh is putting in an oven at his new place on Hanover street, for the purpose of carrying on a general bakery business.

Hon. Marcellus Eldredge and family have arrived home from Hot Springs, Arkansas, where they have been sojourning for the past six weeks.

On Friday afternoon Mr. John Langdon, employed in the malt house connected with the Jones brewery, fell through a trap-hatch and dislocated his shoulder.

A large crowd watched the hoisting of the heavy wooden beams to the top of Franklin block, Friday. The beams will be used in the construction of the trusses to support the roof.

The sportsmen at Kittery foreside had a shooting match on Thanksgiving day, turkeys and geese being the targets. It is a question whether the fowls or the spectators were most astonished.

Mr. Henry A. Yeaton is putting up a building on Bridge street, near the engine house of the Portsmouth & Concord railroad, for the storage of grain. Rails will be laid from the main track to the grain storehous.

The revised estimates for fortifications to be submitted to Congress will recommend the appropriation of $60,000 for continuing work on the batteries at Gerrish's island and Jerry's point. Ten thousand dollars is recommended for continuing the improvements in this harbor.

The Dover Democrat of Nov. 26th says: "City workmen while digging this morning found the ground frozen to the depth of twelve inches. That's pretty deep so early in the season. At the same time Gen. Hoitt came in from Durham and said the farmers were ploughing their land out there."

The new sign of Edward S. Fay on Congress street, which glistens over the door of his clothing establishment, is the work of Edward D. Coffin, painter on Penhallow street, and it's greatly to his credit that, being unable to secure the services of a carver, he himself carved the letters with his own hand, and then put the artistic touches thereto. Coffin knows how to do it. Fay's store front has also been nicely painted in bronze green and black.

On Thanksgiving day a young lady and gentleman who were skating on the north pond got on thin ice, and broke through. There were several hundred persons on the pond, and the accident caused great excitement for a time; other parties hastened to the rescue, and one after another broke through until there were eight or nine wet men there. Finally the young lady, and those of the men who could not get out unaided, were rescued by two railroad hands.

At about ten o'clock on Thanksgiving forenoon, while the family were attending church, fire broke out in the large barn of Capt. Samuel Bragdon at Wells, which communicated to his large two-story house, and both structures were soon entirely destroyed. The entire contents of the barn, including a yoke of oxen, two cows, a horse and a number of hogs, were burned up. A portion of the household goods were saved. The origin of the fire is not known.

The Eastern railroad freight business is double that of last year, and the passenger traffic is rapidly increasing.

Mr. Albee closed his course of lectures in Concord, on the English language and literature, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 25th.

Churches were thinly attended Thanksgiving day, and the fulminations of eloquent pastors reverberated to "empty benches" and lonesome choirs.

The Portsmouth Brewing company have elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Wm. Ward; treasurer, George Bilbruck; clerk and salesman, Wm. H. Palmer.

The yacht of the Humbug Yachting and Fishing association was placed in winter quarters on Thursday last, after a most successful season of pleasant excursions, not one regular trip being missed from April 20th to Nov. 16th, inclusive.

A guard was placed at the entrance to the National block on Thursday of this week, to keep out the too inquisitive throng that otherwise would have overrun the building, hindering the workmen, and possibly letting out the "goat" which Messrs. Craig, Gardiner and others have smuggled into the new Odd Fellows' hall.

The musical service on Thanksgiving day at St. John's church was quite elaborate, consisting of the following numbers:

Laudate Dominum.....Dr. Monk
Kyrie eleison.....Tours
Gloria Tibi.
Te Deum.....Stephens
Sanctus.....Tours
Eucharistic Hymn.
Gloria in excelsis.....Tours
Anthem: "Ye shall dwell in the land,"....Barnby
Processional: Harvest Tide Thanksgiving, Barnby

A ball took place at Annapolis naval academy on Wednesday evening, Nov. 26th. Secretary Thompson's daughters and other young ladies went from Washington in the afternoon, with Lieutenants Reamy and Taunt of the navy. "Mind, my girls," remarked the cautious cabinet minister, as he left the house early in the morning to go to the department and figure down the estimates, "be careful that you do not exceed the appropriations."

Thanksgiving passed quietly enough; no public places of amusement were open; the ponds were not considered safe for skaters, though some ventured upon them and got off without accident; a little drunkenness was perceptible on the streets late in the evening, and one or two rows on Water street made up the out-door record for the day. Of course there were many family reunions, happy ones too, most of them, the absent ones returning more generally this year than ever before.

The sidewalk committee was largely augmented Thanksgiving day by transient citizens, who gazed with wonder on the transformation going on in Congress street. One gentleman remarked that the last time he was in Portsmouth the Bell tavern, Franklin house and National hotel were the prominent features of this street; now all these have disappeared, and in their places handsome business blocks have been or are being erected. Well, it does seem as if there was some vitality left in old Portsmouth yet.

It was stated a week or two ago that a lodge of a new order, the Knights of Atlantis, was soon to be established in this city, the order being something on the plan of the Knights of Honor, Royal Arcanum and other modern organizations, a kind of mutual life insurance company. The Boston papers report that M. P. Burr, of Washington, D. C., who came to Boston several weeks ago as agent of the grand encampment of Knights of Atlantis, and has since initiated many members and established two lodges in that city, has left Boston without going through the formality of paying his hotel and other bills. The grand encampment of the order has revoked the appointment of Burr as deputy grand commander, and directed that charges be prefered against him for misappropriation of funds and conduct unbecoming a gentleman and Knight of Atlantis.

The Dover Democrat gives as the reason for the small vote received by Elvin C. Kinnear, the democratic candidate for mayor of Dover at the recent election, the fact that he is a prohibitionist as well as a democrat. It says: "This election shows what the fanatical one-idea ramrods can do when they set out. Mayor Guppey didn't suit them, and the democratic caucus nominated Mr. Kinnear on purpose to suit them and beat Mr. Guppey, if they could. The result was, about all the republicans voted for Guppey and nearly half of the democrats refused to vote for Mr. Kinnear. So with the aldermen; the majority elected yesterday, and majority of the board, are decidedly opposed to the rule of the ramrods, and will re-elect all the old policemen at the word go. Mr. Kinnear is a very good man, but he could neither command the democratic strength nor secure aid of any consequence from the republicans which some expected he would on account of his temperance principles."

THANKSGIVING DAY AT THE JAIL.

Mr. Editor: The kind heart of Sheriff Kent is ever showing itself, and Thanksgiving day was an occasion for this characteristic trait to crop out, by giving the prisoners a fine roast-chicken dinner that any family need not spurn. After dinner a party among the prisoners sent word to Mr. Kent that if agreeable they would give an entertainment, whereupon Mrs. Kent, (as usual desiring others to enjoy the pleasures of life with her,) sent out to some of her neighbors an invitation to attend. At half past four o'clock the audience gathered in the corridor, and five of the prisoners came into the hallway of the jail, two of them with violins, one with "bones," and one, a colored boy, with an improvised tambourine, and gave a concert consisting of songs, Irish ballads, negro ballads, jig and clog dancing and walk-arounds, that were remarkably amusing and interesting.

A song, written by one of the prisoners and entitled "Portsmouth jail," was encored and profusely applauded, and I hope to get the words for you if possible. A very pathetic song, the "Honest Irish lad," was a beautiful thing; the singer has a fine tenor voice, and sang it with a pathos that was charming. Among the singers was a bass voice that would be a most acceptable addition to many of our city choirs. The programme was as varied as heart could wish. The audience was "small but appreciative," for among them I saw one of the finest musical teachers in the State, and two ex-members of one of our church choirs, who repeatedly encored the artists.

After an entertainment of an hour and a half, the ladies thanked the performers, by proxy, by informing them that they had attended public concerts in our halls of amusement that did not equal the Thanksgiving day entertainment in Portsmouth jail. REVILO.

THE VAUGHAN STREET EXTENSION.

Mr. Editor:—The city authorities have been asked to lay out a new road commencing at the northerly end of Vaughan street, extending through the Raynes shipyard to Elm street at the north millbridge, which means the extension of the sewers, etc., making it a very expensive job for the city to undertake for so slight an advantage.

Why should the city or the petitioners favor such a plan, when a much better one would be for the city to consult with the railroad authorities and for a smaller sum than would be required for the proposed new highway, the railroad folks (who by the way contemplate improvement of their premises) might allow the extension of Elm street through their depot premises to Deer street? the railroad managers in the meantime making preparations for a new depot and eating house to the westward of the present one, (which is not satisfactory to them,) and possibly joining with the Concord railroad in a union depot, and using the present station belonging to the Concord road for a joint freight depot.

I venture to say that there is material enough in the present building to make a modern depot, (by modern I mean one that will not fill with smoke on every arrival of a train,) and for the sum which would be expended for the proposed alteration to the present station for a dining room, and the sum which might be awarded for land damages, a building could be built which would be a credit to the railroad and an adornment to the city.

The extension of Elm street to Deer street would do away with the necessity of the proposed extension through the Raynes shipyard, would afford a much better avenue across the tracks, the railroad would have some good property on Deer street eastward of the proposed Elm street extension, and Elm street would be in a condition to extend, at some future day, to Middle street,—and then we should have an avenue (which might be called Lafayette) extending from Rye, through Lafayette road, Middle, Elm, and North streets and the North road to Newington, many miles long. M.

"SAVE ME FROM MY FRIENDS."

Ed. Chronicle: Your paper of Thursday, in an article over the signature of "" accuses "W." of a mistake as to fact, and by implication of being prompted in his course by "supposed individual wrongs."

"W." was right in saying that the counsel referred to held the office of clerk of the Portsmouth & Dover road at the time stated. He was therefore a principal in the sense used. He knew, or the duties of his office should have made him know, what the directors were doing; at least to know whether they were so acting as to invalidate their charter; whether the conditions precedent, the performance of which were necessary to the life of their act of incorporation, had been fulfilled or not. If not, then the writer holds that the act incorporating this road was strangled in the house of its friends, before birth.

The writer is charged with personal motives. Even were it so, what a lame and puerile charge; what bearing has the motive of an accuser upon his statement of facts? It is as if the counsel of a gang of convicted burglars claimed that his clients should go free because they were brought to the bar of justice by the owner of the house they had rifled! There is less difference between the real case and the illustration than may appear without full examination.

It has been said—it will bear repetition—that an act of incorporation is incomplete, inchoate, until the conditions precedent prescribed by law have been performed. If this is not sound, better alter the statutes. In this Portsmouth & Dover road case these conditions never were performed. What then is the status of its stockholders? Allow this case to go unwhipt of justice and it becomes a precedent, and chaos is come again.

Possibly after a while the community may learn that a wrong done to its humblest member, whether by legitimate or usurped power, is done to the community, and had better be looked after when an individual's ox is gored; otherwise, as in this case, the goring of the public ox will be pretty sure to follow. W.

A JOLLY THANKSGIVING.

As many are aware, our honored Ex-Mayor Jonathan Dearborn has not been as well during the fall months as usual; but for the past few weeks he has appeared particularly bright, and therefore his son, Mr. Frank E. Dearborn, conceived the idea of having an old folks' Thanksgiving dinner and an open house for the day, and a more jolly time can hardly be imagined than that at No. 17 Summer street. Among the guests at dinner were Mr. Dearborn's brother, Edmund E. B. Dearborn, Esq., Ex-Librarian of the New England Historical & Genealogical Register at Boston; Mr. Hyrum Ricker, proprietor of the Poland springs of Poland, Me., with whom Mr. Dearborn has spent so many summers; Jonathan Robinson, Esq., of North Hampton, and David Dearborn, of Portsmouth, neither of whom allow a good jest to grow stale in their keeping. During the afternoon the coming and going of the boys of sixty and seventy years ago was continuous, and only by the white heads would you think them older now than then. Of the many coming and going we cannot particularize, but among the last was "Capt. Bob," who we believe is some kin to "Brother Ben" of the "Partington" family; he just stepped in to say that owing to certain pressing business he could not come; but not having any one to send the message by, he brought it himself. With all it was as jolly a party as has congregated in our midst for many a day; and we hope that the future generations may, when they come to be the "white headed fathers," be equally happy, and worthy, —and may the present few among us enjoy still coming Thanksgiving days as much as they did that of this year. Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have specifically and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

HUMORS ON A CHILD

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—My little one, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, ear, cheek, neck, and side of the head. It must have itched and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface at the time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully,

JOHN L. SURRY,
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be render soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS.

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "We are so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works to a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

PRICKLY HEAT.

Incidental to the Texas Climate.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, especially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am holding it about.

Yours truly,
THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.

MASON, TEXAS, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruff and keeps the scalp clean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is also applied in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is peculiarly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is Toilet as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any yet prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of most at $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

The World for 1880.

Democrats everywhere should inform themselves carefully alike of the action of their party throughout the country and of the movements of their Republican opponents. A failure to do this in 1876 contributed greatly to the loss by the Democracy of the fruits of the victory fairly won at the polls.

The year 1880 promises to be one of the most interesting and important years of this crowded and eventful century. It will witness a Presidential election which may result in re-establishing the Government of this country on the principles of its constitutional founders, or in permanently changing the relations of the States to the Federal power. No intelligent man can regard such an election with indifference. The World, as the only daily English newspaper published in the city of New York which upholds the doctrine of constitutional Democracy, will steadily represent the Democratic party in the great canvass. It will do this in no spirit of servile partisanship, but temperately and firmly.

As a newspaper the World, being an organ of no man, no clique and no interest, will present the fullest and the fairest pictures it can make of each day's passing history in the city, the State, the country and the world. It will aim hereafter, therefore, at accuracy first of all things in all that it publishes. No man, however humble, shall ever be permitted truly to complain that he has been unjustly cheated or libelled in the columns of the World. No interest, however powerful, shall ever be permitted truly to boast that it can silence the fair criticism of the World.

During the past season the World has seen its daily circulation trebled and its weekly circulation pushed far beyond that of any other weekly newspaper in the country. This great increase has been won, as the World believes, by truthfulness, enterprise, ceaseless activity in collecting news and unfaltering loyalty to itself and to its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It is our hope and it will be our endeavor that the World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of this Indissoluble Union of Indestructible States.

The Sun for 1880.

The Sun will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1st until December 31st it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

As a newspaper, the Sun believes in getting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable the readers to get the substance of the news with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interest in the greatest number—that is the law controlling daily journalism. It now has a circulation very much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it is at all times prepared to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read the Sun; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs, the Sun believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, guided by generous American principles and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what is good and reprobate what is evil, taking no heed to the bargains or to the point, and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood. It is uninfluenced by motives that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with two cents. It bakes injustice and rascality even more than it hates unnecessary words. It abhors frauds, piles fools, and delegates blockheads and mere talkers to the dry goods. It abhors humbugs and name plate are nickel plated, making it very attractive for the home. The top is less likely to crack, being double.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once deterred himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is a fool who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his success, attention and popularity therefrom increased throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturdays, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases, caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and secure regular healthful action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

CATARRH

Of Ten Years' Duration. The Discharges Thick, Bloody, and Foul. Odor. Senses of Smell and Taste Wholly Gone. Entirely Cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a foul odor so bad that my presence in a room with other was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was so troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours truly,

MELBOURNE H. FORD.

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE received is right all right. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have used the Nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to stop the offensive discharge, I have not been able to recover my senses of taste and smell until tried SANFORD'S CURE. You can refer any one to me if you choose to do so, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has done to me.

Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., NOV. 13, 1878.

Chronicle Correspondence.

BOSTON, Nov. 26, 1879.

We have had some musical sensations of late at the Hub, and you know how we delight in musical sensations! Among other things we have had with us—as they say at Sunday-school concerts—the great and glorious author of the "Pinafore" music, Dr. Arthur Sullivan, whom we have feted and toasted, and wined and dined to our heart's content, and, presumedly to his stomach's.

Dr. Arthur Sullivan "is an Englishman," most pronouncedly; a little, short, fat, bullet-headed, good-natured John Bull, with a glass in his right eye, a baton in his right hand, and a remarkable "ear for music." His visit to Boston was made for the express purpose of leading the Handel & Haydn society and the Germania orchestra in the "Prodigal Son," which was given a couple of evenings ago at the first concert of the season of this our famous society, which is over sixty years old, and contains, I believe, about 600 active members who lend their voices to swell the chorus. Our Germania orchestra, too, is one of which any city might well be proud, but the acute-eared conductor was by no means easy on them, insisting upon a thoroughness of rehearsal which should give the finish of absolute perfection to every note. The result was a very fine interpretation of this beautiful work, which, nevertheless, is not a powerful one, and will never give the author the fame that his lighter composition has done.

The great Music hall was crowded, however, as it always is, of late, at the Handel & Haydn concerts. There can be no doubt whatever, that the better and purer classes of music are very rapidly gaining in their hold upon the people of this country, just as are the other fine arts. Everything shows it. Unquestionably much of this change in opinion concerning music, has been wrought by the conservatory system of study which has flourished here for the last fifteen or twenty years, bringing the possibility of a classical education in music to the common people, who would probably never have discovered that they had a particle of talent under the old expensive system of private study, and who certainly could not have developed such a germ, even if accident had revealed it to them. The conservatories have done for music, what the introduction of systematic drawing into every grade of public schools has done for art; both have been thus brought to the attention and within the grasp of the million.

I was reminded of this while listening to the various instrumental and vocal numbers of the programme of the first quarterly concert for the season, of the N. E. Conservatory, which occurred at Music hall a day or two ago. The hall was as completely filled as it was at the Handel & Haydn concert, being packed with humanity in every part. The ladies and gentlemen whose names were on the programme chanced to be all young and pretty—of course that adjective refers only to the ladies—and this, with the dainty costumes, added to the effect produced by these musical efforts, which were really, in almost every instance, remarkably successful. The organ, piano and violin were the instruments chosen, the latter being represented by a blooming, graceful young girl, not yet out of her teens, who is already an artist of acknowledged talent and skill. The vocal numbers were all good, but the best was the "Spinning-wheel quartette" from "Martha," which was finely given by a mixed quartette from the artists' class, the members of which are taught Italian, gestures, facial expression, vocal culture, and all that is necessary to qualify a professional singer for his or her business in life, and which, until recently, one had to go abroad to learn.

Not a week passes that a number of new books are not issued from the publishing houses of Boston, and everybody is specially interested in them, too, just now before the holidays. A package has just arrived from Messrs. Lee & Shepard, and the first in the number is another of George H. Calvert's biographic studies, the immortal Shakespeare being the subject. Everything that Mr. Calvert writes is good; his facts are reliable, and he has a genial, sunny way of treating a topic peculiarly his own. They who cannot read ordinary biographical matter—and they are many, even among intelligent people—take up his little volumes with delight. The first which he brought out, four or five years ago, was, I believe, on Goethe. This was called an essay, but in effect it was much the same happy mixture of æsthetic study and biographic sketch as were those which followed from time to time, having for their subjects, Charlotte Von Stein, (Goethe's life-long friend and counsellor); Wordsworth the poet; Rubens the master-artist, and others. These works are all published in uniform style, and have made for themselves and their author a fame which this last one will do much to increase.

Russian stories have been all the rage of late, but they have reached us English-speaking people mostly in the form of translations from the French, German, Russian and other languages. But now we have one, and a fascinatingly-interesting one, by an author of our own, H. W. French. "Castle Foam, or the Heir of Meerschaum," is one of the most exciting, though well-written, novels of the season.

Of the three books for young people which complete my list for to-day—all of which came in the package from Lee & Shepard—the most valuable is the third of George M. Towle's "Heroes of History" series, "Magellan, or the First Voyage Round the World." "Vasco da Gama" and "Pizarro" have preceded; "Marco Polo" is in press; others are in preparation; and every parent who would give his boys and girls books at once interesting and instructive, will not fail to secure every number of the set.

From the pen of J. T. Trowbridge, a favorite with young people, comes a volume of bright, sparkling stories, called "Young Joe and Other Boys;" and from that of Rev. Daniel Wise, D. D., comes the third of the "Winwood Cliff" series, "Roderick Ashcourt," a story showing how a manly boy and a noble girl bravely battled with great troubles. ROBIN.

How It Was Done.

Interesting details continue to come to hand concerning the way Mississippi was kept "solid" for the democratic party. As the information comes entirely from the democratic journals of Mississippi it will not be possible to dispose of it by the familiar process of branding it as a "pack of radical lies." In the counties of Rankin, Jasper and Yazoo, the "best citizens" filled themselves with whiskey, and marched up and down the streets by the polling places yelling like madmen, and firing their revolvers in the air. The Brandon Record says:

In Brandon, we acknowledge it with shame, the streets were filled with the most outrageous drunkenness. In Jasper, in some precincts, drunkenness reigned supreme. In Claiborne, the ballot-box was kicked out of the house by desperadoes; at Cooks Mills, independent tickets were arrested in the hands of a white man, the man's jaws slapped, and the life of his son threatened; in Paulding, a negro was beaten down in the streets, and reported dead on the roadside some distance from the town the next day; and at an early hour of the day following the election, a crowd of countrymen, numbering some ten or a dozen, came in town on full gallop on horseback, armed with double-barelled shotguns and clubs, yelling like hyenas, and, dismounting, stacked their bludgeons and guns in the court-house, ready to see that the nominated ticket was elected.

The Vicksburg Herald, which like the Brandon Record is a democratic paper, has the following:

We heard that as many as fifty shots were fired near the polls in Yazoo City. We have heard that fusillades of shots were fired at different points nearly all over the county during the few days just before the election, and that a general determination was expressed to carry the election at all hazards. The Silver Creek box was sent to the precinct without the pollbooks and other necessaries to hold the election, and only contained two pens and an inkstand, and was so returned to Yazoo City. We have no doubt the returns as procured and compiled show that the Bourbons carried the county; but was the election such an one as the civilized world would pronounce free, fair and honest? If it was not, it was merely the temporary triumph of perjury, fraud and violence.

What a delight it must be to the northern democrat to know that all this fun was allowed to go on without the interference of the "shadow of a Federal bayonet" on a free and untrammelled ballot-box!

What the Bavarian Congressman Thinks.

Congressman Morse, of Boston, said recently in Washington to a local reporter that Butler would not run for governor of Massachusetts again. "He's coming over into my district," Mr. Morse went on, "to run for Congress next fall." "Can you beat him?" "Yes," Mr. Morse replied, "I can beat him, that is if I run again. But there is no telling what'll happen meantime. You know the election is a year off, and there's apoplexy and other things that may happen meantime."

News and Notes.

Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, announces that he will attempt to illuminate on Christmas eve all the houses in Menlo Park with his electric light, which he claims to have perfected. His burners will be attached to the gas chandeliers, and the wires will be run along the outside of the gas pipes. He says that the gas companies may reduce their rates, and reduce them again, and he will still be able to undersell them. He says that he will issue a great number of invitations, far and wide, to his Christmas eve exhibition.

Amelia Linkshaw, who shot her seducer, Edward Hartman, dead, was acquitted and discharged in court at Charlotte, N. C., Thursday.

Ada Clifton, an actress, fatally shot herself at a bal masque in the Opera house at Cincinnati on Thursday night.

Michael Birtle, a "knobstick" spinner at Fall River, Mass., during the late strike, was found by the police late Thursday night stabbed in eight places. George Riley, a black-listed spinner, who was arrested for an assault during the labor troubles, was arrested by the police for stabbing Birtle.

Stephen Walker of Providence, R. I., while gunning Thursday, received a charge of buckshot through his arm by the premature discharge of his gun. His case is critical, as he may lose the limb if not his life.

A special train on the New York & New England railroad collided with a hand car in Providence, R. I., on Thursday, instantly killing Michael McGrath and John Noon, their five companions barely escaping with their lives by leaping from the car. The accident was the result of a violation of the running rules by the man in charge of the hand car. The victims leave large families.

Asa Magoon was hanged in the prison at Windsor, Vt., on Friday. To the last he persisted in declaring that he did not murder Streeter, and made a rambling speech on the gallows, in which he charged the murder upon Mrs. Perrin, a woman whom he visited in company with Streeter on the night of the murder.

Charles Crowley, Frank Maher and Cornelius Sullivan, three young roughs of New York city, have been arrested for stoning Mrs. Harry Forse to death in Cherry street.

During the last year the life-saving service succored at the different stations 371 ship-wrecked persons; the number of persons brought ashore from wrecked vessels was 412. In addition, the life-saving crews assisted off when stranded, and got out of dangerous positions, eighty-nine vessels. There are 172 stations, of which thirty-six are on the Atlantic, twenty on the lakes, and six on the Pacific.

Joseph Volkener and his wife Mary are under arrest in New York on a charge made by Chas. E. Blair of Webster, Mass., and doing business at Chatham Four Corners, N. Y., of having attempted to poison him on the 26th inst.

A tornado, accompanied by a deluge of rain, struck Louisville, Ky., on Friday, causing great damage to property. Several buildings were completely demolished.

John N. Buzzell, who murdered his illegitimate infant in the woods at Maldes, Mass., has recently retracted his plea of not guilty, and by advice of his counsel is willing to plead guilty of murder in second the degree. The district attorney, however, has decided not to accept the proposed plea, but Buzzell will be arraigned for murder in the first degree.

James Low was arrested at Portland on Friday night for the murder of his brother Joseph, who was killed in his barn at West Cumberland, Me., Sept. 27th. Low owns to the crime. It will be remembered that the murdered man was found dead in his barn, with his head split open with an axe, and his throat cut.

The grand opera house in Toronto was burned Friday night, and the janitor and his wife and daughter were burned to death.

Mukhtar Pasha, the noted Turkish commander, is reported to have been massacred on the 27th ult. in Albania with his body-guard of seventy men. Mukhtar was the leader who held Kars from April 29th to November 19th, 1877, against the Russian army.

At North Adams, Mass., Friday evening, a boy named Harry Burke, thirteen years old, bought a revolver, and meeting another boy of about the same age, named Lannon, shot him in the head and then ran away. The young ruffian was arrested and held for examination, and to await the result of Lannon's wound.

In Chaplin, Ky., a negro named Kelly was persuaded by a negro woman to murder one Kate Miller, for the purpose of selling her body for dissection. He killed the woman with an axe, Thursday night, but a boy saw him and gave the alarm; when the neighbors arrived they found the cabin on fire, and Kelly lying in the doorway with his throat cut.

King Alfonso of Spain and Maria Christina of Austria were married on Saturday at Madrid.

—A musical critic in Mississippi recently published the following under the head of "Piano Virtuoso!" "Another foreign piano-player has been imported. His name is Joseffrey, or something of that kind, and they do say in New York that he hauls off and hits the key-board the loveliest diff's ever heard."

—According to the investigations of a Russian professor, Dr. Monassein, singing is an excellent means of preventing consumption, and for the development and strengthening of the chest it is more efficient than even gymnastic exercises. On the other hand, whistling "Pinafore" has frequently a fatal effect.

AROUND HOME.

The beautiful snow! Where is it?

There is a dearth in the show business hereabouts.

Good weather for dealers in boots, shoes and rubbers, last week.

Rather lugubrious weather the children have had, during their few days vacation.

A good chance to get your fingers jammed by the storm doors at the post-office.

Kent's preying band always keep in time, and never sing outside the bars. There is no danger of any member throwing up his engagement, and leaving before his time expires.

Frank Miller was drowned at Gloucester last week, while drunk. We are glad of it, for so disgracing the name and himself. Frank Jones of Suncook was also arrested for stealing, as all thieves ought to be, great as well as small.—Weekly.

On Friday evening last the shareholders of the schooners John Bracewell and Charles H. Trickey, of Dover, had a meeting, and a semi-annual dividend of ten per cent was declared payable Dec. 1st.

A new monthly paper, devoted to the propagation of liberal ideas and methods in morals and religion, and called "The Rising Faith," is to be started in Manchester within a few days. Rev. James DeNormandie of this city will be one of the associate editors.

"Marion's Day-Dreams," which we have before referred to as being written by a young lady of this city, will be ready for delivery to subscribers about the middle of December. It is published by Lee & Shepard of Boston in very handsome style, and will make a nice Christmas present.

By special request, Rev. James DeNormandie on Sunday repeated his Thanksgiving sermon on the attitude of the Roman Catholic church toward the common school system of the United States. The sermon is to be printed. Rev. E. M. Grant also repeated by request his Thanksgiving sermon, on Sunday evening.

The Congregationalist, speaking of Rev. Edward A. Rand, who has recently taken the first step toward entering the ministry in the Episcopal church, says "He had already severed his connection with the Suffolk South association, whose hearty respect and good will he takes with him. We wish him great happiness and the highest usefulness in his new relations. He is a man of such spirit and temper as to make and keep friends wherever he goes."

The celebration of the seventy-seventh anniversary of the Mechanics' association to-morrow (Tuesday) evening promises to be a brilliant event. The committee of arrangements have sent out several hundred invitations, and if the weather proves favorable their beautiful and commodious rooms will be thronged. The committee desire that the ladies of the association send in their contributions of flowers and pastry before 4 P. M., Tuesday, to be left either in the hall or board room of the association.

The new National block on Congress street is heated with steam, and the workmen in putting on the inside finish on a cold day can be as comfortable as at any season of the year. The finish and fitting of the rooms above stairs are second to none in the State in point of excellence and convenience. Indeed the National block is a structure concerning which the owner need have no fear, in placing his name upon the building, that any one can suggest any lack of pains or expense to made it the best built block in New Hampshire.

Messrs. Lowd Brothers, of Merrimac, Mass., have supplied several of our citizens with carriages, and are constantly receiving orders from this city and vicinity. From a lot of carriages sold here a year or two ago, there sprang up quite a trade with San Francisco, one of the carriages purchased having been sent there by one of the recipients, and an inspection of which was followed by an order for duplicates. The Lowd Brothers claim to build as good carriages as the country affords, and the purchasers in this city seem to be of that opinion, as they often repeat their orders. Their establishment is the principal one from whence come the best phaetons and most stylish wagons driven over our roads.

The aldermanic hearing on the proposed extension of Vaughan street will take place on the premises this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

There were two thousand one hundred and fifty names on the October pay-roll of the Eastern railroad, and it took $85,000 to pay their wages. The semi-annual dividend of the railroad foots up $11,081.

Superintendent Kimball, of the life-saving service, in his annual report recommends that ten new stations be established, one of them to be on Gerrish's island; also that the life-saving crews now organized be each strengthened by the addition of another man.

It is said that among the increased comforts to be enjoyed at the Wentworth next season, a passenger elevator will take guests to the top of the house. The rooms on the upper story will be as well finished and furnished as those upon the other floors, while the view upon all sides will be magnificent.

Awful times are at hand. In the year 542, over 100,000,000 persons perished because three planets were in perihelion, according to Gibbon, and in 1665 a similar perihelion produced the London plague, and the death of millions in Europe, Asia and Africa. In 1881 five planets will be in perihelion. What will become of us? class in astronomy, stand up.

A family consisting of seven persons that recently moved from this city to Rye, was found in a most destitute condition just before Thanksgiving, nothing but a little meal and a few potatoes being found in the house. As soon as this became known, families living in that vicinity contributed freely from their larders, and the poor but worthy family was well provided for.

The pay-roll of the Kearsarge mills foots up over $8000 a month for the regular operatives, in addition to which a greater or less number of occasional hands are every month employed. The regular force numbers about three hundred persons, and their expenditures at the various stores will probably reach $6000 per month; and the traders who enjoy their custom do not in any sense consider the mills "an injury rather than a benefit to the city," notwithstanding the assertion of the New England Grocer's correspondent that they do. The business men of the city would be glad to see a dozen more such mills in operation.

Two young Frenchmen at Dover are engaged in business as soap-makers. Friday morning one of the partners went to the shop, built a fire under the boiler, and went out; returning a half hour later he was astonished at hearing a tremendous rumpus in the boiler, and on taking off the lid discovered his mate in, there, and very uncomfortable. The parboiled man explained that he went to Salmon Falls on Thursday evening, got drunk, and in some way blundered home, into the manufactory and into the boiler, where he went to sleep, only waking when the boiler commenced to heat up. On being asked why he didn't stand up and take off the cover, he replied that he thought he was dead and in a place where the cover isn't so easily lifted off when the temperature becomes oppressive.

There were five vessels at the Concord railroad wharf on Saturday, and one at Pray's wharf, all but one having full cargoes on board. Among them was a schooner from Bangor with lumber for the new Amory mill at Manchester, and a beautiful barkentine, the Fanny H. Loring of Portland, with about 650 tons of coal on board. The schooner Laura V. Rose last week discharged at the navy yard 700 tons of coal, for the department of yards and docks, the officers of the yard, and parties in Kittery. The schooner Hattie Lewis, Capt. Garland, from Rockland with lime, and the Loella, Capt. Amee, from Bangor with lumber, arrived on Thanksgiving day, and both proceeded to Dover, their cargoes being for Converse & Hobbs of that city; the Hattie Lewis discharged her cargo on Friday, dropped down to Dover point, and commenced taking in a cargo of brick for Boston. The schooner Webster arrived on Thursday with fifty tons of plaster for Dover parties, reached Dover on Friday, discharged her cargo, and came down the river on the morning tide Saturday.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Nov. 29; Batchelder, J.

Daniel Harrington, for throwing snowballs at Wm. Sewell, was admonished by the court and the case then placed on file.

Wm. Kelly, same offence, (continued case,) case similarly disposed of.

RAT VS. ALLIGATOR.

A number of gold-fish, Mississippi craw-fish, and a trout weighing three quarters of a pound, have lately mysteriously disappeared from the aquarium of Mr. C. A. Hazlett. On Friday evening the thief was discovered, and found to be a large rat that had worked his way into the conservatory through the drain pipe. A loud rat-squealing and alligator-croaking was heard, and the rat was found a dozen feet from the aquarium, where he had succeeded in carrying the young alligator, up and down shelves filled with flower pots and plants. The rat was evidently suprised at the fighting and noisy qualities of this new kind of fish, but he would probably have been the victor had he not been discovered and clubbed. The alligator still lives, and is apparently not much the worse for the loss of blood and a few pieces of his tough hide.

G. A. R. INSPECTION.

D. R. Pierce of Great Falls, aid-de-camp to Department Commander George Bowers, paid an official visit to Storer Encampment, Post No. 1, G. A. R., of this city, on Friday evening, for the purpose of inspection. The work was exemplified at his request, and official business transacted. After the work was over Mr. Pierce addressed the members, complimenting them on the evident interest taken by them in advancing the time interests of the order, and giving them much information regarding the condition of the organization throughout the State; he also suggested some improvements in the work, and instructed the post as to some new points recently added. Remarks were also made by several members of the post, and the meeting was one of the best held since the re-organization. Several applications for membership were received. The post is in a flourishing condition, and its present members would gladly have all who were in either arm of the service during the late rebellion, and who so desire, to join with them in promoting the objects and honoring the precepts of the order.

P. & D. R. R.

Mr. Editor: One of your correspondents, who seems to be eager to defend the officials of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, maintains that the recent removal of an official and the substitution of one of political sympathy with the "administration" was done to make the political weight even! That is a high motive. What is needed is a hearty movement of all interests to extricate our city from the financial situation it is now placed in by this questionable investment. The corporation should be managed neither by one powerful master mind, nor by a clique of well-trained followers; but it is the affair of all the people, who should be represented in the direction. By-and-by, if disaster follows this outlay, it will be wondered why citizens generally took no more interest in this important expenditure, or paid so little heed as to who managed its affairs. A STALWART.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

An officer stationed at the navy yard made several hundreds last week by the rise of railroad stocks.

Mr. Samuel Dixon has this fall bought 4,000 barrels of apples in Eliot and Kittery, and shipped them to eastern Maine.

The fishing schooner Mary S. Hontvet went on the marine railway at Kittery on Saturday, for inspection, and repairs if needed.

Orlando C. Durgin of Kittery having issued a challenge to any man in Maine or Massachusetts to contest with him in a six-days "square heel and toe walk," Charles A. Harriman of Haverhill, Mass., accepts the challenge and terms, for a stake of $500 or $1000 per side.

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.

A BENEFACTRESS.

Just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will prove the American Florence Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are so sure, that we will teach our "Susy" to say, "A blessing on Mrs. Winslow" for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking, and teething siege. Mrs. Winslow's soothing Syrup relieves the child from pain, and cures dysentery and diarrhœa. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures wind colic, and carries the infant through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. Sold by all druggists, 25 cents a bottle. 1 is the number of my Trade Mark "RYE AND ROCK," and all infringements will be prosecuted. It is unequalled for Lung, Throat and Malarial Diseases, being Purely Vegetable and combining the excellence of the "Sugar Cane" and the "Choicest Cereals." Why take disagreeable drugs when this most Delicious Cordial will produce more satisfactory results? Sold by Druggists and Grocers. My signature is on every Genuine bottle. Price, $1.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

New Publications.

One of the ablest papers that comes to our table, is the New York World. It is the leading democratic paper of the country; its political energies are not exhausted in simply abusing its opponents, or in personal flings at members of other political parties; but its articles upon finance, government, and general topics are of a high order, and are read by the leading men of the country of all parties. Its English correspondence affords us a better knowledge of what transpires in the old world than do the European journals themselves; while upon political subjects at home we find the World to be entirely free from the control of all cliques or managers of any organizations or combinations. Indeed the World presents daily, an unrivalled variety of news, with literary, financial and political intelligence. The price of the daily, which reaches this city at half-past five o'clock P. M. on the day of publication, is $8 per year, not including the Sunday paper; with Sunday edition, $10. Weekly World, $1 per year.

As a light, mild beverage.

agreeable to the most delicate digestive organs, the cocoa preparations of Walter Baker & Co. are recommended to invalids and convalescents as well as to those in full health.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.

New Jersey Premium Wine.

Physicians state that the Port Wine that took the premium at the Centennial, produced and offered for sale by Mr. Alfred Speer, of New Jersey, is a wine that can be safely used for medicinal purposes, being pure and free from medication, and is more reliable than any other Port Wine. It is especially recommended for weekly females and the aged.

For sale by W. B. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

Eminent physicians indorse Adamson's Botanic Balsam as the safest and most effectual remedy for Coughs and Colds ever discovered.—Sold by Druggists and Dealers at 25 and 75 cents.

By the use of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites the nerves become reinforced in strength, the stomach is made capable of digesting the food, the food changes to blood, the heart becomes strengthed to pump the blood, the lungs distribute and oxidize the blood, healthy blood displaces unhealthy muscle and tuberculous matter, the patient becomes vigorous and then by using his constitution as intended by a beneficent Creator, he may live up to the ripe old age, when like the corn ready for harvest he drops from the husk.

—An agricultural exchange publishes an article boasting of "what a single bean can produce." It is amusing. Fired from a bean-shooter into a man's ear it can produce some of the worst language man is capable of uttering.

—A three-year-old little girl was taught to close her evening prayer, during the temporary absence of her father, with, "And please watch over papa." It sounded very sweet, but the mother's amazement may be imagined when the child added: "And you'd better keep an eye on mamma, too."

The Promoter and Perfector of Assimilation.

The Producer and Invigorator of Nerve and Muscle.

The Builder and Supporter of Brain Power.

Fellows' Compound Syrup is composed of Ingredients identical with those which constitute Healthy Blood, Muscle, and Nerve and Brain Substance, while Life itself is directly dependent upon some of them.

By its union with the blood and its effect upon the muscles, re-establishing the one and toning the other, it is capable of effecting the following results:

It will displace or wash out tuberculous matter, and thus cure Consumption.

By increasing Nervous and Muscular Vigor, it will cure Dyspepsia, feeble or interrupted action of the Heart and Palpitation, Weakness of Intellect caused by grief, worry, overtax, or irregular habits, Bronchitis—Acute or Chronic, Congestion of the Lungs, even in the most alarming stages.

It cures Asthma, Loss of Voice, Neuralgia, St. Vitus Dance, Epileptic Fits, Whooping Cough, Nervousness, and is a most wonderful adjunct to other remedies in sustaining life during the process of Diphtheria.

Do not be deceived by remedies bearing a similar name: no other preparation is a substitute for this under any circumstances.

Look out for the name and address J. I. FELLOWS, St. John, N. B., on the yello wrapper in watermark, which is seen holding the paper before the light.

Price, $1.50 per Bottle, six for $7.50.

Sold by all Druggists.

THE New Hampshire Gazette

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and his vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

Contains more original matter

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

The World for 1880.

Democrats everywhere should inform themselves carefully alike of the action of their party throughout the country and of the movements of their Republican opponents. A failure to do this in 1876 contributed greatly to the loss by the Democracy of the fruits of the victory fairly won at the polls.

The year 1880 promises to be one of the most interesting and important years of the recent presidential century. It will witness a Presidential election which may result in re-establishing the Government of the Union on the principles of its constitutional founders, or in permanently changing the relations of the States to the Federal power. No intelligent man can regard such an election with indifference. The World, as the only daily English newspaper published in the city of New York which upholds the doctrines of constitutional Democracy, will steadily represent the Democratic party in this great canvass. It will do this in no spirit of servile partisanship, but temperately and firmly.

As a newspaper the World, being an organ of no man, no clique and no interest, will present the fullest and the fairest picture it can make of each day's passing history in the city, the State, the country and the world. It will allie herself, as heretofore, at accuracy first of all things in all that it publishes. No man, however humble, shall ever be permitted truly to complain that he has been unjustly dealt with in the columns of the World. No interest, however powerful, shall ever be permitted truly to boast that it can silence the fair criticism of the World.

During the past year the World has seen its daily circulation trebled and its weekly circulation pushed far beyond that of any other weekly newspaper in the country. This great increase has been won, as the World believes, by truthfulness, enterprise, ceaseless activity in collecting news and unfaltering loyalty to itself and its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It is our hope and it will be our endeavor that the World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of this Indissoluble Union of Indestructible States.

The Sun for 1880.

The Sun will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1st until December 31st it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

As a newspaper, the Sun believes in getting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep well abreast of the age with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the greatest number—that is the law controlling its daily making. It now has a circulation very much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it is at all times prepared to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. Foreign and all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read the Sun; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns. Keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs, the Sun believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, inspired by the genuine American principles and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what has good and reprobate what is evil, taking care that its language is to the point, and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood. It will continue to set forth truths that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with two cents. It hates injustice and rascality even more than it hates unnecessary words. It abhors frauds, pillies fools, and delights in discomposing all very species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to chastise the first class, instruct the second, and discomfiture the third. All honest men, with honest convictions, whether sound or mistaken, are its friends. And the Sun makes no bones of telling the truth to its friends and about its friends whenever occasion arises for plain speaking.

These are the principles upon which the Sun will be conducted during the year to come.

The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to lose his eyes to public affairs. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of predictive vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the exciting contests of the Republican and Democratic parties, now nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying drift of public sentiment, will all bear directly and effectively upon the Twenty-fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November the will of the nation, expressed at the ballot box, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy, the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The past decade of years opened with a corrupt, extravagant, and insolent Administration intrenched at Washington. The Sun did something toward dislodging the gang and breaking its power. The same men are now intriguing to restore the Republic and place back in places from which they were driven by the indignation of the people. Will they succeed? The coming year will bring us answers to many momentous questions. The Sun will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they are developed, and to exhibit them clearly and fearlessly in their relations to morals, decency and right.

Thus, with a habit of philosophical good humor in looking at the minor affairs of life, and a great things a steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors, The Sun is prepared to write a truthful, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of 1880.

Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year: or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of the Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by simple external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not to stand still with it, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his success and popularity throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturdays, Sundays, Mondays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair,

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

New Publications.

Messrs. Roberts Brothers, of Boston, publish "Irene the Missionary," a story that had many readers while it was appearing in the Atlantic Monthly. The present volume makes a book of 390 pages, and though not of the "No name series" is published without the announcement of the author's name, presumed by many to be DeForest. It is an interesting story, and contains the account of a matrimonial offer, or an attempt at one. The happenings pictured in this volume can be enjoyed by any reader who will invest $1.25 in the purchase of the book.

"Stories of War, told by soldiers;" collected and edited by Edward Everett Hale; Boston, Roberts Brothers; pages 264; price, $1.00. Here we have authentic accounts of many famous engagements of the late war,—the first Bull Run, Forts Henry and Donaldson, Antietam, Vicksburg, Gettysburg, Chickamauga and Chattanooga, with Grant's advance upon Richmond, Sheridan's ride, Sherman's great march, and other thrilling incidents of the war. They are given in a series of evening readings by Col. Ingham to his nephews, of which nightly entertainment the editor gives us the origin. The work is historic, and affords a correct account of these prominent incidents extending from July 1st, 1861, to the close of the war; and the editor promise if the boys like this volume, it shall be followed by stories of the sea, told by sailors, and stories of adventures. Mr. Hale well knows how to present the interesting record of these times of struggle, and the work will doubtless have a large sale. It can be had of nearly all the book sellers in the land, and in this city of Mr. W. G. Myers, at his bookstore on Congress street.

The Sea Serpent.

The New York papers of Saturday published a statement by the crew of Life Saving Station No. 1, who, while patrolling the beach near the station, saw a commotion in the water at about 400 yards distance from the shore, which at first was thought to be caused by a school of porpoises. A minute later, a monstrous black form arose out of the foaming water. The men hurried to the station to call their comrades, while others leveled a pair of strong field glasses at the creature. Then they saw, the men say, a serpent-like monster, 300 feet long. Those who looked through the glasses aver that they could plainly see the creature's head when it was lifted above the water, and that it looked bigger than a hogshead. It had an enormous mouth, and shining black eyes as big as saucers. Portions of the long, dark colored, and rounded body they saw rising and sinking in the water as the monster leisurely worked its way toward the south with sinuous snake-like motions. At times, the men say, the creature threw its tail out of the water. The tail seemed to be shaped somewhat like that of an eel. The monster was seen by all the members of the crew, who ran along the beach and kept it in view as long as possible. It finally disappeared in a southerly direction, going toward Long Branch. It kept a distance of about 1200 feet from the shore, increasing its speed a little while before it was lost sight of.

One Experience from Many.

"I had been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, but I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said "Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy."—The Mother.—Home Journal.

By the use of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites the nerves become reinforced in strength, the stomach is made capable of digesting the food, the food changes to blood, the heart becomes strengthed to pump the blood, the lungs distribute and oxidize the blood, healthy blood displaces unhealthy muscle and tuberculous matter, the patient becomes vigorous and then by using his constitution as intended by a beneficent Creator, he may live up to the ripe old age, when like the corn ready for harvest he drops from the husk.

—A Cincinnati man, noted for his skill in borrowing money which he never repays, was awakened the other night by a noise in the parlor below, and going down stairs discovered a burglar there. He made his acquaintance at once and borrowed all the money the poor burglar had. House-breakers can not be too careful now-a-days.—Saturday Night.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1879.

The President's Message.

The third annual message of President Hayes, communicated to Congress on its re-assembling on Monday, is a clear, business-like paper, devoid of rhetoric and without a startling proposition from beginning to end.

He begins his message by congratulating Congress on the successful resumption of specie payments, the accomplishment of the funding scheme and the era of prosperity which dates from the first of those events. In connection with the financial topics, the President recommends no legislation beyond the suspension of the coinage of standard silver dollars, the law providing for the withdrawal of greenbacks from circulation and the full enforcement of the original acts of Congress providing for a sinking fund which will within a limited period extinguish the public debt. He also suggests a tax on tea and coffee.

The President's determination to enforce the federal laws prohibiting polygamy is one of the points of the President's message which will cause comment and provoke criticism. In this same line is the President's reference to the duty incumbent upon the federal government to do its utmost to bring the country to a condition of universal security and freedom in the exercise of the elective franchise. His remarks on this topic may fairly be construed by Congress as legal notice that he maintains the ground he took at the extra session.

The President devotes a large space in his message to the civil service. He makes the occasion of presenting the report of the civil service commission the occasion for a full discussion of the subject. The President divides the public service into two branches. One branch consists of those officers elected by a people to carry out a given policy, and their advisers. These should be expected to be in harmony with the party electing them, and will be expected to retire at the expiration of their terms of office. The others, embracing all officers who fill subordinate places, should be permitted to hold their positions and discharge their duties irrespective of partisan politics. The President devotes considerable space to the history of competitive examinations since 1873, and calls attention to the good results which have attended the recent experiments in several branches of the public service. The President denounces political assessments as wrong, and while not defining the extent to which federal officers may engage in political action, says that it should not be permitted to an extent that it will interfere with the proper discharge of official duties, and should never be used as a means to enforce opinions or coerce the political actions of others.

Our relations with foreign nations are all peaceful if not satisfactory in every respect. The fishery questions are in process of adjustment. Progress has been made during the year in perfecting consular relations and making treaties designed to put us upon more neighborly relations with other governments. The President notes a gratifying increase of trade with nearly all South American and European countries.

The President calls attention to the departmental reports, and renews many of the suggestions of the heads of the several departments. In this connection, the President calls attention to the arrears of the business of the supreme court, and renews the recommendation of the attorney general for the creation of ten additional circuit judges. While upon the topic of the courts, the President informs Congress that it made no provision for the pay of marshals during the extra session, to the embarrassment of the public service. The President repeats, without indorsing it, the recommendation of the postmaster general for a law authorizing contracts with American-built steamers under the flag of the United States for transporting mails between this country and the ports of the West Indies and South America, at a fixed price per mile. The President warmly recommends the passage of a law enabling the government to give Indians a title in fee to such farm lands as may fall to them by lot, and also that the wants of Indians holding large reservations, after having portions of land set apart to them severally, may be provided for from a fund created by the sale of their lands. This policy would open up large tracts of valuable land for settlement now kept out of the market. The President gives his opinion that the management of the Indian bureau should be retained in the interior department; and he again makes the suggestion for the establishment of a department of agriculture, and for a territorial government in Alaska, and commends the interests of the District of Columbia, particularly the educational needs, to the attention of Congress.

News and Notes.

A Brooklyn man sent a letter to a New York lottery dealer, and the New York postmaster returned it, indorsed conspicuously, "Fraudulent," and the Brooklyn man has sued Postmaster James for $2500 damages for libel. It will be a test case, to decide on the legality of the recent order of the postmaster general concerning letters addressed to known dealers in lottery tickets.

Belfast, Me., has a boy only nine years old, who, during his brief existence, is said to have been the primary cause of two deaths. A year or two ago this boy pushed a little girl into a bonfire; her clothing ignited, and she died. Three or four years ago he tied a string across the walk as a trap, and the first to fall over it was his own father. The old gentleman sustained a shock in consequence of the fall, from which he suffered severely until death released him.

George H. Davis, of the piano firm of Hallett & Davis, died in Boston on Monday.

A large safe, in which from $8000 to $10,000 are generally deposited every night by pilots and others, is located directly in front of a large window on South street, in New York city, under the full blaze of a gaslight. A gang of burglars entered the rear by means of a window, Saturday night, carrying with them a dummy safe of same size as the real one, of green glazed muslin made to fold up, the panels picked out in black and discolored in parts, like the real safe. The robbers rolled the real safe into a rear room and put the dummy in its stead. They fled on being surprised by officers, leaving behind their tools, with which they had just begun to operate.

A strong party of citizens of Bucksport, Maine, are working to secure the repudiation of the debt assumed by the town in the construction of the narrow-gauge railroad running from Bangor to Bucksport. The ground of this proposed action is the existence of fatal irregularities in the action of the town when the bonds were issued. It is not claimed that there was fraud, but only technicalities, of which advantage may be taken. There is likely to be a lively contest in the matter.

At Foggia, in the povince of Naples, Italy, on the 30th ult., as a large number of persons were dancing on the ground floor of an unfinished factory the upper two floors fell upon them. The number of persons killed is reported to be twenty-seven.

The British barque Edith, from Philadelphia Nov. 6th for Liverpool, with corn, has foundered at sea, and the captain and four men are supposed to be lost. The mate and seven men were picked up by Cunard steamer Atlas, and landed in New York on Saturday. The rescued men were a week in a small dory, and suffered terribly.

The schooner Hattie Johnson, Capt. Prouty, with the captain's wife and eight men, sailed from Milwaukee for Buffalo on Nov 16th, and has not since been heard from. She is supposed to have gone down with all hands in the gale of the 19th ult.

A chemist at Detroit has been examining the water of that city, and finds in it "various species of diatoms, such as the nitzschia curvula, cymatopleura soles, cymatopleura elliptica, stauroneis punctata, pleurosigma spencerri, and rhizosolenia eriensis." No wonder the Detroiters drink whiskey and lager beer.

California apples are not seen in the markets of the eastern States, and it is not generally known that good varieties of that fruit are produced on the Pacific coast, but the fact is that they are very fine and are monopolizing the markets of New Zealand.

H C. Culver, city marshal of Cameron, Mo., was shot and killed Saturday, while endeavoring to arrest two men for disorderly conduct.

Armed Georgia mountaineers recently captured sixteen revenue officers, fatally wounding one, and compelled the entire squad to leave the country.

R. A. Packer, superintendent of the Pennsylvania & New York railroad, lately conversed by telephone for two hours with friends in Mauch Chunk while himself in Nebraska, 2,000 miles off. At the office in Bethlehem, Pa., connection was made with the Easton & Amboy wire, and at Perth Amboy with a western wire. Every whisper was audible.

It is stated authoritatively that Prof. Andre has at length pefected his electric light. He claims for it that it excels all others heretofore exhibited, in continuality of light and economy of use, and hence in cheapness.

On Thursday night two Lewiston, (Me.) officers at Leeds junction, in disguise, were hailed by Conductor Chandler of the Maine Central freight train, who asked them if they were looking for freight. Receiving an affirmative reply, said he, "keep quiet and I will roll it out for you;" and, opening a car, he delivered two five-gallon kegs of liquor. He was summoned on Friday night to appear on the charge of illegal transportation of liquor, found guilty and fined $50. He appealed.

Timothy Buckley, a workman on the new Amory mills at Manchester, was severely injured Saturday by the falling of a heavy stone upon his head, knocking him into the canal, from which he was rescued by his fellow workmen. It is feared that his injuries will prove fatal.

Dartmouth College has 392 students attending this year, of which the academical department has 226; Chandler scientific, 49; agricutural, 29; medical, 84; Thayer school, 4. One hundred and eighty-three reside in New Hampshire, 55 in Vermont, 63 in Massachusetts, 26 in Maine, 22 in New York and 11 in Ohio. The faculty has 31 members. The libraries have been increased 661 volumes during the year, and now contain 56,391 volumes.

Mrs. M. M. Ricker of Dover, who practices law at Washington, D. C., and is a practical philanthropist, was heard by the governor and counsel a few days ago in relation to more humanitarian treatment of convicts in the State prison. She stated that after visiting the prisons of New York, New Jersey, North Carolina and several other States, she was forced to the conclusion that in no institution did she observe so little of home comfort for the convicts as in New Hampshire. She asked for a better and fuller supply of secular reading, and Attorney General Tappan coincided in her recommendations.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly relieve pain, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and it is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the side, back or bowels, sore throat, rheumatism, toothache and all aches.

For the great reliever of pain, "Brown's Household Panacea," should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water (sweetened, if preferred), taken at bedtime, will break up a cold. 25 cents a bottle.

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. Brown's Vermifuge Comfits, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. Twenty-five cents a box. 4thf

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.

A BENEFACTRESS.

Just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will prove the American Florence Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are so sure, that we will teach our "Susy" to say, "A blessing on Mrs. Winslow" for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking, and teething siege. Mrs. Winslow's soothing Syrup relieves the child from pain, and cures dysentery and diarrhœa. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures wind colic, and carries the infant through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 1

AROUND HOME.

A nice day Monday, for the first day of winter.

Six flocks of geese passed over this city, Saturday afternoon.

Judge Bufford will be toast-master to-night. A good selection.

The old-time punch bowl will not be used to-night. Did the fathers know better than we?

The south pond is completely frozen over, and very smooth; but don't hurry, boys; give the ice a chance to thicken.

There was a "German" at the residence of one of our bankers, Friday evening, and the elite of the city were there.

The oldest membership in the Mechanics' association is that of Samuel Kingsbury, who joined the association in 1826.

Work was commenced at removing the buildings on the south side of the Eastern railroad depot, Monday, preparatory to the extension of the depot accommodations.

Two fine "sun-dogs" were visible at sunrise Monday morning, and another one at four o'clock in the afternoon. At sea the sun-dog is considered indicative of tough weather.

Miss Edith Wendell, the favorite young soprano of this city and a pupil of Lyman Wheeler of Boston, will sing in the latter city on Thursday evening of this week, at an entertainment in Dr. Miner's church.

A French roof is being put on the hotel Wentworth at Newcastle, this adding another story to this excellent and imposing hostelry. As seen from the south part of the city, the men on the frame work look about as large as mosquitoes.

Schooner Atlantic, of Bucksport, Me., with salt from Boston parties to Randall & Caswell of this city, arrived at Doane's wharf on Monday afternoon, mistaking that place for her destination, and thereby losing a tide in coming up. She will come up this morning.

A unique entertainment is to be given at the Universalist vestry on Thursday evening by the Hutchings association, in the shape of an old-fashioned "Wayside Inn." An antiquarian supper will be served, and an old-time quilting party will be held in costume. See advertisement.

Holden, the Irish orator, delivered a stirring address at Mission hall Monday evening to a crowded audience, many being not able to gain admittance. This (Tuesday) evening a meeting will be held at the same place. Five cents admission fee will be charged for the benefit of Mr. Holden.

James R. Stanwood, Esq., of Boston, formerly of this city, has been spending a few days on his native heath. We are glad to be able to deny the report that Mr. Stanwood stumped the State of Massachusetts for Butler; he is a strong personal friend of the general, but is too much of a "stalwart" to leave his party, or to extend any aid or sympathy to the mis-called independent movement.

Doane's fishing fleet, comprising seven fine schooners, are at anchor in the "pool" near the second Newcastle bridge, stripped of their sails and running gear, waiting for the advent of spring. The past season has been a most successful one, we understand, for the fleet, the schooner Daniel Marcy leading all her rivals in piscatorial honors. Mr. Doane closed his fish-house and yard for the winter on Saturday last.

One of the rumors about town recently has been that Frank Jones had purchased the "Melcher lot" on Congress street, and was to erect thereon a fine building, etc. We have paid no attention to this, because we knew that before such a happy event could transpire, one of two things must occur: either Mr. Jones must lose his balance, break an invariable rule, and pay more for a piece of real estate than its value, or the owner of the lot must have reduced his estimate of the worth of his land. To make an investment in real estate in Portsmouth pay a fair interest, the outlay must not be by any means extravagant. We have to-day all the stores that are needed for double the amount of our trade. We must now manage to increase our business by adding to our population, and some new mechanical industry is what is needed. We have heard that some of our real estate owners are willing to unite to accomplish this result as they see the absolute need of some such impetus to our local business.

Rev. Mr. Lalacheur of Biddeford, Me., lectured in the Methodist course last Friday evening: subject, "shooting at our grandfather's ghost." This ghostly subject was very humorously treated, and repeatedly convulsed the audience with laughter. The reverend gentleman has an inimitable way of telling a story which peculiarly fist him for the lecture rostrum.

The board of mayor and aldermen, with several of the petitioners for the extension of Vaughan street, and other interested parties, looked over the ground of the proposed extension and informally discussed the matter, Monday afternoon. The cost of the proposed extension was roughly estimated at about $7000. Mayor Sise read a letter from the president of the Eastern railroad, referring to communication had with him in relation to the road bearing a part of the expense, stating that the railroad could not bear any part of it.

HOWARD BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

The fiftieth annual meeting of the Howard Benevolent society was holden on Saturday evening, when the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

President, Ichabod Goodwin.
Secretary, Lewis W. Brewster.
Treasurer, John Stavers.
Directors, William Day, Benj. Cheever, Samuel S. Green, Benjamin Carter, John H. Broughton, Lyman D. Spalding, J. Chaplin Carr, Wm. D. Fernald, John S. Rand, T. E. O. Marvin, George Annable, Wm. A. Vaughan, Jr.

The disbursing committees are as follows:

For December, Messrs. Goodwin, Day and Annable.

For January, 1880, Green, Cheever and Vaughan.

For February, Stavers, Carter and Carr.

For March, Broughton, Spalding and Marvin.

April to December, Fernald, Brewster and Rand.

MASONIC ELECTION.

At the annual communication of St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 56, held Monday evening, the elective officers were chosen as follows:

William A. Hodgdon, Master;
Alfred F. Howard, Senior Warden.
John F. Rose, Junior Warden;
Harry G. Taunton, Treasurer;
John Pender, Secretary;
William P. Walker, and Stephen, W. Clarke, Standing committee.
John Pender, Representative to Grand Lodge.

NO CHANGE OF OPINION.

Arthur A. Waite, the so-called chalk-talker and "evangelist," joined the Methodists at Fort Edward, New York, last Sunday, and in an address on that occasion stated that he "never fully believed in the Advent doctrine." We measured Waite months ago (correctly, too;) concluding, then, that his only belief was in money getting. We have no reason now to change that opinion.—Times, Nov. 29th.

Yet at the time Mr. Waite was holding his first series of meetings in Music hall, and giving "chalk-talks" every evening and occasionally in the afternoon, to crowded audiences, the Times was filled with pious grief because the CHRONICLE did not follow its example and liberally puff the meetings and speaker in its local columns, and mourned with exceeding great sorrow because, as it said, the CHRONICLE appeared not to have heard of the great gospel temperance work then going on. And the Times' account of the last meeting of that series, containing incidentally a brief review of Mr. Waite's work during the time he had been in the city, was so favorable that it was republished at the end of a pamphlet account of Mr. Waite's career, with commendatory notices of him from other papers.

As to Mr. Waite's alleged statement that he "never fully believed in the Advent doctrine," we see nothing awful in it; we don't fully believe in that doctrine, either. We are not aware that Mr. Waite ever claimed to be an Adventist when in this city; and he certainly preached in other pulpits than the Advent.

OFFICIAL REGISTRY OF VITAL STATISTICS.

The Journal recently had an item concerning a "Bill of Mortality for Portsmouth, New Hampshire, for A. D. 1808, by Lyman Spalding, M. D.," and closed as follows:

It is much to be regretted that lists similar to that prepared by Dr. Spalding more than seventy years ago have not been prepared and preserved, every year since. It seems to the writer inexcusable that proper official records of all deaths are not now made in this city.

If our neighbor will take the trouble to carefully examine the law of New Hampshire concerning the registration of births, marriages and deaths, it will find that the blame for the incomplete and worthless registration is in the law itself; and that under the law as it now stands it is not only improbable that a "proper official record" will be made by the recording officer, but that it is almost impossible for him to make such a record. Under the present law there never has been a "proper official record" kept in this city, or in any other city of the State, and under it there never can be such a record kept; and we very much doubt if in any town in the State, however small it may be, the record of a single year can be produced that does not contain glaring errors, either in the way of incorrect statements or omissions.

The registration laws of New Hampshire are absolutely worthless for any purpose whatever; for though the statute declares that such records as are kept under it shall be accepted as prima facie evidence in the courts, there is not a jury of intelligent men in the State who would accept them as evidence at all in face of contradicting testimony, when the glaring faults of the system were once made plain—and the mere reading of the statute would do that. Registration, to be of any value whatever, must be universal and correct; and these ends can only be attained by compelling the prompt registration of the events immediately on their occurrence.

If the registration of births is to be of any value as a preventive of infanticide, or as an authentic and authoritative record for reference in future years, then the registering of a birth within a week of its occurrence should be made compulsory, and the nominal head of the house in which the birth occurs should be held responsible for the non-performance of such registration. As the law stands, the registration of births may be, and under some circumstances must be, delayed for a full year; and whether they are then registered or not depends entirely on whether the attending physician chooses to attend to the registration, for the penalty for doing so has never been and never will be enforced. In cases where births take place without the attendance of a physician, or where the attending physician removes from the State before the legal date for registration, no registry at all is provided for by the law.

If the registration of deaths is to be any safeguard against murder, then the law should prohibit the burial of any corpse until the death is duly registered, and registry should only be made on the certificate of a physician or coroner as to the cause of death. As the law stands, only the person who is attended by a physician has his or her death registered, and this registration may not be made until a year after the person is buried; while the death of a man or woman who is murdered or accidentally killed, or who dies without a physician's attendance, cannot legally be registered at all.

If the registration of marriages is to be of the utmost value as a guard against fraud and bigamy, the person officiating should be obliged to register it at once; as the law stands the registration may be delayed for a year, and should the officiating clergyman or magistrate happen to lose his memorandum in the meantime, or remove from the State, the marriage is not likely to be registered at all.

We regard this matter of proper registration as of real and great importance; and we invite our brother of the Journal to look into it, and then stand by to join with us in urging upon the legislature at its next session the passing of a law that will give us something worthy of being called a registration of births, marriages and deaths, in place of the wretched abortion now termed a registration law.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Mr. Daniel Lydston of Kittery has taken command of the steamer James Sampson.

The despatch boat Tallapoosa, Lieut. McRitchie commanding, arrived at the navy yard on Monday afternoon at about half-past two o'clock, with stores and materials for the various departments.

Assistant Naval Constructor George F. Mallett, attached to this navy yard, has received preliminary orders to proceed to Florida as a member of a board of survey of lumber, and to report at Washington for instructions.

A son of Mr. Augustus S. Zaca, six years old, while playing on the ice on the "Meadow pond," so-called, on Seavey's island at the navy yard, Monday forenoon, broke through. Other children gave the alarm, and the boy was soon rescued by Mr. John P. Tibbetts, watchman on the island, and Mr. Silas H. Harding.

—One evening recently at Bodie, Cal., the star who was playing Richelieu at the National theatre had to stop four times in the midst of his lines, take a bulletin handed in by the prompter, and say, "Ladies and gentlemen, I have the pleasure to state that Bodie is still ahead at the Pavilion. The score at 9:15 was as follows," etc. And later on the Cardinal had to accomplish an untimely resuscitation in the last scene in order to announce that "Belle Sherman had won the match with the unusually fine record of 357 miles." However, the tragedian was greeted with the unusally novelty of "tremendous applause," which was some consolation to that disgusted artist.

The President on Monday nominated Secretary George W. McCrary to be judge of the 8th United States circuit, and Hon. E. S. Tobey to be postmaster at Boston.

The Wonderful Christmas Number of St. Nicholas.

This monthly magazine for girls and boys, edited by Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, has grown in circulation so rapidly as to warrant a permanent increase in size, beginning with November. The Christmas number, now almost ready, has a special holiday cover, and is the largest and most beautiful issue of any magazine for girls and boys ever published, containing more than one hundred pages and ninety-five pictures.

It contains twelve short stories by J. T. Trowbridge, Washington Gladden, J. W. DeForest, Maurice Thompson, Sarah Winter Kellogg, and others; also the first chapters of a serial story by Louisa M. Alcott, written in the author's best vein, and the second installment of a capital serial for the boys, by William O. Stoddard, which is to extend over a number of months. (A long, interesting story, also for boys, by Noah Brooks, author of "The Boy Emigrant," will begin soon.) John Greenleaf Whittier contributes a long poem, while Lucy Larcom and Mary Mapes Dodge are also represented in verse. There is a Christmas play for festivals, by Edward Eggleston; an illustrated art paper on Thorvaldsen, and an account, with twelve pictures, of the life and doings of New York telegraph boys.

Gustave Doré, Knaus, Mary Hallock Foote, Kelley, Dielman, Bensell, Sheppard, Eytinge, Jessie Curtis and Addie Ledyard are among the artists represented.

Buy this number and see what "St. Nicholas" really is. Your newsdealer will supply it and take your subscription for the year, or the money may be sent in check, P. O. order or registered letter to the publishers. Price, $3.00 a year, twenty-five cents a number. Scribner & Co., 743 Broadway, New York.

Those languid, tiresome sensations, causing you to feel scarcely able to be on your feet; that constant drain that is taking from your system all its elasticity; driving the bloom from your cheeks; that continual strain upon your vital forces, rendering you irritable and fretful, can easily be removed by the use of that marvelous remedy, Hop Bitters. Irregularities and obstructions of your system are relieved at once, while the special cause of periodical pain is permanently removed. Will you heed this?—Cincinnati Saturday Night.

The World for 1880.

Democrats everywhere should inform themselves carefully alike on the notion of their party throughout the country and of the movements of their Republican opponents. A failure to do this in 1878 contributed greatly to the loss by the Democracy of the fruits of the victory fairly won at the polls.

The year 1880 promises to be one of the most interesting and important years of this crowded and eventful century. It will witness a Presidential election which may result in re-establishing the government of this country on the principles of its constitutional founders, or in permanently changing the relations of the States to the Federal power. No intelligent man can regard such an election with indifference. The World, as the only daily English newspaper published in New York which still adheres to the doctrines of constitutional Democracy, will steadily represent the Democratic party in this great contest, and will be in no spirit of servile partisanship, but temperately and firmly.

As a newspaper the World, being an organ of no man, no clique and no interest, will present the fullest and the fairest picture it can make of each day's passing history in the city, the State, the country and the world. It will aim hereafter, as heretofore, at accuracy first of all things in all that it publishes. No man, however humble, shall entertain the just complaint that he has been unjustly dealt with in the columns of the World. No interest, however powerful, shall ever be permitted truly to boast that it can silence the fair criticism of the World.

During the past season the World has seen its daily circulation treble and its weekly circulation pushed far beyond that of any other weekly newspaper in the country. This great increase has been won, as the World believes, by truth, fullness, enterprise, ceaseless activity in collecting news and unfaltering loyalty to itself and to its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It is our hope and it will be our endeavor that the World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of the Indissoluble Union of Indestructible States.

The Sun for 1880.

The Sun will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1st until December 31st it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

As a newspaper, the Sun believes in getting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep well abreast of the age with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the greatest number—that is the law controlling its daily make-up. It now has a circulation very much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it is at all times prepared to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read the Sun; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs, the Sun believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, and the only guide to sound principles and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what is good in spite of the fact that it may bring down upon its language is to the point, and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood. It is unintimidated by anything that does not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser willing to pay for them; it hates injustice and rascality even more than it hates unnecessary words. It abhors frauds, pities fools, and delights in exposing impostors of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to chastise the first class, instruct the second, and discomfiture the third. All honest people will back it in its convictions, whether sound or mistaken, are its friends. And the Sun makes no bones of telling the truth to its friends and enemies, its friends whenever occasion arises for plain speaking.

These are the principles upon which the Sun will be conducted during the year to come.

The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to public affairs. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store. The necessity of the most resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the founders gave us. The opinions and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the exciting contests of the Republican and Democratic parties, now nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying drift of public sentiment, will all bear directly and effectively upon the twenty-fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November the will of the nation, as expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy, the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The voice of one of years opened with a corrupt, extravagant, and insolent Administration installed at Washington, the Sun will continue to cry out toward dislodging the gang and breaking its power. The same men are now intriguing to repeat the villainy of 1876, and to put in pieces from which they were driven by the indignation of the people. Will they succeed? The coming year will bring the answer to this momentous question. The Sun will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they are developed, and to exhibit them in clear and fearless light to the moment's urgency and right.

Thus, with a habit of philosophical good humor, and looking at the minor affairs of life, and in great things a steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors, The Sun is prepared to write a truthful, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history for 1880.

Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is 65 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 85 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of the Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address I. W. ENGLAND,
Publisher of THE SUN, New York City.

THE MODEL RANGE

—FOR—
Hard or Soft Coal or Wood
— HAVING THE —
Patent Reflex Coal-Grate and Ash-Sifter,
New Patent Automatic Oven Shelf,
New Patent Extension Leg,
New Patent Double Top,
(No more cracked tops.)

And many other improvements. As perfected, we sincerely believe that the most durable and beautiful range in the world is the

MODEL RANGE

Manufactured by Spicer & Peckham, of Providence, R. I. The Portable Cooking Range is the best adapted to do work nearly and quickly, of any device yet made. There are many sizes. They do all work evenly and steadily, with a great saving of fuel. No expense has been spared to make the Model Range first-class in every particular, and it is presented to the public as one that is admitted even by competing manufacturers to be the most neatly ornamented and perfectly proportioned Range in use.

The top is double, and very large, with extension shelf and towel rack attached at either end. The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. Pipe collar adjustable for either top or back of range. Patent check draft and reverse flue will save one-third of the fuel that is usually wasted. The door-knobs and name plate are nickel plated, making it very attractive for the home. The top is less likely to crack, being double.

Ranges, Cooking and Parlor Stoves,

Etc., can be seen at the old stand of

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by non-external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once consulted Dr. Sherman, giving special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his place and practice and popularity throughout the United States and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain coffee-house men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair,

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a foul odor so bad that my presence in a room with other was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was no troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

You can refer any one to those to me, and I will cheerfully inform them I detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

The Bible of Modern Science.

The preparation of the new Bible, which is to be inspired by sweet reasonableness, has not made much advance yet. We lay before our readers the improved version of the first chapter of Genesis:

1. There never was a beginning.
2. And cosmos was homogeneous and undifferentiated, and somehow or another evolution began and molecules appeared.
3. And molecule evolved protoplasm, and rythmic thrills arose, and then there was light.
4. And a spirit of envy was developed and formed the plastic cell whence arose the primordial germ.
5. And the primordial germ became protogene, and protogene somehow shaped cozoon, then was the dawn of life.
6. And the herb yielding seed and the fruit tree yielding fruit after its own kind, whose seed is in itself, developed according to its own fancy.
7. The cattle after his kind, the beast of the earth after his kind, and every creeping thing became evolved by heterogeneous segregation and concomitant dissipation of motion.
8. So that by the survival of the fittest there evolved the simiads from the jelly fish, and the simiads differentiated themselves into the antropomorphic primordal types.
9. And in due time one lost his tail and became man, and behold he was the most cunning of all animals.
10. And in process of time, by natural selection and survival of the fittest, Matthew Arnold, Herbert Spencer and Charles Darwin appeared, and behold it was very good.—London Freeman.

Canoeing.

Canoeing came to the United States from England. The organization in 1871 of the New York Canoe club gave the new recreation a foothold. That club has a commodious house on Staten island, and its fleet numbers about forty canoes. The Cincinnati Canoe club also has a neat house. Its membership is somewhat smaller than that of the New York city, but its members have made numerous notable cruises. The Jersey City, Trenton and Titusville canoe clubs have each a membership of from fifteen to twenty-five. These clubs, however, do not represent the entire canoeing interests of the country. Where are many enthusiastic canoeists who do not carry a club signal but who have made long voyages. Cruises of the Delaware, the Passaic, the Merrimack, the Winooske and many other rivers have been made by these paddlers—a majority of whom have built their own canoes. The captain of the Stormy Petrel was a canoeist of this class at the time of his appearance on Lake George at the last races. It is roughly estimated that at the present time there are in the United States at least five hundred active canoeists who are not enrolled by any club, and that with the opening of the next season there will be not less than seven hundred and fifty. In this estimate is included only pleasure canoeists. The advantage to be derived from organization by these isolated canoeists is apparent. It is proposed to effect such an organization during the winter or early next spring. It is proposed to organize a National Canoe club somewhat after the scheme of the Appalachian club of Boston. It will be pre-eminently a cruising club, a club made up of men who are students as well sailors and paddlers. A circular will shortly be issued by several prominent canoeists that will detail the scheme and give the movement a definite form.—Paddle, in Brentano's Monthly.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it at once. Read of it in another column.

It is said that some of the alkaloids which enter into the combination of Fellows' Hypophosphites, are extracted from trees which attain to a great age, and that this fact suggest to Mr. Fellows' the idea of their employment. Whether the success of the preparation is due to this, we are not prepared to say, but the idea is a good one.

—To call a man rusty is the very oxide of irony.

—The whole value of manner lies in its sincerity.

—An engineer banks his fire far oftener than he banks his cash.

—The three degrees of comparison in wall street are "stick, stock, stuck."

—Book keeping may be taught in a lesson of three words—never lend one.

—Muzzle a dog and he can't hurt you, but the muzzle of a gun is the most dangerous part of it.

—Point de Paris, yellow enough for an heirloom, and with figures like old-fashioned thread, is the newest lace.

— Arthur Sullivan's "Prodigal Son" is an oratorio and not a burlesque, and the fatted calves are not seen in the chorus.

News and Notes.

Gen. Jefferson C. Davis, U. S. A., died at Chicago Nov. 30th, of pneumonia, aged about fifty-one years. Gen. Davis enlisted for the Mexican war when only sixteen years old, and was commissioned second lieutenant in the regular army for his gallant conduct in that war. On the breaking out of the rebellion he was stationed at Fort Sumter, and himself fired the first gun in defence of the Union, on the morning of April 12th, 1861. During the war he rendered excellent service, and was brevetted major-general of volunteers and brigadier-general in the regular army. While under command of Gen. William Nelson, in Kentucky in 1862, he had a personal quarrel with Nelson and shot him dead; there was no evidence to hold Gen. Davis for trial by court-martial, but a jury acquitted him on a civil trial, and the verdict was generally concurred in, Gen. Nelson having been a rough and overbearing bully, though a brave man and good soldier.

In the case of two fellows named Crowley and Gillen, recently on trial at Chicago for throwing pepper in the eyes of Illinois Central railroad messengers about six months ago, and robbing them of $10,000, the jury after being out eighteen hours returned a verdict against Crowley as accessory to the crime, and fixed the penalty at seven years in the penitentiary. They disagreed as to Gillen.

The stockholders of the permanent exhibition of Philadelphia have adopted a resolution offering the use of the exhibition building to the two great political parties of the country to hold their conventions in next year.

In a private difficulty at Columbus, Ga., Monday, H. McCauley, a marble merchant, was shot and killed by J. W. Harris, a farmer. Self defense is claimed. Harris surrendered himself.

Three children broke through the ice in a mill pond at Cayuga, N. Y., Sunday, and were drowned. Two of them, a boy and a girl, belonged to Wm. Leroy, and one, a girl, to Benj. Foster.

A jury was impaneled at Castleton, Vt., last week, the ages of whose members aggregated 422 years. The oldest was eighty-three years of age, while the youngest juror had celebrated his 60th birthday. The average age was over seventy years.

A case of destitution is reported in Stowe, Vt., in which a mother is said to be insane because of the need of the necessaries of life for herself and two little boys.

The superintendent of schools at Northampton, Mass., cowhided an ungovernable boy and then took him to the lockup as a truant. The boy's father made a rumpus and complained of abuse to the school committee, but was refused a warrant for the superintendent's arrest by two town justices. A lawyer manages his case, and the school committee will give a hearing to both parties soon. Many of the townspeople sympathize with the complaining parent, and as he is a poor man have offered him money to test the legality of the boy's cowhiding and incarceration.

A young man near Somersville, Mt. Desert, Me., shot three deer at one shot on Friday last. Two of the deer fell where they were standing when fired at, and the third fell after running about twelve rods.

William H. Farago, twenty-two years of age, employed on the Eastern railroad, was run over and instantly killed while shackling cars near Prison Point, Charlestown, on Monday evening. The wheels of the car passed over his head and shoulders, mutilating the body in a horrible manner. Farago was married only the night before Thanksgiving.

The principal coal companies at Pittston, Pa., Monday, voluntarily advanced the wages of the miners ten per cent.

A despatch from Mount Sterling, Ky., says: Elliot county regulators last Saturday visited Morgan county and proceeded to regulate some of the inhabitants. They took out and whipped a man named Cassidy, also William Pray, John Edwards and three others. They went further and visited the houses of seven women, five of whom they whipped, and then returned to their homes.

The public debt statement for November shows a decrease in the debt for the month of $800,000.

Two paper manufactories were burned in Philadelphia on Monday, causing a loss of $400,000.

Parties desiring to purchase or exchange pianos are invited to inspect the merits of the "Weber pianos" advertised in our columns. They stand in the front rank for excellence and power. Mr. Geo. D. Russell, of Boston, is agent.

Levi F. Stone of Cornish, who was mysteriously injured in his barn November 11th, died Friday evening, and on Monday an inquest was begun. It is stated that the community firmly believe that a murder has been committed, and suspicion fastens upon members of the family, who have behaved strangely. The old man and his sons have had a good deal of trouble at times, and after the father was injured—as the sons assert by falling through a hole in the barn floor—he was allowed to remain in the barn twenty-four hours before being removed to the house.

Hon. Warren F. Daniell presented each of the employes in the Winnepesaukee Paper company, in Franklin, with a turkey for Thanksgiving.

Joseph Terrio of Great Falls has purchased a large tract of land in Minnesota, and a colony of French people from Great Falls will probably go out and settle on it.

The work of putting into St. Paul's church, Concord, the memorial window to the late Rev. Dr. Eames was completed Monday, and the windows will be unveiled with appropriate services next Tuesday.

Gov. Garcelon of Maine and his council on Tuesday refused to allow the returns of the votes for senators and representatives to be examined by the members-elect or their attorneys, as they had previously promised to do. Garcelon and his crew seem determined to omit nothing which can win for them the contempt of honest and honorable men.

—A recently published French book of etiquette, the "Almanch du Savior-Vivre," asserts that no modest girl will shake hands with gentlemen.

—Once upon a time Roger, the tenor, who has just died at Paris, was engaged to sing at a private soiree given by a money-king—terms for two songs, 1500 francs. During the first piece the illustrious artist could hardly hear himself sing for the buzzy conversation. When the time came for the second song, no Roger was to be found. By the first mail next morning the money-king received a note from the indignant artist inclosing him 2000 francs, "The extra five hundred," Roger wrote, "being for any trouble I may have caused by interrupting your conversation with my singing."

"There's nothing better for a replenishing drink," said Mrs. Partington, stirring the contents of the tumbler, "than Sanford's Jamaica Ginger. It lucubrates the tonsors of the throat when dry, and when one is exasperated with fatigue, it accelerates and refreshes him. Look not on the wine which is read about in the newspapers, when you can git SANFORD'S GINGER as a subterfuge." She drank.

We were exposed last week to a pitiless storm, that wet our feet and stockings, and indeed our person all over. In fact we took a cracking cold, which brought sore throat and severe symptoms of fever. The good wife asserted her authority, plunged our feet into hot water, wrapped us in hot blankets, and sent our faithful son for a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is a splendid medicine—pleasant to take, and did the job. We slept soundly through the night and awoke the next morning. We owe our quick recovery to the Pectoral, and shall not hesitate to recommend it to all who need such a medicine. — Tehuacana (Texas) Presbyterian.

Who is Mrs. Winslow?

As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of thirty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has specially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is moreover sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article, Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are daily sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No mother has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it, mothers—try it now.—Ladies' Visitor, New York City. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 2

A Constant Source of Wonder.

Why is it that the winners of the prizes in the Louisiana State Lottery Company always seem to be men who are pretty sharp in the ways of the world? Editors, Printers, Hotel Clerks, Bankers, Telegraph Operators, Merchants, and many other professions and occupations seem to have a special knack of hitting the right number. The people enumerated have the best means of fully convincing themselves that the statements made by the company are reliable and true, and that as sure as the sun rises on the sixteenth of December next, the semi-annual extraordinary distribution will take place at New Orleans, under the sole management of Generals G. T. Beauregard and Jubal A. Early, when over a half a million of dollars will be distributed. The full particulars of which can be had of M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., or same person at No. 319 Broadway, New York City, N. Y.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefits."

AROUND HOME.

Joshua, that pot of beans was good.

You did it well, Messrs. Mechanics and Manufacturers.

Has anybody seen the tail of Biela's comet? It is five days overdue, and no shower of meteorites yet.

A flock of forty-five gulls, scattered over the ice at the upper end of the south pond, attracted much attention and admiration Tuesday noon.

The temperance meeting at Bow Mission hall will be omitted this evening on account of the regular meeting of the Young Men's Christian association.

Rev. Dr. Alden will lecture in Concord, Thursday evening, the 4th inst., subject "Jerusalem and its environs;" instead of "Social life in Egypt," as previously announced.

The number of colonels at the anniversary Tuesday night was almost alarming. We counted eleven; we think there were more, and will not attempt to publish their names for fear of leaving out some one.

Rev. George W. Bicknell, formerly pastor of the Universalist church of this city, now of Philadelphia, has received a call from the First Universalist society of Lowell, Mass., to become pastor at a salary of $2000.

EVENING ENTERTAINMENTS.

In the neighboring city of Dover, every ticket for the "Star course" of entertainments was promptly disposed of, and it would seem as if such a result should follow the liberal provision made for our people for their winter evenings' amusement and instruction. The manager of the Rockingham course has at no little expenditure of time, labor and money, prepared a most liberal entertainment for the people of Portsmouth at this season.

Very many persons were disappointed at not having the opportunity of hearing Hon. Sam'l S. Cox of New York, because it is so rare these days that an opportunity is afforded to listen to a lecture of a non-political character from a prominent public man.

It will be seen by the advertisement that the manager has, with characteristic liberality and enterprise, secured in lieu of Mr. Cox's lecture the Boston Museum company, and all Portsmouth can now have an opportunity of "seeing Warren" in his great master-piece which has been so heartily enjoyed by frequenters of the Museum.

Of the English Opera company our readers are too well informed to need any prediction as to their performance, or any quotation as to their success in other cities. Miss Nella F. Brown and the B. Listenman Concert Company appeared at Music hall in Boston on Sunday evening, anda Boston audience's approbation is an endorsement it will be safe to rely upon. The manager we are told is in treaty for additional attractions, so that there will be no lack either in variety or excellence, in the entertainments to succeed that of next week. For the cost of these enjoyments, the prices of tickets are certainly astonishingly low, and the hall should be filled to witness such programmes as are announced in the advertisement.

It is of no little consequence to our people that the efforts exerted to present an acceptable course of entertainments should be appreciated; and we trust our readers will act upon this suggestion. While the minstrels and variety troupes always draw full houses in our city whenever their appearance is announced, those who can enjoy a more cultivated and profitable kind of entertainment should not be backward in evincing their good taste by their liberal encouragement of efforts made in their behalf in this direction.

N. H. S. P. C. A.

The annual meeting of this society was held at the Common Council room at eight o'clock Monday evening. The annual report of the secretary, showing 126 cases investigated and attended to during the past year, was read and accepted. The treasurer's report was read, showing receipts of $151 from membership fees and a balance of $48.36 in the treasury. Mrs. Pickering, in behalf of the trustees of the permanent fund, reported the receipt of $242.76 in donations and interest during the past year. The permanent fund now amounts to $1031.10, and is to be kept invested and the interest added until the total fund shall reach $5000; after that time the interest will be used to defray the current expenses of the society. The receipt of $5.00 for the permanent fund from a friend in New York was also reported.

It was voted to proceed to the election of directors, and the following persons were elected directors for the ensuing year: Mrs. John J. Pickering, Miss Eliza Rice, Mrs. H. C. Knight, Mrs. F. W. Miller, Miss Mary A. Foster, James R. May, Charles W. Gardner, Mrs. Alfred W. Haven, Miss Elizabeth H. Pearson, Miss Carrie A. Morrison, Miss Mary R. Lyman, Miss Susan E. Christie, Augustus W. Odiorne, Joseph B. Upham, Jr., Miss Annie F. Jenness.

The president read an annual address; and it was voted to print in pamphlet form the president's address and the secretary's and treasurer's reports. At the meeting of the directors, held immediately after the annual meeting of the society, the secretary's report for the last two months was read. The following officers were elected:

President, Thomas E. O. Marvin.

Vice Presidents, Mrs. Stanton Parker, Mrs. Albert L. Jones, Mrs. Ichabod Goodwin, Mrs. Ezra H. Winchester, Miss Annie F. Jenness, J. S. H. Frink, Frank Jones, Alfred O. Larkin, Alexander H. Ladd.

Secretary, Charles F. Batchelder.

Treasurer, Mary A. Foster.

Trustees of Permanent Fund, Mrs. John J. Pickering, Portsmouth; Frederick Smyth, Manchester; Josiah B. Sanborn, Concord.

Counsel, John S. H. Frink.

Miss Foster declined and Dr. J. R. May was chosen treasurer. The thanks of the society were tendered Miss Foster for her services as treasurer; also to Dr. May for his liberality in allowing the society the use of his office for meetings of the directors.

Miss Eliza A. Haven and Charles E. Batchelder were elected life members of the society.

THE MECHANICS' ASS'N.

The Associated Mechanics and Manufacturers of the State of Hampshire celebrated their 77th anniversary by a social gathering at their hall in Mechanic's block, Tuesday evening.

This organization was instituted on the 4th of November, 1802, and incorporated June 10th, 1803, by an act of the legislature. This association is the oldest incorporated Mechanic's Association in the country, and was founded for the purpose of promoting and encouraging industry, good habits, and an increase of knowledge in the mechanic arts which would prove beneficial to the mechanic interest of the State; also for the promotion of good order, the assisting of each other in times of distress, and to add to the dignity, respectability and prosperity of those citizens who, "placing a generous confidence in each other, agree to be governed as a society."

The first meeting was held in the west chamber of the State house.

The first president of the association was Nathaniel Gookin. After the act of incorporation was granted Tobias Walker was chosen president and held the position five years. He was succeeded by James Hill, two years; Luke M. Laighton, one year; Joseph Clark, two years; Langly Boardman, one year; William Simes, one year; George Ham, four years; Benjamin Holmes, two years; Benjamin Carter, two years; John Badger, two years; Hanson M. Hart, two years; Nathaniel Folsom, one year; Ebenezer Lord, one year; John Smith, three years; John Locke, two years; John S. Davis, two years; John Knowlton, two years; Henry Bufford, two years; Charles Hardy, one year; James Coffin, two years; Charles W. Brewster, two years; Samuel Shackford, two years; Edmund M. Brown, two years; Robert Neal, two years; William Bodge, two years; Jonathan Parker, two years; Thomas Norton, two years; William Tucker, two years; Samuel W. Moses, two years; Marcellus Bufford, two years; John Knowlton, 2d, two years; John T. Dame, four years; William A. Vaughan, Jr., two years; Isaiah Wilson, two years; F. W. Miller, two years; Lewis G. Davis, two years. Thomas E. O. Marvin has held the position one year, and was re-elected to the second term.

Almost at the formation of the association its members commenced to dabble in stocks, which has been kept up to a certain extent, up to the present day.

This association has celebrated its anniversaries in various ways; in the earlier days generally by a public procession, address by some member of the society, and a collation. The association has always been ready to participate in any suitable public demonstration, and have on many occasions appeared alone. On Feb. 25th, 1815, the ratification of the treaty of peace was celebrated by the association with a public procession under escort of the Light Infantry and a band of music. On the 16th of July, 1817, a delegation of members of the association waited upon President James Monroe, then stopping in town, and through Hon. Abner Greenleaf presented to him an address of welcome, which was replied to in a happy manner. In 1822 the association instituted an apprentices' library, which was continued until the year 1847, the books being sold at auction among the members. In the year 1848 several important changes in the constitution were made, which have resulted satisfactorily. In 1865 the association established its reading-room in the lower story of the Nowell building, for the use of the members and their apprentices. In 1867 the members of the association, with their wives and friends, celebrated their sixty-fifth anniversary by an excursion to Portland. In 1868 the association purchased the lot and buildings at the corner of Congress and Fleet streets, costing them (purchase money and improvements,) $16,900. They established a reading room in the second story, the remaining portion being rented. This purchase was at the time considered very advantageous to the association, which afterward proved to be correct. This building was burned on the 16th of March, 1873, and the association voted the same year to build the present structure.

As we refer back to the list of the former members of this honored association we see such names as John W. Abbott, Langley Boardmen, Henry Bufford, Gideon Beck, Benjamin Carter, Daniel P. Drown, Frederick W. Fernald, Robert Gray, Samuel Gookin, Joseph W. Green, Daniel Knight, David Moulton, Tobias H. Miller and Thomas Norton,—we mention these as we have heard them often talked of, or personally knew them,—and many others equally deserving of notice; men who strictly followed the principles under which the association was formed. And we think that the standard of membership, from the organization of the association up to the present time, is as high as that of any in the country.

By a vote of the association it was agreed to celebrate the anniversaries by social gatherings, in order that the members and their families should meet together socially, and form ties of friendship which would serve to increase the interest.

The several committees appointed to take charge of the arrangements this year attended to their duty faithfully; the hall and tables were arranged in perfect order, and everything was neat and attractive. The rooms were filled with the members and their families, but there was an abundance of refreshments for all. Ex-Mayor Marvin, president of the association, was presiding officer of the evening. After the banquet had been properly attended to, the company joined in singing an ode, to "Auld lang syne," after which the following were installed as officers of the association for the ensuing year:

President, Thomas E. O. Marvin;
Vice President, William A. Hodgdon;
Secretary, Joseph R. Curtis;
Treasurer, John Knowlton;
Deputy Secretary, John M. Davis;
Marshal, Frank W. Miller;
Deputy Marshal, George W. Pendexter;
Standard Bearer, James H. Crombie;
Directors, William G. Billings, Joshua M. Vaughan, Charles E. Leach, Charles H. Downs, Michael J. Vaughan, John Pender.

After the installation Mr. C. W. Gardner, as toast-master, read the following sentiments, preceding them with a few words of apology as follows: "Before proceeding with the remainder of the programme, I wish to say a word or two in self-defence. The unfortunate illness of our esteemed friend and brother, Hon. Marcellus Bufford, compelled the managers of this occasion at the eleventh hour to seek for another to act in the capacity of toast-master. The eleventh hour, did I say? no, it was the twelfth hour; for I knew nothing of this matter until about sundown to-night. But at the solicitation of the committee on programme, I reluctantly—and no doubt foolishly—consented to appear here as proxy for my friend Bufford. I trust you will be kind enough to draw no comparisons; and also that you will bear with my inexperience and inability while I try to discharge the duties that are thus suddenly thrust upon me."

Our honored citizen and ex-governor. We always welcome with great pleasure our venerable and highly-esteemed citizen, Hon. Ichabod Goodwin — distinguished alike for his honesty, ability and patriotism. The mechanics of the city bear in greatful remembrance his many cheering words and deeds of kindness, and recognize in him a true friend in prosperity or adversity. Long may his years of usefulness be continued to him.

Responded to by Ex-Gov. Goodwin.

The plane, the trowel, the anvil and other implements of labor; in the hands of the skillful mechanic, they rear as monuments of architecture which are the pride and boast of the republic.

Reponse by Mr. Knowlton.

Our Mechanics. The bone and muscle of the nation; in time of war our great dependence, without whose aid our defence would have proved fruitless; and in time of peace, our capital would be useless.

Response by Mr. E. M. Brown.

Our country and our institutions—the hope of the world.

Response by Rev. E. M. Grant.

Our wives and daughters. The light of our homes, both useful and ornamental, models to be praised and to be copied from.

Response by Rev. Mr. McGinley.

Response by Mr. S. W. Clarke.

Our mayor. Although young in years, his Sise is one that fits with the position he is called to fill.

Responded to by Mayor Sise.

The deceased officers and members of the association—their memory is sacred.

Response by N. D. Miller, Esq.

The press—the mighty lever which moves the world; the advocate and defender of the people's rights. Without it we should grope about in the depths of darkness.

Response by Mr. Charles W. Gardner.

Hon. Daniel Marcy: a son of Portsmouth whose fortune, acquired by skill and industry, has been used for the benefit of the mechanics and workingmen of his native city, and whose generosity and kindness of heart endear him to all of us.

Response by Capt. Ross.

The clergy—if true to their calling, our exemplars. May their precept and example be such that it would be wise to follow.

Response by Col. Wm. H. Hackett.

Remarks were also made by Messrs. Emmons B. Philbrick, John H. Broughton, Wm. Russell Foster and R. H. Perkins; and letters were read from President Slack of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics' Ass'n, President Giddings of the Maine Mechanics' Ass'n, Rev. Jas. DeNormandie and Mr. James R. Stanwood, regretting inability to be present. The party separated at a late hour.

Much credit is due to the lady committee for the perfection of their arrangements, and especially for the expeditious manner in which the tables were set forth in the short time during which they were allowed the use of the hall, it being occupied the larger portion of the day as a school-room.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Andrew J. Small, Esq., editor of the Biddeford Times, while attending divine service in that city on Sunday suffered a shock of paralysis.

Lieut. D. G. McRitchie, who has been on leave of absence for a month, resumed command of the Tallapoosa on Tuesday, relieving Lieut. Joseph E. Jones, who has been in command during his absence.

Mr. James E. Price, for many years past the pilot of the United States despatch boat Tallapoosa, died on board that vessel at the navy yard Monday night, shortly after midnight. Mr. Price has for some time been in indifferent health, and was advised to remain behind at Washington when the steamer left that navy yard, but refused to do so; he was however unable to appear on deck during the passage, and was taken with spasms on Monday evening, death resulting in a few hours. Heart disease is the supposed cause.

Things That are Hard to Find.

A man who will refrain from calling his friend's speech a "happy effort."

A woman who remembers last Sunday's text, but is unable to speak understandingly of the trimmings on the bonnet of the lady in the pew next in front.

An editor who never feels pleased to have his good things credited, or mad when they are stolen.

A pencil that is always in the first pocket you put your hand into.

A man who has been a fool some time during his life and knows enough to keep the knowledge of it to himself.

A married woman who never said, "No wonder the girls don't get married nowadays; they are altogether different from what they were when I was a girl."

An unmarried woman who never had an offer.

A man who never intimated that the economies of the universe were subject to his movements by saying, "I knew if I took an umbrella it wouldn't rain," or some similar asinine remark.

A pocket-knife that is never in "them other pants."

A mother who never said she "would rather die it myself" when she should have taught her child to do that thing.

A child who would not rather eat between meals than at meals.

A person (age or sex immaterial) who does not experience a dash of pride upon being thought what he is not and may never hope to be.

A singer who never complains of a cold when asked to sing.

Speer's Medicinal Sambuci Wine for Females.

This wine is made from the juice of cultivated Sambucus fruit. The best judges pronounce it perfect. It is being highly recommended as a family wine by some of the best families in the States; and has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally in this country and Europe, as a very superior wine for consumption, kidney difficulties, female weakness and general debility, and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. The virtues attributed to the wine are numerous and long standing; and it is pleasant to know that some person has succeeded in making and putting in market a pure article of wine for medicinal uses.

THE GREAT SKIN CURE,

The most Healing, Soothing, and Refreshing External Application in the World.

It rapidly heals Ulcers, Old Sores, and Discharging Wounds; Itching Piles and other Itching eruptions that have been the torture of a lifetime, thus affording unspeakable gratification to thousands; Burns, Scalds, Wounds, and Festers; all Itching and Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and all Affections of the Scalp, including Loss of Hair. Nothing like it has ever been known to the most intelligent physicians. It has swept a host of poisonous remedies out of existence. It is revolutionary in its composition and mode of treatment and succeeds in curing every external affection. At every stage it is ably assisted by CUTICURA SOAP, which is a part of itself medicinally and at the same time the most elegantly fragrant and refreshing Toilet, Bath, and Nursery soap in existence.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful purifying agent and liver stimulant, should be taken to neutralize and resolve away blood poisons, caused by the virus of scrofula, cancer, malarial or contagious diseases, which maintain and foster diseases of the Skin and Scalp.

SALT RHEUM.

Life a burden from the sufferings caused by this terrible disease.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Please accept my most grateful thanks for the great, very great, comfort I have received from the use of your CUTICURA.

For the past eight or nine years I have been troubled with that dreadful disease, Salt Rheum. For months I would be helpless,—my very life a burden to be.

I tried and everything in the shape of medicine, both internal and external, but without effect.

My hands were in a terrible condition, the backs of them being all raw, and I thought I would try CUTICURA.

I tried it, and it was as if a miracle had been performed, for I will take my oath that in three applications my hands were as smooth as a newborn babe's.

I presume there are hundreds, if not thousands, who now of my disease, and to whom there may be some one similarly afflicted, and if so I would earnestly advise him to give CUTICURA a trial.

Yours, very thankfully,
A. D. BAKER, Police Agent, C. S. R. R.

TETTER OR SALT RHEUM

On the hands Cured. A grateful letter.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having been troubled for many years with the Tetter or Salt Rheum, and spent many hard-earned dollars, I was given a trial of your CUTICURA, and thank God, my hands are well. I never had anything do me good like that.

You may put this in the paper and welcome, and may it do some other poor sufferer the same good it has done me! I am well known here, having lived here nearly fifteen years and kept boarders for a living, and sometimes my heart was sore, thinking I would have to give up altogether with my sore hands, and having a small family to take care of; but oh! thank God, my hands are well, and I again return thanks.

Yours respectfully,
ELIZABETH BUCKLEY,
LITTLETON, N. H., May 30, 1878.

The World for 1880.

Democrats everywhere should inform themselves carefully alike of the action of their party throughout the country and of the movements of their Republican opponents. A failure to do this in 1876 contributed greatly to the loss by the Democrats of the fruits of the victory fairly won at the polls.

The year 1880 promises to be one of the most interesting and important years of this crowded and eventful century. It will witness a Presidential election which may result in reestablishing the Government on the lines laid down by the principles of its constitutional founders, or in permanently changing the relations of the States to the federal power and to intelligent man can regard such an election with indifference, the World, as the only daily English newspaper published in the city of New York which upholds the doctrines of constitutional Democracy, will steadily represent the Democratic party in this great contest. It will do this in no spirit of servile partisanship, but temperately and firmly.

As a newspaper the World, being an organ of no man, no clique and no interest, will present the fullest and the fairest picture it can make of such a pending history in the city, the State, the country and the world. It will aim hereafter, as heretofore, at accuracy first of all things in its editorial judgment. No man, however humble, shall ever be permitted truly to complain that he has been unjustly dealt with in the columns of the World, and no interest, however powerful, shall ever be permitted truly to boast that it can silence the fair criticism of the World.

During the past season the World has seen its daily circulation trebled and its weekly circulation pushed far beyond that of any other weekly newspaper in the country. This great increase has been won, as the World believes, by truth, fullness, enterprise, ceaseless activity in collecting news and unswerving loyalty to interest and its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It is our hope and it will be our endeavor that the World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of this Indissoluble Union of Indestructible States.

The Sun for 1880.

The Sun will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1st until December 31st it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

As a newspaper, the Sun believes in getting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep abreast of the age with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the greatest number—that is the law controlling its daily make-up. It now has a circulation very much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it is at all times prepared to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions, rich and all ways of thinking buy and read the Sun; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs, the Sun believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, illustrated by the American principles and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to print what is good and expropriate what is evil, making over that its language is to the point, and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood. It will continue to be influenced by motives that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with the price in his pocket, and reckless even more than it hates unnecessary words. It abhors frauds, pities fools, and delivers misfortunes and misdeeds to their victims, whether sound or mistaken, are its friends. And the Sun makes no bones of telling its friends to its enemies and about its friends when ever occasion arises for plain speaking.

These are the principles upon which the Sun will be conducted during the year to come.

The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to public affairs. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the exciting contests of the Republican and Democratic parties, now nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying drift of public sentiment, will all bear directly and effectively upon the twenty-fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November the will of the nation, as expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an unmistakable conspiracy, the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The world of corruption, allied with a corrupt, extravagant, and insolent Administration intrenched at Washington. The Sun did something toward dislodging that party of villains from power. The same men are now intriguing to remove their leader and put another in his place, which they were driven by the indignation of the people. Will they succeed? The coming year will bring the answers to these momentous questions. The Sun will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they are developed, and to exhibit them in their true light, fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right.

Thus, with a habit of philosophical good humor looking at the bright side of life, and at great things a steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors, the Sun is prepared to write a truthful, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of 1880.

Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 85 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, post-paid.

The Sunday edition of the Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. A dress I. W. ENGLAND,

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injurious results of trusses, may be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once faltered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it, and has recourse to trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his superior skill practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York; and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturdays, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use the hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair,

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I was quite afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a fetor so bad that my presence in a room with other was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was not troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD.

Short Hand Writer.

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S CURE arrived safe to-night all right. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have tried Nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to stop the offensive discharge, I have not been able to recover my senses of taste and smell until I tried SANFORD'S CURE. You can refer any one you choose to me, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

HE WAS A CHICAGO MAN.

You never can get ahead of Chicago. A young man of this city had long paid attention to one of the fairest daughters of Cleveland, now visiting here, and had been engaged to her, when, suddenly, for some reason or other, she concluded to marry some one else. The unsuspecting young man went to call on her, at her aunt's house, on Calumet avenue, last week, and as she drew back her ruby lips, when he prepared to greet her with a loving kiss, he at once thought there was something up, and glancing at her again, he noticed that she wore none of his gifts, which he conjectured were in an ominous looking parcel on the sofa. This conjecture was subsequently proved to be correct.

"Mr. So-and-so," she said—she had been wont to address him as "Augustus" and "darling"—"Mr. So-and-so, I have consulted my heart seriously, and discovered what I have often suspected—that we are not fitted to make each other happy. It is better that we should part—our engagement is at an end."

Her words sank into him like blue pills, and he felt a deadly tugging at his heart-strings, but he instantly composed himself, and settled upon a plan of action. Bounding joyfully from his chair, he danced lightly around the room, shouting, "Hurrah! You are the bulliest girl in the universe. I feel as though the whole Palmer house had been lifted off of my manly bosom."

The beautiful girl gazed at him for a moment, as if she thought he had bidden a long farewell to all his gray brain matter, and said, "What does this mean?"

"Mean?" cried the young man, walking on his hands up and down the sumptuous drawing-room; "why it means I'm free. I've been trying to muster up courage to ask you for two weeks past to cancel our engagement, but I couldn't—it would have been going back on my word, and besides, I knew that husbands at this period of commercial depression were hard to get."

"Sir-r-r!" said she, glancing at him like a tigar-cat, "your presents are all in this package. Take them and return me mine. This painful interview had, perhaps, better be brought to an end."

"I'll send you all that I can find, but I guess our cook carried off your Tennyson with marked passages in it—I lent it to her; and some of your locks of hair, and pressed rose-buds and things, I burned when I was cleaning up my room the other day; and as for your ring, I don't think Cora will give it to me."

"And, pray, who may this creature, 'Cora,' be? Is she the cook at your boarding-house?"

"Oh, bless you, no—she's the girl I'm in love with, and that I'm going to propose to, this very evening, as soon as you give me that package of presents and let me go. I hope you didn't forget to put the diamond ear-rings I gave you into it; I'll give them to her and be $200 ahead."

The beautiful Cleveland girl's cheeks glowed so that you could have lighted a match at them if you hadn't been afraid of having your fingers burned off by the glare in her eyes.

"Tell me about this 'Cora' of yours. Is she good-looking?"

"Good-looking!" said the young man, excitedly; "hold on till I show you her picture;" and he searched eagerly in his pocket. "No, I must have left it in my other coat. Well, never mind; she's a beauty. I used to think you were pretty fair looking, but you—. Hair so long that she steps on it when it is let down, and she tries to walk; eyes that make you feel as if you were getting back a ten dollar bill you had never expected to see again; a waist very much like yours, only much smaller, and as for her feet—why, you couldn't put more than forty per cent of your toes into her boots. Well, good night, Miss What's-your name; I told her I'd be round to-night if I could. I'll trouble you for that package."

"Augustus So-and-so," she hissed in a low, concentrated tone, putting the package of presents away under the chair, "if you go out of this house before one o'clock to-morrow morning, I'll scream. And I want you to understand that our engagement is to hold, and if you don't marry me by the first day of November, which will be as soon as I can get my trousseau ready, I'll sue you for breach of promise, laying the damages at $500,000; I've letters from you that will make the jury find for the plaintiff without leaving the box. And if you ever mention that wretched creature's name to me again the longest day you live, I'll shoot you, and scratch her eyes out—there! I don't care for you one bit, but I'm going to marry you out of spite."

And she hurled herself into his arms like a whirlwind, and sobbed upon his shoulder. He smoothed her hair, and called her a large assortment of pet names, and observing his image in the glass, over the mantlepiece, winked at it rapturously.

They are to be married on Hallowe'en night.

You never can get ahead of Chicago.—Chicago paper.

The Bicycle.

A good bicyclist can easily out-travel a horse, and journeys have been made on these instruments which are indeed wonderful. A mile has been made in England in two minutes and fifty-three seconds, and in the United States in a trifle over three minutes, while a journey of 100 miles has been performed over country roads in seven hours and nineteen minutes, and a trip of 212 miles in twenty-three hours and fifty-four minutes. Two gentlemen in England rode a journey of 858 miles in eleven days, an average of seventy-nine miles a day, and two French bicyclists made a trip of 827 leagues in twenty-seven riding days, or an average of about ninety-two miles per day. In the United States, Mr. H. E. Parkhurst rode from Boston to South Farmington and back, a distance of forty miles, without a stop, in three hours and thirty-six minutes, and Messrs. F. S. and E. P. Jaquith rode 100 miles in the suburbs of Boston in eleven hours and forty-five minutes, including stops. Hundreds of gentlemen in England use these vehicles, who cannot afford horses and whose business requires extensive running about, and as a substitute for the horse within certain limits it is the most complete machine ever invented. There are seventeen bicycle clubs in the United States, and this method of locomotion is gaining ground in the favor of those who incline to rapid locomotion which shall be under their own control.

Elections.

Municipal elections took place in several Massachusetts cities on the 2d inst. In Gloucester the republican candidate for mayor was elected by 306 majority over the present democratic mayor, who was a candidate for re-election; score one for the Cape Ann Bulletin. Fall River elected a republican mayor; aldermen a tie; council republican. In Springfield and Lawrence the republicans won, their victory in the latter city being overwhelming. Hon. John K. Tarbox, the democratic candidate for mayor, being 335 votes behind his republican competitor. The democrats carried Holyoke; the republicans carried Newton and New Bedford.

The democrats carried New Haven, Conn., on the 2d inst., by a large majority, making considerable gains.

The Louisiana State election was held on the 2d inst. Of course the democratic "ring" candidates were successful, and "heavy democratic gains" are reported all over the State.

News and Notes.

In both branches of Congress, on the 2d inst., resolutions were introduced in favor of the project for the construction of an inter-oceanic canal via Nicaragua as a necessity for the prosperity of the commerce of the world and the interests of the United States. It is now considered probable that there will be no financial legislation this session. A large number of bills and resolutions were introduced.

An engineer at the Union shaft at Virginia City, Nev., at the changing shift, Tuesday, the 2d inst., ran a cage into the sheaves. Eighteen men were in the cage and on the skip beneath. Nearly all were more or less injured, and T. O. McCarty has since died. Several others, it is feared, are fatally hurt. The engineer left immediatly after the accident. A committee of miners are looking for him.

At Waco, Texas, on the evening of the 1st inst., during a dance, Bud Wood asked Miss Grace Stanfield to dance with him, which she declined. He became angry, and demanded the dance to cease. Wood then followed Will Currie into a back room, and provoked a fight. Currie knocked him down with the tongs. The two men then met outside the house and had a duel with pistols. A dozen shots were exchanged. Currie was wounded in the hand, and a bystander in the leg. George Wood was shot in the thigh. Bud Wood then went where Miss Stanfield was talking with Albert Chock, and made two attempts to shoot her; then remarking to Chock "You are a friend of Currie," shot Chock dead. He knocked Jim Currie senseless with the pistol, and then escaped.

The democracy has been feeling around blindly since the election, for a "strong man." Uncle Sammy will manage to get into the place to be caught.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. Jonathan Daniels, eighty years of age, postmaster of Middleton for several years, was found frozen to death in that town on the morning of Sunday, the 30th ult. He for some time past had had spells of mental aberration, and had been in the habit of sleeping alone nights, and his wife in an adjoining room. On Thanksgiving night, somewhere near midnight, the wife heard him get up and raise a window. She immediately arose to see what the matter was, and saw him just as he passed out through the window. She went out through the door as quick as she could, but Mr. Daniels had got away out of sight before she could overtake him. She then gave the alarm, and raising the neighbors, they started in pursuit. They kept up the hunt until Sunday morning, when they found him not far from the house in a clump of bushes, dead. There was no evidence of violence, and the probability is that in his partially insane condition he became exhausted, threw himself upon the ground, and froze to death.

On the night of the 1st inst. the barn of Micajah Wentworth of Gonic was burned by an incendiary fire, with forty tons of hay and the farming tools; the cattle in the barn were saved. Insured.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1st.

There will be a defined movement in favor of the creation of a new bureau under the interior department this winter, to be called the mining bureau, to be officered by scientific and practical men. For a long time there has been felt a need of some means to guide people in the investment of money and the employment of labor in this industry, which has proved to be one of the largest in the country. The development of new mines in the older eastern States, as Virginia, North Carolina and Maine, has increased the desire for some government supervision of the subject, in order that investors and active business men may be protected against imposition, and that other valuable mining districts may be developed. There is very substantial backing to this movement. I learn that nearly all the trustworthy mining authorities desire some such bureau, and that it is opposed only by the sharks who feed upon the ignorance of the public as to mining stocks, and the impossibility of gaining correct information without being inside "the ring." Such a bureau could be so managed as to pay its way directly, for men who are interested in the business would be willing to pay a small fee for assurance of safety in this matter, as in the matter of patents or copyrights. As there appears to be no opposition to this movement, of an honest or substantial nature, there seems little doubt that it may succeed in Congress.

Speaking of this reminds one of another project which will receive a good deal of attention shortly. It relates to the cumbersome interior department, and points to the division and simplification of its work. There are bureaus that ought to be added, and bureaus that ought to be taken away from it. The pension bureau ought to be given to the war department, which has all the records to which it is necessary to refer now in the examination of claims. The patent office is still more foreign to this department, and the secretary of the interior has no more to do with it than he has with naval construction. The patent office should be independent of any department. On the other hand, the agricultural department, with the Indian, the land, and all other bureaus relating to internal affairs, like the proposed mining bureau, should compose the interior department. This would promote the public business, and be a more economical arrangement than the present.

Republicans who have arrived here express strong preference for Hon. W. E. Chandler for chairman of their national committee, in place of the late Ex-Senator Chandler, and it looks as though he would be the favorite of the committee when it meets here in December.

The New York arrivals talk freely of the outcome of the republican victory in that State. General Arthur is expected to be sent to the Senate in place of Mr. Kernan, and General George H. Sharpe is expected to be elected speaker of the New York assembly. It will be recollected that Messrs. Cornell, Arthur and Sharpe were the three men dropped from the list of official favorites, by the administration, and if these events should come to pass it would be singular indeed.

New Publications.

The Atlantic Monthly is to contain more good things than ever, and in more inviting form. Beginning with the January number, it is to be printed from larger type on a page considerably larger than the former, and will be increased to 144 pages. A new serial story, by Mr. Howells, begins in the January number, and will run through six months or more. This is one of the most gratifying announcements that could be made to American magazine readers. The fine life-size portrait of Dr. Holmes, which Messrs. Houghton, Osgood & Co. offer for a dollar to the subscribers for the Atlantic, can hardly fail to have a very large circulation; certainly not, if the American people remember how much the wise and witty "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" has contributed to the brightest and best, and most entertaining portion of American literature.

The reprint of the Westminster Review for October, lately issued by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., No. 41 Barclay street, New York, is full, as usual, of articles on subjects of interest at the present time. A paper on "The Federation of the English Empire" is devoted to a consideration of the question of representation, and the arrangement of the revenue and expenditure, and urges the adoption of a political system to embrace all the colonial possessions. As the land question is now rising into importance in England, we find an article on "The Law of Real Property," in which the inconveniences of the present laws on the subject are forcibly portrayed. "The Indian Mutiny" is an epitome of the great rising in 1857, based on Col. Malleson's recent history of the same. "India and our Colonial Empire" is a summary of recent events in the British colonies. Other articles are "Cavour and Lamarmora," "The Bohemians and Slovaks," and the customary short account of the principal recent publications under the head of "Contemporary Literature."

First Edition, 103,000.

So rapidly are orders increasing for the December Scribner that it is thought the first edition of 103,000 will not supply the demand. One cause of the recent increase in circulation, by which one hundred thousand November numbers were sold in two weeks, is undoubtedly due to the growing interest in the two serials, Henry James, Jr.'s "Confidence," which is one of his most fascinating character studies, and George W. Cable's novel of New Orleans life, "The Grandissimes." This latter, begun in November, will be the leading serial story of the year. Mr. Cable's "Old Creole Days" has attracted wide attention, and this, his first novel, promises to be among the strongest and most important works of fiction that have yet appeared in American literature. A new serial story by Mrs. Burnett, author of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," has also been secured and will begin in an early number. The special attractions of the December number include twenty poems by American women, comprising verse by many of our most prominent women writers; "Two Visits to Victor Hugo," by H. H. Boyesen, with a large portrait engraved by Cole; an illustrated description of the Johns Hopkins University, and an interesting paper by Burroughs on "Nature and the Poets." "The New Capitol at Albany" is critically described in an article of eighteen pages, with the aid of twenty-three drawings, and there are illustrated papers on "Coffee Culture in Brazil," "Success with Small Fruits," etc., etc.

"The Reign of Peter the Great," by Eugene Schuyler, will begin in the February number. The illustrations for the first of this spendid series of Historical Papers are now almost completed, and include reproductions of famous Russian paintings, cut on the wood by American engravers, who are pronounced by the London Saturday Review "the best in the world." Sold, and subscription received, by book-sellers and news-dealers, at $4.00 a year, thirty-five cents a number. "A Portfolio of Proof Impressions" of the best engravings from the pages of Scribner and St. Nicholas (edition limited to 1,000) will be ready about December 1st. Price $10.00. See December Scribner for extended notices. Scribner & Co., New York.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly relieve pain, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and it is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the side, back or bowels, sore throat, rheumatism, toothache and all aches.

The great reliever of pain, "Brown's Household Panacea," should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water (sweetened, if preferred), taken at bedtime, will break up a cold. 25 cents a bottle.

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. Brown's Vermifuge Comfits, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. Twenty-five cents a box. t,th&f

AROUND HOME.

Wednesday was like one of the dreamy days of September.

Smelts, frost fish, plaice and sculpins are being caught off the city wharves.

Rev. C. B. Pitblado has been compelled to cancel three weeks' engagements in lecturing on account of bronchial trouble.

John C. Sanborn of Hampton Falls has purchased a large and heavily-timbered lot in Kingston. The wood thereon is to be cut during the winter.

The winter term of the South school in Rye commenced its winter term on Monday, the 1st inst., forty-four pupils being present. Miss Jane E. Frink of Newington is the teacher.

Steamer Cambridge, bound from Boston for Bangor, put into the lower harbor shortly before midnight on Wednesday, the 3d inst., the wind at the time blowing a gale from the east-northeast, and snow falling thickly.

On Tuesday evening of this week Portsmouth Grange celebrated the twelfth anniversary of the institution of the order, at their hall on Congress street. The programme included a harvest supper, service of song, congratulatory remarks and a general good time for the large company present.

Dr. James Keith, of Covington, Ky., died at the Sea View house, Rye beach, Tuesday evening, the 2d inst., of embolism. Dr. Keith has been sick for several months, and for the last three months has been at the Sea View house, unable to risk the journey to his home. The remains have been placed in a metallic coffin and will leave for Covington this morning.

In a recently-published item concerning the life-saving station crew at Rye beach were several inaccuracies. The composition of the crew is as follows; Capt. Rufus W. Philbrick, in charge; George B. Caswell, Albert L. Remick, Jacob Moulton, Clarence H. Mathes, John F. Locke and George O. Remick. Four of the crew (including Capt. Philbrick) are married men. All are natives of Rye, and all have had some experience at sea.

The collection of ancient articles to be exhibited this evening at the Universalist vestry, promises to be of real value and rare merit. Specimens are loaned from several rare collections, and many articles from various sources will see light for the first time in many years. The collection will contain a watch belonging to John Murray, the first preacher of Universalism, which bears his name; a piece of embroidery 212 years old; a candlestick 250 years old; and many other articles of equal antiquity. It will be worth while to see this collection.

A referee case has been on trial the past week in the grand jury room, before Hon. Charles H. Bell. The case is about as follows: It seems that Arabella Rice made a will bequeathing her property to several institutions, and the executor failed to pay all the legacies, whereupon certain legatees instituted proceedings and obtained certain amounts from the executor. Now the other legatees, who were not so fortunate, have commenced litigation against the successful ones, to compel them to share with them the sums they obtained. The successful ones object to this because they went to considerable trouble to obtain theirs, and inasmuch as they deem it due to negligence that the others did not bring suit. The supreme court has left the case with Mr. Bell to decide whether these sums should be shared alike by all or not.—Exeter Gazette.

We return thanks to the unknown friend who forwarded to us through the mail a beautiful chromo of the "Humbug, Jr.," representing a cherub setting forth on a cruise in a mushroom for a boat, with a spire of herdsgrass for a mast, and a beech-leaf for a sail. But we wish to impress upon the mind of our unknown friend that the helmsman of the Humbug does not dress in the same way that the helmsman of the "Humbug, Jr.," is represented to do; the latter's raiment is of the severely "classic" order, while the helmsman of the Humbug Yachting & Fishing Association is noted as being a devotee of modern fashion in dress,—the only fault the Humbug's crew have ever had to find with him. He hates to row, it must be confessed; but then all the other members of the association are afflicted in the same way, so they don't say anything about it.

Haley & Co., of Dover, have sent 9000 barrels of apples to the South American markets this season.

Margaret Powers of Dover fell down stairs on Monday evening of this week, breaking her left arm and dislocating a finger on her right hand.

The granite curbing for the new sidewalk in front of the National block was laid on Wednesday, and if the weather permits the walk will be completed this week.

A fire in North Conway, Thursday evening, Nov. 27th, burned Fred B. Osgood's law office and F. A. Allen's dental rooms. The building was owned by the Kimball heirs of this city. Loss not stated.

The pretty corps of waiter girls at the Mechanics' supper on the evening of the 2d inst., were from the High school. They looked charming in their Normandy caps and white aprons, and more than gave satisfaction.

A temporary office for the telegraph operators is being built in the gentlemen's room at the Eastern railroad station in this city, to be used until the new office shall have been prepared under the improvements already commenced at the station.

A horse belonging to Dr. Potter got up a lively stampede all to himself, Wednesday morning of this week. The horse had been hitched in front of the residence of Josiah Morrison on Islington street, and became frightened at the noise of passing trains; the doctor in attempting to pacify the animal, unhitched him, when he broke away, throwing the doctor violently to the ground, and came down town at a tearing pace. The doctor, though feeling pretty stiff and sore from his fall did not go off duty; the horse was stopped on Market square by Mr. Daniel McCarty with much difficulty, Mr. McCarty receiving some severe bruises and having his clothing torn in the melee. Neither horse nor carriage was injured to any great extent.

A meeting of the Eliot Bridge Co. was held at the residence of Mr. William Flynn in South Berwick on the 1st inst., to take measures for procuring from the Maine legislature at the coming session an amendment to the charter of the company so as to allow of the construction of a draw only twenty-five feet wide, instead of thirty-five feet as now provided for. The narrower one it was asserted would answer every purpose, ann cost somewhere about $1000 less than the wide one. The corporators present voted to take the necessary action to procure the amendment. The company was very well represented, and remarks were made by Mr. Bracewell and C. H. Sawyer of Dover, Mr. Staples of Eliot, and Mr. Brackett of Greenland. Everything was harmonious, and the determination was fully expressed to put the bridge through as soon as possible.

MASONIC ELECTION.

At the annual communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, Wednesday evening of this week, officers for the ensuing term were elected as follows:

W. M., William H. Lovell;
S. W., Howe Call;
J. W., Wm. R. Foster;
Treasurer, Isaac Dow;
Secretary, John H. Cheever;
Representative to Grand Lodge, Thomas J. Mitchell;
Standing committee, Oliver G. Fernald, Samuel S. Fletcher.

AN IMPROVEMENT.

We are glad to be able to inform our business men that the mail which arrives at the Eastern railway station at eight minutes past nine o'clock in the evening, instead of being sent east to meet the western-bound train, as formerly, is now at once promptly sent to the post-office, where it is assorted on its arrival; so that persons desirous of leaving town on the early trains in the morning can be sure of receiving their letters arrived the night previously, at an early hour. The change is an important one, and has been brought about at the request of some of our business men. Postmaster Peirce, of course, appreciates the convenience of having the mails early assorted, instead of being delayed while the outgoing mails are being made up in the morning. The clerks will take turns in performing this evening service. We believe that this improvement in the saving of time in the receipt of mail matter will be suitably appreciated by all having business at the office.

NORTH HAMPTON GOOD TEMPLARS.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

At Saco, on the forenoon of the 1st inst., while a gang of five men were at work on the second-floor beams of an ice-house extension, the beams gave way and let them fall to the floor below, a distance of twenty-five feet. Calvin Boston of Saco was almost instantly killed; Hiram Hodgdon, Daniel Tappan and Thomas Dyer of Saco were injured, but not seriously; H. F. Roberts of Jackson escaped unhurt. The beams which gave way were forty feet long, spliced in the middle, and not supported from below.

At the home of Mr. John Milliken, in Buxton, on Thanksgiving day, there was a family gathering worthy of notice. The party at dinner numbered forty-eight persons, representing five generations, including Mrs. Betsey Lord, mother of the late Mrs. Milliken. Mr. and Mrs. Milliken had fourteen children, two of whom died forty years ago; since then the family circle has remained unbroken, save for the death of Mrs. Milliken about two years ago. Mr. Milliken's twelve surviving children (six boys and six girls) were all present at this Thanksgiving gathering. They are all married but one, and settled in York county, so near that they can get together at the old homestead in less than one hour's time.

Unselfishness of Farmers.

The Springfield Republican calls attention to a trait of farmers, in which it thinks they differ, as regards each other, from the members of any other guild. "Each man is eager to show his neighbor any new discovery or acquisition which he has possessed himself of that is likely to help on the business generally. If he thinks he has a 'good thing,' he wants others to know about it, whether it be the result of some successful experiment in raising a crop, an improved breed of cattle or variety of vegetables, or a package of superior seed which has come from a distance. Apparently he does not for a moment entertain the thought that it would be to his profit to keep such knowledge or specimens to himself. And if another farmer comes to see him, he is pleased to show all his possessions; and there are no corners of the place by which the visitor is hurried because some experimenting is going on there which the owner does not care to have seen, which is often the case when the visitor makes the grand rounds of a factory. Contrast this habit of the farmers with the way the neighboring merchants and manufacturers do their business. Why, when it was first proposed to connect the paper mills in Holyoke with their offices in this city by telephone, objection was at once raised that the papermakers might possibly learn each other's secrets as a consequence."

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and make your health perfect, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it at once. Read of it in another column.

Speer's Medicinal Sambucui Wine for Females.

This wine is made from the juice of cultivated Sambucus fruit. The best judges pronounce it superb. It is being highly recommended as a family wine by some of the best families in the States; and has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally in this country and Europe, as a very superior wine for consumption, kidney difficulties, female weakness and general debility, and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. The virtues attributed to the wine are numerous and long standing; and it is pleasant to know that some person has succeeded in making and putting in market a pure article of wine for medicinal uses.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

It is said that some of the alkaloids which enter into the combination of Fellows' Hypophosphites, are extracted from trees which attain to a great age, and that this fact suggest to Mr. Fellows' the idea of their employment. Whether the success of the preparation is due to this, we are not prepared to say, but the idea is a good one.

Have you these dangerous symptoms? Cough, pain in the side or breast, fever, short breath, night sweats, tickling, rising or soreness in the throat, diarrhœa, debility, asthmatic or bronchial affections; if so, use at once Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam. Trial bottles, 10 cts.; larger bottles, 35 and 75 cts.

The World for 1880.
Democrats everywhere should inform themselves carefully alike of the action of their party throughout the country and of the movements of their Republican opponents. A failure to do this in 1876 contributed greatly to the loss to the Democracy of the fruits of the victory fairly won at the polls.
The year 1880 promises to be one of the most interesting and important years of this crowded and crowd-making century. It will witness a Presidential election which may result in re-establishing the Government of this country on the principles of its constitutional founders, or in permanently changing the relations of the States to the Federal power. No intelligent man can reasonably remain with indifference. The World, as the only daily English newspaper published in the city of New York which upholds the doctrines of constitutional Democracy, will steadily represent the Democratic party in this great canvass. It will do this in no spirit of servile or unreasoning sentimentality and fealty.
As a newspaper the World, being, as it does, or no man, no clique and no interest, will present the fullest and the most impartial view of each day's passing history in the city, the State, the country and the world. It will aim hereafter, as heretofore, at accuracy first of all things in all that it publishes. No man, however humble, shall ever be permitted truly to complain that he has been unjustly dealt with in the columns of the World. No interest, however powerful, shall ever be permitted truly to boast that it can silence the fair criticism of the World.
During the past season the World has seen its daily circulation trebled and its weekly circulation pushed far beyond that of any other weekly newspaper in the country. This great increase has been won, as the World believes, by truthfulness, enterprise, ceaseless activity, a collecting news and unfaltering loyalty to itself and to its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It is our hope and it will be our endeavor that the World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of this Indissoluble Union of Indestructible States.
Our rates of subscription remain unchanged, and are as follows:
Daily and Sundays, one year, $10; six months, $5.50; three months, $3.
Daily, without Sundays, one year, $8; six months $4.25; three months, $2.25; less than three months, $1 a month.
The Sunday World, one year, $2.
The Monday World, containing the Book Review and "College Chronicle," one year, $1.50.
The Semi Week y We ld (Tuesdays and Fridays) —TWO DOLLARS a year. TO CLUB AGENTS an extra copy for club of ten, the Daily for club of twenty-five.
The Weekly World (Wednesday)—ONE DOLLAR a year. TO CLUB AGENTS an extra copy for club of ten, the Semi-Weekly for club of twenty, the Daily for club of fifty.

The Sun for 1880.
The Sun will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, more nearly well understood by everybody. From January 1st until December 31st it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.
As a newspaper, the Sun believes in getting all the news of the world into its pages, and putting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep well abreast of the age with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the greatest number—that is the law controlling its daily making-up. It now has a circulation very much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it is at all times prepared to expend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read the Sun; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.
In its commentaries upon events and affairs, the Sun believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, inspired by genuine American principles and based on a liberal variety of prejudices. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, or sect. It believes in the right for all, but of course, it will continue to praise what is good and reprobate what is evil, taking care that its language is plain and pointed, and that it shall leave no room for being misunderstood. It is uninfluenced by motives that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinion to sell, save the one which may be had for any purchaser with two cents. It hates injustice especially even more than it hates unnecessary words. It abhors frauds, pilfers fools, and deplores nincompoops of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to expose the first class, instruct the second, and discountenance the third. All honest men, with honest convictions, whether right or mistaken, are its friends. And the Sun makes no bones of telling the truth to its friends and about its friends whenever occasion arises for plain speaking.
These are the principles upon which the Sun will be conducted during the year to come.
The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to public affairs. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the utterances and the acts of Republican and Democratic parties, now nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying tones of public sentiment, will bear directly and effectively upon the twenty-fourth Presidential election to be held in November. Four years ago, at TWENTY-FOUR O'CLOCK, it was expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy, the promoters and benefitors of which sat in the Executive office then and there. With the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The past decade of years opened with a corrupt, expensive, and shiftless Administration, entrenched at Washington. The Sun did something in dislodging the gang and breaking its power. The same gang is at it again, and its store their leader and themselves to places from which they were driven by the indignation of the people. Will they succeed? The coming year will bring the answers to these momentous questions. The Sun will do its part in chronicling the facts as they are developed, and to exhort them clearly and fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right.
Thus, with a habit of philosophical good humor in looking at the minor affairs of life, and in treating them with a cheerfulness maintainable, the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors, the Sun is prepared to write a clear, vigorous, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of 1880.
Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of 56 big columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, post-paid.
The Sunday edition of the Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.
The price of the weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address, W. A. DANA,

RUPTURE
DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the well known cure for Rupture by local external applications.
No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.
Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.
HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE
gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his success in curing the worst cases of rupture, from men throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.
It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is
Dr. J. A. SHERMAN
251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.
In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday s, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.
The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

The Rising Cloud.

A Sermon on the attitude of the Roman Catholics toward the Public Schools of the United States, preached by JAMES DENORMANDIE, minister of the South Parish, Portsmouth, N. H., on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27th, 1879.

1 Kings, 18:44. Behold there ariseth a little cloud out of the sea, like a man's hand.

There never has been and there never can be a faithful Roman Catholic, who at the same time can be a trusted citizen of a republic. There may be laborers who perform their tasks with a certain fidelity, merchants of the average honesty in dealing with their customers, soldiers who as long as war brings only civil issues are brave and obedient, men and women in various official positions, who in ordinary times, and so long as there is no conflict between secular and ecclesiastical interests, may not be distinguished from other citizens, but the moment any question arises to touch their allegiance to the papacy they cannot be trusted as members of a republic. The ecclesiastical position and history of Romanism are peculiar. It has a record which cannot be misinterpreted. It has nurtured the spiritual gifts of many millions of souls and aroused them to heroic deeds of enthusiasm and sacrifice for their faith; it has created a religious art, ritualism and hierarchy which have been the glory of centuries, and it has done all this because it was in harmony with an autocratic system of government, in the midst of which it arose, and the extreme despotism of which it has far exceeded. It always has, and since a recent council ascribed infallibly to the Pope, demands more strictly than ever, the utter obedience of every one of its sect to the head of the church; and although that may be called a spiritual rather than temporal head, yet its spiritual functions have always been so interpreted as to include, define and direct all civil relations:—and whenever its interpretations of its subjects' duties or welfare conflict with those of the civil authorities there must be a struggle until one triumphs. The institutions and the whole theory of government in this land are entirely different from any among which Romanism has heretofore been planted and flourished. Of these institutions and theories two have been very prominent, that every person should be free to his religious opinions, and that these should not "curtail, diminish nor affect his civil capacities;" and that there should be a public and universal system of education. In accord with the first Romanism was as free from any other sect to introduce its worship; in accord with the second it has schools where its children may be educated at the general expense. But Romanism very soon found, what she always well knew, yet in her day of weakness could not speak against, that such a system of instruction was very apt to lead her children away from her fold, or at least, in the absence of constant drilling upon that point, to let them grow up with no definite reference or reverence for the authority of the church. As her strength grew, out of the necessary hospitality of democratic institutions to all sects, she began to assert the spirit which has not changed a whit since the days of Leo the Great; the spirit which is her life and without which all her power is gone, the old demand that the whole training of the child should be in the hands of the priests so that their divine mission and authority should be constantly enforced:—and as these are enforced, as these are assented to, there is encouraged all the time a principle which is fatal to all true American Citizenship. Every faithful Romanist has by obligations far more sacred than any civil power can assume, sworn allegiance to an authority which is infinitely above what any civil power can claim. We do not call one an American citizen who still owns allegiance to Queen, or the Emperor William, or the Czar Nicholas, or the Sultan—until they abjure those bonds they are not admitted to the privileges of citizens; until they do that we take it for granted that if—honest and zealous subjects of another ruler they will do anything for that ruler in preference to ours; to help that government even to the ruin of ours—yet we have millions of Romanists who are granted all the immunities and privileges of American citizenship, while they still acknowledge subjection to a foreign ruler whose despotism for centuries has not been approached by any monarch; so that our first statement is guarded and true that no faithful subject of the Roman Hierarchy can ever be a trusted citizen of a Republic. In the things which are unimportant they may be as others, but in the objects which touch the very foundation of our government they are aliens. Every one knows that the Papacy has not renounced an iota of its mission to temporal sovereignty; forced into silence by the power of its opponents or the intrigue of its friends, it only watches its opportunity to be re-asserted with redoubled vigor.

Its is a little cloud which has just come up out of the sea of our national life, and is hardly larger than a man's hand, but in it are held the principles which underlie the life of two vast theories struggling for existence. It seems of little concern to our vast national life that a priest in a town here and there should order a few children not to attend the public school, but to go to a school he had established, yet every thoughtful person can see in that little cloud, a whole sky black with clouds and winds, and charged with heavy storms for this republic. It is something we might as well acknowledge to ourselves, and meet it frankly, meet it boldly, meet it triumphantly. It is all idle to suppose that we are to escape this conflict which has torn so many other lands, or that some of the very conditions which are our national glory and hope will not help make the conflict fiercer than it has been elsewhere. The dissensions, the excitement, the sacrifices, the burdens, the cost in money and in life of our slavery record, its war, its abolition, and its remaining entanglements which no statesmen have yet been equal to, have been I believe, insignificant and short lived, compared with those which are before us from this question.

The present facts which have aroused so much public interest and concern within a few days, but which are of any significance only as they involve principles behind them, are these: a priest in Cambridgeport established a few years ago a school for the children of his parish, and ordered them to attend; for some reason or other a few parents have not complied, and a few having tried his school preferred to send their children back to the public schools. To these the priest at last refused those rites which are believed by the faithful to be as a mysterious charm determining their entrance to the heavenly realm.—and therefore the most tremendous influence which has ever been held over man. The terrified and outcast parents seeing the bitter extremities into which they had been forced, appealed to the Bishop,—and it was hoped that he, a Boston boy, with experience of the Boston public schools, might look favorably upon them—but the Bishop, even if he thought or desired otherwise, is only an infinitesimal part of a vast system, where he has no free-will—in utter bondage to a head who has been declared infallible—and whose encyclicals have with every faithful one, the same authority as a direct command from God; the Bishop encourages the priest; the Arch-bishop, a higher step in the vast structure of the hierarchy, following an order of the Pope has directed all the priests in New England to establish parish-schools at once,—and where the priest regards the public schools as injurious to take the children out, whether he can establish any parish school or not.

As soon as this order is enforced all the influence and advantages of our Public School System are lost upon the children of Roman Catholics; the greatest power we have fondly trusted to bring all these various nationalities which gather to our shores into harmony with republican institutions, and whose power the papacy has itself confessed, by its efforts to resist it.

But now why cannot these children all be taken out of the schools, and educated elsewhere, and the comparative value of public and parochial schools be tested by the efficiency of the pupils in after years; and the better survive and be encouraged and no serious disturbance arise? What difference does it make where children are educated, or who educates them, so they are educated? Why any threatened storm from so little and distant a cloud? Why not leave the matter to settle itself without apprehension and without dispute? Because there are great principles, and great dangers involved, and these do not settle themselves. There are involved the records of ecclesiastical history which cannot be erased nor escaped; interests of human welfare too serious to be allowed to take care of themselves; hopes of democratic government too grand to be given up without a struggle. There is much to be said in support of the Romanist's view of parochial schools. Every one's religious views, if he has any, are dear to him. No parent likes to have his children sent to a school where they will hear the things most sacredly and truly held to at the home altar, spoken lightly of, or censured; the children themselves if they have any pride or reflection do not like it. All the power of the causes of alienation are not equal to those of sectarian proselytism—and just as we have regard to our views, can we all bear it from anybody else. We want the education, plus our religious faith, we want the education to be in harmony with our denominational views, or else we want the education with no reference to various sects, leaving this for other places and teachers; but the former view is very strong, and parochial schools are encouraged throughout our land than they were a few years ago, and if one sect has them every sect will. No statute can reach this, no law can compel children to go to the public schools, we almost all rebel against that—all that we can do is to make them go to some schools, to obtain some education somewhere—and if the priests establish private schools no one can object; if they threaten to use the mighty power of their spiritual anathemas and excommunications, there is no remedy except the slow amelioration of those in such utter ignorance and superstition as to believe such threats are of any force; if people will still accept such miserable superstitions in the name of religion, they must accept the consequences. It does not affect the case that the archbishop holds the power of refusing the sacraments instead of the priest. As long as there is a final authority where it does reside, and as long as that power claims, as it always has, supervision over every relation of the life of those who acknowledge it, so long there is no possibility of any love for, or attachment to, any confidence in, or any perfecting of republican institutions. For such a power will always hold all civil obligations which it does not direct, utterly void.

There is one consequence which easily becomes burdensome and practically ineffective. While the Romanists pay comparatively nothing to support our public schools, where they can have a fair education, they must pay enormously to support parish schools where the education will be very miserable. It will be as useless to try to do this peaceably as to support two governments in this Union. At first it is a praiseworthy thing, that these persons generally poor, and already giving generously to support their churches, should attempt to give as much more for private schools; shows a spirit of sacrifice of devotion to their religious principles, which may well shame most of us. In the indifference which marks our day for any faith whatever, or the willingness to regard all alike as good or bad, it is a spectacle which wins admiration, akin to the zeal of apostolic days, to find such burdens voluntarily assumed. But the design which lies beneath this movement is not so noble; it is to secure their portion of the public school fund,—a portion according to their numbers and not according to their contribution to it, and there are only too many politicians who would willingly promise it to them for the sake of securing office, and promises to the vast power of Romanism are too serious to be trifled with. Right here are the causes which can increase this little cloud to a magnitude which shall darken the whole heaven of our national hope and opportunity, and now is the time for every true American, before a bitter partisanship and excitement forbid a calm judgment to form a mighty resolution which no threats and no aspirations for position and no selfish aims shall make to falter for one moment, a revolution in the clear light of history, and of individual judgment, and of the American idea of equal opportunity, that not one dollar shall be taken from the public funds for denominational schools, never, never, NEVER—though it be prevented only by years of war, of untold cost, of untold loss of life and fortune. There is not a faithful Roman Catholic in this country who cares anything about party lines in comparison with papal supremacy; for this, every one is ready to join whichever side promises the hope of victory, and when we see what men are ready to do for office, here is a strain of fearful danger, ready to be added to ambition already burning and soiled,—and the question comes with serious appeal to each one of us to hold fast to the ideas for which this nation stands.

There is much that is winning in the Romanists' plea that education must be religious; that the burden of all teaching for the young must be religious; and that where it is not, any sacrifice would be endured rather than submit to it. If religious teachers honestly believe that schools are godless, and encouraging immorality, if any parents believe this, and still care for their children, there is no alternative, but to send them where the best influences are thrown around them. Of what use is the training of the mind, if at the same time the soul has less power to resist the encroachments of evil?

The Romanist wants no secular schools; they must be entirely religious. I agree with his idea. I believe that education above everything is worthless unless it is religious. Religion must be the sanctifying influence which runs all through life. All education gives man greater power to work mischief in society, unless he gains therewith higher ideas of, and a truer obedience to the divine government, and a more earnest, effectual calling to a moral life—but it does not therefore follow that it is necessary to have the teachers of public schools add prayers or scriptures, hymns or creeds or confessions, to the study of mathematics, or classics, or physiology, or science, or history, or philosophy, any more than it is to say that the politician or the merchant cannot pursue his vocation without an altar and a priest in every counting-room, or in every caucus; the deepest question is, how and where are we to gain that religious spirit which shall direct all affairs. When the Romanist talks about a religious education he means a life of ritualism, of formalism, of the loss of individual judgment, of putting all soul experiences into priestly hands to guide, of pledging unfaltering obedience to the earthly representative of the Almighty; he means a religion utterly destructive of the welfare and progress of any nation. Why, if its education be religous, did it ever lose its sway over Christendom? Once it had everything in its own hands, all churches, all teachers, all schools, all wealth, all power, all business. It could touch an empire and it would fall. It could put its finger upon the most powerful lips in the world and they were silent. It could call the mightiest ruler, and bid him wait like a pitiless beggar for admission and forgiveness at the gate mighty throne of the Vatican. Why has all that departed, but because of its own faithlessness and corruption, and selfishness, and sensuality? Its best men, led by God had through fearful struggles to tear themselves from the communion that had first promised to nourish and then dwarfed and ruined every spiritual faculty, to give to the world a freer and a purer church. Luther, Melanchton, Zwingli, and Wicklife, and the vast multitude of most deeply religious spirits had never left a church which was a worthy spiritual guide for man. The public schools immoral and encouraging impurity! why, let us ask the priests of Rome to examine the records of evil and crime throughout Italy and France and Spain and Spanish America, where Romanism has been supreme. Whence comes the vast proportion of those who fill our jails and poor-houses, from all immoralities and crimes, from lust, intemperance, thieving, murdering, but from those most assiduously trained under the influence of Romanism? Here is a record of centuries, and a present startling fact, which cannot be escaped.

The talk about godless schools is only a cover for the revival of the old power to direct all the temporal interests of life through the channels of the church. The public schools godless! May the tongue cleave to the roof of the mouth of any one who brings such a charge after the beastly records of the monasteries and convents—the schools of Romanism for centuries. And rather than have such schools re-established in this land, we will move heaven and earth before we let children be brought under their pernicious influence. We have said that all the law can do is to compel the children to attend some schools, without designating which, but it will surely come to pass that law will attempt to regulate this, as it tries to regulate the sale of poisons; as surely as it has ever interposed for the moral elevation of society, and that by the divinest law of the highest, which leads us to the spirit of christian sympathy and brotherhood to show an interest in the welfare of others. Whatever exceptions there may be, as a system for centuries the education of Romanism has been nothing but a slow poison to the civil, intellectual and moral life of every nation it has swayed.

Do we not all know from the record of Romanism that this movement means a claim upon the public funds, and then no education at all? In no country at the present time or for the last few centuries where Rome has power, have the children been taught even to read or write. Spain has always been the paradise of Romanism, and how has it taught its subjects there? Out of a population of 16,000,000, 11,000,000 can neither read or write—that is what is meant by letting Romanists have the public funds to educate their own children. Italy with its vast and splendid churches, and its unnumbered charitable institutions which only increase beggars, and its well endowed universities which touch not the masses, what has been done there for education? and the deserted fields, the miserable hovels, the wide-spread ignorance tell the same story. A clergyman for every fifty persons cannot yet teach one-half the population to even read or write!

I am as free as any one to criticise our public schools, to acknowledge their growing deficiences, and labor to correct them, but the theory at their foundation is true, and noble and hopeful. We want an opportunity opening to every child for a certain amount of intellectual training to fit it better for the work of life, and to bring the gifted lives to the highest station.

There is ground enough, let us admit, for the charges of irreligion. There is throughout all our society ground enough for great fears that the moral sentiments are weakening before the pressure of our manifold temptations. When it is revealed that in New York, the office of school committee man has been used to cover up grossest immoralities between members of the committee and teachers; when teachers were given places, merely as a temptation, or reward for lust; and when perhaps this is not confined to New York, but may touch teachers and committee men nearer home. When there can be no question that some teachers by their unworthy lives, lives given over to immoral habits, do spread the infection throughout schools, and by unreality and hypocisy, by a desire to make their pupils appear better than they really are, and to know more than they really do, encourage in the young a life of falsity, the charge of immorality is not without some foundation—but as a rule, the comparison of the men and women who are the worthy teachers in our public schools, of such irreproachable character, of such untiring devotion, of such mental fitness, of such gracious influence upon the unfolding lives, of such a true religious spirit—with the teachers of the parochial schools of Romanism for centuries, is a comparison of heaven and hell. I have seen many a teacher taking her lonely way to some little country school house from whom a whole generation of boys and girls has gathered nobler views of human life and duty, than have been given in the college of the Propaganda at Rome, with its wealth of means and its array of priests.

There is some ground too for these charges in the life of our society which of course reflects upon our early education. When we have seen so many men standing high in all civil relations proving weak before temptation; so many prominent in all religious institutions yet utterly base and dishonest in all business affairs; when there are those in our churches who have so far forgotten what belongs to the sanctuary as to countenance the engagement of those in pulpit or choir whose lives are a known record of immorality and debauchery; when in social life, there are those so blind and deaf to every moral instinct as to encourage the miserably disolute, not to help them, but merely for private and selfish purposes, there is room for the charge of irreligion; there is danger, but it is danger which comes not from our public school system, and which can best be met and overcome by making that system better every year. We want teachers whose sectarian connections may indeed never be known, who make no boasts of religion, which are often indeed delusive or hypocritical, but whose lives are filled with the spirit which can never be mistaken, and every branch of knowledge will be radiant in its glow, and every child under such an influence will be trained to a better life.

The old countries have found to their peril that Romanism cannot exist in harmony with any civil freedom or intellectual or moral progress; still more is it in dire conflict with every principle for which Republicanism in its best promise stands, because papists are subjects of another soverign and a higher, whose commands are held to be the infallible utterances of the Almighty; and he who asserts that a subject of the pope can be a faithful subject of any temporal ruler, or a trustworthy citizen of any republic in any time of emergency, must be blind to the record of the past. Therefore in every thing which is favorable to a republic Romanism has had faithful trial for many generations; there has been no political prosperity; no social purity; no intellectual development; no spiritual regeneration, except as Romanism has lost its sway, and while Italy and Spain, and Austria and Germany, and England, worn and exhausted by its errors and its plunders of body and soul alike, for all these centuries, are trying to escape its influence, it is not for democratic America to yield one iota to its demands—if we do, thanksgiving for national prosperity will be turned into humiliation for the blighting of our promises and the defeat of our ideas, and the cloud which today seems no larger than a man's hand, will soon make the whole sky dark with peril.

Portsmouth Chronicle

News and Notes.

William Manning is the name of an aged resident of Lewiston, Me., born in Ireland, who has lived in this country twenty years, but who can neither speak nor understand a word of English.

The Cincinnati board of aldermen has adopted an ordinance fixing the price of gas at $1.25 per thousand feet. The charter of the company gives the council the power to fix, every ten years, the price that shall be charged. The price for the past ten years has been $2.25 per thousand feet.

A man named Upton was arrested on the 3d inst. in Ansonia, Conn., for causing the death of his infant. According to his wife's story, he came home drunk a few nights ago, and quarreling with her, hurled a lighted lamp at her; it fell into the cradle and set fire to the clothing over the child. In an endeavor to extinguish the flames, the mother's clothing caught fire and she will probably die. The infant lived a few hours only. The couple had been married two years, and had hitherto lived happily together.

An attempt was made at Moscow to kill the Emperor of Russia by blowing up a train, on the 1st inst., but the assassins made a mistake and the explosion only smashed a baggage car.

The city of Philadelphia on the 3d inst. sold 59,149 shares of Pennsylvania railroad stock at its par value, $50 per share, the railroad company being the purchasers.

An Iowa idiot named Weaver on the 3d inst. introduced into Congress a bill for the inflation of the currency by the issue of $500,000,000 in legal tender notes, to be used in paying all soldiers, sailors, teamsters, etc., employed by the government during the war, the difference between the value of the money in which they were paid off, and gold at the same date.

The secretary of the treasury calls for proposals for the sale to the government of one million dollars of any of the six per cent interest bearing bonds of the United States, known as the "sixes of '81."

The publishers of the Atlantic Monthly gave a complimentary breakfast to Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes in Boston on the 3d inst., which was attended by about one hundred of the contributors of the magazine. Dr. Holmes read an original poem, and many of the guests added some of their best efforts to the mental feast, making an occasion of rare enjoyment for all present.

At Bangor, Me., on the afternoon of the 2d inst., while several boys were playing about a bonfire under an overhanging ledge, several tons of rock came down on them. Jas. Toole, aged eight years, was instantly killed, and Edward Sweeny had his left leg fractured.

D. C. Potter, charged with seven murders, was captured on the 1st inst. in the mountains of North Carolina by the sheriff of Cocke county.

John Ready shot Carrie Nihid, his mistress, on the 2d inst., and then blew his own brains out, at Bradford, Penn.

New Hampshire Items.

Chas. H. Sanborn of Suncook has been arrested on a charge of setting fire to the buildings of his brother, A. B. Sanborn, which were burned at Suncook about the middle of November. Chas. Moulton of Suncook has been committed to jail in default of bonds of $1200 imposed for violations of the liquor law.

John Doyle, twenty-eight years old and a notorious scoundrel, who has a sister living in Wilton, and a half-sister in Milford, hung himself in the lockup at Gardner, Mass., on the night of the 1st inst., being under arrest for outraging an old lady named Sally D. Baker. He had previously confessed his guilt.

The sudden death of Mrs. Etta Cummings, of Brookfield, which occured Saturday, the 29th ult., is shrouded in mystery. The authorities of the town, it is understood, are about to take the matter in hand, and will have the body exhumed and an examination made. Mrs. Cummings was a woman in robust health, about twenty years of age. She visited a neighbor on Friday, and upon her return home was taken violently ill, and died the following day in great agony, with every symptom of poisoning.

The large memorial window to the memory of the late Rev. Dr. Eames, in St. Paul's church in Concord, was unveiled on the 2d inst. with religious ceremonies conducted by Bishop Niles, in the presence of a large number of people.

At a meeting of the governor and council on the 2d inst., Charles Kershaw of Great Falls, sentenced to State prison for three years, in 1878, for stealing, was pardoned, as were also Thomas B. Falders and George Hosmer Warner, sentenced to jail for assault. Dunbar & Co., of Boston, were appointed State liquor agents in place of Harrison Huguley, resigned. Mr. Huguley is a member of Dunbar's firm.

Political.

The News, the Mormon church organ, of Ogden, Utah, says: "We do not think the expressions of the President, in his message, will have the slightest effect toward the solution of the Mormon questions of the suppression of polygamy." The Tribune (gentile organ) says: "If the nation permits the polygamist, George Q. Cannon, to sit in Congress undisturbed during the present session, it deserves the contempt of Mormons."

The republican candidate for sheriff of St. Martinsville parish, La., had a fight on the 3d inst., with two brothers named De Sanssaye, whose father was the democratic candidate, and killed both of them, being himself mortally wounded.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefits."

Clothes-line thieves drive a lively business in Dover. On the night of the 2d inst. two families lost their entire "week's washing."

The Odd Fellows are to hold a fair in their new hall some time during the present month, for the purpose of raising funds to assist in furnishing the hall.

At the law term of the supreme court, which opened in Concord on the 2d inst., with a full bench, the cases on the Rockingham county docket were postponed to the March term.

Water street was made melodious on Wednesday night of this week by a serenading party that had for instruments of torture a base drum and a harmonica. No cards, no arrest.

Schooner Satellite, Capt. Adderton, from Eliot with a cargo of bricks, bound for Lynn, Mass., was at Portsmouth bridge on Thursday, waiting while her sails were undergoing repairs.

The Dover Democrat says: "The Cocheco Manufacturing Co. will, the 1st of January next, revise their prices now paid for labor in the mills, and make them conform to a contemplated advance of wages in Lowell and Fall River."

The first term of the Circuit court of the United States for the district of New Hampshire was held in Portsmouth on 20th of May, 1790, by John Jay, Chief Justice of the United States, and John Sullivan, Judge of the New Hampshire district.

Steam tug Ann, owned by C. H. Trickey & Co. of Dover, has been busily engaged all the past season in towing up and down the river vessels bound above the Portsmouth bridge. The tug is now employed in towing coal barges to Newmarket.

Messrs. Thomas Kennedy & Son, hosiery manufacturers on Wibird place employ ten men in that business, and had they facilities could employ as many more. They manufacture a superior article of hose, and are receiving large orders from all parts of the country. We are glad to note the revival of this industry in our city, and hope Messrs. Kennedy & Son laying the foundation for a large and prosperous business.

The schooner Charles H. Trickey, Kelly master, was towed down the river from this city late Thursday afternoon, bound for Baltimore, having on board 2100 barrels of apples, all but one hundred barrels of which were put on board by Messrs. Charles H. Hayes and N. F. Mathes. The gentlemen named have now in store about 11,000 barrels of apples, having on Thursday purchased the stock of Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin, amounting to 3540 barrels; but they will probably ship no more to market until after the new year.

As Wednesday next is "railroad day," when a large number of people will no doubt avail themselves, as usual, of the privilege of going to Boston and buying lots of things which they could procure as cheap or cheaper at home, and will get back all tired out and probably at too late an hour to go anywhere except to their beds, the manager of the Rockingham Course has changed the date of the second entertainment to Tuesday evening, Dec. 9th, at which time the Chimes of Normandy will be presented by the Boston English Opera Company.

In blasting stone at Murphy's island for the breakwater, on Wednesday 3d inst., a piece of rock weighing ten tons was thrown more than fifty feet, landing within two feet of a scow which was there loading; the men at work on the scow were considerably frightened, thinking the craft would be cut in two by the fall of the ugly-looking projectile upon it. No harm was done save the cutting away of a portion of a derrick platform.

There came near being a serious accident on the Eastern railroad, near the round house, Thursday morning. The Concord freight train and the ten o'clock passenger train on the Eastern railroad were coming in at the same time, both trains under nearly full headway. The Concord train had the right of way, and the engineer on the passenger train applied the brakes and reversed his engine, but the rails were wet, and the great driving wheels spun round like a buzz saw. A collision seemed inevitable, but the engineer and fireman stuck to the cab, though the mail men and a number of passengers jumped off. Fortunately, however, the train came to a stand still when within about two feet of the freight train, thus averting what might have been a serious disaster.

At a funeral of a school girl in Eliot on Tuesday, the 2d inst., four of her former classmptes (boys) were selected as pallbearers; singularly enough each boy bore the name of Spinney, yet neither was the relation of the other.

SAINT ASPENQUID.

Saint Aspenquid of Mount Agamenticus; an Indian idyl, by John Albee; Ports mouth; published by Lewis W. Brewster.

The poet tells us

"Poor is the land that hath no legend lone,
No myth, no muse, no music of its own."

Not thus is the region round about the territory of the ancient passaconaway, and it is fortunate for us that the tastes of the poet of the "ancient lonesome isle" have given us, in this new form, the legend of the last days of Aspenquid.

Saint Aspenquid was born in the year 1588, and when past forty years of age was converted to christianity. He died May the first, 1682, on Mount Agamenticus, where was his supulchre. A hundred years ago it was stated that his tomb stone could still be seen on the summit, and upon it read this couplet:

"Present useful; absent wanted;
Lived desired; died lamented."

We are informed that the sachems of the different tribes attended his obsequies, and in the celebration of their rites there was gathered a vast collection of wild beasts to do the dying chieftain honor by a sacrifice in accordance with the custom of that time among the Indians. On the day appointed there were slain accordingly 25 bucks, 67 deer, 99 bears, 36 moose, 240 wolves, 82 wild cats, 3 catamounts, 482 foxes, 32 buffaloes, 400 otters, 620 beavers, 1500 minks, 110 ferrets, 320 raccoons, 900 musquashes, 501 fishers, 3 ermines, 38 porcupines, 50 weasels, 882 martens, 59 wood-chucks and 112 rattlesnakes, making a total of 6711.

Saint Aspenquid was in turn a warrior, sorcerer and preacher. In the latter calling, he proclaimed the gospel tidings to sixty-six different nations, for a period of forty years; extending his pilgrimages, in this duty, from the Atlantic to the "California sea," making journeys from Halifax in the east to the Rocky mountains, and was known far and wide as the first and perhaps only Indian Saint.

We stand with the poet upon the mountain Agamenticus, renowned of old for feasts. We see the assemblage of the great warriors of two centuries ago, and hear the last words of the dying Indian hero, sorcerer and saint, whose latter designation came as a result from his hearing the preaching of Eliott, under whose powerful appeals the Indian is supposed to have achieved his change of heart. Here, returning from his last long and weary tramp from the far off Rocky mountains, he comes to die,—this hero of so many conflicts, bodily and spiritual, to the honor of whose memory for a hundred years after his death a feast was celebrated in the province of Nova Scotia. It is of this celebrated character the author tell us in pleasing lines; how he excelled in various arts, and yet confessed at the end that like others of his race, he was compelled to bow down before the march of the pale faced men. In sad, but tuneful notes the poet gives the aged saint's last address to the assembled braves, upon the heights of Agamenticus, while towering above the tallest, "Straight as asb, though ripe with ninety years." The story is full of rich incidents, and the description of this grand and solemn occasion will well repay one for the perusal of the poem.

The volume is neatly printed, is in paper covers, and on sale at Messrs. Myers' and Goodrich's bookstores, at the popular price of twenty-five cents. To all who are interested in the Indian legends pertaining to our sea coast region, and who enjoy the recital of traditionary events of past centuries, told in the purest English, we commend the early perusal of this Indian idyl, which so beautifully recites the famous legend of this attractive spot where St. Aspenquid had his natural throne, and sepulchre, and where all was

"Rude magnificence and strength."

FERNALD. In this city, Dec. 2d, after a long and weary illness, Miss Annie M. Fernald daughter of Mr. William D. Fernald, aged 34 years.

☞ Funeral services at the house of W. D. Fernald, Deer street, on Monday afternoon at half-past one o'clock.

A sorrowing circle of friends will learn by this brief announcement, of the loss of an amiable associate, whose sprightly prosence and ever ready wit made her the life of many a social gathering, and an ever welcome compaion and guest. Possessed of inexhaustible good nature and rare appreciation of the humorous in life, with a happy faculty of rendering hours passed in her companionship enjoyable in the extreme, her decease will to her acquaintances create an ever present feeling of personal loss, of something missed from this life, though months, years and years go by, which brings us toward the same fated destiny of all mankind. Frail in health as she had been for many weary months, she yet showed courage and rare fortitude in being the inevitable, evincing the same disposition to cheer those who loved her best and who gave her the most constant attention, to make the best of life, and imbue them with her own cheerful spirit. Her many excellent qualities of mind and heart will ever be pleasantly remembered by those who best knew her, and the resignation with which she gave up the promise of life which seemed so full of future enjoyment, will be a necessary symbolic of the faith and trust she felt that in leaving behind for a brief season her sorrowing and dearest friends, she did so to meet those as dear who had preceeded her to the great beyond, and "whose joy is joy unspeakable," though there be sadness here.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly relieve pain, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and it is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the side, back or bowels, sore throat, rheumatism, toothache and all aches.

The great reliever of pain, "Brown's Household Panacea," should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water (sweetened, if preferred), taken at bedtime, will break up a cold. 25 cents a bottle.

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. Brown's Vermifuge Comfits, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. Twenty-five cents a box. t,th&f

BOSTON, October 10, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1849, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Speer's Medicinal Sambuci Wine for Females.

This wine is made from the juice of cultivated Sambucus fruit. The best judges pronounce it superb. It is being highly recommended as a family wine by some of the best families in the States; and has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally in this country and Europe, as a very superior wine for consumption, kidney difficulties, female weakness and general debility, and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. The virtues attributed to the wine are numerous and long standing; and it is pleasant to know that some person has succeeded in making and putting in market a pure article of wine for medicinal uses.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

It is said that some of the alkaloids which enter into the combination of Fellows' Hypophosphites, are extracted from trees which attain to a great age, and that this fact suggest to Mr. Fellows' the idea of their employment. Whether the success of the preparation is due to this, we are not prepared to say, but the idea is a good one.

Have you these dangerous symptoms? Cough, pain in the side or breast, fever, short breath, night sweats, tickling, rising or soreness in the throat, diarrhœa, debility, asthmatic or bronchial affections; if so, use at once Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam. Trial bottles, 10 cts.; large bottles, 35 and 75 cts.

The World for 1880.

Democrats everywhere should inform themselves carefully alike of the action of their party throughout the country and of the movements of their Republican opponents. A failure to do this in 1878 contributed greatly to the loss by the Democracy of the fruits of the victory fairly won at the polls.

The year 1880 promises to be one of the most in events and important years of this crowded and eventful century. It will witness a Presidential election which may result in re-establishing the Government of this country on the principles of its constitutional founders, or in permanently changing the relations of the States to the Federal power. No intelligent man can regard such an election with indifference. The World, as the only daily English newspaper published in the city of New York which upholds the doctrines of constitutional Democracy, will steadily represent the Democratic party in this great canvass. It will do this in no spirit of servile partisanship, but in a fearless, manly and firm way.

As a newspaper the World, being an organ of no man, no clique and no interest, will present the fullest and the fairest picture in its power of each day's passing history in the city, the State, the country and the world. It will aim hereafter, as heretofore, to accurate first of all things, in all that it publishes. No man, however humble, shall ever be permitted truly to complain that he has been unjustly dealt with in the columns of the World. No interest, however powerful, shall ever be permitted truly to boast that it can silence the fair criticism of the World.

During the past season the World has seen its daily circulation trebled and its weekly circulation pushed far beyond that of any other weekly newspaper in the country. This great increase has been won, as the World believes, by truthfulness, enterprise, ceaseless activity in collecting news and unfaltering loyalty to itself and to its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It is our hope and it will be our endeavor that the World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of this Indisoluble Union of Indestructible States.

The Sun for 1880.

The Sun will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1st until December 31st it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

As a newspaper, the Sun believes in getting all the news of the world within its reach, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep well abreast of the times with the least amount of expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the greatest number—that is the law controlling its daily making. It now has a circulation of every much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it is at all times prepared to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read the Sun; and they all do, give satisfaction of some sort to its readers, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs the Sun believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, inspired by genuine American principles and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, or sect, of any man, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what is good and reprobate what is evil, taking care that its language is in the plain, and plain, English that cannot be by being misunderstood. It is uninfluenced by motives that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with two cents. It hates injustice and rascality even more than it hates unnecessary words. It abhors humbug, pills to-day, and delpiores nincompoops of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to chastise the first class, instruct the second, and discountance the third. All honest men, with honest conditions, whether sound or unsound, are its friends. And the Sun makes no bones of telling the truth to its friends and about its friends whenever occasion arises for plain speaking.

These are the principles upon which the Sun will be conducted during the year to come.

The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to public affairs. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the exciting contests of the Republican and Democratic parties, are nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying shifts of public sentiment will bear directly and effectively upon the twenty-fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago such a contest put the world on the notion, as expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy, the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The past decade of years opened with a corrupt, extravagant, and insolent Administration intrenched at Washington. The Sun did something toward dislodging the gang and breaking its power. Will they succeed in fastening it on us, restore their leader and themselves to places from which they were driven by the indignation of the people? Will they succeed in the same or some other way? Will they succeed? The coming year will bring the answers to these momentous questions. The Sun will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they are developed, and to discuss them clearly and fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right.

Thus, with a habit of philosophical good humor in looking at the minor affairs of life, and in great likely and steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors, The Sun is prepared to write a lively, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of 1880.

Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. The daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of forty-eight columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, post-paid.

The Sunday edition of the Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address THE SUN, NEW YORK CITY.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted gratuitously at his Principal Office. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it is in danger of his life, to say nothing of the vast amount of misery, and, in such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference is given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday, Monday and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use the hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair,

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the other time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a fœtid odor so bad as to make my presence in a room with other parties very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was no troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell which were totally gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD,

Short-Hand Writer

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 3, 1878.

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S CURE arrived here to-night all right. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have tried Nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have seen fully as much of the offensive discharge, I have never been able to recover my senses of taste and smell until I tried SANFORD'S CURE. You can refer any one to me if you choose to do so, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 15, 1878.

Daily Chronicle.

Political.

Those democratic papers that have expressed such unadulterated delight at the report that Eliza Pinkston of Louisiana fame had been arrested for poisoning her husband, must now descend into the valley of humiliation and grief—because she has been acquitted, no poison being found in the stomach of the deceased. A dispatch to the democratic Courier-Journal of Louisville, Ky., says that the arrest was prompted by political motives.

Senator Kellogg of Louisiana left New Orleans on the 4th inst., the "investigation" having ended. Private telegrams assert that even the democrats admit that Kellogg has completely sustained himself, and left Spofford without a shadow of a case. Nearly one-third of the members of the Packard legislature have testified, and none have testified to anything approaching bribery. It has been established that a full quorum voted for Kellogg. He followed up his evidence showing conspiracy on the part of Spofford in corruptly procuring false affidavits, which was absolutely crushing. The committee evidently got sick of the whole matter, and hurriedly adjourned.

Judge Thurman is really most responsible for the error of the extra session. He is a great constitutional lawyer, and it was for him to see the meaning and the drift of an attempt on the part of the two houses to coerce the President, who is a co-ordinate department of the government, and whose veto, except against a two-thirds vote, is supreme. The full realization of this circumstance in advance of the extra session would have saved the democrats a world of woe. Mr. Beck and Mr. Blackburn are both lawyers; but in constitutional law they put themselves under the leadership of Judge Thurman, and he led them, and the rest, into the bushes. The fault has lost him his seat; and it is not our wish or purpose to censure one whose services have been so great.—Louisville Courier Journal, (dem.)

—A sailor is not a sailor when he is a-board; a sailor is not a sailor when he is a-shore; but he must be either ashore or aboard; therefore a sailor is not a sailor. This is logic.

Speer's Medicinal Sambuci Wine for Females.

This wine is made from the juice of cultivated Sambucus fruit. The best judges pronounce it superb. It is being highly recommended as a family wine by some of the best families in the States; and has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally in this country and Europe, as a very superior wine for consumption, kidney difficulties, female weakness and general debility, and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. The virtues attributed to the wine are numerous and long standing; and it is pleasant to know that some person has succeeded in making and putting in market a pure article of wine for medicinal uses.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

It is said that some of the alkaloids which enter into the combination of Fellows' Hypophosphites, are extracted from trees which attain to a great age, and that this fact suggest to Mr. Fellows' the idea of their employment. Whether the success of the preparation is due to this, we are not prepared to say, but the idea is a good one.

Have you these dangerous symptoms? Cough, pain in the side or breast, fever, short breath, night sweats, tickling, rising or soreness in the throat, diarrhœa, debility, asthmatic or bronchial affections; if so, use at once Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam. Trial bottles, 10 cts.; large bottles, 35 and 75 cts.

Civil Service.

Some persons pretend to be very obtuse in comprehending what the President means when he discusses civil service reform. We conclude that this matter of civil service has a peculiar adaptability to different localities. For example, a cabinet officer may address a large assemblage upon political question for the purpose of disseminating information, but subordinates must not run political machinery at the expense of time belonging to the government. In other words, in New York city, the if custom house is opposed to the President, hands off in political affairs; in Portsmouth, where there has been no open avowal of hostility on the part of the office-holders, whose views upon the policy of the administration depend upon the opinion of our senators, the offices for the most part being sinecures, the incumbents can have time to direct the navy yard patronage and manipulate the caucus, without the government suffering thereby. It is strange that carping cavellirs, who fail to appreciate the propriety of retaining men in office for life or good behavior, should be so eager to find fault with the President's logic, so unappreciatingly spread on the 1st inst. before a Congress containing so large a majority opposed to his hobby. It has always been the custom for a President in a minority to take the occasion of an annual message to say very many things to his opponents in and out of Congress which he knows will make no impression upon them, but which he utters simply to free his mind from the burthen resting upon it.

News and Notes.

Rev. Dr. Andrew P. Peabody graduated at Harvard College at the age of fifteen years and five months.

The Reno court martial, which has been sitting at Fort Meade, has developed facts that are disgraceful, and brought abundant evidence of dissipation, quarrels and gambling in the army.

C. A. Clark, printer, formerly foreman in the Houlton, Me., Times office, and for some time proprietor of a job office in Houlton, is supposed to have eloped with a Miss DeLeste, a compositor lately employed in the Times office, but for a short time back living in Boston. Clark disappeared from Houlton and the lady from her boarding place, and nothing has been heard of either of them since, though certain facts have come to light which indicate that she left in company with him. They are supposed to have gone to California. Clark leaves a wife and two children.

James M. Gray of Chapinville, Conn., has been arraigned for complicity in the assault upon Chester Goodale of Egremont, Mass., with his brother-in-law, F. B. Webster, who was some time since arrested for the crime. Gray was committed in default of $1000. It was in Gray's barn where Webster was found concealed, but Gray denied all knowledge of his being there, and assisted the officers to obtain evidence against Webster. Gray has previously been arrested for burglaries, and the officers claim to have sufficient evidence to connect him with the Egremont assault.

It was noted by the weather bureau on Monday of last week the remarkable circumstance of perfectly clear sky, unspotted by a single cloud from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

New Publications.

Wide Awake, a juvenile which is much liked by the young people, promises many novelties for 1880. Among other features will be "Concord Pic-nic days," a series of out-of-door games, many of them the invention of the literary coterie who have gathered from time to time in that ancient town. Twelve original exercise songs, prepared under the direction of Mr. Louis C. Elson, are to be published. "Prof. M. P. Paul" will investigate the starry heavens with the help of John Henry Jack and Abiathar Ann. Mr. Benjamin continues to describe American artists, and there will be many serials and tales of a bright kind. The publishers are D. Lothrop & Co., Boston.

The first article in London Quarterly Review for October, "Pascal and his Editors," sketches the story of the revived interest in that very remarkable man, and gives an account of his character, writings, and place in history, and of the two works on which his fame chiefly rests. Following this we have "The College of Physicians," a history of the college established in London in 1518, with sketches of some of its more notable members; "Albert Durer," his career considered from three points of view—his time, his life, and his works; and "The Founder of Norwich Cathedral," a memoir of Herbert Loringa, giving a partial glimpse of average ecclesiastical life in England during the middle ages; and "Joseph de Maistre on Russia." The article on Froude's "Cæsar" discusses the great political issues of the time, and the character, of the men who took the leading part in the struggles of the Roman Revolution. An interesting paper on "The Weather and its Prediction" traces the rise of existing systems, their methods of working, their alleged results, and the prospects of the future advancement of the science. It acknowledges that the system of weather notices in force in the United States is the most complete. The periodicals reprinted by The Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay street, New York, are as follows: The London Quarterly Edinburgh, Westminister and British Quarterly, Reviews, and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the publishers.

One Experience from Many.

"I had been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said "Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy."—The Mother.—Home Journal.

Who is Mrs. Winslow?

As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwardsof thirty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has specially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It operates like magic, giving rest and health, and is sure never sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article, Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are daily sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No mother has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it, mothers—try it now.—Ladies' Visitor, New York City. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 2

AROUND HOME.

The subject of Rev. Dr. Alden's lecture on Sunday evening will be, "The Inhabitants of the Heavenly City."

Piscataqua Lodge, I. O. of O. F., will struggle with the new hall question next Monday evening, the 8th inst.

The schooner Mary J. Adams, which has been undergoing an overhaul by Mr. Warren Keen, is finished and ready for sea.

The senior class of Phillips academy at Exeter on Thursday last elected J. B. Burgess of Hampton Falls as the orator for class-day.

Mr. M. T. Holden, the Irish orator, will speak at Music hall on Sunday evening at 7:30. A small admission fee will be charged to defray expenses.

We understand that a chorus of male voices, numbering about fifty, is being organized under the direction of Mr. Geo. F. Munroe, to commence practice at once.

The U. S. S. Ranger will sail from Yokohama for San Francisco, this month. She will go out of commission at the Mare island navy yard. Among her officers are Surgeon Homer N. Law and Paymaster Brown of this city.

Mr. William C. Ham of this city has been appointed by Collector Beard to the position of assistant weigher in the Boston custom house. Mr. Ham has many warm personal friends in this city who will be gratified to learn of his preferment.

It is stated that the Times and States and Union of this city have been disposed of to Mr. Alpheus Hanscom, late senior proprietor of the Manchester Union, and that Mr. Hanscom will take up his abode here on or about the 15th inst., and assume control of the papers on that date.

There now seems to be a prospect of a speedy settlement of all questions in controversy between the Eastern and Portsmouth & Dover railroads, papers having been drafted to leave all matters in dispute to a board of referees, said board to consist of three judges of the supreme court, whose decision shall be final. The board of reference will consist of Judges Bingham and Lewis W. Clark, with Chief Justice Doe as the hoped-for third member.

The residence of Mr. J. H. Hutchinson on Lincoln avenue has been beautifully painted in parti-colors, wonderfully showing off the unique architecture of this handsome suburban residence. The painting was done by Messrs. Sampson & Co., who we learn also have the furnishing of the curtains, ornamental sign work and painting for Rider & Cunningham, and C. M. Gignoux, insurance agent, in their respective apartments in National block.

At a meeting of the directors of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire, held in Boston on Friday forenoon, William H. Goodwin, Esq., president of the Eliot national bank, was chosen a director in place of Walter Hastings, deceased; and Frank A. Philbrick of Rye was chosen a director in place of Alfred B. Hill of Boston, resigned. Resolutions of respect to the memory of the late Director Hastings were presented and unanimously adopted by the board of directors.

Mr. James L. Tracey of Boston, pianist, assisted by Miss Edith Wendell of this city, was announced to give a piano recital on Wednesday evening, the 3d inst., at Miss Morgan's school; but on the previous Monday he was summoned to the bedside of his father, Mr. Luther Tracey of Concord, who had been taken suddenly ill, and who died Tuesday evening, aged about seventy years. This of course caused the proposed entertainment to be given up for the present.

John W. Furber of Rochester, now in his eighty-second year, has just finished a history of his branch of the family, commencing with William Furber, who settled in Portsmouth in 1635. He has also prepared a genealogy of one branch of the Nelson family. Mr. Furber is a veteran of the war of 1812.

The new sidewalk in front of National block is being laid with pressed brick, of the same price and quality as those in the building itself. The walk will be handsome and smooth, and the best on Congress street.

MAN MISSING.

On Thanksgiving eve, the 26th ult., a man named Joseph Smith, for about four years past employed by Charles Hayes & Son on their farm at the Plains, came to this city with another employe of the farm, intending, so far as known, to return the same night, but has not since been heard of. The last seen of him was at a saloon in this city, about nine o'clock on the evening of the 26th, when and where he ordered a bottle filled with liquor, (for which he was to call in a few minutes,) and then left the saloon. He belongs in Kennebunk, Me., and it was at first thought likely that he had gone on a visit to his friends there, but up to Friday last they had seen nothing of him. The missing man had been married only about two weeks, to a Mrs. Brown, formerly of Kittery but for a year past manager of the men's department at the Hayes farm; he took away with him only about four dollars in money, and left behind him all his clothing (including his best) except what he wore, not even changing his underclothing before starting for town, as his wife suggested he should do, he saying he would change all through next morning; he also left behind a full chest of carpenter's tools. From all the circumstances his friends fear something serious has occurred to occasion his long absence, as no reason for his voluntarily absenting himself is known.

A PORTSMOUTH VESSEL IN TROUBLE.

Schooner H. B. Gibson, of this port, it is reported was seized at Canso, N. S., Nov. 27th, for infraction of the revenue laws. The captain (Smith) is missing. The H. B. Gibson sailed from this port for Machias, Me., in November, with 800 barrels of apples shipped by Cyrus L. Brown & Co. of this city, Mr. Charles W. Varrell, clerk of the firm, going out as consignee. At Machias 650 barrels of apples were sold; then the schooner set sail for Prince Edward's island, Mr. Varrell preceding the vessel to make a tour of the island to purchase potatoes for this market, completing which, he started for Canso to find his vessel. Stopping a short time at New Glasgow, about thirty miles from Canso, he was astonished to meet the captain of the schooner at the dinner table; the captain, on being questioned as to why he was so far from his vessel, replied that he was on his way to Halifax, to see the United States consul, as his vessel had been seized for some alleged infraction of the revenue laws. The captain soon after left the hotel and has not been heard from since. The firm above mentioned received a letter from Mr. Varrell Friday morning, but as he had not at the time of writing reached the vessel, no further information was given of the affair.

THE FISHERIES.

When Capt. John Smith, who discovered the harbor of Piscataqua, returned to England, he published an account of his adventures and discoveries in this region. His sketch concludes with an account of the New England fisheries, the importance of which he earnestly set forth. He says: "Therefore honorable and worthy countrymen let not the meanesse of the word fish distaste you, for it will afford as good gold as the mines of Palassie or Guiana with less hazard and charge and more certainty and facility." Many of the first settlers of New Hampshire, who were fishermen, discovered the truth of this remark and profited by its lesson.

Richard Cutt, in 1647, was a fisherman at the Isles of Shoals. Several years afterward he became a wealthy and respected merchant at the "Bank," and owned largely in vessels, mills, warehouses, etc.

So in Kittery, where Pepperell settled, the result was the same. William Pepperell, the father of the famed Sir William, was a native of Cornwall, Eng.; he emigrated to this country about the year 1676, and settled at the Isles of Shoals as a fisherman. Pepperell was so poor for some time after his arrival, that the lady to whom he paid his addresses at the Shoals would not listen to his proposals. Pepperel persevered. In a few years, by his industry and frugality, he secured enough to send out a brig load of fish to Hull, England. Then the fair lady who had "whispered 'I will' he'er consent"—consented," and they were married. The couple subsequently removed to Kittery point, where Pepperell became a wealthy merchant, and with his large means and influence left an imprint upon the history of the place. Sir William Pepperell was his only son, born in 1697, and educated to be a merchant, and died at Kittery point July 6, 1759. Lady Mary Pepperel, widow of Sir William, died at Kittery Nov. 29th, 1789. She was a grand-daughter of Judge Sewell, and noted for her wit and gentle manners.

Such were the men that the early fishing trade of the Piscataqua prospered and made celebrated. On a recent visit to Kittery point we were carried back to a period no further than forty years since, when a hundred vessels engaged in cod and mackerel fishing were owned upon either side of the Piscataqua; when at Newcastle such men as Thomas Tarlton, Thomas E. Oliver, the Whites and Thomas Curtis were engaged in the fishing business, and the early spring days witnessed the busy activity, at her wharves, of the fishing crafts fitting for the early fares. Then, too, at Kittery, were John L. Laurence, the Seawards, Trefethens, Williamses, Frisbees and we know not how many others, owners and managers of fishing schooners at the place.

On our visit to the point we were struck by the quiet repose of the region about the lower harbor. On Fort McClary no sound of work has been heard for years; no sentry paces the ramparts, or salutes his superior officer. The houses around are all neatly painted, well-kept and attractive-looking. At the wharves and in the coves lie at rest, for the winter months, the summer coasters. At the anchorage lie fleets of coasters, wind or weather bound, and beside the quiet shores is heard nothing save the low and subdued sound of the last of the ocean waves, which have in their entrance to the harbor subsided into a peaceful kiss bestowed upon the shores of the point. "What do all you men find to do for a living here?" we enquired of an old coaster captain. "Oh, well," replied he, "some go a-coasting, some work at the navy yard, and others chore around home." Such are the changes at the mouth of the noble Piscataqua.

No better spot for carrying on the fishing business exists. The harbor is always open and safe, and accessible with nearly every kind of a wind; and men and boys familiar with the sea are to be found in sufficient numbers. But the energy and frugality which in early days afforded men contented with slow gains and only substantial accretions, has been succeeded by the unwholesome results of navy yard employments or speculative efforts in mercantile affairs. We now enjoy Kittery and Newcastle as quiet and attractive summer abodes, where in peaceful rest we can live almost exempt from public haunt; and instead of the freights of fish which in former times made the places lively and bustling, we see only the yacht of the summer cruiser and the trunk of the tourist, who seek in the repose, the delightful scenery, and the pure air of those attractive places, the enjoyment which few spots upon the coast can in such generous abundance afford.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Rev. E. Owen of this city gave a temperance lecture in the Free Baptist church at Kittery point, on Thanksgiving eve. Following the lecture was a supper, served in the vestry, and the whole affair was a very pleasant one.

On Wednesday night, the 3d inst., the barn belonging to George W. Phillips at Ogunquit was burned, together with a horse and cow, carriages, hay and farming tools. Loss about $600; insured $300, in the Kittery and Eliot company.

Councillor Moody of York is for any candidate and any party that he thinks will advance his claims for an office with a good fat salary attached. His political "principles" would not stand the least in the way of his voting for Beelzebub for President, on any platform that could be manufactured by demons or greenbackers; but he knows that he has no hope of office under the republican party, no matter who may be its candidate, so he will never again vote that party ticket.

The World for 1880.

Democrats everywhere should inform themselves carefully alike of the action of their party throughout the country and of the movements of their Republican opponents. A failure to do this in 1876 contributed greatly to the loss by the Democracy of the fruits of the victory fairly won at the polls.

The year 1880 promises to be one of the most interesting and important years of the current and eventful century. It will witness a Presidential election which may result in re-establishing the Government of this country on the principles of its constitutional founders, or in permanently changing the relations of the States to the Federal power. No intelligent man can regard such an election with indifference. The World, as the only daily English newspaper published in the city of New York which upholds the doctrines of constitutional Democracy, will steadily represent the Democratic party in this great canvass. It will do this in no spirit of servile partisanship, but temperately and firmly.

As a newspaper the World, being an organ of no man, no clique and no interest, will present the fullest and the fairest picture it can make of each day's passing history in the city, the State, the country and the world. It will aim hereafter, as heretofore, at accuracy first of all things in all that it publishes. No man, however humble, shall ever be permitted truly to complain that he has been unjustly dealt with in the columns of the World. No interest, however powerful, shall ever be permitted truly to boast that it can silence the fair criticism of the World.

During the past season the World has seen its daily circulation trebled and its weekly circulation pushed far beyond that of any other weekly newspaper in the country. This great increase has been won, as the World believes, by truthfulness, enterprise, ceaseless activity in collecting news and unfaltering loyalty to itself and to its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It is our hope and it will be our endeavor that the World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of this Indissoluble Union of Indestructible States.

Cuticura

THE GREAT SKIN CURE,

The most Healing, Soothing, and Refreshing External Application in the World.

It rapidly heals Ulcers, Old Sores, and Discharging Wounds; Itching Piles and other Itching affections that have been the torture of a lifetime, thus affording unspeakable gratification to thousands; Burns, Scalds, Wounds, and Festers; all Itching and Scaly Eruptions of the Skin; and all Affections of the Scalp, including Loss of Hair. Nothing like it has ever been known to the most intelligent physicians. It has swept a host of poisonous remedies out of existence. It is revolutionary in its composition and mode of treatment and succeeds in curing every external affection. At every stage it is ably assisted by CUTICURA SOAP, which is a part of itself medicinally and at the same time the most delightfully fragrant and refreshing Toilet, Bath, and Nursery Soap in existence.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful purifying agent and liver stimulant, should be taken to neutralize and resolve away blood poisons, caused by the virus of scrofula, cancer, malarial or contagious diseases, which maintain and foster diseases of the Skin and Scalp.

SALT RHEUM.

Life a burden from the sufferings caused by this terrible disease.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Please accept my most grateful thanks for the great, very great, comfort I have received from the use of your CUTICURA.

For the past eight or nine years I have been troubled with that dreadful disease, Salt Rheum. For months I would be helpless,—my very life a burden to be.

I have used everything in the shape of medicine, both internal and external, but without effect.

My hands were in a terrible condition, the backs of them being all raw, and I thought I would try CUTICURA.

I tried it, and so!! was as if a miracle had been performed, for I will take my oath that the first applications my hands were as smooth as a newborn babe.

I presume there are hundreds, if not thousands, who know of my case, among whom there may be some one similarly afflicted, and if so I would earnestly advise him to give CUTICURA a trial.

Yours, very thankfully,
A. D. BAKER, Tic o' Agent, C. S. R. R.

TETTER OR SALT RHEUM

On the hands Cured. A grateful letter.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having been troubled for many years with the Tetter or Salt Rheum, and spent many hard-earned dollars, I was given a trial of your CUTICURA, and thank God, my hands are well. I never had anything do me good like that.

You may put this in the paper and welcome, and may it do some other poor sufferer the same good it has done me! I am well known here, and have been nearly fifteen years and kept boarders for a living, and sometimes my heart was sore, thinking I would have to give up altogether my sore hands, and having a small family to take care of; but oh! thank God, my hands are well, so I again return thanks.

Yours respectfully,
ELIZABETH BUCKLEY,
LITTLETON, N. H., May 30, 1878.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The political course of the New York Times will be guided during the Presidential year by the same principle which have won for it the position of the foremost Republican newspaper in the United States. The successful issue of the recent contest in New York, and the unbroken series of Republican victories in other Northern States which preceded and accompanied it, have combined to demonstrate the soundness of the position of the Times in regard to the questions with which the Republican Party is called upon to deal.

The Times will continue to place fidelity to the interests of the Republican Party above the preferences or personal aims or private ambition, and will steadfastly insist that the usefulness of any party must be measured by the extent of its devotion to the honor and welfare of the country. In the future, as in the past, the attitude of the Times will be that of independence within the Republican Party. The maintenance of the national credit; the purification of the public service; the advocacy of all seasonable projects of fiscal reform; rigid economy in public expenditures; equitable treatment of the subsidies and corporate jobbery in all its forms; and the preservation of equal rights to all citizens, North and South, will be the salient points of the policy of the Times.

The Times will continue to be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully-edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be expanded to meet the increasing demands of the time.

In the sphere of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, the Times will address itself, as heretofore, to the appreciation of the educated and intelligent classes of the American people. It will be lively without being sensational, aggressive without being coarse; at all times it will strive to be fearless and independent in the championship of the right. No labor will be wanting in the enforcement of the principles on which the sacredness of family ties and the existence of society alike repose will be promulgated in its columns.

The Times rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and medical pretenders, and of all other agencies by which the insidious poison of vice is disseminated throughout society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

The semi-weekly Times is specially fitted to meet the requirements of those who seek more ample details of current news and fuller instalments of current discussion than are furnished in the weekly issue. The semi-weekly has a large circulation already among the professional and mercantile classes, outside of the large cities, at home. At the reduced club rates now offered for this edition its patronage ought to be greatly increased.

The weekly Times, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a condensed summary of political, social and foreign news, best suits other readers which recommend it to all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its conductors will spare no effort, not only to maintain its well-earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more decided.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

Postage will be prepaid by the publishers on all editions of the Times sent to subscribers in the United States.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local treatment and medicine.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once injured it is an uncertain and dangerous disease. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom, throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between his New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturdays, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain so-called quacks and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was no troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD, Short-Hand Writer

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 3, 1878.

You can say on my behalf, to me, and I will cheerfully inform them of it at all to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

New York Correspondence.

Being of a philosophical turn of mind, it has occured to me to search into the causes of the very unsatisfactory results arising from that conglomeration of boarding houses usually called New York. These few words therefore are especially devoted to an investigation of the character and aims in life of our

BOARDING-HOUSEKEEPERS.

The fact which stands forth most prominently is that before settling down in this last and peculiar avocation, they have been failures in everything else. In other words, boarding housekeeping here, is the last resort of incompetency. Every boarding housekeeper I know, had been something else and had failed. Broken-down dressmakers, shopkeepers, literary characters, society ladies, spiritual mediums and widows are only some of them. Then there are broken down wives whose husbands are dead failures, and who in this last throw of the die content themselves with alternately eating and sleeping, or contrariwise are perpetually in mischief, undoing everything that their better halves can do in the way of getting along. I once knew a broken down doctor whose chief amusement was to bake gingercakes. After having made them as small sized as possible he seated himself at the head of the table and kept guard over the plate, lest any boarder might get more than one of them. Everything else in proportion; his poor little wife looked on trembingly, and concluding of course that he must be in the right, imitated his example at the other end. But in general boarding housekeepers become transformed into veritable

ISHMAELITES.

Their hand is against everybody, and everybody's hand is against them. They live in as continual a state of warfare and alarm as a trapper of the frontier, and their countenances are stamped with the characters thereof. Of course however it is obligatory on them to be smiling; they understand that they must be "pleasant," and this is how they accomplish it; some smile ferociously, others feebly, others mechanically, others idiotically, others spitefully. They all smile hypocritically. If you ask me why that eternal smile, I answer because the beams from their countenances fall personally upon "new boarders." If you ask why on new boarders, I answer because the new boarder takes the place of an old one who has just gone. If you ask me why the old one has not kept on in preference to having the new one come in, you ask me a question I have frequently asked myself and which I have never been able to answer. But going back to that boarding housekeeper's smile. I ask in turn, could you smile in any other way than ferociously, feebly, mechanically, idiotically, spitefully or hypocritically when you knew that your best paying boarder and the one who professed most friendship to you was doing all sorts of things to your furniture and your carpets, tampering with your servant girls, telling the other boarders all sorts of things behind your back, and burning four jets of gas till midnight? I certainly could not smile in any but a horrid kind of a way under the circumstances; neither, my good friend, do I believe that you could. So after all there is something to be said for these wicked, incompetent, unprincipled, poverty-stricken creatures. They are indeed Ishmaelites, their hand against every man's and every man's hand against them. Perhaps then one might deem that their common misfortunes might bind them in bonds of one with another. Now indeed you have made the greatest mistake of all. Badly as they hate their boarders, their servant girls, their landlords, they hate each other more. They generally begin the day by looking out of their basement windows to see if any of the boarders opposite are going; they keep a lookout till ten o'clock at night in order to note anything untoward which may be happening to any of their comrades on either side of the street, and for such purpose they are to be seen continually stretching their necks in every direction. Yet in the morning, at market, the loving and confidential confabs which take place between them while clustered around pieces of meat and heads of cabbages is something wonderful. They speak to each other without introduction, for it is as easy to distinguish that peculiar physiognomy as to tell a hired carriage from a private one. It is not surprising that the phrase "boarding housekeeper" has a significance here which is inexplicable to any one but a New Yorker. LUCY CARTER.

It is said that some of the alkaloids which enter into the combination of Fellows' Hypophosphites, are extracted from trees which attain to a great age, and that this fact suggest to Mr. Fellows' the idea of their employment. Whether the success of the preparation is due to this, we are not prepared to say, but the idea is a good one.

Have you these dangerous symptoms? Cough, pain in the side or breast, fever, short breath, night sweats, tickling, rising or soreness in the throat, diarrhœa, debility, asthmatic or bronchial affections; if so, use at once Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam. Trial bottles, 10 cts.; larger bottles, 35 and 75 cts.

News and Notes.

At a recent meeting of the Newport, R. I., city council, it was voted to have the street lanterns kept lighted as long as needed for the public good, instead of extinguishing them at two o'clock every morning. Stringent police regulations are to be enforced. At two o'clock on a recent morning two policemen stopped to speak to each other, and, being seen by the mayor, they were fined five dollars each. The incident is attracting no little attention.

At Brockton, Mass., Friday afternoon, the floor of a grain elevator fell and buried bree men under 3,000 bushels of corn. Their bodies were recovered in a few hours. The building was twenty-five years old.

The present head of the Mormon church has instructed his people that as the law of God sanctioned plural marriages, they should obey the law of the Lord in preference to any other. This is considered as a defiant answer to President Hayes' message concerning the execution of the law against polygamy.

Scott Stevens, a notorious ruffian of Columbia, Tenn., attacked Deputy A. A. Nicholson in the streets of that place the other night, knocking him down with a brick. Nicholson drew a revolver and shot Stevens through the abdomen, from the effects of which he died. Nicholson surrendered.

New Hampshire Items.

Delegates from the various Odd Fellow encampments of the State assembled at Odd Fellows' hall in Manchester on the 2d inst., to transact business of interest to the order and to make arrangements for the formation of a regiment of uniformed patriarchs. John K. Piper was elected colonel; C. J. Richards of Great Falls, lieutenant colonel; J. E. Tolles of Nashua, major. Authority was conferred upon them to fill out a roster of the regiment.

The drug store of C. W. Howe, at Rochester, was damaged by fire to the amount of $300, Friday morning.

A barn at Great Falls owned by Henry Noyes, with ten tons of hay, was burned by an incendiary fire Friday evening; also some machinery and carriages. Loss $1500; insurance $900.

The New Hampshire Conference seminary, at Tilton, has received $10,000 from Dr. N. G. Ladd of Malden, Mass. as a foundation for a chair of social, moral and biblical learning.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Enterprise arrived at Alexandria, Egypt, Nov. 14th, from Tripoli; all well.

The U. S. S. Hartford went out of commission at the Charlestown navy yard last Thursday.

Surgeon H. J. Babin is detached from duty at the marine barracks at Brooklyn, and ordered to the Marion.

Lieut. W. H. Turner is ordered to the Vandalia.

Capt. Edward Barrett has been nominated to be a commodore from June 11th; Capt. Homer C. Blake to be a commodore from Oct. 27th; Commander Henry Erben to be a captain from Nov. 1st; Medical Inspector A. L. Gibon to be a medical director from Aug. 20th; Second Lieut. W. S. Schenck, U. S. M. C., to be a first lieutenant from Sept. 24.

The Army and Navy Journal says that the U. S. S. Marion, now at New York, "after effecting some slight repairs will probably sail for the South Pacific station. Will probably sail about the middle of the month from New York."

—A fashion magazine says:—"Ulsters will be worn somewhat longer this winter." Well, then, by St. George, the men who wear them have got to wear stilts, that's all.—Hawkeye.

AROUND HOME.

December, what is the matter?

Mr. Oliver H. Hurd of this city is teacher of the north school at Rye this winter, the winter term commencing to-day.

The shoemakers in the employ of John Hurd & Son, of Dover, have been notified of an advance of fifty cents per case in wages.

One of the big panes of glass in Cyrus L. Brown & Co.'s store was smashed Saturday by a drunken man falling though it. He was locked up by the police.

Joshua Brooks & Co., of this city, are having their grain ground at the mill of Messrs. Holmes, in Greenland. The mill is grinding about two hundred bushels of corn a day.

The frescoing of the ceiling in the new Odd Fellows' hall is completed, save a day's work on the centre piece, and if there is a handsomer piece of work in the State we don't know where it is.

Dr. Joseph Garland, recently elected mayor of Gloucester, Mass., is a native of Hampton. He graduated from Bowdoin college in 1846 and the Jefferson medical college in 1848, and immediately went to Gloucester to practice.

The boarding which had been put up in front of the store corner of Congress and Fleet streets, in the National block, blew down Sunday morning just as people were going to church, several ladies narrowly escaping injury.

Two trusses were raised over that portion of Franklin block where the large dance hall is to be, on Saturday. The brick on the outside walls is nearly completed, and if pleasant weather is continued this week most of the twenty-five trusses will be in position.

The roads in the country were last week in a horrible condition. A team with ten bushels of clams was all day Saturday making the distance from York to this city, and the stage drivers reported the roads worse than ever known before at this season of the year.

The Congregationalist says: "In 1661 the duties of the schoolmaster at Portsmouth, N. H., were as follows: To act as court messenger, to serve summonses, to lead the choir on Sundays, to ring the bell for public worship, to dig graves, to take charge of the school, and to perform other occasional duties."

The "Portsmouth Old Folks' Choir" are invited by the originator and manager, Mr. Frank W. Miller, to meet at Grange hall on Friday evening, Dec. 12th, and Sunday evening, Dec. 14th, for a social sing, in honor of the 25th anniversary of their first concert, in 1854. All members, and other singers and players interested, are cordially invited.

The brig Clara J. Adams, which was "naturalized" at this port several years ago through going ashore pretty much all over the south beacon ledge, arrived at Havana from New York on the 26th ult. On the passage she encountered a hurricane, Nov. 20th, and was hove down on her beams ends for twelve hours, losing her topsails and a part of her deck load.

William P. Israel, Esq., of this city, is building some mammoth heneries on his farm at Little harbor. These heneries are to be heated by steam, and especial attention paid to the raising of chickens for the early spring markets. Mr. Israel has been spending several days in Massachusetts, buying fowls and gleaning information from experienced poultry raisers. He expects to raise during the winter about twenty-five hundred chickens. Success to his enterprise.

On Friday night, Nov. 28th, at Newmarket, thieves entered the store of Geo. Greely and emptied the money drawer of its contents, some seven or eight dollars, also stealing a quantity of tobacco. They obtained ingress through the skylight in the roof of the building, which they succeeded in unfastening by taking out a pane of glass. The same night the stores of Patrick Ryan and Harry Whittaker at Newmarket were also broken into, doors being forced, and a small quantity of cigars, etc., stolen from each. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

Navigation on the Cocheco is closed for this season.

A lad named Eddie Robinson, of Newmarket, while with other boys playing with a toy cannon on Thursday of last week, had his right arm and side very badly burned by the explosion of a powder-horn which he was holding in his hand.

Mrs. Abba Goold Woolson, the distinguished lecturer on historical subjects, hopes to have sufficient encouragement to justify her in announcing a course of lectures to be delivered in this city. She has given them in New York, Boston and other large cities, to large audiences. The lecturer speaks extempore, in a fluent and fascinating manner which holds the listener's attention from beginning to end. The Boston Commonwealth says of her: "Mrs. Woolson has given lectures more interesting and instructive than ever were given before on the same topic in the city of Boston. Her memory is wonderful and her style is unexceptionable." She will give her brilliant lecture entitled "The three friends, Spencer, Sidney and Raleigh," at a private residence in this city on Friday evening next, to a selected audience; and with encouragement she will announce the course to the public during this month.

Capt. Henry Libby of this city, master of the barque Furness Abbey, in a letter from Hiogo, Japan, to Capt. N. L. Thompson of Kennebunk, who built the vessel, says that on her passage from the United States to Japan she was four inches by the head, and laid on her broadside all the way out, owing to the insufficient quantity of ballast kept on board. Notwithstanding this she made a fair passage, and though Capt. Libby was not able to get over ten knots out of her by observation, he is very much pleased with her. He says: "Nothing can touch her working to windward. Came out of Angier in company with, and last but three of, fifteen vessels—some of them fast sailers—the wind was ahead, and at night we were to windward and ahead of the lot—but at dusk the wind hauled free, and one-third of the lot came up and passed us. In the North Atlantic fell in with the 'Gov. Goodwin'—she is very fast, and it took her three days to run out of sight ahead. Off St. Pauls fell in with the 'Paul Jones' of Portsmouth, and after a hard race of five days, he went out of sight four points on our lee bow, and we arrived at Angier two hours behind her."

EASTERN RAILROAD.

From the 45th annual report of the Eastern railroad company, for the year ending Sept. 30th, 1879, we compile the following:

No legal controversies of consequence have arisen during the year, except that with the Portsmouth & Dover railroad; and this, it is believed, is in fair way of settlement through an amicable reference.

There has been an increase in gross earnings over the previous year of $33,042.55, and a reduction of expenses of $89,932.86, making an increase of net earnings of $122,975.41, as compared with the previous year. During the first five months of the years there was a loss in gross earnings of $64,985.04; while from March 1st to Sept. 30th there was a gain of $98,027.59. A payment of $54,687.50 has been made in anticipation of the time when it will actually be due, thereby reducing the surplus for the year from $211,994.56 to $157,607.06. It is believed that the returning prosperity of the country fully justifies the expectation of a continued increase of earnings during the coming year.

Eighty-five thousand five hundred and thirty-seven ties have been laid during the year; 12 1-4 miles of track have been ballasted; side tracks have been laid at Dover and Sawyer's.

Filling at Portsmouth mill pond cost	$1,711.00
Grading at Noble's island	633.00
Filling Charlestown flats	5,743.00
There has been expended on rail way,
Portsmouth	3,061.00
Creosoting works, Portsmouth	4,183.00

The track continues to show a marked improvement; 1,609 tons of steel rails have been laid during the year, and there are now over 141 miles of steel track in use. Some 1,600 tons only will be needed next season to complete the main line with steel between Boston and Portland.

Fences, road-crossings, and signs have qreuired an expenditure of $9,655.31. In this is included sixteen miles and a half of wire fence; this is the standard; and its adoption, it is believed, will eventually materially lessen the fence repairs.

At Folsom street, Dover, a new station-house has been built; at Eliot, a freight-house; at North Berwick, a passenger-station, built at joint expense of Eastern and Boston & Maine roads; platforms have been entirely rebuilt at Hampton Falls, Greenland, Eliot, Conway junction, Wells, Kennebunk and other places. Considerable repairs have been made on the passenger-stations at Boston, Lynn, Salem and Portland; and on the engine-houses at Lynn, Salem, East Boston, Amesbury, Portsmouth and Portland.

Portland bridge is being rebuilt; three hundred feet of it has been completed, and piles are driven for three hundred feet more; the cost for the year has been $2,035. The arch at Mousam river, Kennebunk, is completed, and the entire cost is $8,592; expended this year, $6,017. On the High bridge, Danversport, 210 feet long, there has been expended $900. The pile bridge at Great Works, 153 feet long, is entirely new, and cost $775. Costs of repairs on Boston bridge, $1,491; Portsmouth bridge, $4,237. The overhead bridges at Castle hill, North Berwick, and two on the Amesbury branch, have been rebuilt.

The total debt liability of the road is $15,056,919.04. The business of the year was as follows:

Gross earnings from passengers	$1,341,433 42
" " " freight	989,045.68
" " " mail	40,553.50

THE CHIMES OF NORMANDY.

On Tuesday evening of this week the second entertainment in the Rockingham course will be given by the Boston English Opera Co., which includes among its members Mrs. H. E. Carter, Miss Anna Guenther, John E. Brand, J. C. Bartlett, James A. Gilbert and other well known soloists, with a strong chorus and efficient orchestra.

The story of the opera is as follows: Henri, Marquis of Corneville, who has been since childhood, owing to civil war, an exile, returns to his ancestral home on the occasion of the great annual fair which is being celebrated in the village that receives its name from his chateau. It is one of the old-fashioned Norman villages of the seventeenth century. The curtain rises on an assembly of village gossips, discussing scandal and small talk. Mignonette is the topic of conversation among the belles of Corneville. She comes in just in time to turn the tables on the others, and changes their taunts into expressions of rage. Gaspard, an old miser, wishes to marry his niece, Germaine, to the principal magistrate of the district. This arrangement does not suit Germaine, nor a young fisherman named Robin More, who pretends that he has saved her life from drowning on a certain occasion. To escape from the power of old Gaspard, Germaine takes advantage of the fair (a similar scene to that in the first act of "Martha,") and becomes the servant of the marquis. Her example is followed by Robin More and Mignonette. The second act is taken up with the supernatural visitors who have made the castle of Corneville so long an object of dread. Henri determines to find out the real character of these ghostly appearances, and discovers that it is all the work of the old miser, who has concealed his treasures in the chateau. The discovery drives Gaspard crazy, especially when he hears the bells of the chateau ringing for the first time since the flight of the old marquis. The third act represents the grand fete given in honor of the return of Henri to his ancestral home. Mignonette arrives as a marchioness, as some papers, found in the chateau, indicate that she is the lost heiress. The miser, however, recovers his reason, and shows that Germaine is the true marchioness. A love duet between her and Henri, and the reconciliation of all the parties, brings the story to a close.

The company has just returned from a very successful tour through the British provinces and the State of Maine, and the romantic and pleasing opera will be presented in this city for the first time, to-morrow night, in a manner to furnish a superior evening's entertainment for all who attend. A full house will be deserved, and we expect to see it, for that company always "draws" well.

THAT CLOSE SHAVE.

The narrow escape from a calamity at the crossing of the railroads near the roundhouse in this city last week, induced us to enquire if there was any blame to be charged to any one in the premises, and the result of our enquiry is as follows:

It seems that as the Concord railroad built their track over the Eastern railroad track after the Eastern was constructed, it is the former's duty to maintain proper signals of the approach of trains at the crossing, so that there may be no danger of collisions where the tracks of the two roads cross. This signal is operated by a man at work in the yard of the Concord station, and employed around the premises of that road, who it is said has been accustomed to repair to his signal station when he expected regular trains or heard the approach of extras. Upon the occasion of the narrow escape from collision last week, when the train on the Eastern road whistled the switch was open for that train to pass over the Concord track, and the signal was suddenly given not to cross. There was evidently some oversight on the part of the signal man on the Concord road, who perhaps reached his signal station from his duty in the yard, after hearing the train approach. The signal station is about half-way between the Concord station and the crossing of the Eastern road; and necessarily the man in charge, if not constantly at the signal post, is liable occasionally to be "behind time" in reaching the post of alarm. It is important to the safety of life and limb that a careful lookout be maintained at the point specified. The engines of the Eastern railroad besides those attached to regular trains, pass and repass the spot sometimes fifty times in a day.

What should be done is, to do away with the crossing by bringing the passenger trains of the Concord railroad directly to the Eastern station, and allowing the local freight of the Eastern railroad to be discharged at the present Concord station, and the Concord freight to come in on a track north of the Eastern's line. This would finally remove any possibility of danger from collision, and much simplify matters, reducing the cost to both roads in operating expenses here, and affording a better use of the track-room of both roads. Then the improved passenger station of the Eastern, with its prospective refreshment room, could be enjoyed by travellers over the Concord railroad; and in summer, persons arriving by the Concord road and en route for Hampton and other beaches, would be saved the expense of carriage of baggage between stations. Two separate stations like these in Portsmouth, with their two sets of employes, ticket sellers, etc., are simply a species of extravagance which neither company can afford; and it is to be hoped that a practical reform in this respect will follow the recent singularly-fortunate escape from a disaster, from which both roads might have been heavy sufferers.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The stocking seamers of Eliot—and they are a host—are about to strike for higher wages—two cents on a dozen pairs.

Several car-loads of pulp from the beet-sugar manufactory at Portland have been received at Kittery and Eliot, for parties in those towns who propose feeding it to their stock.

The manufacturers of Sanford propose the construction of a narrow gauge railroad, to run from Springvale to Wells, connecting there with the Eastern road. Several meetings have been held to consider the matter. One-half the sum necessary has already been pledged by Springvale citizens.

Peter Place of Biddeford having challenged Joseph Cross of the same city to run him a go-as-you-please foot race of twelve hours, for $25 and the championship of York county, the latter has accepted, and the vexed question of who is "champion of York county" will probably soon be settled.

A wealthy gentleman of Eliot has erected to his memory a beautiful granite monument, bearing his name, with a space left convenient for the age to be cut in, on his farm near the beautiful Piscataqua. The reason of this eccentricity probably is that the gentleman is fearful lest his heirs in their squabble for his shekels, would forget his grave.

Surveys began Thursday, under the direction of Thomas Appleton, for a narrow-guage railroad from Old Orchard beach to the mouth of the Saco river. It is expected that the line will be completed and opened by the 1st of July next. The effect of this will be to make the region at the mouth of the river practically a part of Old Orchard beach; and to increase the available area, for summer visitors to this part of the coast. Hon. S. E. Spring of Portland, who has acquired a considerable interest in shore property in Saco, is understood to be one of the principal parties concerned in the construction of the new line.—Biddeford Times.

The thief who has for some time been successfully operating in Saco and Biddeford by breaking a small piece of glass out of the corner of a pane of glass in a show-window of a store, and "hooking" articles out, on Wednesday evening of last week operated in his usual style on B. Dalton's fancy goods store in Biddeford, and secured about four dollars' worth of plunder. On the same night about twenty dollars' worth of boots and shoes, and two dollars in change were stolen from the store of Paul Labonte, the thief or thieves effecting an entrance by placing a ladder against the back part of the building and breaking a square of glass in an upper window so as to unfasten it; they climbed into this window and went down stairs into the shop.

One day last week a man and two women, in an open boat, started from Boon island with a sick man for Portsmouth, leaving at the light man and a babe thirteen weeks old. Wind, tide and weather were against them, and they found it impossible to make Portsmouth. The sick man grew worse, and it was feared that he would die before reaching land, but after much anxiety and exposure they were able to make York harbor. After seeing the sick man properly cared for, the rest started for the island, but were again foiled in their attempt, and were compelled to put back to land. Monday of this week they again tried to reach the island, but failed and were forced to put into Ogunquit for the night. Tuesday morning dawned pleasant, and as the sea was smooth it is to be presumed they were successful in reaching their island home, and the anxious mother after an absence of a number of days was restored to her babe, which must have needed her care.—Kennebunk Star, Dec. 5th.

The Biddeford Times intimates that it is likely that Courtney and Hanlan, the "assistant advertising agents" for the Hop Bitters Manufacturing Co., of Rochester, N. Y, will appear next year on the Saco river. It says: "We hear it rumored that a Saco firm, which has recently purchased a patent, will, for the purpose of advertising its wares, offer a large purse for Courtney and Hanlan to row for. It is proposed to have the race occur on the Saco, in June next, and should the arrangements be perfected it will prove the greatest sporting event which ever took place in New England."

Political.

The New Orleans Observer of the 4th inst. published a statement received by the republican campaign committee of Louisiana from Delta, to the effect that Dave Armstrong was hanged at that place on the Sunday preceding the late election; R. H. Brown, late postmaster, was hanged, and Ex-Sheriff Peck was whipped and stretched, on Monday night, and twenty-five others ran out of the parish. Terrorism was complete. The parish has been counted by over 2,000 majority for the democrats. The report adds, quite needlessly, "the republicans did not vote."

Speer's Medicinal Sambuci Wine for Females.

This wine is made from the juice of cultivated Sambucus fruit. The best judges pronounce it superb. It is being highly recommended as a family wine by some of the best families in the States; and has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally in this country and Europe, as a very superior wine for consumption, kidney difficulties, female weakness and general debility, and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. The virtues attributed to the wine are numerous and long standing; and it is pleasant to know that some person has succeeded in making and putting in market a pure article of wine for medicinal uses.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

THE NEW YORK TIMES

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The political course of the New York Times will be guided during the Presidential year by the same principles which have won for it the position of the foremost Republican newspaper in the United States. The successful issue of the recent contest in New York, and the unbroken series of Republican victories in other Northern States which preceded and accompanied it, have combined to demonstrate the soundness of the position of the Times in regard to the questions with which the Republican party is called upon to deal.

The Times will continue to place fidelity to the interests of the Republican party above the claims of personal aims or private ambition, and will steadfastly insist that the usefulness of any party must be measured by the extent of equal rights to all citizens, North and South, will be the salient points of the policy of the Times.

The Times will continue to be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully-edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be expanded to meet the increasing demands of the time.

In the sphere of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, the Times will address itself, as heretofore, to the appreciation of the cultured and intelligent classes of the American people. It will be lively without being sensational, aggressive without being coarse; at all times it will strive to be fearless and independent in the championship of the right. No theories subversive of the principles on which the sacredness of family ties and the existence of society alike repose will be promulgated in its columns.

The Times rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and medical pretenders, and of all those agencies by which the insidious poison of vice is disseminated throughout society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

The semi-weekly Times is specially fitted to meet the requirements of those who seek more ample details of current news and fuller installments of current discussion than are furnished in the weekly issue. The semi-weekly has a large circulation abroad and among the professional and mercantile classes, outside of the large cities, at home. At the reduced club rates now offered for this edition its popularity ought to be greatly increased.

The weekly Times, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a concise summary of political, social and foreign news, besides other features which recommend it to all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its conductors will spare no effort, not only to maintain its well-earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more decided.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

Postage will be prepaid by the publishers on all editions of the Times sent to subscribers in the United States.

The daily Times, per annum, including the Sunday edition, $12; the daily Times, per annum, exclusive of the Sunday edition, $10; the Sunday edition, per annum, $2.

The Semi-Weekly Times.

Single copies, one year, $2.50; five copies, one year, $12; ten copies, and one free for club, $20.

The Weekly Times.

Single copies, one year, $1; ten copies, and one free for club, $10; subscriptions for six months, 60 cents; three months, 40 cents.

These prices are invariable. We have no traveling agents. Remit in drafts on New York or Post Office Money Orders, if possible; and where either of these can be procured, send the money in a registered letter. Address

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury of a truss, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once fancied himself that it was but a trifling ailment, and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before it has fastened its fangs and coiled upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5th.

General Ewing is accredited with the remark that Congress will devote itself chiefly this session to whetting political issues for the campaign of '80. Although I have tried to get at the truth touching the matter, I must confess to having made several contradictory predictions, and now it seems to me that General Ewing's remark is pretty nearly correct.

The President-makers are at it again, the gathering of members having given them new opportunities. Speaker Randall is the latest presidential candidate to have a "boom." It is reported that he is really running a hopeful canvass, and trying to "kill off Bayard," to use the common phrase. The other presidential talk is not new, but there is a good deal of it in consequence of so many people coming together from all parts of the country.

One event I may mention as having some influence on the republican canvass for President. It is the recommendation in the President's message for retiring the greenbacks. That is well understood to be Secretary Sherman's policy, and he is a prominent candidate for President. There can be no mistake that he has by that course alienated some western support, while reaching for eastern favor. The matter is quite freely talked of; as a political point the general opinion is he has made a mistake, however right he may be in his theories. Many eastern republicans say he cannot get the support away from Blaine and Conkling with which he expects to offset his loss of support in the west. It is not likely that Congress will take kindly to the President's recommendation, as a very large majority of democrats and many republicans are opposed to it, while many more republicans are averse to any financial legislation at this session.

The promptness with which Congress responds to the President's recommendations touching the Nicaragua canal shows at once the importance of the work. The interest is so great on that subject that I believe Congress will make a handsome appropriation in its aid if it were asked.

Members of the administration cannot conceal their chagrin at the conspicuous manner in which the "outs" have been put forward in New York. Following Mr. Cornell's election as governor, we have the news that General Arthur is likely to be sent to the Senate here, and that General George H. Sharpe will be made speaker of the State Assembly. Both are very smart men, and have a reputation much beyond their party.

It seems to be pretty well understood that the appropriations committee will not have any legislation perfected before the holidays. The democrats agree upon one point, to refuse money to pay troops to be used to preserve peace at the polls; but as to the payment of supervisors and marshals of elections they are divided. KNOX.

One Experience from Many.

"I had been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said "Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy."—The Mother.—Home Journal.

Speer's Medicinal Sambuci Wine for Females.

This wine is made from the juice of cultivated Sambucus fruit. The best judges pronounce it superb. It is being highly recommended as a family wine by some of the best families in the States; and has been adopted by the New York Hospital, and by physicians generally in this country and Europe, as a very superior wine for consumption, kidney difficulties, female weakness and general debility, and held in high estimation for its medicinal properties. The virtues attributed to the wine are numerous and long standing; and it is pleasant to know that some person has succeeded in making and putting in market a pure article of wine for medicinal uses.

For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

—There are a good many men who think they could turn out better newspapers than are made by others, whose labors in that direction would result about like that of the tramp who was hired for a week on trial, by a newspaper reporter. After hanging around three days, doing nothing, he was accused of incompetence. He indignantly replied: "I can edit yer derned old paper, if you'll jest tell me where you get the stuff to put into it."—Syracuse Times.

News and Notes.

On Thursday evening last John McGonnagle made a misstep and fell through a ventilator in the ceiling of St. Dominic church at Portland, Me., a distance of fifty feet to the floor below, dying soon after striking.

A report from Portland, Me., says that Nelson B. Beckworth procured $1,100 insurance on his stock of goods at Ferry village, and then set fire to his store. The fire was quickly extinguished, when it was found that there were not more than $20 worth of goods. Beckworth returned from Boston on Friday, and was arrested.

The "Emancipation Group" in Park square, the gift of Hon. Moses Kimball to the city of Boston, was formally unveiled, Saturday, in the presence of a few city officials. The literary exercises were held in Faneuil hall, the principal portion of them consisting of an oration by Mayor Prince.

The Montague gold mines, near Dartmouth, N. S., have been sold to an American company for $50,000.

A thirty-five-foot fly wheel at Rensselaer iron mill at Troy, N. Y., exploded Friday night, killing a workman and doing $10,000 damage to buildings and machinery.

Robert Egenbett, a tramp, was convicted of being a tramp at Columbus, Ohio, Saturday, the first conviction there since the tramp law passed. The penalty is from one to three years' confinement in the penitentiary.

Thomas P. Bayes, a large stationery dealer of Orange, N. J., has been missing since Nov. 25th. He had previously borrowed sums of money to the extent of several thousand dollars, and the New York Philharmonic club, of which he was treasurer, is minus $1.276.

The new constitution of Louisiana contains a clause legalizing a lottery company which pays a considerable sum into the treasury of the State. Senator Carpenter, who is the leading counsel for the company, claims that the order of Postmaster-General Key, excluding the correspondence of this company from the mails, impairs the revenue of the State and is an interference with its vested rights.

B. Frank Moore, New York agent of the Louisiana lottery company, and twelve others, were arrested in New York on Saturday on a warrant issued at the instance of Patrick A. Burns and Landy A. Laudray, charging them with selling lottery tickets.

A fire in Troy, N. Y., Sunday morning, destroyed a boiler shop and two machine shops, a laundry, five shirt and collar manufactories, a malt house, six tenement houses and a church. Loss $350,000; insurance $162,000. Eighteen hundred employes, 1500 of whom are girls, are thrown out of employment by the fire.

The New York Tribune says that several influential men from Mexico have been in test city recently, in conference with leading citizens, discussing a plan whereby Mexico can be placed under a more stable government. It is stated that the dictatorship of Mexico was offered to Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, but that he has given no definite answer. It is also stated that Gen. Grant will visit Mexico, at the invitation of leading Mexicans, with a view to obtain his opinion upon the subject of the annexation of that country to the United States.

Some timid people in Providence, R. I., the other night rang the fire alarm and called out the department because they thought their kerosene lamp was about to explode. As it did not, the department was not seriously needed.

Negotiations long pending for the establishment of linen thread mills at New England village in Grafton, Mass., have been concluded. The water power and a large tract of land have been purchased by Thomas Coates of the Scotch firm of J. & P. Coates, and the younger Finley of Finley & Son. They will begin operations at once.

Master William H. Lee, the boy soprano, after singing in the part of Ralph Rackstraw 183 times, has retired from the Boston Juvenile Pinafore Company and returned to the concert stage.

Capt. Oliver, of ship Cashmere, and his mate, Moulton M. Van Klick, have been arrested for murdering, by a course of long continued brotality, a seaman named Christian Holmenson, on the voyage from Samarang to Boston. The ship arrived at Boston on Friday last, and the mate was landed at City Point on the way up. According to the statements of the crew the Cashmere was one of the "floating hells" which have made the name of American ships notorious—and infamous—wherever the stars and stripes have been borne by our merchant marine.

Charles Arlington, alias Gopher Bill, one of the five burglars who committed the $100,000 burglary at the residence of G. G. Bailey, at Tagger's Corners, Penn., Nov. 5th, has been arrested. He confessed and revealed the names of the other four.

The two ladies recovered soon after medical assistance arrived, but the young man is still in a critical condition. He was entirely unconscious when found.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Constitution, Comdr. Oscar F. Stanton, sailed from Fortress Monroe for Aspinwall on Monday.

The U. S. S. Alliance, Commander A. R. Yates, arrived at the Charlestown navy yard on Monday morning. An order was found there from Secretary Thompson to proceed to the Norfolk navy yard to go out of commission.

The Brooklyn Eagle says: "An event unknown in the past twelve years' history of Brooklyn navy yard, occurred at the marine barracks on Thanksgiving day, when, from a list of seventy-nine liberty men, not a soldier was under the influence of liquor or absent from his post the following morning. Considering the great temptations of the day and the numerous liquor shops in vicinity of the barracks, this splendid behavior on the part of the marines speaks volumes in favor of the discipline established by the venerable, kind hearted commander, Lieutenant-Colonel T. Y. Field."

New Hampshire Items.

The officers of the National State Capital bank of Concord, which has been assessed on a surplus of $60,000, appeared before a committee appointed by the assessors and claimed that their surplus was but $40,000, and they were taxed for the latter amount. Capt. Samuel Gile, an old resident of Bow, was found dead in his barn in that town Sunday evening. He had represented his town in the legislature, and was about sixty years old.

—The pastor of a church in Bridgeport, Conn., has repeatedly reproved certain young men who hang about the doors during the hours of service. On a recent Sunday he went out of the front door as several loafers were standing at the gate. They immediately moved on. The pastor followed until he came to a team near the church, when he took a horsewhip from the socket of the carriage, and placed it beneath his coat. He then continued his pursuit, but the men perceiving the movement fled riotously.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally, applied externally, and thereby more certainly relieve pain, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and it is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the side, back or bowels, sore throat, rheumatism, toothache and all aches.

The great relief of pain, "Brown's Household Panacea," should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water (sweetened, if preferred), taken at bedtime, will break up a cold. 25 cents a bottle.

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. Brown's Vermifuge Comfits, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. Twenty five cents a box. t,thAf

AROUND HOME.

General Thom was in town Monday on business relating to the breakwater at Newcastle.

Rock Cottage, near Jerry's point, Newcastle, was open and occupied by a merry party on Sunday last.

A well-known correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter, living in Stratham, recently cut and piled four cords of pine wood in one day.

Rev. Carlos Martyn, formerly pastor of the North church in this city, is now pastor of the Thirty-Fourth street Reformed church, New York city.

Seventy-five men are employed on the improvements being made at the Wentworth house, Newcastle. The frame for the dining-room extension was raised on Monday.

If one-half the stockholders (!) who go to Boston on "Railroad day" attend the corporation meeting, it will have to be adjourned from Bumstead hall to Boston common.

The ship Chocorua, of this port, Matthews master, arrived at Boston on Monday from Singapore, which port she left on the 28th of August, passing Anjier Sept. 12th.

This evening, at Music hall, the "Chimes of Normandy" by the Boston English Opera Co. Evening tickets—reserved seats fifty and seventy-five cts.; gallery thirty-five cts.

The question is asked, why is it that the sessions of some of our public schools are so unequal,—three and a half hours in the forenoon, and one hour in the afternoon? Answer, ye committee men.

The Alley club of this city are to make a trip to the Cape Neddick house, York, as soon as sleighing comes. They will take their ladies along, and after their annual supper will trip the light fantastic.

Comdr. A. R. Yates of this city, commanding the United States ship Alliance, arrived at Boston on Monday from Europe via Madeira. The Alliance is ordered to Norfolk, Va., to go out of commission.

We hear that Mr. John F. Shillaber is to occupy the store in National block next the Chinese laundry, and will put in a complete stock of rifles, fowling-pieces, pistols, etc., such as is usually found in first-class gunsmiths' stores.

George T. Vaughan, and other parties of this city and Kittery, have purchased the schooner Margie, of 190 tons register, of Eastport, Maine. Captain J. Hoyt of Kittery point will command the schooner, and she will go into the coal trade.

At a meeting of the officers of the High School association, held on Saturday evening of last week, it was decided to hold the next reunion of the alumni in the new Franklin block building, and the dance hall has been secured for the evening services.

To-morrow (Wednesday) is "railroad day," when the Eastern railroad in Massachusetts has its annual meeting in Boston. An extra train will leave this city for Boston at seven o'clock A. M., fifteen minutes ahead of the regular passenger train, for the especial accommodation of the holders of stock and bonds of the Eastern railroad in Massachusetts, who only will be passed free to Boston and back on that day.

Rev. Dr. Alden, of this city, lectured in Concord last Friday evening; subject: Jerusalem and its Environs." The Monitor says: "He held the attention of his auditors closely for upwards of an hour, and is a good speaker, having a pleasant voice. He evidently carried an ideal Jerusalem with him in his journey to that city, and brought it away with him without much material change."

Piscataqua Lodge, I. O. O. F., had a lively session Monday evening, the question of the lodge's going into the new hall being up for consideration. The hall was packed almost to suffocation. The question was discussed for nearly three hours, generally amicably, though several of the brethren boiled over occasionally. Finally the question was called, and the vote stood eighty-three to thirty-one to go into the new hall, at an annual cost of $205, providing their own hall and fixtures can be let for $140 per annum.

Rev. James DeNormandie will deliver his popular lecture on Thomas Jefferson in Greenland some time during the present month, in the interest of the Academy school.

The confirmation of Rev. E. A. Rand in the Episcopal communion, which takes place this week, makes the fifth transfer from the Congregational ministry to the Episcopal church within the past two years.

It is rumored that Messrs. R. H. White & Co. Jordan, Marsh & Co., and other merchants in Boston, are arranging for cheap trains on all the principal railroads running into Boston, the day before Christmas. In this way thousands of dollars are to be diverted from our local trade and put into the pockets of Boston dealers, generally for articles that could be purchased as cheap or cheaper in Portsmouth stores.

The Kennebunk Star says: "For several months past we have had our attention called by several citizens, to grievances experienced by them in sending and receiving goods over the Boston & Maine railroad. Some of these persons have been so severely handled that they now do all their freighting over the Eastern road. And now comes another important change; a shoe company doing a very large business here, have seen fit to make the same change, and are now shipping all their goods via the Eastern. There must be something wrong, and the managers of the Boston & Maine should look into the matter, if they wish to secure the business that legitimately belongs to the road. People in Kennebunk don't like to be bull-dozed."

The following are the resolutions as a mark of respect to the memory of Walter Hastings, Esq., passed by the directors of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire, at their meeting last week:

Resolved, that the surviving members of the board of direction of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire, deplore the recent death of one of their number, Walter Hastings, Esquire, whose faithful services as a director have ever been recognized.

Resolved, that our sympathies are extended to the family of the deceased in their recent bereavement.

Resolved, that the clerk be directed to transmit to the family of our deceased associate a copy of these resolutions as a token of our respect for his memory, and of our recognition of the sterling qualities so long evinced in his varied business and social relations.

An important contract was signed on Saturday afternoon, between the American Union telegraph company and the Eastern railroad corporation, whereby the former company has been granted the privilege of building its telegraph lines along the whole of the Eastern line, and branches operated by that company. The telegraph company commenced distributing poles along the line between Boston and Portland on Monday morning, and will put on a large force of men at these different points, to set as many as possible before the ground is closed up by frost. The railroad company grants this privilege for the reason that the telegraph company propose having two independent wires to each place on the route, one of which is to be used by the railroad, the other for the exclusive use of the telegraph company for its patrons. This will, probably, affect the Western Union on this line, as the new company will put wires in all the railroad offices along the entire route.

DIVIDING THE PIG.

An apparently simple arithmetical question which has bothered a great many persons in this vicinity for a week or two past, is as follows:

Jake and Joe purchased a pig weighing one hundred pounds, paying for it eight dollars, each man contributing four dollars. When it came to dividing the pork Jake took the prime cuts, and said to Joe, "My part is worth a cent a pound more than yours, and we'll divide on that basis," which Joe agreed to.

How many pounds did each man receive?

WHO WAS IN FAULT?

Last week there was a narrow escape from accident on the railroad premises in this city, trains on the Eastern and Concord railroads coming perilously near collision at the point where the tracks of the two roads cross. In our first report of the incident we said:

"The Concord train had the right of way, and the engineer on the passenger train [on the Eastern road] applied the brakes and reversed his engine," etc.

In Monday's CHRONICLE we published an article on the "close shave," containing the following statement:

When the train on the Eastern road whistled the switch was open for that train to pass over the Concord track, and the signal was suddenly given not to cross. There was evidently some oversight on the part of the signal man on the Concord road, who perhaps reached his signal station from his duty in the yard, after hearing the train approach.

This statement was made by employes of the Eastern railroad; but on Monday afternoon we were assured by an official of the Concord road that the signals were properly set for the Concord train to pass over the crossing, before the Eastern train hove in sight at all. If this is so—and we have always found our informant reliable and entirely trustworthy—our strictures upon the Concord's management of the signal-post were unjust.

But that some one was in fault is certain, and that in consequence a large amount of property and many invaluable lives were put in peril. The railroad authorities should make it their business to locate the blame where it belongs, and effectively guard against another such narrow escape at that point.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Ed. Chronicle: Everything relating to the Portsmouth & Dover railroad being of special interest just at this time, the writer hands you copies of two letters, the originals of which were quite accidentally unearthed on a recent morning from the files at the city rooms:

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER R. R.,

ALBERT R. HATCH, Esq., Portsmouth.

Dear Sir: The engineers' estimates of the cost of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad amount to $599,684.32.

Contracts have been made for the building of the road, a little under the above figures.

The individual subscriptions to the stock of this road amount at this date to $96,200. Very respectfully,

GEO. L. TREADWELL, Treasurer.

The original bears the following endorsement: "In Mayor and Aldermen, Dec. 12th, 1872, accepted and to be placed on file. M. BUFFORD, Clerk."

Contracts made to build the road at less than the estimates! Think of the glory claimed for that. Of course sufficient security, as customary, was taken for performance. Has any one heard of any demand enforced upon such security? Again; of course, part of each payment for work done was held back until the contract was completed; can any one give us the amount so retained? Would the road have cost forty per cent. more than the estimates and the contract price if the directors had done their duty? And if they did not, shall they escape the accountability "they personally acknowledge?"

PORTSMOUTH, Feb. 3, 1873.

HON. T. E. O. MARVIN:—Dear Sir: I desire to express my thanks to you and the members of the Board who acted with you for your valuable services rendered to the Portsmouth & Dover railroad during the investigation of the last week. The fair and impartial hearing given to all parties by the railroad commissioners with whom you acted in conjunction left no cause for complaint, and the conclusion you arrived at we deem honorable and just. I am aware that the time given to this matter was taken from that which your own private business demanded and I regret that our means do not admit of a liberal remuneration of your services and trouble. I enclose my check for $100 (one hundred dollars) which please share with the members of the Board of Aldermen who acted with you, and express my thanks to them for their adherence to justice and right.

I am very respectfully your obedient servant,

FRANK JONES, Pres. P. & D. R. R.

The moral obliquity exhibited in the above astonishing letter is astounding; its naivete is delicious. Send a check to the mayor and "such aldermen as acted with him"—thank God not the whole board—"for valuable services rendered the railroad," performed while the board was acting with the railroad commissioners in a judicial capacity! Their duty was as much to do justice to the opposite side as to it; to hold evenly the scales of justice; to spurn influence and to scorn bribes or compensation from either party. Did the president of the railroad also send a check to the railroad commissioners? Is the leak in the road's finances to be sought in this direction? Was it out of the amount saved to the road beyond the hope and expectation of its president in one case, by action of this board, that the hundred dollars was sent to the mayor to "share" with the aldermen who "acted with" him. "Adherence to justice!" Oh! shame, where is thy blush? What next.

Fancy the reception Mayor Greenleaf or Mayor Jenness would have given such a letter! We are glad to have no proof that, in retaining the letter, the "check" was also retained and "shared."

Mr. Editor, the writer eight years ago through your columns expressed the hope that an examination of each link in the chain then being girt about us by these railroad magnates might result in the detection of some flaw which would release us from the meshes, and the calamities he foresaw and foretold would result from the building the road. He now thinks (and the public is beginning to) that a sound link or spot cannot be found in the management from the beginning to the present. The beauty of it is that, of nearly all the wrong acts done they stand self-convicted; condemned, by documents under their own hands and seals; the writer simply compiles. W.

EXPERT TESTIMONY.

Sometimes there is produced in court the testimony of what are termed "experts," a class of persons who assume to know more than other people concerning the subjects about which they are enquired of.

In the court recently, evidence as to the cost of keeping a cow was going in from back in the country, and a man on the witness stand allowed that he had always kept cows, and his father before him was a dairyman. "Then you know," said the learned counsel for the plaintiff, "just what it costs to keep a cow by the week, do you, sir?" The witness acquiesced that he had that knowledge. "Then you may state to the court and jury what it costs," pursued the counsel. "Well," returned the brother of the dairyman's daughter, "That depends upon how much you feed the caow!"

NAVAL PROMOTIONS.

Paymaster John H. Stevenson, now stationed at New York, has received a new commission which advances him fifteen numbers on the list of paymasters in the navy. There is a law which provides that any officer of the navy may, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, be advanced not exceeding thirty numbers in rank for eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle, or extraordinary heroism. Paymaster Stevenson by this advancement is promoted over Paymasters Guild and Putnam, and comes in narly at the head of the list of paymasters.

Who shall say that republics are ungrateful?

Mr. Cannon is the Mormon delegate to Congress from Utah. He is a proper man to head a committee, because it is doubtless easy for him to make a report.

Political.

The Washington correspondent of the democratic New York Sun asserts that Mr. Bright, the democratic sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, has been guilty of jobbing out the offices in his gift; that his deputy runs a groggery in the basement; and that committee rooms are little better than barrooms, and certain officials little better than bartenders.

A Maine correspondent of the Boston Herald, referring in a recent letter to the characters of Garcelon and his council, says that Dr. Parker of Aroostook, H. H. Munroe of Thomaston and E. C. Moody of York "are all good natured gentlemen who would no more set out to steal a State than they would to carry off an old meeting house." That may be; but if we owned an old meeting house, and it was worth anything, we should leave it out over night if any of them were around.

Tammany hall has issued a two-column address in which Mr. Tilden is charged with "imbecile cowardice," and that gentleman is referred to as the author of the "monumental infamy of the cipher despatches," which is stamped as a crime "so enormous that the corruption of Verres, the venality of Robert Walpole and the vulgar rascality of the ring depredators in New York pale into insignificance in comparison with it."

The democrats of New Hampshire talk of nominating Ex-Congressman Frank Jones for Governor at the next election, thinking his popularity, wealth, and methods may bring increased support to their ticket for presidential electors, which will be voted at the same time.—New York Times.

Feeble Ladies.

Those languid, tiresome sensations, causing you to feel scarcely able to be on your feet; that constant drain that is taking from your system all its elasticity; driving the bloom from your cheeks; that continual strain upon your vital forces, rendering you irritable and fretful, can easily be removed by the use of that marvelous remedy, Hop Bitters. Irregularities and obstructions of your system are relieved at once, while the special cause of periodical pain is permanently removed. Will you heed this?—Cincinnati Saturday Night.

THE NEW YORK TIMES

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The political course of the New York Times will be guided during the Presidential year by the same principles which have won for it the position of the foremost Republican newspaper in the United States. The successful issue of the recent contest in New York, and the unbroken series of Republican victories in other Northern States which preceded and accompanied it, have combined to demonstrate the soundness of the position of the Times in regard to the questions with which the Republican Party is called upon to deal.

The Times will continue to place fidelity to the interests of the Republican Party above the partisan or personal ambition of any individual, and will steadfastly insist that the usefulness of any party must be measured by the extent of its devotion to the honor and welfare of the country. In the future, as in the past, the attitude of the Times will be that of independence within the Republican Party. The maintenance of the national credit; the purification of the public service; the efficiency of all reasonable projects of fiscal reform; rigid economy in public expenditure; opposition to subsidies and corporate jobbery in all its forms; and the preservation of equal rights to all citizens, North and South, will be the salient points of the policy of the Times.

The Times will continue to be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully-edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting news at home and abroad will be expanded to meet the increasing demands of the time.

In the sphere of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, the Times will address itself, as heretofore, to the appreciation of the educated and intelligent classes of the American people. It will be lively without being sensational, aggressive without being coarse; at all times it will strive to be fearless and independent in its championship of the right. No theories subversive of the principles on which the sacredness of family ties and the existence of society depend, will be promulgated in its columns.

The Times rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and medical pretenders, and of all other agencies by which the insidious poison of vice is disseminated throughout society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

The semi-weekly Times is specially fitted to meet the requirements of those who seek more ample details of current news and fuller installments of current discussion than are furnished in the weekly issue. The tri-weekly has a large circulation abroad and among the professional and mercantile classes, outside of the large cities, at home. At the reduced club rates now offered for this edition its popularity ought to be greatly increased.

The weekly Times, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a concise summary of political, social and foreign news, besides other features which recommend it to all classes of readers, is now specially adapted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its conductors will spare no effort, not only to maintain its well-earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more decided.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

Postage will be prepaid by the publishers on all editions of the Times sent to subscribers in the United States.

The daily Times, per annum, including the Sunday edition, $12; the daily Times, per annum, exclusive of the Sunday edition, $10; the Sunday edition, per annum, $2.

The Semi-Weekly Times.

Single copies, one year, $2.00; five copies, one year, $12; ten copies, and one free for club, $20.

The Weekly Times.

Single copies, one year, $1; ten copies, and one free for club, $10; subscriptions for six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

These prices are invariable. We have no traveling agents. Remit in drafts on New York or Post Office Money Orders, if possible; and where neither of these can be procured, send the money in a registered letter. Address

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the only man who has the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such as are that life is a burden to be endured, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturdays, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain confidence men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a foul odor so bad that my presence in a room with other was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was not troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD, Short-Hand Writer

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S CURE arrived here to-night all right. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have tried nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to keep the offensive discharge down, I have no hopes able to recover my senses of taste and smell until I tried Sanford's Radical Cure. You can use my name if you choose to me, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

Admiral Hope and the Yankee Skipper.

It would be well if all international misunderstandings, great or small, could be settled with as much tact and skill as one which occurred some years ago, and of which our veracious record, now to be made, is the first ever published. In a foreign port, many long miles from our shores, lay at anchor a British troop ship, commanded by an elderly man, rash and impetuous, and of indifferent judgment.

As he stood one day looking out from the "bridge," an American bark in charge of a pilot came slowly into the harbor. Her captain, again, was a man decidedly out of the ordinary course—of remarkable physical and mental vigor, and apt at times, perhaps from a consciousness of his extreme proficiency in the noble art of self-defence, to strike first and apologize afterwards. Through some mismanagement of the pilot the bark fouled the jibboom of the troop-ship, doing, however, but little damage. The captain roared out, "come on board, sir!" Being reminded by the pilot that he was an elderly man, and willing to good naturedly waive ceremony, the shipmaster pulled in his gig to the ladder, mounted it, and stood on the deck. To his utter surprise, the captain called out from the bridge:

"Sentry, arrest that man."

He quickly said: "I am an American citizen and unarmed, but no man arrests me."

"Arrest him, sentry; don't you hear?" shouted the captain, stamping his foot. The sentry advanced, but only to receive a blow from the shipmaster, which would have felled an ox. Quick as thought the latter sprang for the gangway, striking right and left, and was on the ladder and in his boat before those who had encountered his fists had discovered what hurt them. Straight to the consul went he, and that functionery, a particularly reserved and dignified man, heard his statement and told him that the matter should have attention. The next day he was summoned by the marshal, went again to the consulate, and was ushered into the principal room. On the one side of the table sat the consul, grave and impassive as ever; on the other Vice Admiral James Hope, K. C. B., in full uniform.

"Admiral Hope—Captain X," said the consul. Those who may have had the good fortune to meet this accomplished officer (who once commanded H. M. North American squadron, and has many friends in this country) will recall the charm of his face and manner. It was never more winning than when he rose to acknowledge the introduction.

"Captain X., I am greatly pleased to make your acquaintance," said he; then in a more familiar tone and speaking quickly; "Now, my good friend, what can I do for you; what do you want?"

"Well, admiral," said the captain, "I think that I ought to have an apology."

"O! my dear Captain X.," said the admiral, with a comical look of perplexity, "my dear Captain X., please don't ask us for an apology. Just think for a moment what you have done. You have boarded one of Her Majesty's armed vessels. You have knocked down a number of Her Gracious Majesty's subjects, and you have come off without a scratch and with flying colors. Now, my good friend, be reasonable and content yourself with that glory. Don't ask for an apology."

"Well, admiral," began the mollified skipper, "since you ask it"—

"Now, captain, that's all right," interrupted the admiral. "Mr. Consul, did you say something about sherry? Capt. X., you will find that a good Havana. Beautiful bark of yours, by the way. And you came from"—and so it went on. The thoroughly pacified captain sang for years the praise of the splendid old admiral, but only in select company was it whispered that the commander of the troop ship passed un mauvais quart d'heure, and that the admiral himself preferred his fight at the Peiho forts, when he had two vessels sunk under him and a link of chain shot into his side, to his scrape with the Yankee skipper.—Canada paper.

THE only combination of the true Jamaica Ginger with choice aromatics and French brandy, for weakness, weariness, and prostration of the nervous forces, inability to sleep, cold extremities, and suspended circulation, is SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER. It is a grateful boon to suffering humanity, at once soothing, strengthening, and refreshing. Ask for Sanford's.

Whooping Cough is successfully treated by separating the patients beyond hearing distance of each other, and by the employment of Fellows' Hypophosphites. Whooping Cough is a nervous disease of so sympathetic a nature that a paroxysm may be produced in one susceptible by simply hearing the cough of another person. The above named treatment has been found singularly effective.

The Maine Steal.

That Garcelon, governor of Maine, and his council, propose to give the recent election to the defeated party by counting out a large number of republicans elected to the Senate and House of Representatives, and giving their seats to democrats whom there is not even a pretence were elected, now seems certain. That this infamy is to be consummated merely to secure the petty reward of the State offices for a single year, is not to be supposed; the aim is to secure the electoral vote of Maine for the democratic candidate for President next year, in opposition to the will of the people of the State. This it is supposed will be easy to do, if the initial outrage and usurpation can be successfully accomplished; for a man who as governor will give certificates of election to some thirty or more candidates for the State legislature, every one of whom he knows was defeated, will not be likely to hesitate much at giving certificates to defeated presidential electors under similar circumstances.

The democratic press—and by the way not a single democratic paper in New England has had a word to say in opposition to this naturalization of southern democratic tactics in Maine—have indulged in considerable twaddle about the "feelings," of the governor and council of Maine having been "outraged" by the republican charges that they were engaged in an infamous attempt to defeat the will of the people by stealing the State government. Now the same charge is more explicitly made by Charles C. Rounds, Esq., who offers distinctly to prove that the election returns were some time ago surreptitiously opened in the office of the secretary of State, and that the democratic towns were allowed to change and amend and alter, and in some cases wholly withdraw the old returns, and put in new, false and fraudulent ones! This brings the smell of gross corruption right to the door of the council chamber, and the council do nothing to clear themselves. The odor will be fastened on them and will adhere to them for all time. Rounds and those who know the evidence he holds, say it an investigation should be ordered by the governor and council, the fusion State government would be driven into perpetual disgrace. The simple truth is that Garcelon and his council don't dare to order an investigation. They would rather anything than the proof which Rounds would submit to them. Mr. Rounds' letter is as follows:

AUGUSTA, Dec. 3d.

To the Honorable Governor and Council of the State of Maine:

Your Honorable Board has repeatedly and now formally declined to permit any republican senator or representative-elect to see the returns affecting him. Your ground for this refusal is understood to be your conclusion, formally expressed by his excellency, the governor, that you have no constitutional power to make corrections in the returns in any instance.

I now offer, on behalf of the republican senators-elect from Washington county, if your honorable board will open the subject for investigation, to prove that in the case of returns from democratic towns for senators and representatives there have been changes made; that these changes were made to supply defects discovered by the surreptitious and premature opening of returns, and that they must involve in some form the collusion or connivance of persons connected with the State government.

And in the facts which I think are susceptible of proof will be found the basis of that boast so widely made by certain persons that the returns from democratic towns are all correct, and that errors and omissions are found only in the returns from republican towns.

I shall subject your honorable board, if you will order the investigation, to very little trouble, and to an expense so trifling that if you have no appropriation applicable to this end of justice I will supply the necessary funds.

The witnesses I shall desire to have summoned are principally persons connected with the State government, officers in democratic towns, and a few others who have competent knowledge on which to testify.

Assuming that your honorable board will gladly unite with me and with all others who can aid in discovering and exposing a nefarious plot to thwart the expressed will of the people at the late election, I await your commands.

Your obedient servant,

(Signed) C. B. ROUNDS,
County Attorney of Washington.

News and Notes.

In the police court at Cincinnati, Monday, the cases of fifty-three proprietors and attaches of theatres and variety shows, arrested on the previous Sunday, were continued to Dec. 16th.

A Lisbon, Me., girl of nineteen years lately asked a druggist for poison that was sure death to rats, and finally decided on strychnine. The druggist, suspecting all was not right, put up sugar of milk, which the girl took home, swallowed, and then announced to her startled relatives that she had taken strychnine, and would die in a few minutes. The doctors were immediately sent for, about a quart of warm water was put down her throat, and followed by a stomach pump. If the druggist had not informed her friends that the girl had taken nothing but sugar of milk, she would probably have been dosed and frightened to death, after all.

The citizens of Bucksport, Me., deny that their town proposes to repudiate its debt.

Asa S. Cook and Charles R. Belden, well-known Hartford business men, while at Auburn, N. Y., recently, to look up machinery for button-making, were arrested and thrown into the jail at midnight at the instance of Woodruff Brothers, a local button firm, who thought the visitors were prying into their business secrets. No warrants were shown, and Mr. Belden, the story is, was knocked down in his room at the hotel and badly hurt by the officers, who refused to show any papers or give any other reason for the proceeding except that he was wanted for receiving stolen goods. Both victims, it is asserted, were taken to the lockup in a blinding snow storm without their overcoats, and were refused communication with their friends until four o'clock in the afternoon of the next day. Their trial, which occupied two entire days, ended in acquittal, and now E. D. Woodruff of Woodruff Brothers has been sued by Cook and Belden for $5,000 each for malicious prosecution and false imprisonment.

The House of Representatives adjourned on Monday because of the death of Hon. Alfred M. Lay, of the Seventh Missouri district, who had a second shock of paralysis on Sunday, and died Monday morning. He was in the rebel army, where he contracted a rheumatic complaint which ever after troubled him.

The production of anthracite coal this year will reach 25,000,000 tons, which exceeds any previous achievement in this industry. The nearest approach to it was in 1873, when the production was over 21,000,000 tons, and these figures were regarded with astonishment.

Judge Daniels of the New York court on Monday signed the death warrant of Nathan Greenfield, recently convicted after a third trial for the murder of his wife, and sentenced him to be hanged on Friday next. The general trial term of supreme court of New York has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of Chastine Cox, the negro murderer, and it now remains for the lower court to fix the day for Cox's execution.

The commission sent to the Utes by Secretary Schurz to demand the surrender of the murderers in that tribe have brought matters to a crisis. The Ute chiefs agree to surrender the Indians charged with being engaged in the massacre of Meeker and employes, providing they are tried in Washington. The chiefs say the people of Colorado are not friendly, and a fair trial there or in New Mexico is not to be expected.

Towns on the Hudson river are being visited by swindlers and forgers, and reports show many victims. The arrest of forger "Nosey" Stebbins, at Poughkeepsie, is followed by the arrest of another forger for swindling Troy merchants. The police are searching for a man travelling with a swindling musical album; and a ticket agent of the Dutchess & Columbia railroad, at Pine Plains, has fled as a defaulter.

Capt.Gen. Blanco of Cuba has returned to Havana. The general commanding the department of Cinco Villas has issued a circular, saying that considering the favorable condition of the province, and that many of the scattered insurgents fear to surrender believing that they will not be pardoned, the term during which pardon will be granted to all insurgents who surrender, has been prolonged to the 15th of December.

It used to be said of Rev. Dr. A. P. Peabody that he was so absent-minded he could go to a party, get interested in conversation, tie his legs up in a silk hankerchief, and when he started to leave his seat he would fall upon his face, having forgotten to untie the hankerchief. Upon one remarkable occasion he is said to have broken up a sewing-circle by calmly and unconsciously stuffing two-thirds of the white skirt of a young lady's dress into his coat pocket, under the impression that it was his own pocket handkerchief.

Political.

The Springfield Republican, judging by the following extract from its columns, has a clear idea of the situation in Maine: "Since Marcellus Emery of Bangor died the country has felt comparatively safe till the Lewiston doctor undertook to play the tyrant; but it makes the patriot shudder now to remember that as Maine goes so goes the Union. Is the country going to revolution and anarchy, and led, too, by that hitherto most dull and proper of States, Maine? Scarcely anything more Mexican has ever happened in this country than Garcelon's performance. The old State, with its silver mines and revolutionary methods, has relegated itself to the status of a border community, and it must not complain if the citizens of more conservative commonwealths, when they see a Maine man, are harrowed with the suspicion that he may have a razor in his boot."

—The man who took his vest to a justice to have it bound over thinks justices are no good, anyhow.

AROUND HOME.

Portsmouth goes to Boston to-day.

The carpets for Odd Fellows' hall arrived on Tuesday.

Chickens are dying off with a disease resembling diphtheria.

Dr. Donaldson has been confined to his house for several days with a severe attack of lumbago.

The Boston & Maine railroad will next summer extend its double track from Haverhill, Mass., to Exeter.

Colonel, were you a member of the board of aldermen in 1878? Don't more than a dozen answer at once.

Piscataqua lodge will pay an annual rent of $225, if they go into the new hall, instead of $205 as our type made it Tuesday.

The Granite States give their third assembly at Mechanics' hall on Thursday evening. Other special attractions are in perspective.

Franklin block is showing up its fair proportions, and we feel safe in saying that the Congress street front of this building will be the handsomest of any building in the State.

Medical Inspector C. J. Osborne, of this city, is ordered from the Powhatan to the Tennessee, and as fleet surgeon of the North Atlantic station, said order dating from the 10th inst.

Capt. Ross, of ship Granite State, will leave this city this week to join his ship, in New York. The Granite State is loading for Melbourne, Australia. Mrs. Ross accompanies her husband on the voyage.

We understand that a delegation of the masonic fraternity of this city will visit Strafford Lodge of Dover this evening, leaving on the seven o'clock P. M. train, and returning by special about midnight.

There need be no further speculation as to who is to have the store next to the laundry, in the National block, Messrs. Rider & Cunningham having engaged it on Monday. These gentlemen will occupy both Congress street stores.

Clothes-line thieves gobbled up several fine shirts belonging to Alderman Hazel, on Monday night between the hours of seven and eight o'clock. William takes the matter very philosophically, only saying he hoped they obtained good fits.

A large crowd watched the setting of the big panes of glass in the Congress street stores in National block, Tuesday. It took four men to lift one of these lights into the sash prepared for it. Walter Costello of this city superintended the work.

Those elegant celluloid sets at Preston's drug store attract a great deal of attention, and are selling at prices far lower than ever before; also can be found at the same place a fine assortment of druggists' sundries suitable for holiday presents, at reasonable prices.

Major Urch, of this city, has got up a unique design for an anchor, with adjustable, rotary fluke; it has been examined by gentlemen interested in shipping, and pronounced of great practical importance. We hope the major will be successful in getting it patented, and may realize something handsome from it.

Mr. George Hutchings, residing on South street, on cutting down an apple tree in his garden recently, found in the centre of the tree, about two feet above the ground, two silver spoons and an English copper coin dated 1788. On the edge was "On demand in London, Liverpool, or Anglesey;" on one side was the monogram, "H. M. & Co.," and circled around was, "We promise to pay the bearer one penny." On the opposite side was a head with a crown on it, with wreath around the border. The die is as perfect as if just from the mint.

The rolling stock of the Eastern railroad, owned by the company or leased, comprises 94 locomotives, 142 passenger cars, 37 mail, baggage and express cars, 662 eight-wheel box freight cars, 75 four-wheel box freight cars, 577 eight-wheel platform cars, and 256 four-wheel platform cars. The average weight of engines and tenders is 85,928 pounds, and the length over all of the heaviest engine and tender is fifty-four feet. The average cost per mile of running an engine for the past year was a trifle over 19 1-3 cents, including the wages of engineers and firemen, oil, waste and tallow, fuel, and cleansing.

We publish for the benefit of persons who wear boots too tight or too loose, or who totter about on the ankle-dislocating, hip-wrenching and corn-producing "French heels," two simple and inexpensive remedies for corns, both warranted (by our informants) to be infallible. The first is a fisherman's remedy, and consists in the application of a fish's gall to the objectionable excrescences; there is no pain, and two—in extreme cases three—applications are all that are needed. The second remedy is simply to soak the feet in a solution of "Pearline," increasing the strength of the solution with each successive bath until the corns disappear.

A REJOINDER.

Mr. Editor: My attention has been called to a communication in the CHRONICLE of Tuesday morning, in which the writer proclaims with a flourish of horns that he has handed to you "copies of two letters, the originals of which were quite 'accidentally unearthed' on a recent morning, from the files at the city rooms."

In regard to the first of the two letters and his remarks thereon I shall have nothing to say at this time, as the matter in controversy between the city and the lessees of the road is in the hands of the proper legal tribunal.

The second letter, which our candid and gentlemanly friend professes to have "accidentally unearthed" from the files at the city rooms, rendered him frantic, and he immediately rushed into print with his remarkable discovery, and without taking the precautions which a gentleman always observes before circulating injurious reports, basely attacked the honor and impugned the motives of men who stand as high in the public estimation as their malicious assailant ever did—or ever will.

The following is a copy of the return made to the city clerk, by the joint commission which awarded land damages to Mark H. Wentworth and Jeremiah Noble; the other persons in Portsmouth whose land was taken for the use of the road were satisfied with the price allowed by the directors of the road, without an appeal to the railroad commissioners:

February 1st, 1873.

To the City Clerk of the City of Portsmouth, N. H.:

We, the Railroad Commissioners of said State, hereby certify that the following are the damages awarded by us in conjunction with the Mayor and Aldermen of said city of Portsmouth to the several parties hereinafter named, being owners of, and parties interested in, lands situate in said city, taken by and over which the Portsmouth & Dover railroad passes, as by said corporation located, as appears by return of said location, now on file in the office of the Secretary of State, and especially by our report made to the Supreme Judicial Court in and for said county of Rockingham: To Mark H. Wentworth the sum of twelve hundred dollars; to Jeremiah Noble the sum of five hundred dollars.

(Signed)

T. E. O. MARVIN, H. F. WENDELL, A. A. FERNALD, M. BUFFORD, JOHN E. GIDDINGS, R. H. WALDRON, THOMAS H. ODION, G. W. PENDEXTER, } Mayor and Aldermen of Portsmouth, N. H.

Several of the aldermen constituting the board at the time, were disqualified to serve with the railroad commissioners in the case, because they were personally interested as (private) stockholders. Their places were filled by the appointment of gentlemen who had previously served as aldermen. After the awards were made and returned to the city clerk, the President sent a check for one hundred dollars, to pay the Portsmouth referees for their services. As there were eight of them and their duty required a personal inspection of the localities, several days were consumed before the final decision was made.

Chap. 143, sec. 11, of the General Statutes, requires the expenses of assessing damages to be paid by the railroad against which claims are made. Had Mr. Jones refused to pay the referees in the above case he would have rendered the corporation liable to a suit at law. The gentlemen who rendered their decisions after long and patient investigations and hearings acted in good faith and received as compensation for their time and trouble a very reasonable amount. Their pay for actual services rendered contrasts very favorably with the claim for damages to the amount of thirty thousand dollars, sued for by Mr. Mark H. Wentworth whose field was crossed by the railroad.

In closing this hasty defence of the gentlemen who served with the mayor on the joint commission, from the unjust aspersions of their unscrupulous censor, allow me to add that the "astonishment that astounded" Mr. W. would not have overwhelmed a candid man of ordinary business capacity.

Very respectfully your obd't servant,

THOMAS E. O. MARVIN.

"THE RISING FAITH"

Is the title of a sheet, the first number of which has been issued at Manchester, to be regularly followed, monthly, by papers setting forth the so-called liberal ideas, convictions and methods in morals and religion—or what is termed "rational Christianity," as it is understood by Unitarian and Universalists, and others sympathizing in their general aims and purposes. The paper is by no means intended to be destructive or negative at all, but reverent and positive, and constructive, trying to set forth the views that are generally held to by the best scholars of the christian faith.

The first number contains a brief but interesting sketch of the early history of the South Parish in Portsmouth, doubtless written by one of the associate editors. The paper is well printed, and the first number gives promise that for the small sum of fifty cents a year, a good deal of interesting matter can be secured by its subscribers. The business manager is Henry Powers of Manchester, to whom order, and remittance, should be addressed.

The editor and business manager is Rev. Henry Powers of Manchester, with Revs. J. B. Harrison, Wm. H. Savage, Jas. DeNormandie and A. M. Pendleton, as associate editors. Among the occasional contributers will be Frances Tiffany, M. J. Savage, S. C. Beane, E. L. Conger, L. F. McKinney, E. M. Grant, A. W. Jackson and J. H. Allen. Indeed, the promise is that the paper will be an able, vigorous and healthful sheet.

A CAPTAIN MISSING.

The schooner Arcola, of Bath, Me., which has been engaged in carrying brick from this port to Boston, was several weeks ago loaded with wire rigging for a ship-building firm in New Brunswick, and was to take a return cargo, the price for the round trip being agreed upon at $400. After she took in her freight, the captain, McFarland, ran for Booth-bay harbor, and anchored in the roads, arriving there about ten days ago. He then took a dory and started ashore, since which time neither captain nor boat has been seen. The Arcola was taken into Portland on Saturday last, where she will discharge and her cargo be forwarded by steamer to its destination. Capt. McFarland was known to have quite a sum of money about him, and as he has always borne a fine reputation there is some suspicion that he may have been foully dealt with by his crew, which consisted of two men.

Arthur E. Clarke of Manchester has received the appointment of adjutant of the First Regiment N. H. National Guard.

William Powers of Lancaster, aged seventeen years, had his right arm drawn into a threshing machine Monday, horribly mangling it and necessitating its amputation above the elbow.

A dark complexioned woman about forty-five years of age, accompanied by a pretty child, who passed through Rochester on Monday, attracted much comment. The child was slender, with light complexion and eyes and with heavy golden hair tied back. She wore a brown straw sailor hat, a brown cloak and blue and white woolen dress, and button boots. The little waif had the appearance of having been tenderly reared and cared for. The woman watched her very closely, and seemed unwilling to have anyone converse with the child. The woman claimed that the child was her own, and said they were from Brooklyn, N. Y., and were bound for the Shakers at Alfred, Me. The girl appeared to be in constant fear of the woman, and evidently knew nothing of where she was going or the purpose of the journey.

New Hampshire's crop of apples this season is estimated at 250,000 barrels.

Charles H. Geralds was arrested in Augusta, Me., Thursday, on a requisition from the governor of New Hampshire, being wanted for burglary at Wolfeboro'. He has been in jail before for sheep stealing.

STATE STREET, NEXT POST-OFFICE.

A Military Sans-Culotte.

John Dudley, of Deerfield, was a captain in the militia in New Hampshire many years ago. He was an old bachelor, employed an old maid for a housekeeper, and tilled a farm in his town. He was acquainted with Gov. Wentworth, and frequently called upon him when in Portsmouth in order to inform his admiring neighbors of his intimacy with the governor. In order to impress his importance upon his fellow-townsmen, on one occasion he invited the governor to call upon him on his way to the country, and the governor promised to do so. The captain anticipated the advent of the governor some time during a certain week, and kept near his house, at work as usual upon his land. Upon one hot summer day his housekeeper, nearly out of breath, came hastily into the field where the captain toiled to inform him that a fine carriage of imposing appearance, which must be the governor's, was at a little way from the house. The captain hastily repaired to the house, and barely had time to slip on his military red coat and don his cocked hat ere his Excellency's establishment drove up to his door. With his sword in hand the gallant captain ran into the road, and assuming an officer-like strut paid a martial salute to his Excellency the Commander-in-chief, who on beholding him burst into a hearty laugh. This decidedly discomposed the heroic sword-bearer, but he was put to an immediate retreat by the remark of the governor, made as soon as he could restrain his laughter, who said: "Capt. Dudley, I am glad to see you, but think your appearance as a military man would be somewhat improved if you were to add to your uniform a pair of breeches!"—an article of apparel which the rural captain in his haste to pay his respects to the great man from Portsmouth had entirely forgotten.

Not Dry.

The following story is told regarding General M. T. Donohoe, late candidate for secretary of State on the Butler ticket in Massachusetts. An artist who recently painted a picture of the general, received two visitors who desired to have a look at the counterfeit presentment. It was shown, and one of the visitors, who spoke with the brogue that General Scott admired so much, approached the likeness, with the evident intention of putting his finger upon it and pointing out what he conceived to be some special excellence, remarking at the same time, "Bedad, it's the gineral!" The frightened artist of course followed, saying, "Don't touch it, it's not dry." "Bedad, thin," said Pat, "it's not the gineral!"

—Says a New York corn doctor:—"As long as there are women there will be tight shoes and corns and bunions, and as long as there are corns and bunions I can make $10,000 a year."

—A lady travelling on the New York Central road, the other day, lost her satchel near Ilion. It contained twenty thousand dollars. A freight train came along shortly after the passenger train, and the conductor picked up the satchel from the side of the track, and left it with the agent at Ilion. It was restored to the lady, who presented the conductor with eight hundred dollars for his honesty.

Do a Favor to a Sick Friend.

If you have a friend suffering from any disorder of the Kidneys send them a package of Kidney-Wort, and you will make them happy. Its great tonic power is especially directed to these diseases, and it quickly relieves the distress and cures the disease. Have you tried it?

—Gerster gets $500 a night for singing two hours in an opera, but that baby can make her travel up and down all night, and sing for just nothing at all.—Boston Post.

—Petting a cat is purr business.—Boston Post. If she's up to scratch it is.—Albany Argus. We desire no claws to that effect inserted; it's not pat.—Boston Post. We've no feline in this matter, but if the purr pass is carried out it may be going too far.—Commercial Bulletin. Cut off this tail, gentlemen, or there will be a catastrophe.

Facts for Dairymen.

It should be borne in mind by practical dairymen, that the Pefected Butter Color of Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., is the best obtainable in the world. It is absolutely pure and harmless, free from odor or flavor, cannot spoil in any weather, is in liquid form and ready for instant use, costs but little, and is of a uniform standard as to strength and intensity of hue. Use no other.

—A fashion writer speaks of new designs in umbrellas. While he is about it perhaps he can invent a boomerang umbrella that will return to its owner after it has been borrowed.

—The Boston Post says that Alf was bound to Marie. They must be a bookish couple.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser. They are not, in spite of volume may say. This leaves no more ground to cover, so no back talk. We will admit though that you copyright.—Post. Here's hoping for numerous editions, and success to every issue.

—"Look heah, nig, what you know 'bout medicine?" said an unassuming darkey to a pompous one who was expatiating on his skill as a practicing physician. "What I know 'bout med'cine?" he replied, "I know all dah is 'bout medicine. Jess as if I didn't took keer Doc Yandall's hosses in Louisville for foah yeahs!" This settled the dispute.

Kidney Diseases.

Kidney diseases afflict the greater part of the human race, and they are constantly on the increase, but where the virtues of Kidney-Wort have become known, they are held in check and speedily cured. Let those who have had to constantly dose spirits of nitre and such stuff, give this great remedy a trial and be cured.

SALT RHEUM.

Life a burden from the sufferings caused by this terrible disease.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Please accept my most grateful thanks for the great very great, comfort I have received from the use of your CUTICURA.

For the past eight or nine years I have been troubled with that dreadful disease, Salt Rheum. For months I would be helpless,—my very life a burden to be.

I have used everything in the shape of medicine, both internal and external, but without effect.

My hands were in a terrible condition, the backs of them being all raw, and I thought I would try CUTICURA.

I tried it, and so! it was as if a miracle had been performed. I will shake my hands in public, my applications my hands were as smooth as a newborn babe's.

I presume there are hundreds, if not thousands, who know of my case, among whom there may be some similarly afflicted, to whom if so, I would earnestly advise him to give CUTICURA a trial.

Yours, very thankfully,

TETTER OR SALT RHEUM

On the hands Cured. A grateful letter.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Having been troubled for many years with the Tetter or Salt Rheum, and spent many hard-earned dollars, I was given a trial of your CUTICURA, and thank God, my hands are well. I never had anything do me good like that.

You may put this in the paper and welcome, and may it do some other poor sufferer the same good it has done me! I am well known here, having lived here nearly fifteen years and kept boarders for a living, and sometimes my heart was sore, thinking I would have to give up into other peoples hands, and having a small family to take care of, but oh! thank God, my hands are well, so I again return thanks.

Yours respectfully,

THE NEW YORK TIMES

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The political course of the New York Times will be guided during the Presidential year by the same principle which have won for it the position of the foremost Republican newspaper in the United States. The successful issue of the recent contest in New York, and the unbroken series of Republican victories in other Northern States which preceded and accompanied it, have combined to demonstrate the soundness of the position of the Times in regard to the questions with which the Republican Party is called upon to deal.

The Times will continue to place fidelity to the interests of the Republican Party above the pecuniary profit or personal aims or private ambition, and will steadfastly insist that the usefulness of any party which proclaimed by the extent of its devotion to the honor and welfare of the country. In the future, as in the past, the attitude of the Times will be that of a independent organ of the Republican Party. The maintenance of the national credit; the purification of the public service; the advocacy of all measures looking to Civil Service reform; rigid economy in public expenditures; opposition to subsidies and corporate lobbery in all its forms; and the preservation of all equal rights to all citizens, North and South, will be the salient points of the policy of the Times.

The Times will continue to be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully-edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained. It will strive to be fearless and independent in the championship of the right. No theories subversive of the principles on which the safety of our family ties and the existence of society alike repose will be promulgated in its columns.

The Times rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and medical pretenders, and of all other agencies by which the insidious poison of vice is disseminated through our society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

The semi-weekly Times is specially fitted to meet the requirements of those who seek more ample details of current news and fuller installments of current discussion than are furnished in the weekly issue. The semi-weekly has a large circulation in the rural and among the professional and mercantile classes, outside of the large cities, at home. At the reduced club rates now offered for this edition its popularity ought to be greatly increased.

The weekly Times, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a concise summary of political, social and foreign news, and a clear and comprehensive presentation of all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its contents will spare no effort, not only to maintain its well-earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more declined.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of curing Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity throughout this and other countries and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturday's, Monday's and Tuesday's; and in Boston, Wednesday's, Thursday's and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain so Adence men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

AN AWFUL RAILROAD RACE.

By a locomotive explosion on a western railroad a few days ago, the engineer, John Davison, was killed. Davison was one of the oldest engineers in this country, and was for several years on the Buffalo, Corry & Pittsburg railroad, where he had one of the most terrible experiences that has ever been recorded in the history of railroading. His death recalls that night of peril to every one in this part of the State, although it has never ceased to be related in minutest detail at all gatherings of railroad men, where the dangers of the foot-board have been the topic.

From Mayville summit to Brockton junction of the Lake Shore railroad, the distance is ten miles; but owing to the numerous sweeping curves in the railroad the distance by rail is fourteen miles. The grade for that distance is nearly eighty feet to the mile. The Corry railroad extends into the Pennsylvania oil regions, and ten years ago carried large quantities of petroleum. On the night of August 17, 1869, Davison's engine was at the summit with a train of one box car, six oil cars and two passenger cars. The box carw as next to the locomotive, and the passenger cars at the end of the train. The engineer had started the train, and it had attained a good headway, when he discovered flames issuing from one of the oil cars. He whistled down brakes, and the coaches were cut loose from the oil cars, which were quickly uncoupled from the box car. The engineer then pulled on down the hill to get out of the reach of the burning cars, in order to save the locomotive and the other car, in which were two valuable trotting horses and their keepers on their way to Cleveland. He supposed the brakemen would put the brakes on the oil cars, but in the excitement this was not done, and they followed the locomotive, gaining headway every moment. Before the engineer had taken in the situation, the oil cars, every one of them now ablaze, came dashing upon him around a curve. They crashed into the box car, knocking in one end of it, but, singularly enough, neither that nor any of the moving cars were thrown from the track by the collision. The engineer and fireman could have escaped all danger by abandoning the locomotive, but as Davison said when asked afterward why he did not pursue that course, they had $20,000 worth of the company's property in their charge, and they were determined to save it if possible. According to the engineer's story of the incident he saw that there was to be a race for life between him, with his engine, and the flaming cars, under no control. He said that when the oil-cars struck the one in which the horses were the poor animals actually screamed with fright. The heat was unbearable, Davison pulled the throttle-valve wide open, and he declared that they flew down the eighty-foot grade so fast the engine could not pump. The keepers in the car next the oil-car climbed up to the opening in the end of the car, and with faces pale as death, begged the engineer to "give her more steam." They could see the blazing oil-cars through the broken end of their car, and it seemed to them that they gained at every turn of the wheels. The engineer said that when he struck the sharp curves at the lightning speed at which he was going he expected that the engine would leave the track and be hurled down the mountain side. The night was very dark. The engine thundered along faster than any engine ever ran in this country before or since, through the woods and deep rock cuts, and on the edge of high precipices. The horses were stamping and neighing with terror in the box-car, and only a few feet in the rear was the flying mass of flames rushing down the mountain like a tremendous meteor. The blaze from the thousands of gallons of burning oil was more than sixty feet in height, and lighted up the woods and rocks and crooked road for miles. The whole heavens were illuminated, and from Brocton the sight of the great conflagration, flying through the air, now hidden for a second by a cut or a piece of woods, and then leaping out again and up toward the sky like a huge fountain of fire, is described as having been awful in its grandeur.

The idea of Engineer Davison was to call for the opening of the switch for him at Brocton junction, so that he could run on to the Lake Shore track, where the grade was ascending, and where he could soon get out of the way of the burning cars through their having lost the propelling power of the decline of the summit grade. It happened, however, that the Cincinnati express on the Lake Shore road would be due at the junction when Davison's engine reached there. To add to the terror of the situation, a west-bound Lake Shore freight train was at that moment running to pass the junction before the arrival of the express. There was only one thing to do, and that was to whistle for the switch, and take the chances of the freight getting out of the way, and the express being flagged or late. The engineer knew that he must have been seen from Brocton junction, by the light of the burning oil, in his life and death race down the mountain, and the railroad men there understood the peril of the situation, and would be prompt to act. He whistled for open switch. He and his fireman then bade each other good by, and awaited the result. The freight train gained the siding out of the way. The switch was opened, and they tore up on the Lake Shore track, past the depot and through the village, and were soon out of the way of the burning cars. The latter gradually came to a stop. The engine and box-car were stopped within a hundred yards of the Lake Shore express, which was both late and signaled. When Davison and his fireman found they were out of danger they fainted on their engine. The horses in the box-car were ruined, and their keepers were taken from the car unconscious. The oil-tanks burned for three hours after they were stopped. The most fortunate circumstance of the whole affair was the uncoupling of the passenger cars from the oil cars at the summit. They were filled with passengers, and if they had remained with the burning tanks would have been wrapped in flames in a short time, and there would have been no escape for the passengers from a most horrible fate. It was just nine o'clock when Davison pulled out from Mayville summit. When he was taken from his engine, sixteen miles from the starting point, it was not yet twelve minutes past the hour.

James Keenan, Davison's fireman, was killed about three years ago. He was on his engine, when he saw a child playing on the track some distance ahead. He ran out to the pilot, and, reaching over, caught the child and tossed it to one side of the track. He lost his balance, however, and fell in front of the locomotive, and was crushed to death.—N. Y. Times.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1879.

Boston & Maine Railroad Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Maine railroad was held in Lawrence, Mass., on the 10th inst., for choice of directors for the ensuing year.

John J. Bell of Exeter, Charles Woodman of Dover, Addison P. Jacques of Haverhill, Mass., Geo. W. Walker of Malden, Mass, and E. P. Burnham of Saco, Me., were appointed a committee to receive, assort and count the votes.

The ballot resulted in the choice of George C. Lord, Nathaniel J. Bradlee and John F. Osgood, of Boston; Nathaniel G. White, of Lawrence, Mass; Amos Paul, of South Newmarket; William S. Stevens, of Dover; James R. Nichols, of Haverhill; Samuel E. Spring, of Portland, Me.; and Nathaniel W. Farwell, of Lewiston, Me.

A motion that the running of Sunday excursion trains be dispensed with was referred to the directors.

A Terrible Record.

The Cape Ann Advertiser of Friday next will contain a three-column article giving the names of the men lost in the fisheries from Gloucester, Mass., and the vessels lost, during the past year. The record is a most fearful one, so far as loss of life is concerned, and is entirely unprecedented in the history of the business. Scarcely a week during the year but has witnessed some loss of life or property in the fisheries. Thirteen vessels went down, 143 men were drowned, fifty-six women were widowed and 150 children made fatherless by the single February gale. So overwhelming a calamity could not fail to awaken a generous sympathy, and $28,216.72 was contributed to feed, clothe and shelter the helpless survivors of the lost mariners. The February gale, however, furnishes but a part of the direful history of the Gloucester fisheries of 1879. In all, thirty vessels, aggregating 1,980 tons, comprising over a tenth part of the fishing tonnage of the port, valued at $118,789, all of which were insured on the mutual system, for $85,186,—failed to return no more; and 240 lives were lost, leaving eighty-eight widows and 219 fatherless children. There are also two vessels now absent, for which grave fears are entertained—the Andrew Leighton and the Harry C. Mackey; if these do not soon return it will add twenty-two more to the number, swelling the fearful aggregate to 264 lives.

In 1862 nineteen of the Gloucester fleet went down, and 262 of her fishermen returned no more to the home port; fifteen vessels and 120 men being swept away in one gale, leaving seventy widows and 145 fatherless children.

In 1873, thirty-one vessels, of a value of $118,700, and 174 lives, were lost; nine vessels and 128 men going down beneath the foam in a single storm.

In 1876, twenty-seven vessels were lost, valued at $150,000, and 212 men were swept away.

The year 1856 was most fortunate, but two lives being lost, and six vessels; in 1863, six lives and nine vessels; in 1865, eleven lives and eight vessels; in 1877, thirty-nine lives and seven vessels; in 1878, thirty-five lives and eight vessels. Since the year 1830, when the Georges' fishery first commenced, there have been lost from Gloucester 2,118 men, and 405 vessels, valued $1,696,399.

News and Notes.

The Senate on the 9th inst. confirmed, without debate or division, the nomination of Secretary McCrary to be United States judge of the eighth circuit.

Calvin Hock, an aged and respected citizen of Waldoboro', Me., in getting over a fence with a loaded gun, on the 9th inst., slipped, discharging his gun, the charge penetrating one of his arms. His physician thinks his arm cannot be saved, and his life is in danger.

The wife of Anthony Wagner, baker at the Falmouth hotel in Portland, Me., was found dead in her house on the morning of the 9th inst. Her husband was sleeping in an adjoining room, and explains that he found her lying dead on the floor in her night dress. Her age was thirty-nine years, and she leaves two young children.

James McCabe of Waterford, R. I., a brakeman on the Providence & Worcester railroad, caught his foot in a frog while coupling cars at Waterford on the 6th inst., and the cars passed over and crushed it off.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says that a bill has been reported to Congress—probably by the committee on post-offices—making even more stringent regulations against the use of the mails for carrying on the lottery business. There is a strong sentiment in favor of such action as will prevent any complicity on the part of the government with all schemes for swindling the public and vitiating the morals of the community.

In Belgium there is a warmer school agitation than in this country. Catholic teachers who continue to teach in the public schools are excommunicated; but the fulmination has lost something of its terrors, however, for out of a total of 20,000 teachers, only 2,472 have resigned.

Miss Ferguson, manager of the Women's employment society of New York, has been fined $5 and costs for slapping a man in the face in a Third avenue smoking car because he refused to discontinue smoking at her request. And the man should have been fined also.—Nashua Telegraph.

We don't see it in that light. The car was specially set apart for smokers, and Miss Ferguson knew it. If she objected to smoking, she had no business in the car, and her demand that the man should discontinue smoking in that place was simply a piece of insolence.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8th.

It has been my endeavor to tell the truth with reference to the several presidential candidates and preferences, as nearly as I could get it or might hit; but it is a difficult thing to tell the truth on this subject—so that it may last. This fact is particularly exposed by the development of democratic opinion since the assembling of Congress. I find there is an almost universal anxiety about Mr. Tilden, and this extends to those even who are willing that he should be nominated. How to get rid of Tilden is the main question; that is, how to dispose of him so there will not be a sore spot left to endanger the democrats seriously in New York. Many who have been or are his supporters, and nearly all who are not, say very clearly that to crowd him off the track would be fatal. That is why the "booms" for other New York candidates, as Mr. Seymour, and Judge Church, do not take better. To pit another New Yorker against Tilden would "mad him," they say, and drive his strength from the support of whoever might be thus nominated. The more popular opinion on this vexed question now is, that no New York candidate must be run against Mr. Tilden in the democratic convention, and that there must be an appearance of giving Tilden the choice of his successor in the candidacy, in case he docsn't get it himself. On this view it is understood that the officious friendship of Kelly for Bayard has hurt his chances, for the man to have the Tilden backing must not be a candidate of that clique. Altogether it is an interesting problem the democrats have on hand.

Issues not quite so sharply defined, but yet growing to some proportions, have sprung up in the republican presidential field. There begins to creep out a little fear of the New York scratchers, and others who cry out against third-termism with reference to General Grant, and there is a growing fear of loss in the western States with reference to Secretary Sherman. It is possible that these things are troubling the republicans less than the Tilden problem is troubling the democrats, but candor compels me to say that I believe they will increase as the canvass goes on, and develope into very serious troubles. The scratchers, bolters, and reformers in New York, Massachusetts and some other States are organizing for a fight against Grant, and the anti-bank men are determined to fight Sherman in the west.

Senator Cameron is still working up an excursion to Philadelphia on the occasion of Grant's reception, and it is thought that a large majority of senators and members will go.

The disposition to adjourn for the holidays about the 16th is growing. The fact is that no business of much account will be transacted if Congress remains in session. KNOX.

Keep Cisterns Clean.

We fear many of our readers who have cisterns, and depend upon them for their supply of water for family use, hardly realize the importance of keeping them sweet and clean. Rain water as it comes down from the clouds is probably as pure as any water can be, but after it has washed over a roof, and down the conductors into the cistern, carrying with it dust, leaves, and other rubbish that may have gathered on the roof or in the gutters, it is not strange that the cistern should need to be cleaned out every year or two. If the cistern is not much used the water is quite likely to become bad. It may look all right, and not taste very bad either, and yet not be healthful. Of course all cistern water should be filtered, and a soft brick filter is perhaps the best; but even then it will become necessary to clean the cistern as often as every two years, and better every year. —Congregationalist.

AROUND HOME.

The printers of Dover are arranging for a masquerade ball.

Joseph Smith, the employe of Charles Hayes & Son who disappeared on Thanksgiving eve, has been heard from at Kennebunk depot, safe and sound. No explanation of his mysterious absence is given. His real name is Joseph Littlefield, but he has always gone by the name of Smith in this vicinity, and it is said was married under that name a week or two before Thanksgiving.

The special "stockholders'" train for Boston on "railroad day" left the Eastern railroad station in this city with fourteen passenger cars, all well filled, a large proportion of the stockholders being women and girls. Many others went up in the regular train, which started fifteen minutes after the special one. The excursionists arrived back at 9:50 P. M., nearly every one having a bundle, and most of them two or three apiece, ladies who would hardly carry home a pair of gloves or paper of needles from a store in this city being seen trudging bravely along with a little bundle under each arm and a big one in their hands, the latter probably containing a love of a bonnet or some other precious and fragile article.

FREEING PORTSMOUTH BRIDGE.

The following petition is being circulated and numerously signed, one business man of this city having secured two hundred names in a single day, not a single man to whom it was submitted having declined to sign:

To the Honorable the Senators and Representatives of the State of Maine in General Court convened:

Respectfully represent the undersigned, that the accommodations of the public require that the bridge across the Piscataqua river between the States of Maine and New Hampshire should be open to public travel free of toll. Wherefore we pray that the County of York, in the State of Maine, be authorized to purchase, or lease for a term of years, the traveled part of said bridge, in conjunction with the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire, and that the Commissioners of said County of York be empowered to make and conclude all necessary contracts to that effect.

Should the prayer of the petitioners be granted, a similar petition will probably be presented to the New Hampshire Legislature, empowering Rockingham county to act with York county in the matter; and should the scheme be successfully carried out, the proposed toll-bridge between Eliot and Dover would hardly prove a paying institution to its stockholders, though it might take a little York county trade into Dover.

EASTERN RAILROAD MEETING.

The annual meeting of the stock and bond holders of the Eastern railroad was held in Bumstead hall, Boston, on the 10th inst., E. B. Phillips presiding for the stockholders, and Willard P. Phillips for the bondholders.

The bondholders chose as directors on their behalf for the ensuing year the following named gentlemen: Elijah B. Phillips, Alfred P. Rockwell, George P. King and Richard Olney, of Boston; George S. Morrison of New York; and John Cummings of Woburn, Mass. The stockholders elected Jacob C. Rogers of Peabody, Mass., William B. Bacon of Boston, and Stephen J. Young of Brunswick, Me. The changes in the board are Richard Olney for the certificate holders, in place of Willard P. Phillips, who declined a renomination for the office; and for the stockholders, Jacob C. Rogers, Wm. B. Bacon and Stephen J. Young, vice Samuel C. Lawrence of Medford, Mass., James W. Johnson of Enfield, N. H., and George W. Gill of Worcester, Mass.

The report of the directors the past year has already been published by us, in abstract.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Alliance sailed from Boston for Norfolk on the 9th inst.

The school-ship Constitution, which sailed from Fortress Monroe on the 8th inst. for Aspinwall, will on the way touch at Martinique, St. Thomas and other West Indian ports.

Capt. D. L. Braine on the 10th inst. took command of the Powhatan, relieving Capt. D. B. Harmony, who is ordered to command the Tennessee. Most of the officers of the Powhatan have been ordered to the Tennessee, including Surgeon Theoron Woolverton, Pay Inspector C. P. Wallach, who is ordered as fleet paymaster, and Chief Engineer Thom Williamson, who is ordered as fleet engineer of the North Atlantic station.

New Hampshire Items.

The second week of the law term of the supreme court opened in Concord on the 9th inst. The Merrimack county docket was the first in order for the examination; various motions were made and briefs furnished, but no opinions were made or decisions reached, the greater number of cases being postponed till the third week of the term, or to the adjourned March term. On the Merrimack docket there were twenty-five cases which were disposed of, as were also twenty-five cases of the Hillsborough docket. Ten cases on the Cheshire docket were then called, after which the Sullivan docket was taken up. In this are seven cases on which questions of law have arisen. In the case of Henry H. Hayes, sentenced to twenty years in State prison for killing Richmond C. Angell of Sunapee, legal exceptions have been taken and a hearing is to be had before the adjournment. The case of Amoskeag company vs. Samuel Head was taken up, and counsel were given an opportunity of oral hearing on the questions of law involved. Brief hearings were also had in some other cases.

Frank W. Page, a young married man, was bound over on the 9th inst. in the Manchester police court in $500 for attempting a brutal outrage on Liva Vigneault, a French girl aged about seven years.

Fred Pettengill, a bright boy of only seven years, excited the attention and wonder of County Commissioner Fowler, at the recent examination of classes at the Pembroke academy. He gave correctly and alphabetically every town in each county of the State, and could locate, without a moment's hestitation, any town in the State that was named to him.

All the matter taken from the Laconia national bank at the robbery last spring, which was not of any use to the burglars, has been found in a piece of woods in Sanbornton by David Richardson, who was cutting timber. Included among the papers thus discovered were all the missing bonds, and notes to a very large amount which were due the bank. The officials of the institution are very much gratified at the discovery, as the loss of the papers and securities has caused them great inconvenience.

Colonel John George H. George, who has been dangerously sick at his farm at Hopkinton, is reported better, and hopes of his recovery are generally entertained.

A concert given by the Unitarian choir of Manchester on Sunday afternoon, the 7th inst., was listened to by people through twenty-eight telephones, at the same time. A music box and flute were also distinctly heard along the line of communication.

Byron Stone and his mother, son and wife of Levi H. Stone of Cornish, who was found dying in his barn some days ago with a fractured skull, have been arrested for murder.

At a preliminary meeting held in Concord on Tuesday afternoon, the 9th inst., by sub-committees representing the New Hampshire Unitarian Educational association and the New England Christian Baptist society, the terms were agreed upon for the purchase by the former from the latter of all their school buildings and property at Andover, in this State, now known as the Proctor academy establishment. The property thus bargained for consists of the academy building and its furnishings, a boarding-house partially finished, and the land connected therewith. The terms of the sale are that the Unitarians are to pay all the debts of the New England society, and a limited sum of money. The bargain will receive the formal approval of the trustees of the Unitarian association at a meeting soon to be held at Concord. This action is one of the most important educational movements in this State for a long time. The Unitarians connected with the enterprise are persons of great public spirit, and they have a large financial backing. It is understood that there will be a generous outlay of money at Andover, and thus an educational establishment first-class in every respect will be opened at an early day. Although, strictly speaking, a New Hampshire undertaking, yet it has the co-operation and promised assistance of people of the liberal faith throughout New England.

Political.

A very sensible opinion was expressed by Gen. Sheridan of Louisiana when he said that the only way to split the "solid south" is to defeat the democratic party in 1880.

Boston re-elected Mayor Prince on the 8th inst. by a plurality of 2763 over the republican candidate, the whole vote cast being 35,473; about one thousand ladies voted for school committee, and were received at the polls with the utmost courtesy and decorum. Worcester elected Dr. Kelly, a republican, over the regular nominees of the republican and democratic parties. Salem re-elected Mayor Oliver. Lowell elected F. T. Greenhalghe, republican, as mayor, making a gain of 2000 over the vote at the State election, when Butler carried the city by 1000 majority.

Governor-elect Cornell of New York has resigned his position as member of the republican congressional committee. Hon. Wm. E. Chandler has resigned the secretary ship of the republican congressional committee, and it is said he will be a candidate for chairman of the national committee.

The result of the Louisiana election is rather a grim satire upon the assertion that it might have been carried for the republicans by the presence and exhortation of northern statesmen. Democratic gains are reported everywhere, and the popular confederate-republican ticket is worse defeated than any that has been known since the reconstruction of the State. This result has come in spite of the acknowledged bad character of the democratic candidates, their connection with a State government that has more than rivalled the worst of the carpet-bag administrations in profligate corruption and mismanagement, in spite of the popularity of the republican candidates, and the revolt of the better class of democrats, business men and substantial planters, against the ring rule of the State administration. It needs no Œdipus to read the riddle of the increased democratic gains, under these circumstances. They were only bounded by the restraint of those who had the privilege of counting the ballots, and, in the language of Lord Clive, when he contented himself with a million or so when the treasury of the Nabob of Oude was opened before him, they may be astonished at their own moderation. Imagine a Tammany ball, as it was in the days of Tweed and Sweeney, with a reserve of the shot-gun, and it will give a fair idea of the strength of the democratic hold upon States like Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. They will be the last instead of the first for the possibility of free elections, and it is useless to hope, or even to speculate, for them at present.—Providence Journal.

Whitewashing Trees.

A respectable journal says "no good cultivator objects to whitewashing the trunks and main brances of trees in these days." Probably they do not, as effecting the growth of the tree one way or the other, but landscape gardeners of taste will not indorse their unnatural appearance. A farmer had a huge mass of rocks near his dwelling, which might have been turned to an excellent ornamental account, if he had not taken pains to keep them well whitewashed! If lime wash is to be applied to trees, it should be so thin as scarcely to discolor the bark, on which it would be more likely to be of benefit than if so thick as only to cover the bark with thick lime scales. We have never regarded washing the bark with any mixture or solution as of much importance compared with good general culture; nevertheless it must be admitted that those who wash the bark have the best trees, not, however, because of the washing, but because men who will take that pains will not be likely to omit the other requisites of good management.—Country Gentleman.

One Experience from Many.

"I had been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said "Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy."—The Mother.—Home Journal.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly relieve pain, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and it is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the side, back or bowels, sore throat, rheumatism, toothache and all aches.

The great reliever of pain, "Brown's Household Panacea," should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water (sweetened, if preferred), taken at bedtime, will break up a cold. 25 cents a bottle.

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. Brown's Vermifuge Comfits, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. Twenty-five cents a box. t,th&r

Roderick Dhu with Variations.

Roderick Dhu, with variations, has been played in the northern Georgia mountains. Berrony, a "moonshiner" leader, who had set the revenue officers at defiance, was surprised at night in his house. The officers waited until the family had gone to sleep and then surrounded the house and closed in on the unsuspecting family. Berrony, though surprised while asleep, sprang from his bed and fled, clad only in his night clothes. Despite this light weight, he was overtaken by the deputies, overpowered and tied. While the deputies were engaged with the people at the door, a daughter of the prisoner, about eighteen years of age, slipped out of the back door, dressed only in the garments in which she had been sleeping, and made for the mountain side with the fleetness of a young antelope. She carried in her hand a toxhorn. As soon as she reached the crest of the mountain she turned and "gave one blast upon her bugle horn," to summon her father's comrades to the rescue. As rapidly as possible the deputy had his prisoner dressed, and forming his men into close order, moved off toward his wagons. He and his men were followed by the family of the prisoner, which was constantly reinforced by the arrival of mountaineers, aroused and angry. By the time the deputies had gone a mile the threatening force behind had grown to twenty or twenty-five men. When they had reached a long, narrow defile the deputy in charge found that there was a large force of men in front of him, and that each side of the defile was held by sharpshooting mountaineers, who were hidden in the woods. He therefore began to parley. The mountaineers demanded the release of Berrony. The deputy at first protested and refused, but he soon found that there were fifty men opposed to him, with the advantages of position. At length the deputy surrendered him, and he joined his friends in the woods.

Feeble Ladies.

Those languid, tiresome sensations, causing you to feel scarcely able to be on your feet; that constant drain that is taking from your system all its elasticity; driving the bloom from your cheeks; that constant strain upon your vital forces, rendering you irritable and fretful, can easily be removed by the use of that marvelous remedy, Hop Bitters. Irregularities and obstructions of your system are relieved at once, while the special cause of periodical pain is permanently removed. Will you heed this?—Cincinnati Saturday Night.

Whooping Cough is successfully treated by separating the patients beyond hearing distance of each other, and by the employment of Fellows' Hypophosphites. Whooping Cough is a nervous disease of so sympathetic a nature that a paroxysm may be produced in one susceptible by simply hearing the cough of another person. The above named treatment has been found singularly effective.

THE NEW YORK TIMES

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The political course of the New York Times will be guided during the Presidential year by the same principle which have won for it the position of the foremost Republican newspaper in the United States. The successful issue of the recent contest in New York, and the unbroken series of Republican victories in other Northern States which preceded and accompanied it, have combined to demonstrate the soundness of the position of the Times in regard to the questions with which the Republican Party is called upon to deal.

The Times will continue to place fidelity to the interests of the Republican Party above the purposes or personal aims or private ambition, and will steadfastly insist that the usefulness of any party must be measured by the extent of its devotion to the honor and welfare of the country. In the future, as in the past, the attitude of the Times will be that of independence within the Republican Party. The maintenance of the national credit; the purification of the public service; the advocacy of all seasonable projects of fiscal reform; right economy in public expenditures; opposition to subsidies and corporate jobbery in all forms; the maintenance of the union of equal rights to all citizens, North and South, will be the salient points of the policy of the Times.

The Times will continue to be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully-edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be increased to meet the increasing demands of the time.

In the departments of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, the Times will address itself, as heretofore, to the appreciation of the educated and intelligent classes of the American people. It will be lively without being sensational, aggressive without being coarse; at all times it will strive to be fearless and independent in the championship of the right. No theories subversive of the principles on which the ascendency of family ties and the existence of society alike repose will be promulged in its columns.

The Times rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and medical pretenders, and of all other agencies by which the insidious poison of vice is disseminated throughout society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

The semi-weekly Times is specially fitted to meet the requirements of those who seek more ample details of current news and fuller installments of current discussion than are furnished in the weekly issue. The semi-weekly has a large circulation also and among the professional and mercantile classes, outside of the large cities, at home. At the reduced club rates now offered for this edition its popularity ought to be greatly increased.

The weekly Times, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a concise summary of political, social and foreign news, best of other contents which recommend it to all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its conductors full spare no effort, not only to maintain its well-earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more decided.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

Postage will be prepaid by the publishers on all editions of the Times sent to subscribers in the United States.

The daily Times, per annum, including the Sunday edition, $12; the daily Times, per annum, exclusive of the Sunday edition, $10; the Sunday edition, per annum, $2.

The Semi-Weekly Times.

Single copies, one year, $2.50; five copies, one year, $11; ten copies, and one free for club, $20.

The Weekly Times.

Single copies, one year, $1; ten copies, and one free for club, $10; subscriptions for six months, 60 cents; three months, 40 cents.

These prices are invariable. We have no traveling agents. Remit in drafts on New York or Post Office Money Orders, if possible; and where neither of these can be procured, send the money in a registered letter. Address

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by non-surgical applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his great and successful practice and popularity therefrom, throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between his New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturdays, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friend.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain cowardly men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a fetor so bad that my presence in a room with other was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was no troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD,
Short-Hand Writer

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S CURE arrived safely yesterday. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have tried Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to stop the offensive discharge, I have no more been able to recover my senses of taste and smell until I tried the CURE. You can use my name if you choose to me, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

Eighteen Sons in the War.

Rev. Daniel S. Holton, Baptist preacher of Roane county, Tenn., is eighty-eight years old, and is as active as most men at fifty. He recently walked three miles to give testimony at the county seat, and returned the same day. He says: "I can sight a rifle just as well as I could sixty years ago, and can bring a squirrel nearly every time, and only for a slight tremble of the hand would not miss one shot in a hundred." In reply to the question, "On which side were your sympathies during the late war?" he replied: "I was always a Union man; I had sixteen sons in the Union army and two in the rebel army, and my sympathies were with the Union by fourteen majority." When asked if he knew which of the boys were right, he said: "I know which I think were right, cap'n. There was fifteen majority on the side of the Union in that 'ar family, including me. I helped the boys on the Union side." He has twice been married, and is the father of twenty-four children. He served in the war of 1812 but draws no pension. It is said by the ex-soldiers that he did good service during the war by aiding Union soldiers to communicate with their families when they were in the rebel lines, and in many other ways. If he can't get a pension for services in either the war of 1812 or that of the rebellion, he certainly ought to get a liberal one for his services between the two. The old man is in indigent circumstances.

Keeping Winter Apples.

No matter how much care one may exercise in packing and storing, it will not be sufficient to keep unripe, bruised, or badly handled apples or other fruit. The great desideratum in keeping all kinds of fruit, is in keeping it free from dampness. The plan adopted by some experienced fruit-growers, is to have a regular fruit-room built to exclude light and maintain an even temperature. When large crops are to be stored, it pays to build such a room or house for the purpose, but for a few barrels, almost any room on the cool side of the house will answer, but a dry, cool cellar is preferable as there is less danger from freezing, and it is easier to preserve an even temperature. In storing the apples, if they have been carefully picked at the proper time, properly handled, and packed in barrels on the most improved plan, the barrels are piled in regular tiers, the lower tier resting on "skids," or pieces of timber to keep from the ground and dampness. We have seen fine apples in March or April, which had been kept on board hanging-shelves in the cellar, the fruit having laid close as possible together without touching on a bed of dry rye straw. They were looked over occasionally, and when any showed signs of rotting they were at once removed.—Land and Home.

Do a Favor to a Sick Friend.

If you have a friend suffering from any disorder of the Kidneys send them a package of Kidney-Wort, and you will make them happy. Its great tonic power is especially directed to these diseases, and it quickly relieves the distress and cures the disease. Have you tried it?

—Reynolds, in his "Life and Times," tells of a free-and-easy actor, who passed three festive days at the seat of the Marquis and Marchioness of ——, without any invitation, convinced (as proved to be the case) that, my lord and lady not being on speaking terms, each would suppose the other had asked him.

Facts for Dairymen.

It should be borne in mind by practical dairymen, that the Pefected Butter Color of Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., is the best obtainable in the world. It is absolutely pure and harmless, free from odor or flavor, cannot spoil in any weather, is liquid form and ready for instant use, costs but little, and is of a uniform standard as to strength and intensity of hue. Use no other.

—After a Texas jury had stood out for ninety-six hours the judge got a verdict out of them in two minutes by sending them word that a circus had come to town.

Kidney Diseases.

Kidney diseases afflict the greater part of the human race, and they are constantly on the increase, but where the virtues of Kidney-Wort have become known, they are held in check and speedily cured. Let those who have had to constantly dose spirits of nitre and such stuff, give this great remedy a trial and be cured.

—The Milwaukee dramatic critics have been overwhelmed with genius, in the person of Mary Anderson. One of them, who seems to rely upon his imagination for linear measurements, estimates that she is about six feet in height when in repose, but when her frame is charged with emotion and she gets mad or excited, she "seems to raise up out of the stage and telescope until she is eighteen or nineteen feet high, and others look like dwarfs." At times, it seems, she puts on "a sweet lovely look, and you would have to be held by two persons to keep you from admiring on the stage and telling her that you loved her like a steam engine, and then she would put on a dying look, and a wild, scared, desperate expression, so you'd want to rush out after a doctor." Moreover, she has lungs like a blacksmith's bellows; when she exhausts them "she looks so thin that her backbone can be traced with the naked eye," but when she inflates them "her dress fits her like paper on the wall."

Whooping Cough is successfully treated by separating the patients beyond hearing distance of each other, and by the employment of Fellows' Hypophosphites. Whooping Cough is a nervous disease of so sympathetic a nature that a paroxysm may be produced in one susceptible by simply hearing the cough of another person. The above named treatment has been found singularly effective.

A Great Fuss Over a Small Matter.

Mortimer H. Van Vleick, the mate of the ship Cashmere, recently arrived at Boston, who was arrested for causing the death of Holsenson, one of the crew, is now to be tried in New York for causing the death of another member of the crew, one John Jefferson. Jefferson was, it is alleged, a hale, hearty man, who had never complained of a day's illness in his life. The sailors say that the mate began to abuse Jefferson when the ship was eight days out from New York, and that the ill treatment continued until he died, three months after. Three days before Jefferson died the mate is alleged to have struck him to the deck with a belaying pin. The next day Jefferson took to his bunk, but on the morning following was on deck. When asked why he did not remain below, he answered that he did not want to be abused by the mate and called a loafer, and added, "I shall work until I drop." At eleven o'clock of the same day the sailor dropped dead. Van Vleick was arraigned before the United States commissioner in New York on the 10th inst., and remanded to await the arrival of witnesses.

In Boston, on the 10th inst., before Commissioner Hallett, Capt. Oliver of the Cashmere was examined on a charge of cruelty to Oscar Roundman and Albert Meeken, two of the crew of the vessel, and to Henry Elger, the second mate. On the latter charge he was held in $300 for trial, and on the other he was discharged. At the conclusion of the examination the witnesses, eleven in number, went to New York in charge of Deputy Marshals and Johnson and Enos, to testify in the case of the mate.

From the fuss made over these alleged murders of two or three old sailors by the brutal cruelty their officer, a person not conversant with "a life on the ocean wave" would naturally infer that such little incidents are rare in the American merchant service, instead of being all the time taking place, as they are.

Congress.

On the 10th inst., in the House, a resolution was introduced proposing the following amendment to the Constitution: "Polygamy shall not exist within the limits of the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

The President on the 10th sent to the Senate the nomination of Alexander Ramsey to be secretary of war. The nomination was received by the Senate at 12:30 o'clock; at one o'clock the Senate went into executive session, and confirmed the nomination in fifteen minutes thereafter.

Both houses have voted to take a recess from Dec. 19th to Jan. 6th.

A strong effort is being made to induce Congress to expend vast sums in building forts and supplying big guns for our principal harbors. Gen. Benet, Gen. Parker and other officers of the war department, went before the sub-committee on the fortification bill on the 10th, and claimed that almost any foreign government could overcome the defenses of Boston, New York or Philadelphia in case of war, and levy almost any tribute it pleased on the population. They state that the United States has but a single gun of the largest size, and the establishments which can manufacture the necessary ordnance are in danger of being abandoned.

News and Notes.

The toll gate house near Rochester, N. Y., was burned on the 10th inst., and Miles Tuttle, gatekeeper, and his child, two years old, were burned to a crisp. The mother and two children escaped.

A shocking case of neglect has just come to light in Hull, near Ottawa, Ont. A youth of seventeen years was taken down with small-pox, and his family deserted him. The neighbors hearing of it, went to the house with a bowl of soup, and, on entering the room, found the youth covered with blood and almost at the point of death. Soup being placed to his lips, he ravenously swallowed it. An examination showed that he had eaten the flesh from one of his arms in his agony of hunger. He died a few minutes after the arrival of the neighbors.

Belchertown, Mass., is to have a special town meeting to see if the town will vote to abate the poll tax of one of its citizens who is now passing his ninth month in jail for refusing to pay such tax.

Mrs. Chas. F. Freeman, wife of the Pocasset murderer, has returned to Barnstable, and taken up her abode for the winter, and will enter into dressmaking, having a large number of orders. Her little daughter, it is said, will live with her.

John Lawton, a boy about sixteen years old, employed in the picker room of the Merino shoo company at Merrimac, Mass., was terribly injured on the 10th inst. His arm was caught in the belt, carrying him around the shafting, breaking one arm and taking both feet off above the ankles.

One of the stolen bonds from the Northampton, Mass., bank has turned up in Germany. It was discovered in the possession of Alfred Eugene Lagrave, with a lot of forged and stolen securities. Lagrave, who had been run through this country, Canada and a portion of Europe by Mooney and Boland's detectives, was arrested in Germany, for forging medical certificates and diplomas.

Schooner M. A. Baston, stranded some days ago at the entrance to Newburyport harbor, was gotten off on the 10th inst. and towed up to the city. She is considerably damaged, and it has cost seven or eight hundred dollars to get her off.

A Wallingford, Conn., farmer recently awoke to find a burglar about to apply chloroform to his face, and on his money being demanded started to get it, when Wm. Doyle, the hired boy, appeared and attacked the thief with a shovel with such effect as to drive him off with several terrible gashes in his head.

The San Francisco Journal of Commerce says the Pacific coast annually consumes over five million pounds of tobacco, and more than one hundred and thirty million cigars. The whole trade in tobacco in San Francisco for the year 1878 amounted to not less than $9,000,000.

By a tornado in Missouri, on the 10th inst., several houses were torn to pieces, one person killed and many seriously injured.

There are six 1812 pensioners living in the town of Palmyard, Me., each over eighty years old, viz: Freeman Holway, Page Atwell, John Goodwin, George Osborn, Peter S. Elkins and Oliver Leathers.

An Auburn, Me., gentleman, thirty-three years of age, dined with his mother, whom he had not seen before since he was three years old, on Thanksgiving day. He has lived within 100 miles of her all the intervening time.

The coroner's verdict in the case of Mrs. Wagner, who was found dead in her house in Portland, Me., on the 10th inst., was that she died of congestive apoplexy, brought on in part by the attempt at procuring an abortion upon herself.

The school superintendent of Northampton, Mass., recently struck a scholar three blows with a horsewhip, for throwing sand and bricks through the school window and insulting the teacher, and then put the boy in the lock-up all day for truancy. The boy's father tried to get the superintendent arrested for abuse, but no magistrate would sign a warrant for his arrest. The parent appealed to the school committee, who heard both sides of the case presented by legal counsel, and gave judgment sustaining the corporal punishment as neither unjust nor too severe. But the commitment to the lock-up was called illegal and unjustifiable, the superintendent not being truant officer.

In the court at Worcester, Mass., on the 10th inst., Thomas F. Callahan, who killed Luke T. Daily in a Worcester hotel on September 3d, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree, and was sentenced to State prison for life.

The trial of Frank E. Hayden at Worcester, Mass., for the murder of his sister by poison, resulted in a verdict of not guilty.

—A man's character is like a fence; you cannot strengthen it by whitewash.

—The best way to winter geraniums is to dump the pots into the stable cellar, and buy new plants in the spring.—Lowell Courier.
